OLIVE, GREEN AND BLUE, WE LOVE

From the majestic stateliness of Gibson Hall, looking serenely upon the yearlong green of Audubon Park, to the Sugar Bowl, echoing, even when empty, the Hullabaloo of thirty football seasons; from Newcomb Hall, matriarch to one thousand girls, to the University Center, sleek symbol of the unity of seven thousand students; along oak-lined walks and drives, past ivy-covered halls and modern dorms, stretches our University. Tulane University is first of all an educational institution, but it has become also a spirit; the spirit that fills a rooting section even through the most dismal of seasons, the spirit that sings in fight songs, fraternity songs, or in the shouting buzz of conversation in dorms or in the UC, the spirit that links each Tulane student to the thousands who have trod the same paths as he, and the thousands more who will follow him. . . .

DEDICATION

DR. HERBERT EUGENE LONGENECKER

We proudly dedicate this 67th volume of the JAMBALAYA to Dr. Herbert Eugene Longenecker, a scholar and administrator who has found his life work in the service of education. The President of Tulane University, he is a high example of devoted, able, upright, and self-effacing leadership.

INTRODUCTION

From farms they come, from fields golden with corn, from steel-grey cities and crowded suburbs, across rivers and oceans, by car, by plane, by train, by boat, to heed the siren call of Tulane University.

The student who comes to Tulane enters a world unique and totally different from any other. He enters a city that has long been recognized as the United States' most interesting city, a metropolis that combines centuries of Spanish, French and American heritages to produce an atmosphere unequaled in America. And he enters a university that combines the finest in education with an extensive extracurricular scope; he walks on a campus that is at once vitally American yet undeniably international, that offers all the necessities of life to both the stoic student and the epicurean collegian.

WE PRAISE THEE FOR THY PAST, O ALMA MATER!
THY HAND HATH DONE ITS WORK FULL FAITHFULLY.
THE INCENSE OF THY SPIRIT HATH ASCENDED AND FILLED AMERICA FROM SEA TO SEA.

OLIVE GREEN AND BLUE,
WE LOVE THEE
PLEDGE WE NOW
OUR FEALTY TRUE,

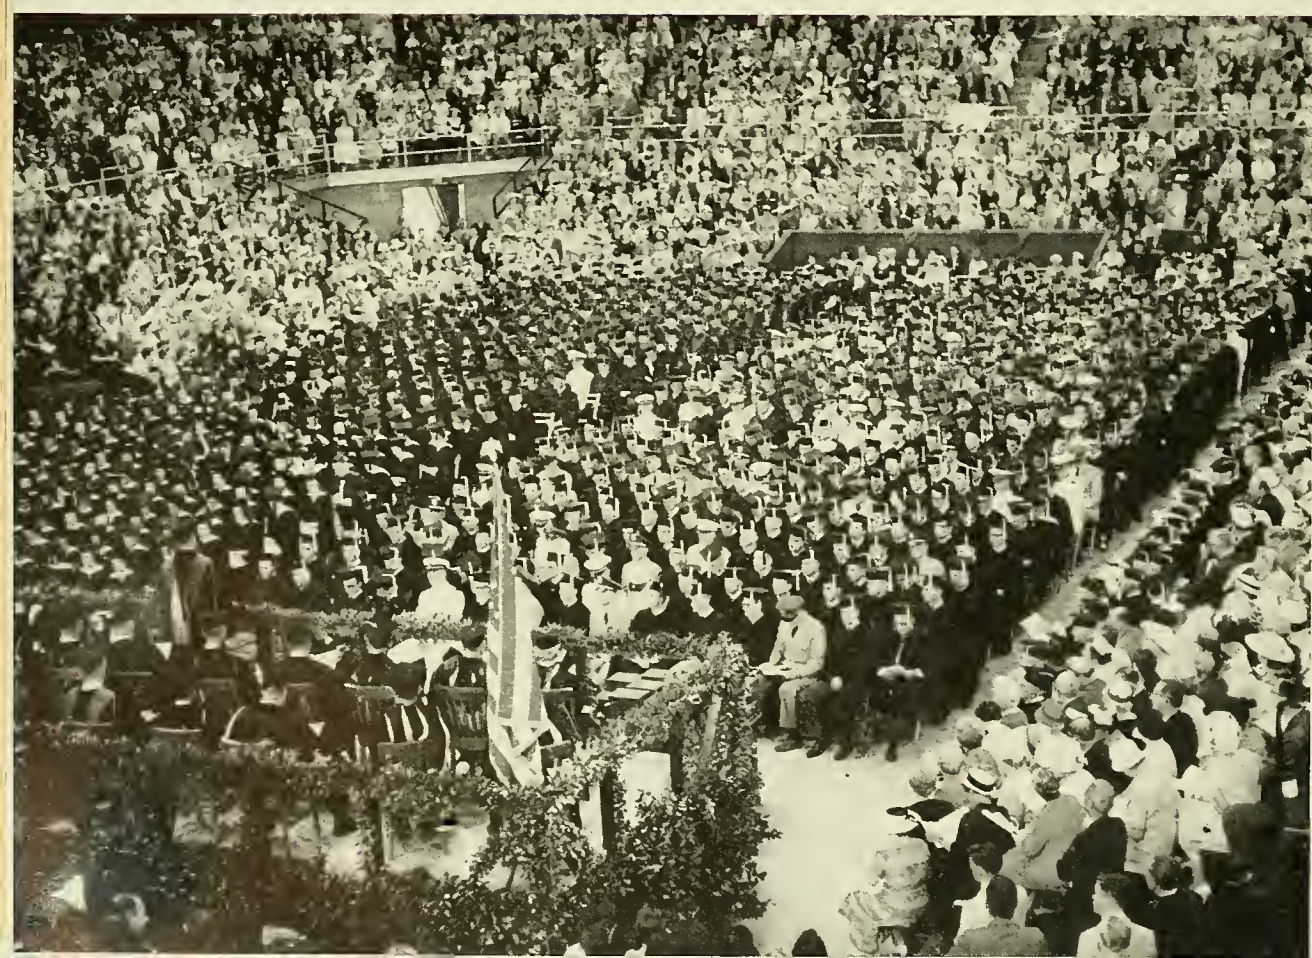

WHERE THE TREES
ARE EVER GREENEST,
WHERE THE SKIES
ARE PUREST BLUE.

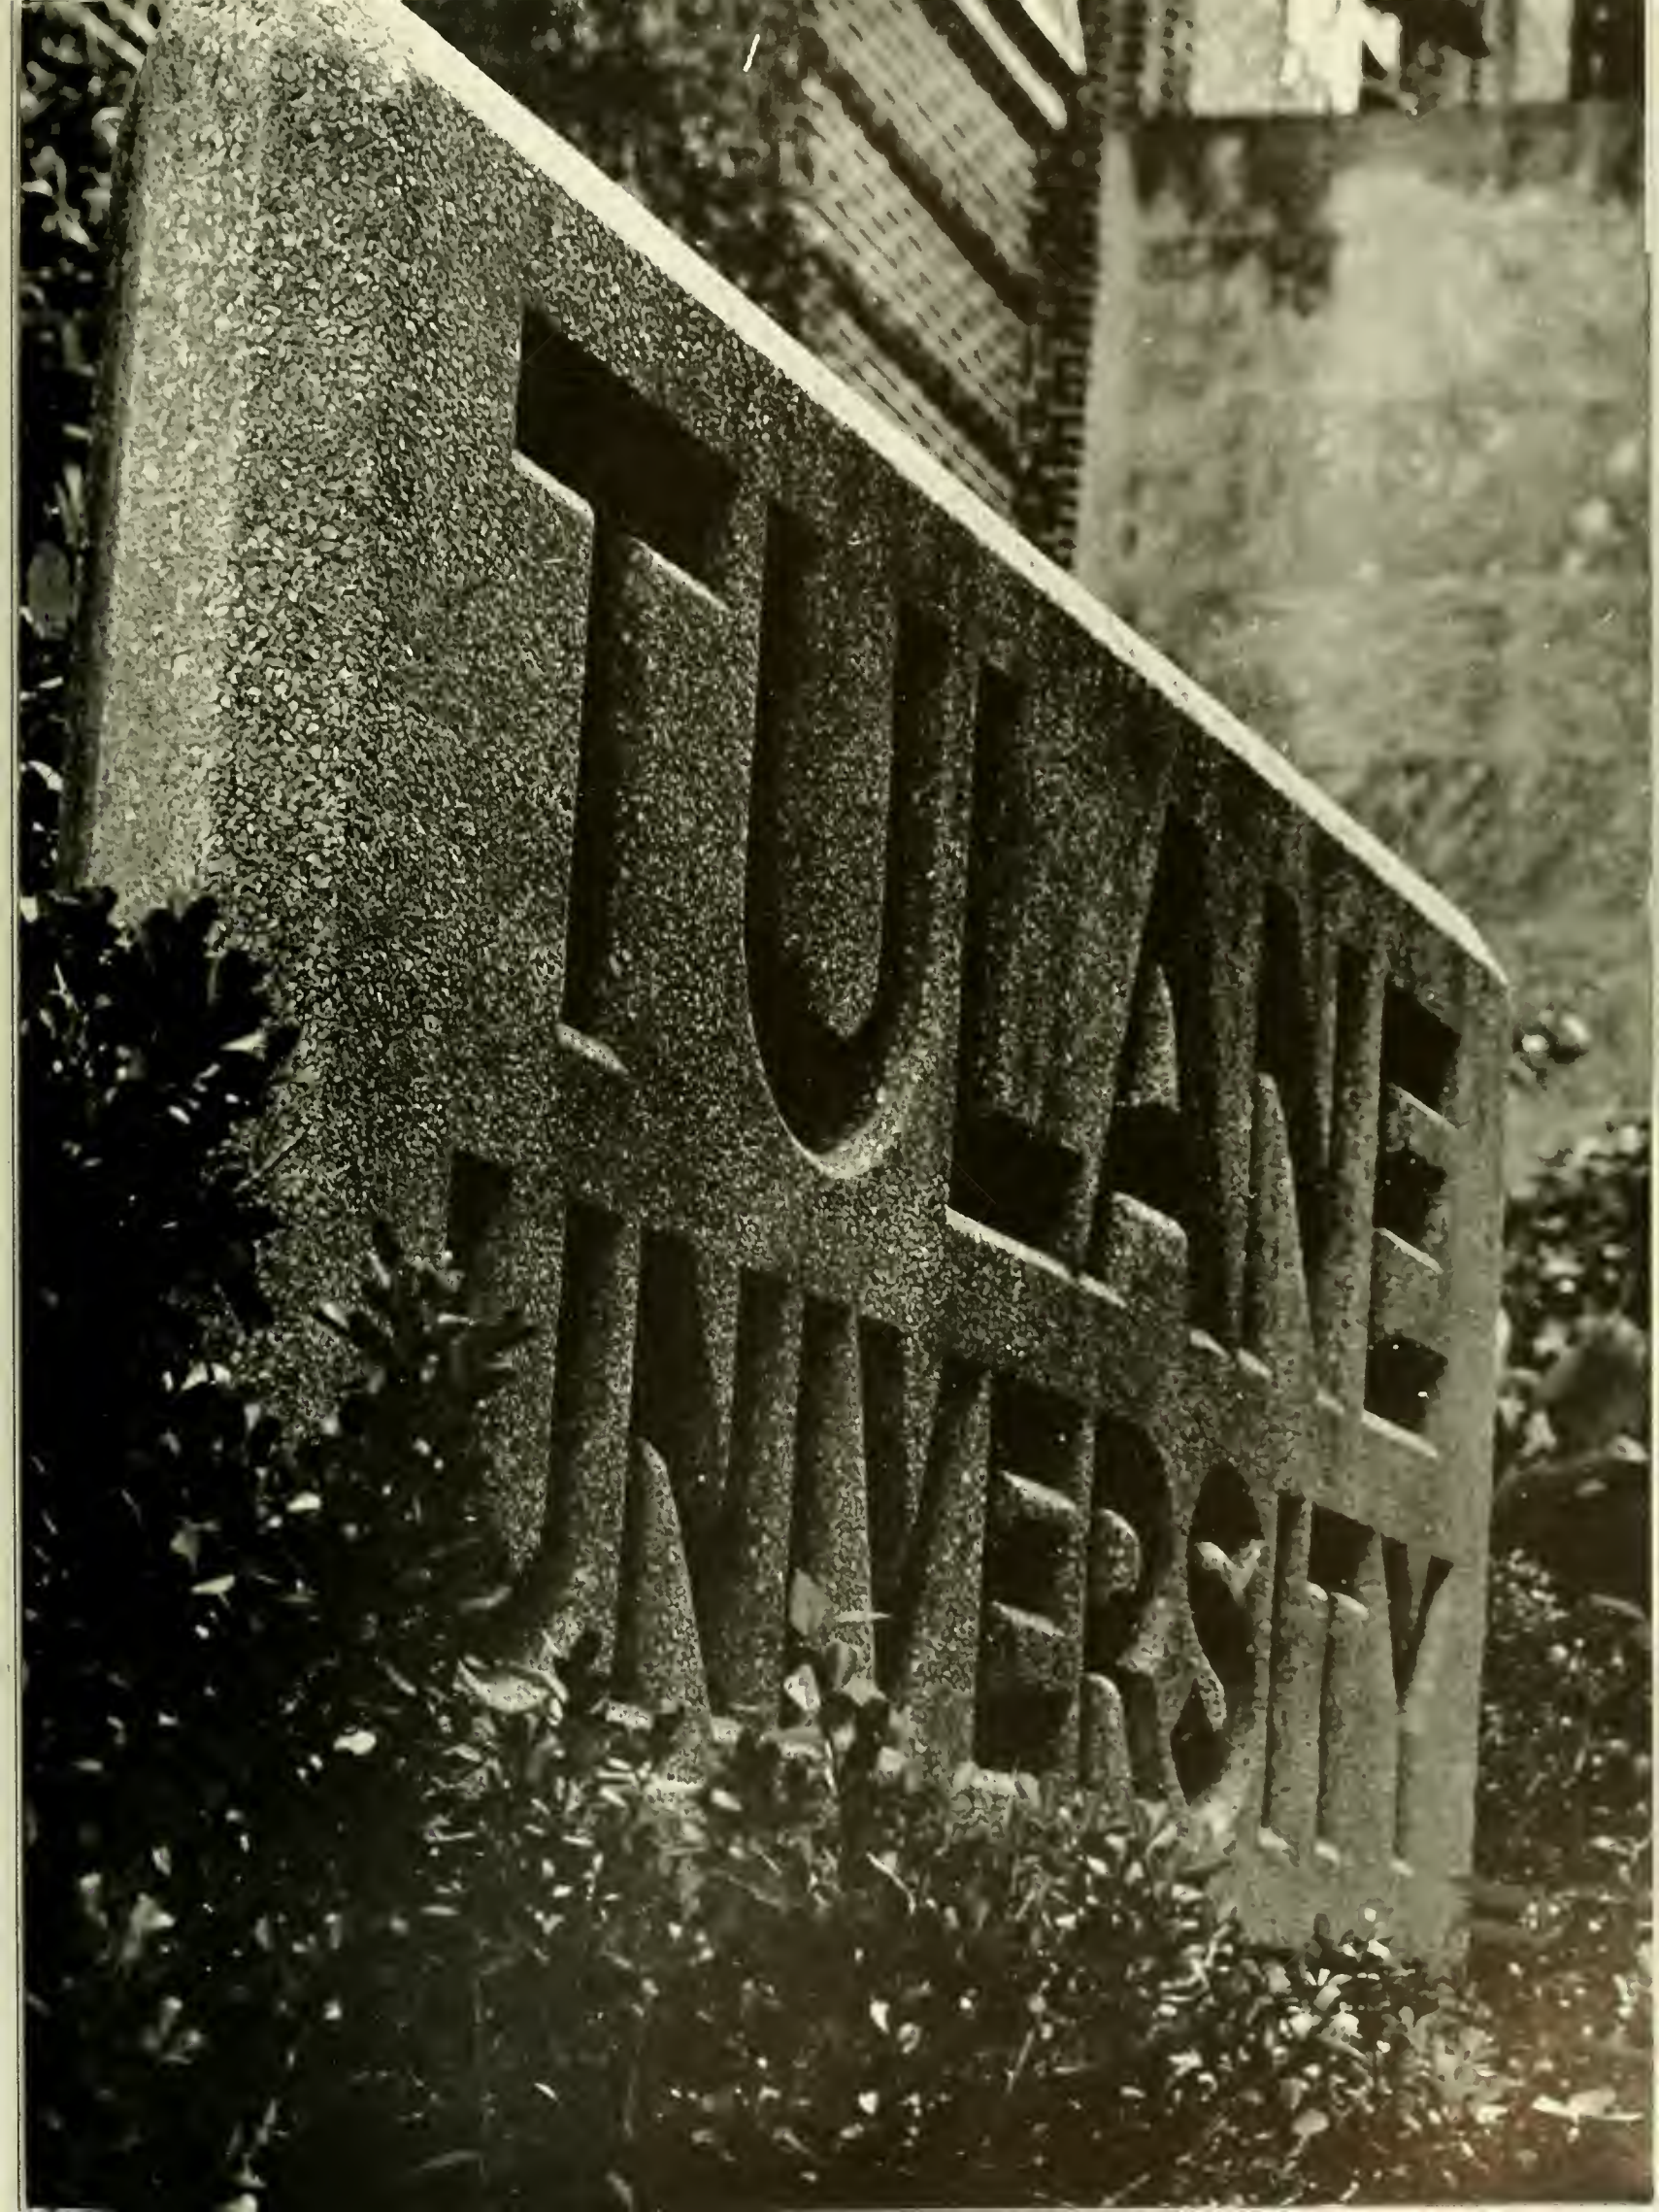

HEAR US NOW, O TULANE,
HEAR US
AS WE PROUDLY SING
TO THEE!

TAKE FROM US
OUR HEART'S DEVOTION!
THINE WE ARE,
AND THINE SHALL BE!

The glories and beauties of Tulane are forever evident around campus, whether they be in the sparkle of a Miss Pauline Tulane or the spontaneous excitement of a Homecoming rally.

The spirit of Tulane University resounds from September to June. It walks the campus with the blythe and winsome Southern beauties of Newcomb, it fills the Sugar Bowl with cheering students at Homecoming in November, it parades, dances, and just has fun during the Mardi Gras Weekend at the beginning of March, and it unleashes itself in a splash of student invention when talented Tulanians present Campus Nite at March's end.

PAN-HELLENIC FORMAL

The 1962 Panhellenic Formal, featuring Cookie and the Cupcakes, twisted its way through a crowded and hectic evening at the International Room in the Roosevelt Hotel. The festive Greeks gathered en masse to savor the pleasures ushered in by the Pan-Hel council, the Roosevelt, and the delighted liquor stores.

Highlighting the evening was the presentation of the JAMBALAYA Beauty Court, Miss Pauline Tulane and her attendant beauties, escorted by members of the JAMBALAYA staff. Emcee Marty Davidson announced the beauties and escorts:

Miss Marilyn Cohen, escorted by Danny Schwartz; Miss Carol Cooper, escorted by Buddy Rosen; Miss Patti Fishburne, escorted by Johnny Graves; Miss Suzanne Manatt, escorted by Doug Conners; Maid of Honor, Miss Ann Williams, escorted by Bill Nussbaum; and Miss Pauline Tulane, Miss Kathy Ryan, escorted by Harlan Schmidt.

HOMECOMING QUEEN

Miss Jane Cheney

Jane was presented during the half-time torrential rains.

To many of the professors, Homecoming is just another Saturday for homework, exams, and pop quizzes, but to everyone else it is a day long awaited and well planned for. Much of the fraternity, sorority, and dormitory decorations have been under construction since the first of the year; a Homecoming Queen and her Court have been selected; and a battery of parties for both students and alumni has been planned.

The 1961 Homecoming Queen, Miss Jane Cherey and her Court, Miss Sally Bisso, Miss Marilyn Cohen, Miss Pat Firmin, Miss Barbara Frost, Miss Mikki Pelletier, and Miss Virginia Wells, Maid of Honor, were presented at the Alumni Dance Friday night.

On Saturday the campus was filled with returning alumni, colorful decorations, and the Law School Seniors celebrating their annual Derby Day. Everyone was cooperating one hundred percent except the weatherman who presented us with the first dreary, cloudy day of the semester. There was a slight drizzle throughout most of the first half of the game, but when the Queen, her Court, and their escorts were on the field the sky opened to make up for the thirty-odd days of sunshine. It was all taken in stride, though, and the Queen and her Court looked extremely regal that night at the Homecoming Dance which climaxed the Homecoming festivities.

ORGANIZATIONS

When the Green Wave athletic teams are faced with crucial contests and the rooting section seems overcome by apathy, the spirit groups reawaken them, and lead Tulane to further victories.

A body of organizations on campus enables the Tulane or Newcomb student to release his or her energies in the prodding of school spirit, to demonstrate dramatic or musical talent, or to prepare for war. The glorious name of Tulane is one thousandfold reinforced by the students who lead cheers, blow horns, or carry rifles, for they help create, out of silence, a roaring victorious din.

SPIRIT

CHEERLEADERS

As thousands of students shouted and roared through another football season and cheered the Wave basketballers to victory, a group of eight bubbly boys and girls was supervising and inspiring their spirit. These cheerleaders, led by Jerry Burford and Jim David, infused excitement into countless Tulane rooters with a set of vastly original cheers and incomparable routines. The enthusiastic eight, including also Colleen Spence, Becky Hoffman, Karol Ann Kuersteiner, Jimmy Long, J. C. Stone, and Jim Hendricks, were also responsible for bonfires, pre-game rallies, and the notorious early-morning team sendoffs. During the football season, the group also traveled to Palo Alto, Mobile, Clemson, and Baton Rouge in vain attempts to spark the team to victory. Not satisfied with the limits of their roles, the effusive eight are also members of Tusk or Greenbackers, devoting all their time and energy to the arousing of spirit.

Believe it or not, TUSK (the name, anyway) actually means something! Yes, sports fans, the name is not merely symbolic of the elephantine spirit of the University. It comes from the epithet Tulane University Spirit Club. Wait. That can't be right. Oh yes, it's Tulane University Spirit Klub. That's better. Anyway, it's an honorary spirit group composed of members of fraternities and sororities on campus, and even some independents! Obviously, the klub's purpose is the arousing of school spirit. This year, one of reorganization for the klub, was spent mostly planning next year's work. Tune in next year to see what happens. They did, however, sponsor some pep rallies and bonfires, and sent telegrams to the football team for away games.

The oldest spirit organization on the Tulane campus, Greenbackers boasts a membership that includes the most spirited people on campus, students chosen from among the masses on an honorary basis, and for their interest in school spirit and their willingness to dedicate themselves to their cause. Representatives of every Tulane fraternity and sorority are among the members, as well as several independents. The overwhelming success of the student card section at the home football games is due to the sparkling originality and vitality of the Greenbackers, who are sure that the innovation will quickly become an integral part of Tulane's spirit devices. The group was also responsible for several pep rallies, the distribution of spirit posters before home games, and the decoration of the goal posts. As always, Greenbackers distributed plaques among the senior basketballers at the season's end. The success of the varsity squads and the undaunted Tulane spirit are fitting testimony to the work of the Greenbackers.

Alpha Phi Omega is a national service fraternity composed of former scouts. The fraternity's purpose is to assemble college men in the fellowship of the scout oath and law, to develop friendship and to serve the school, community, and nation.

Orientation tours for Freshman, aiding with the party for children of Tulane students and faculty at Christmas, decoration of the Campus Christmas Tree, and coordination of Campus Carnival in the spring are among the many activities of Alpha Phi Omega.

The son of Kiwanis Club, Circle K is a service organization for college men. The club performs any duties deemed desirable by school authorities, including the publication of the pocket directory of dorm residents. Members are also interested in raising money; however, proceeds go into campus service funds. The club also sponsors social events of various kinds throughout the year, binding the students in an inexpressible fellowship and mutual desire to serve. Circle K members sum up their spirit to serve, be it campus or community, with the motto of the parent Kiwanis organization: We Build.

The Tulane Spirit Council is the guardian of the spirit of all Tulane and Newcomb students. Composed of the presidents of all the campus' spirit groups, the organization seeks to keep all students aroused at all times. Its members include Delph Gustitus of Greenbackers; Tom Harman, Tusk; Lynn Haddock, Lagniappes; Herman Rotsch, Pep Band; and Jim David, Cheerleaders. Every pep rally—the bonfires, the sendoffs, the rally dances—were created out of the organization's desire to keep students aroused. Their success speaks for the organization.

TULANE SPIRIT COUNCIL

YOUNG BRUNOLOGISTS

Probably the most active of all the campus spirit groups is the Young Brunologist Society, for they probably come into more contact with spirits than any one else at Tulane. The lively group has no required meetings, and although no attendance is taken, they usually meet on Friday afternoons for a laboratory section at Bruno's. The membership includes many of the important names on campus, but, unlike the other spirit groups, there is no limit on the number of nominees from each fraternity or sorority, and the group is completely open to independents. There can be no question that on Friday evenings the Young Brunologists are the happiest Tulanians.

Drawing its members from all colleges of the University, the Tulane University Band, under its renowned director-composer, John J. Morrissey, is considered by some to be one of the South's outstanding concert bands. The Band entertains the student body and the New Orleans citizenry at several appearances during the year. Notable performances were the Christmas Concert in December, the Spring Concert in May, and the rousing displays of musical mastery at the home football games. Warmly received was their rendition of "Hold That Tiger" at the LSU game in Baton Rouge.

The main function of the University Band is to give the members the opportunity to participate in a highly enjoyable musical experience. Members were not available for comment.

Bright green-striped blazers and bright, green-striped music are the familiar trademarks of the Tulane Pep Band, as anyone who ever attended a home basketball game will testify. Another of the spirit groups on campus, the Band is composed of fifteen voluntary members of the Varsity Band, and generates a constant flow of enthusiasm and humor at all spirit rallies, basketball games, the freshman and intersquad football games and other campus events. This year's band will be especially remembered for their rendition of "Three Blind Mice" at the Mississippi State basketball game.

A trip to Mexico provided the year's highlight for the sixty thrushes who comprise the A Capella Choir and their director, Professor John Kuypers. The songbirds, under the auspices of the Instituto Tecnologico de Monterrey and the Instituto Mexicano Norteamericano Relaciones Culturales, traveled through south Texas, stopping occasionally to sing, on a twelve-day journey that culminated in a three-day stay in Monterey, Mexico, highlighted by a television performance and a bullfight.

The canaries tweeted through the usual campus concert season, too, with a concert for the TU Alumni at Homecoming, a Christmas Concert at McAlister Auditorium, the April Spring Concert, and Newcomb Memorial Day Services. The music school faculty and various high schools also enjoyed the lush intonations of the group, which finished up the season with performances at Baccalaureate and Commencement, as well as a rendition of Brahms' "Requiem" in concert with the New Orleans Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. Kuypers, choir director, receives congratulations for the choir's excellent performance.

TULANE UNIVERSITY THEATRE

In November, 1961, the Tulane University Theatre (TUT) celebrated the Silver Anniversary of its founding by Dr. Monroe Lippman, head of the Department of Theatre and Speech.

The regular theatre season includes four major productions under the direction of faculty members, and three studio productions under the direction of graduate students in partial fulfillment of the M.F.A. requirements in Theatre. Try-outs for any phase of the productions, cast or crew, are open to all members of the student body, faculty and staff. The plays are produced in two intimate, air-conditioned theatres—a proscenium theatre and an arena theatre.

In addition to participating in the productions, students also aid in the organization and supervision of the theatre's social activities such as the annual awards banquet where outstanding students receive recognition for their superior contributions to various phases of drama. Upon completion of the Sophomore year and the requirements for membership, a student may be elected to Tulane's chapter of Pi Epsilon Delta, an honorary dramatic fraternity.

Campus Nite for 1962 was a combination farce-musical comedy entitled "No Love Lost," and was presented at Newcomb's Dixon Hall for a three-day run from March 22 through the 24th. The production, produced, directed by, written by, and acted by students, satirized foreign aid and sex, and provided an entertaining evening for three nights worth of spectators.

The plot concerned an almost-manless island "somewhere off Europe" named Chunguria, populated by 300 women and three men, who took turns as diplomats. Marty Boorstein played Prince Philip, the leading man. Sapho, queen of the Chungurians, was played by Jackie Cohen. Lady Helen Hardy and Liz Caldwell were outstanding among the rest of the cast.

The score and lyrics were pleasant, if not always thoroughly original. The book was written by Marty Boorstein and Russ Herman, who also contributed music and lyrics. Betsy Roosa, a freshman, was director. A helping hand was lent by Adviser Einar Pedersen, who composed the lyrics of nine of the songs.

ARMY R. O. T. C.

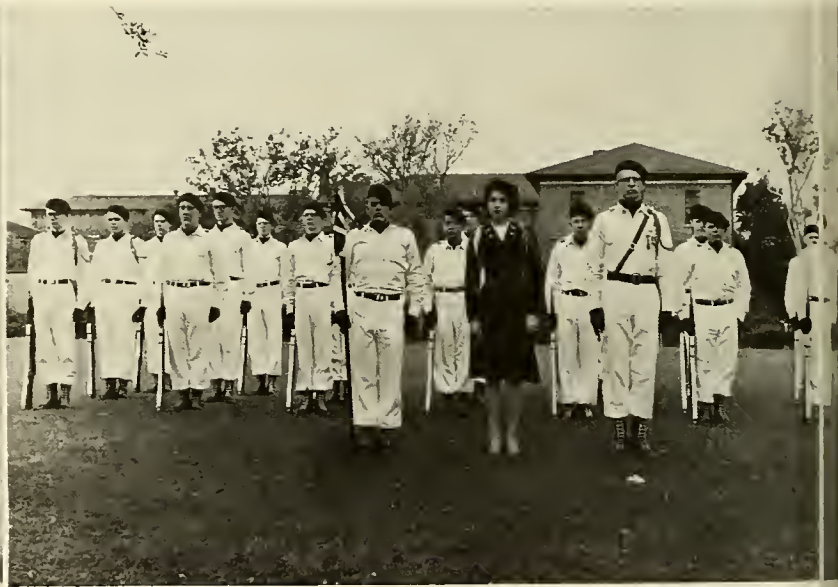

Tulane University possesses one of only two Army ROTC units in the country devoted solely to the training of future Transportation Corps officers for our nation's army.

Army cadets at Tulane this year were given classroom instruction in Army concepts, military history, teaching methods, marksmanship, operations, and extensive training in the numerous aspects of the Transportation Corps. The seniors returned from a rigorous six-week summer camp with the practical training to complement their classroom work.

Army's activities, however, were by no means confined to formal instruction: the entire Battle Group drilled twice weekly; the rifle team co-sponsored the annual Mardi Gras Rifle Match, which attracted national interest; Company K-6 of the National Society of Pershing Rifles, a military fraternity, earned distinction through its appearance and victories in drill meets throughout the South; the Association of the United States Army and the National Defense Transportation Association provided methods for cadets to find out more about the Army, the TC, and their role in both; the Fall Banquet and the Military Ball were scenes of gracious social gathering; and numerous trophies attest to the skill of Army teams in intramural athletics.

The Army cadre and cadets are especially proud of their role in giving Tulane another first-place position: our university, with 40% of her eligible males enrolled in some ROTC program, ranks first among private colleges which have all three serve ROTC's on a voluntary basis. This new position is due largely to the greatly expanded enrollment in Army ROTC at Tulane this year.

NAVY R. O. T. C.

An integral part of Tulane's educational facility, The Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps unites the military and the scholastic in a bond guaranteed to yield Naval Officers of the highest quality and capability. Stressing leadership, military aptitude, and academic proficiency the unit abounds in the ESPIRIT DE CORPS so evident in every aspect of U.S. Naval activity. The prospective midshipman may look forward to four years of top classroom training, well supplemented by an intensive, marine-conducted drill program; plus, from one to nine interesting and highly instructive summer cruises.

A brief look at the future reveals the dawning age of Nuclear Seapower; an age offering the midshipman of the present expansive career opportunities entailing new and interesting concepts of Naval procedure and technique. The N.R.O.T.C. officer preparatory course is designed to meet

The Training of future officers for leadership positions with the United States Air Force in the Space Age is the purpose for which Detachment 320 exists. To accomplish this objective, a program of combined academic and military preparation is offered.

The Basic Course during the freshman and sophomore years consists mainly of achieving drill proficiency and developing leadership potential. At the same time, introductory courses concerning the history of the USAF, career fields, and the principles of warfare are taken. Orientation flights in military aircraft and visits to Air Force bases provide the basic cadets with opportunities to view the Air Force in being.

physically qualified cadets, provides for more intense academic instruction and the opportunity of exercising command positions on the Drill Field and within the Detachment itself. Summer training camp at an Air Base provides for an actual taste of military life, and the Flight Instruction Program enables the cadets in the pilot category to obtain their private flying licenses.

Despite the fact that AFROTC graduates have to serve a minimum of four years of active duty, enthusiastic interest in the Air Science program is well illustrated by the record enrollment of cadets during the present year. Their willingness to serve their country will help insure that competent leadership will continue to be available to America as she ventures towards the stars.

On the Tulane Campus, the society is composed of elected Army, Air Force, and Navy R.O.T.C. cadets who become eligible for membership by exhibiting outstanding military bearing in their respective units and by maintaining a satisfactory over-all scholastic average.

The purpose of the Society is to unite in closer relationship the military departments on the Tulane campus, to preserve and develop the essential qualities of good and efficient military officers, and to prepare cadets to take a more active part in the military affairs of their communities. Above all, Scabbard and Blade attempts to present intelligent information concerning the military requirements of our country. But that is difficult.

ATHLETICS

The glory and reputation of Tulane are compounded by the segment of the student body which participates in athletics, leading uncountable Green Wave units to an endless string of victories.

When the red of autumn pervades New Orleans summer, and the masses of Tulane flood its ivied walls, the giants of Tulane, the football team, shout Green Wave for all to hear, spreading the name of our University across land and river. With the winter comes basketball, but the heat of victory thaws the icy cold. Spring means baseball, golf, and especially tennis, and then the summer sun smiles softly on another glorious Tulane year.

Belying pre-season opinions that tabbed them as a threat to the established leaders of the South Eastern Conference, the men from Tulane looked a bright shade of green, perhaps from a difficult plane ride, as they were ambushed by a long-obscure tribe of California Indians, the Stanfordites of Palo Alto. Seemingly dazed by the sunny California day, the Wave was little more than a drip through their first sixty minutes of 1961 football, scoring only once, as the result of a Stanford fumble on their own one-yard line. Two plays later, Lenny Stein bulled into the end zone, but a 47-yard Stanford pass-play in the fourth quarter wrested victory from the Tulanians' green hands and gave a 9-7 win to the fifth-best team in the west's Big Five conference.

GREEN WAVE SPLASHES TO TWO-VICTORY SEASON

The following week, a tide drowned the Wave, as the Greenies invaded Mobile to do battle with the Alabama eleven that emerged from 1961 undefeated, untied, SEC champion, and the best team in the country. Tulane was not, surprisingly enough, bathed in crimson. Though the Greenie could not score, a cold Alabama team could only muster one touchdown and a field goal for a 9-0 win.

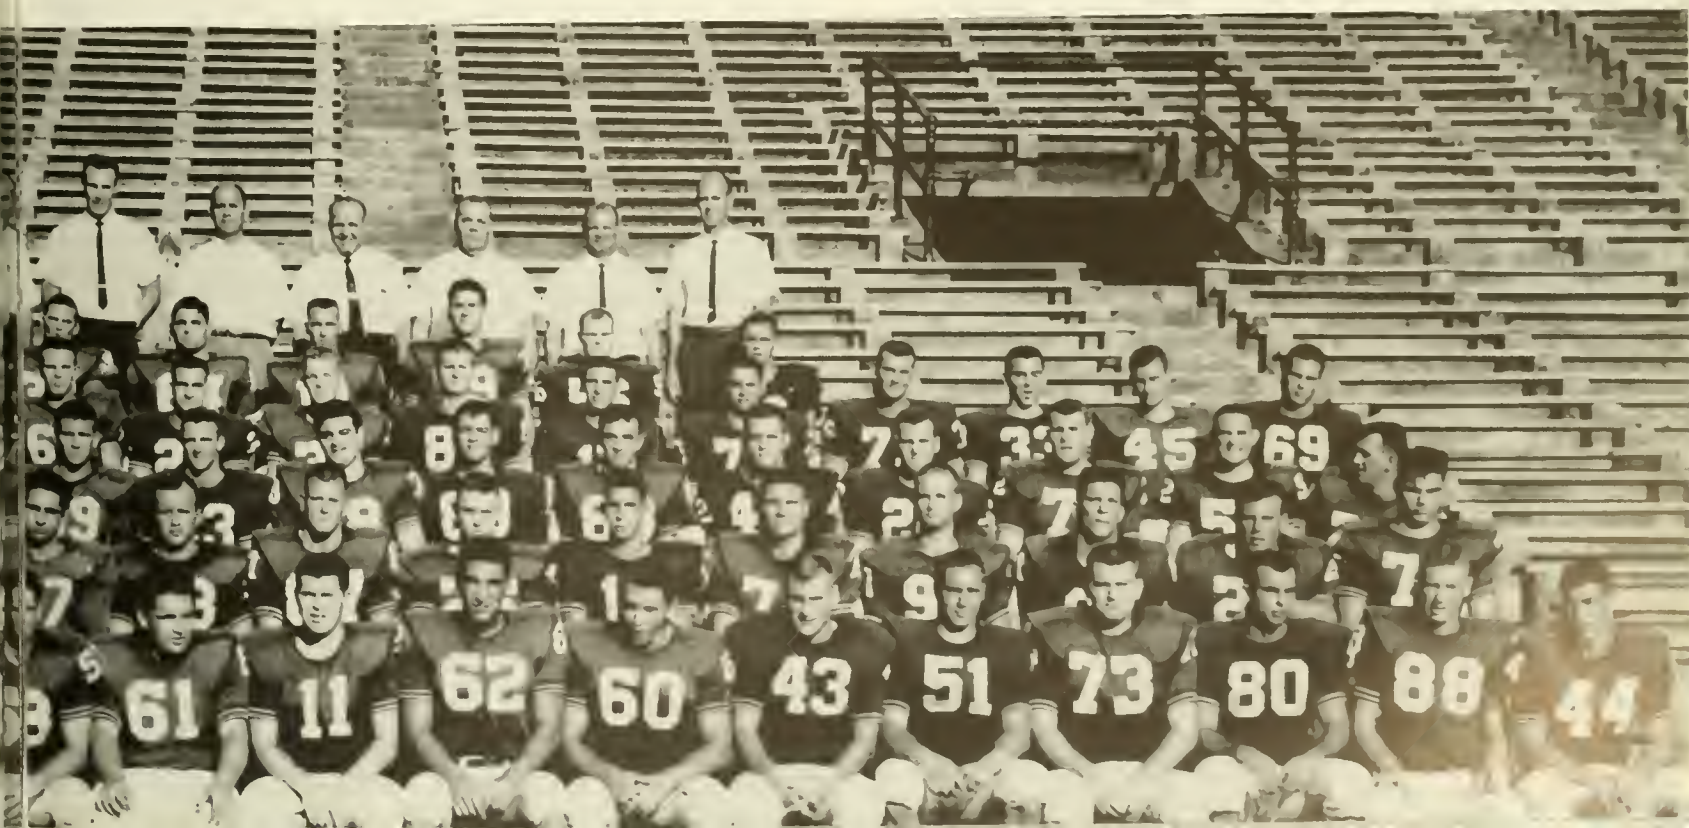

Despite the inauspicious beginning, Tulane's men were still not dispirited, for their third game was to be played in the friendly Sugar Bowl. Although locked in the Gators' jaws, and without a first down until the fourth quarter, chance, a stiff defense and a field goal by Soph End Connell gave the Greenies a 3-0 halftime advantage. But the Gators refused to remain submerged, and slowly rose from their green bathtub for two late touchdowns and a 14-3 victory. After three games, the Wave seemed to be evaporating towards an untied season, without a win.

But, as luck would have it, the Gobblers of Virginia Tech turned turkey, and an excited Greenie unit made cranberry sauce out of them, 27-14. Leading the Wave's victory were Ted Miller, Gordon Rush and Donnie Cotton. Miller ran for one TD and passed to Billy Ary for another. Cotton scored on a five-yard scamper through the Gobbler line. Rush tallied on a one-yard drive, and was the Wave's leading ground-gainer. But it was kicker Chuck Connell, with 7 points in four games, who emerged from the din of a victory as the season's leading scorer.

It was an injury-riddled Wave minus the services of Quarterback Burgieres, Halfback Oeschner and Fullback Stein, that seeped into the field at Jackson, Mississippi, to combat the Rebels of Ole Miss. End Lasseigne, Center Schoonmaker, and Tackle Freeman were numbered among the casualties during the game, so only five starters were intact when the dust of battle had cleared. Unlike the contest that was being fought around Jackson a century ago, this time the Rebels not only won, but annihilated their enemy, 41-0. A pass from Quarterback Ronnie Melton to Tommy Emerson, completed on the Ole Miss 1-yard line, was the closest thing to a TD that the dried-up Wave could muster. Connell was still high scorer.

Not believing the rave notices gained by Georgia Tech prior to its invasion of the otherwise-pleasant Tulane Homecoming, the Wave chose to aid the Yellow Jackets. Dropped punts, blocked punts and fumbles helped the Wrecks ramble to five touchdowns and a 35-0 route of the Greenies in the wettest game of the season. After the tireless effort of spirit groups and decorators to incite a Wave victory, the game was rather anti-climactic, and better forgotten. Connell was still high scorer, although his 7 points did not appear to be challenging any all-time records.

The Greenies played the role of Tiger-tamer the following week, but the Clemson, South Carolina, breed proved to be Wave-eating, as they gobbled up our hapless eleven, 21-6. Another feline, habitat Baton Rouge, was reported to be expecting a good Thanksgiving dinner after viewing the results of this circus. A spectacular 67-yard run by Tommy Emerson supplied the only Green Wave score of the afternoon, and placed him in a five-way tie for second place (with 6 points) as the season's leading scorer. Connell held on grimly to first place with 7.

The Wave got swallowed up by a Hurricane at the Sugar Bowl the following week, helped along by a questionable call by a referee on what looked to Tulane observers like an incomplete pass. Ruled a fumble, the error set up the lone Miami score in a 6-0 game. Connell wasn't even given an opportunity to extend his scoring lead.

The Greenie wowed his followers at Tulane Stadium the next week with his second win of the season, a spine-tingler at 17-14, won at Vanderbilt's expense in the last 50 seconds of play. Tommy Camp scored the first TD (Connell adding the extra point), after a Domingue pass to Dellinger set the Wave into scoring position. With a minute to go, and the Greenies down 14-7, Larry McIntire burst loose for 53 yards to the Vandy 11. Domingue then hit Dellinger in the end zone for 6 and McIntire for the two-point play, and the Commodores had been floated off on a Wave of green. To add insult to injury, Gus Gonzales trapped a Vandy back in the end zone after a bad pass from center for a safety and two more points. Connell prepped for the season finale with 8 points, and a bulge of two over his closest competitors.

What did the coach say to do if the tackler was blocked out?

"If at first you don't succeed . . ."

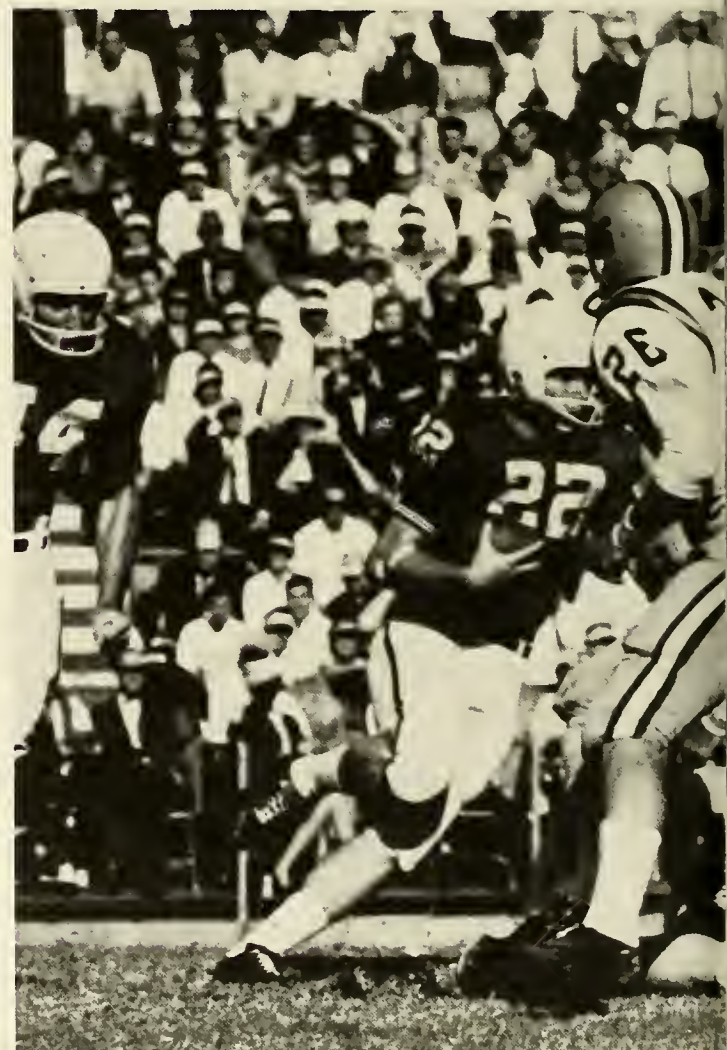

The Greenies closed their season by playing the role of Tiger meat for the second time in four weeks. A battle was foreseen between LSU high scorer Wendell Harris and Tulane's Chuck Connell, but the contest was hardly close. Although Connell, with no points, clung to his Tulane scoring leadership with 8 points for the season, Harris scored three touchdowns, kicked five conversions, and ran for a two-point try, total 25, for 96 points and an LSU record. The screaming Tiger fans welcomed the Green Wave offense, a combination of fumbles, lost yardage and intercepted passes. The final tally was 62-0, a score that was hauntingly familiar to close followers of the Tulane-LSU rivalry.

As the season concluded, Tulane boasted no all-Americans, no all-conference players, and a new coach. Maybe tomorrow . . .

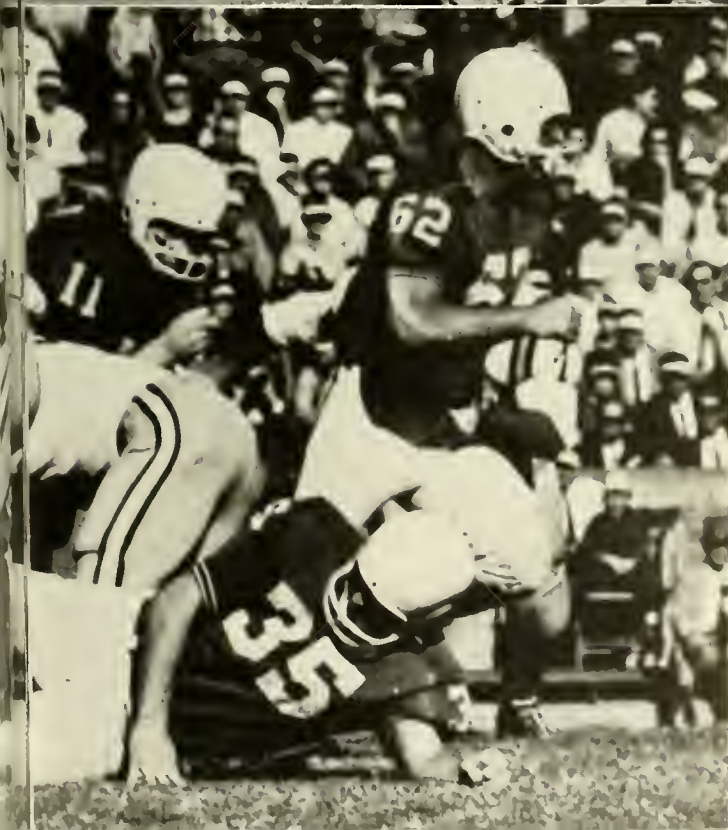

"'Tis better to be a live coward . . ."

1/1000th shutter speed caught this Greenie on his feet.

"Smile when you say that . . ."

New head football coach Tommy O'Boyle is truly a family man

A feeling of anxious anticipation has crept into the minds of many Tulanians as they await the unveiling of new head football coach, Tommy O'Boyle's "New Look" fighting Wave eleven early next September.

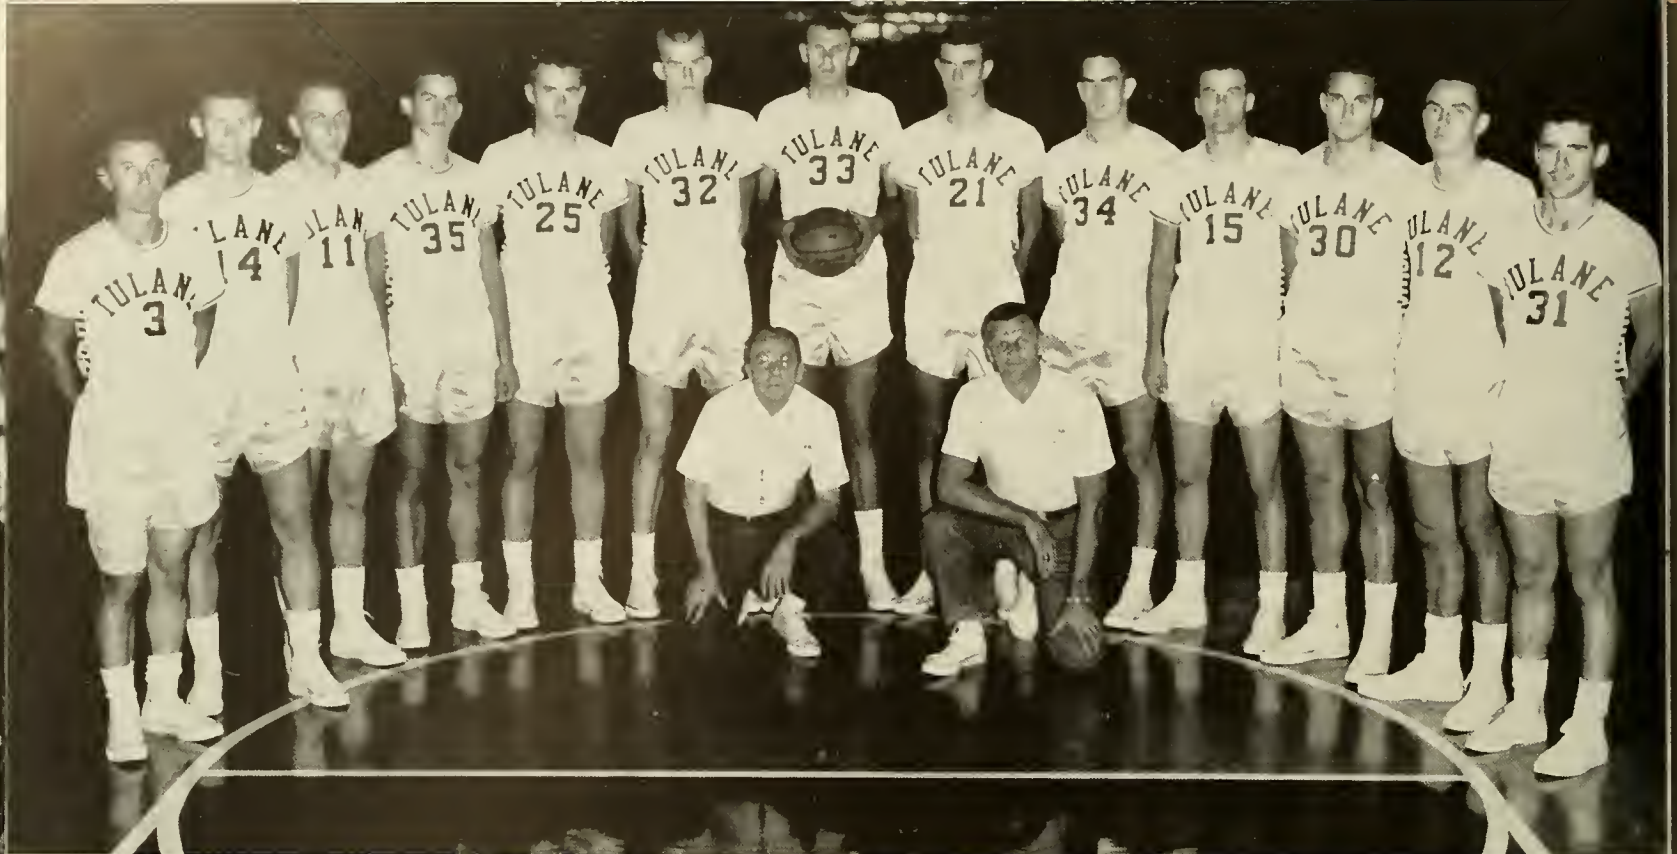

O'Boyle, appointed to the head position after the resignation of Andy Pilney last season, takes over the reins facing one of the toughest schedules in collegiate football. Filled with optimistic energy, Coach O'Boyle has begun work not only to boost the morale of squad members during spring practice, but also to breathe life into the very backbone of any team—the student body. Approaching various campus groups, the new head mentor has spoken frankly with students asking for and accepting suggestions, discussing plans for new game uniforms and explaining the various ways in which the student body could aid in boosting the Wave to the winner's circle.

TULANE HOOPSTERS POST THIRTEEN WINS

The 1961-62 basketball season was one of individual glory and team disappointment, of spurts of greatness as well as cold nights. As the season closed, the team could be proud of their 13-10 record, yet the 6-8 SEC mark could only be termed disappointing.

The Wave began the season with a burst, not losing until it hit the road against Texas and Rice, then continuing through a long home stand with successive victories, including a 107-77 rout of Mississippi. For forty minutes they looked invincible, even without the services of Mike Milholland, who was lost at semester break for academic reasons. The next Monday, Mississippi State came, saw, conquered, and thus began the streak that sent the Greenies from the top of the conference to the middle.

The brightest star of all was Jim Kerwin, the greatest scorer in Tulane history, whose 509 points smashed the season record he himself had set the previous year. The 6-3, Long Branch, New Jersey, youth will long be remembered for the all-angle one-handed jump shots that pushed his average to 23.1 points per game. Not only was Jim the first Greenie ever to hit 500 points in a single season, he also set team records for average and total points, and was the first Tulane player to reach the 1000-point mark in two seasons. Jim was named to virtually every All-SEC team, and named as Honorable Mention on several All-Americans.

Jack Ardon climaxed a brilliant career at Tulane with 349 points for the season, a total of 1,106 for his college career, placing him third among all-time Wave scorers, and 1,062 rebounds in three years, a Tulane mark. The Lakewood, New Jersey, giant was second in the SEC in rebounds.

Scrappy Wayne Pearl, the fire of the team, concluded his Tulane career with 258 points and almost as many fouls. The Wave will miss him next year, when he and other guards, Rex Krider and Bobby March, will have graduated.

Soph Bobby Davidson looked promising, though, piling up a 45.6 field-goal percentage to lead the team. Playing pivot and forward, Bobby racked up 177 points for the season.

The team set a record in the Ole Miss game, hitting 45 field goals among the 107 points, of which 41 points were tallied by Kerwin. The Greenies had an ultra-successful home season, with 12 wins to only two defeats, culminating in the 84-69 rout of LSU before a packed field house.

For Coach Cliff Wells, the season marked his 46th as a coach and his 17th as leader of the Green Wave. His 253-150 record at Tulane is highlighted by edges over every SEC team except Kentucky. The little professor will begin a rebuilding program next year, around Kerwin, Davidson, Getts, and Gott, the only remaining lettermen, and some fine prospects from Coach Pedersen's freshman quint, especially Alan Kern, and guards Steve Bell and Denny Shoup. All in all, with Kerwin popping in the jumpers, it should be a record-breaking year.

Coach Doug Hafner

BASEBALL

The Tulane baseball team started 1962 with a new coach, a solid core of lettermen, and several promising sophomores. Coach Doug Hafner, able to rely on only one returning infielder, first baseman John Chaisson, looked with hope to Sophomores Ricky Sankey, Bobby Neider, and Tony Ceresaro to fill in the infield and to provide adequate stickwork. With two-thirds of last year's outfield returning, continued fine play was expected of hard-hitting leftfielder Gus Wenzel, Sophomore centerfielder Ray Nord, and rightfielder Pete Capdebon. In catching position, All-Southeastern Conference backstop Bob Cornett, who led the Wave in hitting last year with .333, returned for his senior season, Letterman Plauche Villere and Sophomore-Dick Ronniger stood out as two noted hurlers. The 1961 Tulane diamondmen fared no better than their predecessors, posting a 5-14 over-all season record and a 2-12 tabulation in S.E.C. play.

TENNIS

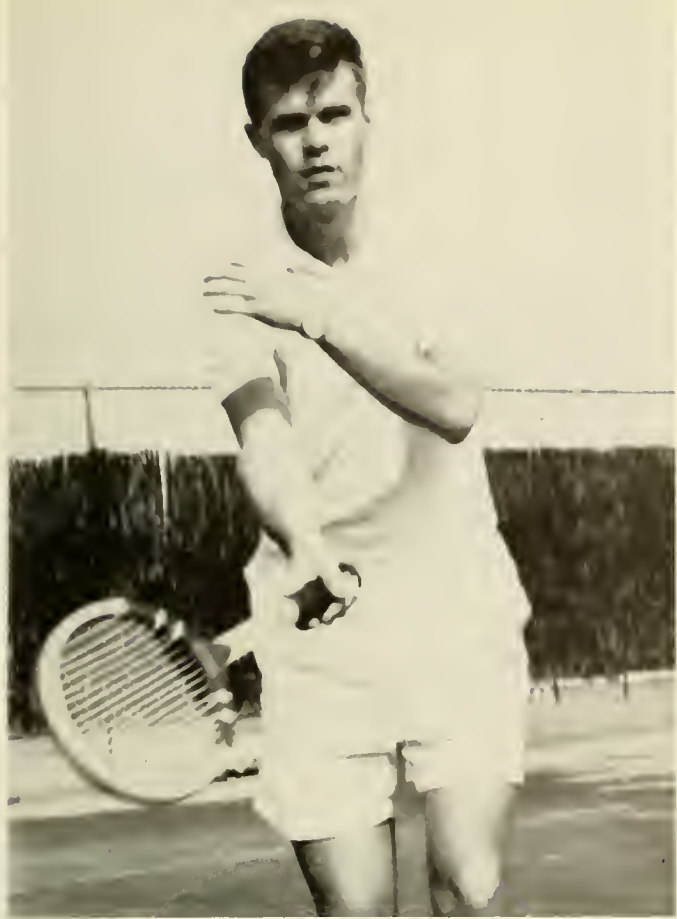

The Tulane tennis team, centered almost entirely around young blood, was completely rebuilt by Coach Emmett Pare in preparation for the 1962 net season. Heading the 1962 netmen was Sophomore Andy Lloyd, second-ranked singles player in the South. Occupying the number-two position was left-handed Junior Lee Fentress who racked up 10 wins against a single loss in 1961 season play. Jimmy Morse, another Junior, was expected to have a fine year playing in the third slot as he improved tremendously last year, posting an 8-3 singles record. Rounding out the team, adding valuable strength when called upon, were Sophomores Jack Hapting and Dan Rhodes, Junior Ed Austin, and Senior Jerry Varland.

GOLF

Six returning lettermen to the Greenie golf team under the watchful eyes of Coach Innes Miller promised Tulane one of its better teams in recent years. The 1962 golfers scheduled eight dual meets, a triangular match with L.S.U. and Rice, the Louisiana State Invitational and the Southeastern Conference Tournament to tempt their driving and putting skills. Jerry Greenbaum, winner of the New Orleans Open, Jack Barcelo, Delph Gustitus, Jay Krachmer, Ed Olsen and David Lawrence formed the image of a winning season.

SWIMMING

The 1962 version of the Tulane swimming team coached by Lowell Damonte centered itself around young, enthusiastic tankmen in its second season in intercollegiate competition. The team, facing one of the toughest schedules in the conference, failed to surface topside. Although losses were experienced against Florida, Florida State, Georgia Tech, Miami, Texas A&M, Emory and Sewanee, all but a few of the standing school records were broken. Those records being submerged were in Medley Relay, 440-yard Freestyle, 200-yard Individual Medley, 200-yard Butterfly, 100-yard and 200-yard Backstroke events. John Jackson led the record-breakers, battering two individual records and swimming on the Medley Relay team. Swimmers are looking forward to next year's season with hopes riding on eight returning lettermen and a strong 1962 freshman squad.

TRACK

The 1962 track team, although not yet a top-flight crop, gave an over-all better appearance because of more depth. Sophomores were counted on for a second wind. Coach John Oelkers, talented leader of the cindermen, anticipated four or five sprinters who could keep the pace in the stiff competition which is at its best in the Southeastern Conference. A fine performance was expected of Jerome Winsberg, 100-yard dash man and a member of the mile relay team. In 1961 Winsberg was a 9.8 100-yard man and also turned in a 21.5 in the 220 and a 49 flat in the 440. Larry McIntire and Tommy Ogg also performed in sprints. In the middle distance runs, Tom Schneider, Fred Levitin, Bob McKenzie and Lenny Stein were counted on to garner points in the 440. A weak spot in the 880 and mile runs was filled by Mike Eubanks and Tom Meek, who displayed increasing capabilities. Although lacking depth in hurdle events, Lee Cary and Larry McIntire proved valuable. Larry Getts and Sophomore Ron Smith were again counted on to put the shot as was Emmett Grandy, broad-jumper. Rounding out the team were Lenny Stein and Jack Ardon, who were hopefuls in their respective javelin-throw and high-jump events.

INTRAMURALS

All students receive the opportunity to participate in athletics through Intramurals, which offers participation in events from football to bridge for the Tulane student. Two leagues have been formed: one is All-University, drawing participants from the schools; the other is a dormitory league, with students competing for their residence halls.

Nine sports drew contention first semester. Touch football winners were Law School and Bechtel House; A&S and Phelps garnered swimming honors; Law School and Irby were volleyball winners. Civil Engineering and Menuet were tennis champions; Medical School and Phelps topped ping-pongers. A&S and Irby were victorious at badminton. Law School and Irby won golfing competition. Army ROTC and McBryde were bowling kings; and Business Administration and Irby won at squash. Individual stars were netmen Wen Kuang Kan and Bob Mann (tennis), Vic Tsang and John Frelinger (table tennis), Richard Lam and Ray Lake (badminton), and Minor Pipes and Stan Kann (squash).

Intramural competition was open in the spring in both divisions in basketball, handball, pool, horseshoes, free throws track, bridge, softball, and squash doubles.

Ben Abadie was Intramural Director.

SCHOLARSHIP

No matter how many diversions there may be, the essence of a University remains learning, and Tulane students represent themselves scholastically in the outstanding manner for which they have become reputed.

The scholastic achievements of Tulanians are known throughout the nation and in many parts of the world, for the tradition of Tulane is one of scholarship. Hopeful freshmen join the professional clubs, associations of students who plan future work in similar fields, and the outstanding among them can also earn election to one of the lower-class honorary fraternities or sororities. Outstanding work in the upper grades is rewarded by a variety of honoraries covering all the colleges of the University.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest of all college honor societies, was founded in 1776 at the College of William and Mary. The Alpha of Louisiana Chapter at Tulane was established in 1909, and recognizes superior attainments in scholarship by students in the College of Arts and Sciences and in Newcomb College.

At the last Newcomb Student Body Meeting of the year, freshmen girls, outstanding in leadership, service, scholarship, and school spirit are tapped for Assets, honorary sophomore organization. The new members are elected each year by the outgoing members.

The Assets don white dresses during the year to act as ushers at numerous school functions including the May Day festivities. During fall orientation they are Big Sisters to the incoming freshmen.

WHO'S WHO

IN AMERICAN COLLEGES

AND UNIVERSITIES

The students recognized in Who's Who each year are nominated from approximately 600 colleges and universities. Campus nominating committees are instructed, in making their decisions, to consider the student's scholarship, his co-operation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities; his service and citizenship to the school; and his promise of future usefulness. Recognition by Who's Who means that the student was first officially recommended from the university or college he attends and then accepted by the organization.

The Owl Club, a Medical School service organization, strives mainly to promote better student-faculty relations in the Medical School, to handle special problems of concern to the school, and to aid in the improvement of medical education. Twenty-four medical students comprise the body of this group. Each spring, the Owl Club awards the Owl Club trophy at the annual Owl Club banquet to the department in the Medical School which has been most outstanding in the education of its students. This year's Owl Club trophy winner was the department of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

Linking Tulane pre-medical students with those already successful in the practice of medicine, the Pre-Medical Society is one of the most successful societies on campus. Those who share visions of success in medicine as their common goal can be brought into closer fellowship by the organization. Now in its fourteenth year, the society offers students the opportunity to hear lectures by successful doctors throughout the year, as well as the chance to tour Charity Hospital and the Tulane Medical School. The year is climaxed by a parting banquet, highlighted by the distribution of the annual publication, the Pre-Medical Journal, and the presenting of awards to the society's most successful members.

MOOT COURT

The outstanding students of the Junior and Senior classes of the Tulane Law School comprise the Moot Court Board. Selected on the basis of academic achievement, board members are responsible for the drafting of the fictitious cases which provide the basis for the school-wide competition. The Court affords the law student an opportunity to obtain practical experience in appellate advocacy. The Board members sit as judges. The Freshman competition is compulsory, but the Junior and Senior competition is conducted on an elimination basis culminating in the Final Competition which is judged by members of the Supreme Court of Louisiana. Robert Leavell is the Board's Faculty Adviser.

Phi Alpha Delta was founded in Chicago November 8 1902, to develop a strong bond among the members of the different classes at the various law schools; to form a strong link between the schools and their former students; and to establish a widespread exchange for the interchange of business, information, and matters of common interest to the members of the fraternity.

Phi Alpha Delta has more active chapters than any other law fraternity, although its chapters are restricted to law schools accredited by the American Bar Association.

The fraternity cultivates a closer bond of friendship and the attainment of a higher and broader attitude than that offered by the regular college course, fostering under the influence of intimate friendships those principles that tend to form a higher type of manhood.

Possibly the most sophisticated group on campus is the Tulane University Sailing Club. These lovers of leisure combine the sheer aesthetic enjoyment of wind coursing through their sails with the opportunities to assume titles associated with the Navy. Among the highlights of these sailors' year were the Sugar Bowl Regatta in December, the Baldwin Wood Regatta in the fall, and the Garner Tullis regatta in the spring. Members were delighted to find themselves now classified among Intercollegiate Yacht Racers of North America. Exciting also was the offer of special memberships in the Southern Yacht Club given by the group on a student basis. This year the club added a Luders 16 racing sloop to their collection. Club members, in the midst of instruction for beginners and racing for the experts, still took time out to be overjoyed.

Alpha Chi, Tulane chapter of Eta Sigma Phi, the national honorary classics fraternity, dedicates itself to the study of the classics and to the development of a greater appreciation of the languages and cultures of the early Greek and Roman civilizations. The chapter initiated a new system of pledging during the last year. Aside from the usual business meetings, the group also sponsored lectures and the Saturnalia celebration, in conjunction with the Classics Department. The chapter was represented at the national convention in Bloomington, Indiana, this spring.

Organized in 1926, Theta Nu is the Professional Journalism fraternity on the Tulane campus. Only Journalism majors are eligible to this highly restricted group, and they must possess awe-striking scholastic averages. Above all, they must strive endlessly for the furtherment of achievement in Journalism and the development of student participation in the Hullabaloo.

The highlight of the scholastic year of the Theta Nu is the annual banquet, at which the outstanding student reporter is rewarded with a trophy, appropriately called the "Reporter's Cup." Publicity, however, is one of the fraternity's weaker points. This year they even failed to send copy to the JAMBALAYA.

Organized at Newcomb in 1941, Beta Lambda chapter of Beta Beta Beta has striven to stimulate a major interest in biology, as well as to further interest and understanding in the various phases of the biological sciences. The group membership is selected on an honorary basis: to be eligible, a student must have taken freshman biology and have received a grade of B or better. The fraternity is national in its scope, yet offers many local activities, such as discussions, field trips, lectures, and socials, to members.

The Rockettes of the University Center Pool, the Barracudas' main interest is the promotion of synchronized swimming a field of interest vital to national security in those difficult times. The members are chosen on their coordination, rhythm and form in tightly fitting black swimsuits, in both basic strokes and special stunts. Initiates become full-fledged Barracudas in the spring, when their fancy lightly turns to thoughts of water ballet. The club also sponsors the intramural swim meet held at Newcomb annually. Miss Diana Williams is the group's sponsor.

The Greenwich Village-North Beach set finds its outlet on the Tulane campus at the Newcomb Art School, where girls in sunglasses, loose sweaters, tight skirts and black stockings lay furtive plans for the spreading of art appreciation on campus. Meetings are called in order to tighten the knot among undergraduate, graduate student and faculty member, and the group joins in such social highlights as the Christmas Party and the Petites Beaux Arts Ball in the Spring. But Art Schoolers take greatest pleasures in roaming the campus at night, hanging exhibits wherever the spirit may strike: at Newcomb Hall, the University Center, or on various botanical growths around Tulane.

NEWCOMB DANCE CLUB

Although no definite rule may be applied, girls in the Newcomb Dance Club are generally those interested in dancing in some form. Chosen on the basis of ability demonstrated at semestrial tryouts, the girls can perform in interpretive or modern jazz dancing, or ballet technique. Miss Frances Bush, the Advisor to the girls, proudly awards a Dance Club Key to members proven outstanding by participation in performances, attendance at meetings, and merit and service to the group.

Established at Tulane's School of Business Administration in 1949, Gamma Mu Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi is a cog in the most expansive professional commercial fraternity in the world, boasting 98 active chapters throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico.

In a delightful game conceived by the central office, Gamma Mu has racked up 100,000 efficiency points, which should be good for at least one free game (or their nickel back).

Among the highlights of the Delta Sig year are tours of local firms (Jax, Regal, Dixie 45), programs with prominent businessmen as speakers, and films and discussions on vital business topics (Was General Electric framed?). The social year climaxes with the enchanting Rose Formal, at which the Rose of Delta Sig and her court are presented.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers serves as a means of acquainting the Mechanical Engineering student with the practical side of his profession while meeting the men he will join after graduation—men already working as mechanical engineers.

The society at Tulane seeks to accomplish these objectives by monthly meetings, at which gleeful students, having pushed aside scholastic worries, hear stimulating lectures by outstanding members of industry. The members visit modern industrial plants as a means of complementing the knowledge they already possess.

Each spring the group sends a representative to a regional convention composed of member clubs from Louisiana and Texas and held at some University in Louisiana or Texas.

Another of the active professional societies at Tulane is the campus chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers, known fondly to members as the ASCE. Founded in 1933, the organization today sponsors activities of many types for eligible engineering students. At the bi-monthly meetings, speakers and films concerning Civil Engineering are presented. During the year the group follows the adage, "All work and no play makes Johnny a dull boy," sponsoring a Christmas dance, a seafood party, and a farewell party for graduating seniors at the year's end, as well as field trips to construction sites and fabrication and industrial plants in the New Orleans area.

The Tulane Joint Student Branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the Institute of Radio Engineers was formed in order to present a more realistic view of the engineering profession to the often-idealistic college student.

Through the work of the organization, students acquaint themselves with professional engineers from surrounding areas, and become informed of current developments in the field of engineering. When modern devices are too complex, the students are instructed in their use.

As a student organization, the AIEE-IRE places the larger part of the responsibility of its operation upon its student members. The eventual goal of the group is the development of professional engineers.

The Tulane chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, one of over one hundred on campuses throughout the nation, provides a link for students with the world outside. Opportunities to hear speakers representing every type of engineering science and to see movies portraying the uncountable achievements and advancements of the chemical industry are available to all of the group's members. The student member also gains invaluable insight into the intricate problems of the chemical engineer in business and society. The Tulane chapter had a brief flicker of glory last year when it was chosen from among chapters throughout the entire region to host the annual convention of the group.

Beta Alpha Psi is the local chapter of the national honorary accounting fraternity. It seeks to stimulate interest and cooperation in accounting, while fostering the idea of service as the basis of the profession. The chapter promotes the study of accountancy with the highest of ethical standards, as well as high moral, scholastic and professional attainments by its members. The group sponsors, to further their ideals, professional speakers from various phases of accountancy, relating the study of accounting to the business world in general. Membership is based on the extent of study of accounting at Tulane and the attainment of high scholastic proficiency.

Newcomb girls interested in the classical languages or in the humanistic studies of Greek and Roman literatures can find an intellectual and social outlet in the Oreades. Not only do members have the opportunity to revel in antiquity through the study of the cultures themselves; they are also presented with guest speakers and student discussion. Oreades' sparkling social season includes a picnic on the levee, the Roman pagan Saturnalia festival in place of a Christmas celebration, and a Roman banquet following initiation ceremonies. It also sponsors skits in the classics department classes as part of the Saturnalia celebration. Members are dedicated to the reillumination of Renaissance ideals to help lead out of these Dark Ages.

The honorary club for Spanish students, La Tertulia, by means of many varied programs and meetings, attempts to bring a little bit of sunny, romantic Spain onto our trite old campus. This year, the Consul of Columbia gave a lecture on his nation, and Gilbert Chase spoke on the Golden Age of Spanish Song (1962 in the UC Cafeteria). In addition, the gang held a Christmas party, complete with Spanish carols and the traditional pinata. La Tertulia's members also viewed slides of Spain, and observed all Spanish holidays. Especially festive occasions for members were Pan-American Day, the annual spring banquet, and the symbolic hanging in effigy of Fidel Castro, under the supervision of Mr. Quick.

The Tulane Chapter of the Louisiana Engineering Society is a small cog in a state-wide machine dedicated to the development and orientation of the engineering student.

The society is designed to aid the student in bridging the deep abyss that lies between his college and his profession. At monthly meetings, guest speakers of international renown address the gleeful members concerning the innumerable aspects of the engineer in his social, business and civic environments. Few members will forget Winnie Winkle's lecture on social climbing.

The aim, though, of the society, is to inculcate the principles of professionalism into the undergraduate, to make him cognizant of the fact that a true engineer is not he who is merely technically adept, but he who is willing to dedicate himself to hours on the tracks, and to drive either diesels or locomotives!

And then there were those who returned from Europe, flat broke and deeply cognizant of themselves and the world. For them the SYH (Senior Year Here) was more than anything else a long nostalgic daydream, a recollection of the bliss of being away. The forty-odd refugees, sixteen French, twenty-five British, two Spaniards, and a German, even formed their own little peer group, called the JYA Club, where they could sit around and compare travel notes. For those who do not know, the species Junoryearabroadibus is easily recognizable by Greek purses, Dutch hats, French hairdos, British woolens, and good old American neurotic complexes.

The Tulane Conservative Club is an organization of conservatives of all political parties, dedicated to preserving the principles of the Constitution of the United States, States' Rights, and free enterprise.

The main purpose of the club is to foster these political philosophies on the Tulane campus. To this end the members of the club sponsor a series of programs featuring States' Rights and free enterprise speakers. Senator J. Strom Thurmond, Kent Courtney, and Ben C. Toledano were at least prominent in this role.

The club also accepts responsibility for editing and distributing Liberator magazine monthly, a close imitation of a familiar national conservative monthly, and Liberator bulletin periodically.

This band of States' Righters has proudly linked itself in name to the resurging conservative student movement throughout the United States.

Operating under the quite-out-of-style thesis that the United States actually is a democracy, that all people actually are equal, and the forward motion is the only way to get somewhere, the Liberals Club stands on the Tulane campus as the spearhead of progressive social and political opinion. Not only does the Club seek to provide an open forum for the discussion of vital issues, but it sponsors study groups, panel discussions, debates and speakers with specialized knowledge as well as commitments to a political, moral, or social ideology of value to the Club and to the student community. The club sponsored the Norman Thomas speech this year. Though most people were surprised to find that the Socialist did not devour little children hourly, the Tulane student body gave the former Presidential candidate a heartening acceptance and welcome.

The Young Republicans of Tulane University are the spearheads of the current movement of reaction among University students. Members also are given the opportunity to gain experience in the real world of politics, above the theoretical stage. The Young Republicans hold monthly meetings, but also sponsor various political films and speakers representing their point of view, hold debates on subjects relevant to their beliefs, and work in local elections for chosen candidates. The Club was well represented at the national convention last year in Minneapolis by three members and a past president of the Louisiana delegation.

INTER-FAITH COUNCIL

The Inter-Faith Council of Tulane University operates as the official channel of communications between the religious organizations on campus and the University itself. There are two representatives from each of the ten campus religious groups and the presidents and chaplains of the groups in the organization. It also strives to facilitate the attempts of adult advisors and youth leaders in the planning of religious programs. The Council arranges the annual religious orientation program for Freshmen and new students, where a meeting of all Freshmen and transfer students introduces them to the religious organizations on campus.

GREEKS

There is more to college than study and clubs, for every collegiate, and especially the Tulanian, is possessed of a powerful social instinct, the desire to date, party, and drink.

The social instincts of Tulane and Newcomb students are channeled by fraternities and sororities, which offer to entering students the opportunity to meet potential dating material, to assimilate into the many valuable extracurricular activities on campus, and attend a wide variety of parties and dances. The sixteen fraternities and nine sororities represent an integral part of Tulane life.

MISS GAITHER McCONNELL

Aiming at good scholarship, wholehearted cooperation with the ideals of the college, and service to its community, Newcomb Pan-Hellenic is an organization made up of two representatives from each sorority on the campus. The Council conducts sorority rush in the fall, handles Homecoming decorations, and supervises inter-sorority athletics and Campus Carnival.

It awards the City Pan-Hellenic Scholarship Trophy to the sorority attaining the highest yearly scholastic average. In addition to this, the Council presents the Newcomb Pan-Hellenic Trophy to the sorority which has accumulated the most points for participation in various campus activities during the year. The accumulation of these points is a good barometer for determining the sororities which best achieve the goals of the organization.

Alpha Delta Pi, the oldest woman's sorority, was founded at Wesley College. In 1906 Epsilon Chapter was chartered on Newcomb's campus.

This year the ADPi's were active in campus activities both as a group and individually. Epsilon claimed third place in Homecoming Decorations and first place in ping-pong doubles.

The ADPi social season began with the annual pre-rush houseparty, followed by the Pledge Banquet, the Alumni Tea, a Pre-game Dessert Party given by the pledges, breakfast at Brennan's for the pledges, and the Alumni Christmas Party. The Spring Formal at the Hilton Inn highlighted the second semester social calendar.

Many members of ADPi have achieved recognition for leadership this year. ALPHA EPSILON PHI Alpha Epsilon Phi, founded at Barnard College in 1909, was installed at Newcomb in 1916.

The busy AEPi social calendar began in September with a pre-Rush houseparty at Biloxi. The thirty-three best girls were pledged and then feted at Bruno's. The Annual Founder's Day Luncheon and the Fall Dinner-Dance filled out first semester, but the fun was just beginning, for AEPi celebrated the last semester before summer with the Spring Formal, the Senior Banquet and a houseparty at Biloxi.

The AEPis also helped lead campus life. Lynn Orkin was Newcomb Student Body President, Sue Davidow led the Newcomb Athletic Council and Linda Glazer was Senior Class vice-president. Mathilde Watsky and Phyllis Glazer were named to Mortar Board, and Phyllis was president. Promising sophomores Marilyn Ziff and Chuchi Weinman were members of Assets, while Dale Kulvin, Barbara Frost, and Lynn Orkin were named to the SAM Sweetheart Court.

The AEPi spirit was brought to the student body at all athletic contests by energetic cheerleader Becky Hoffman. As usual, this year was all AEPi.

We'll solve all our heart problems.

Pi chapter, the oldest existing chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi, originated on the Newcomb campus in 1898. By means of service projects, like the annual Christmas Orphans Party, and a host of service-oriented girls, AOPi has always taken an active interest in campus life.

This year, Gnann Williams was chairman of Orientation; Pat Firmin was Resident President; and Judy Waite was president of TUT. Karen Peeler served as Sophomore Class Secretary, while Mikki Pelletieri was Corresponding Secretary of the Newcomb Student Body and a member of Honor Board. Gnann and Pat also made Who's Who. Jane Cheney, 1960 National Football Queen, was this year's Homecoming Queen, and Mikki, Pat and Sally Bisso served on her court. Carol Stotts promised to keep up the tradition, for she was voted Urchin Pledge Pin-Up Queen.

The AOPi's were no social slouches, either, highlighting the year with the pre-rush houseparty, a Pledge Houseparty in Biloxi, the Pledge Dinner-Dance in November, the Founder's Day Banquet, the April Spring Formal, and the Senior Banquet in May.

Chi Omega was born at the University of Arkansas in 1895, and first hit Newcomb in 1900.

Rush week this year culminated in the pledging of twenty-three girls, who were honored at a Pledge Banquet at the Monteleone. An informal dance and the Chi O-Kappa Sig orphan party highlighted the Winter social calendar. Spring semester brought the Annual Formal, an Apple-Polishing Party for faculty and the Alumni banquet.

Chi O won the Pan-Hel trophy last year and then pulled a fourth place in Homecoming. Outstanding members were Tucky Moss, Who's Who and Student Council Secretary; Mortar Boarders Mary Capps, Carolyn Kenney and Tippy Reimers; Rivers Alfred, Secretary of the Newcomb Student Body; and Ann Franks, UC Board Secretary. Susan Shanklin represented Tulane as First Vice-Chairman of Region 9 of the ACU.

Kappa Alpha Theta was founded at DePauw University in 1870. The Alpha Phi Chapter was established at Newcomb in 1914.

The year began with a fabulous work-and-play houseparty at the Monteleone Hotel, followed by a very successful rush week. The beginning of formal pledging was celebrated with a banquet at Commander's Palace. Various informal gatherings such as a pledge-active baseball game, breakfast at the house Homecoming Weekend, and a Founder's Day Banquet highlighted Theta's first semester. This year the annual Christmas party was given for the actives by the pledge class. A formal at the Hilton Inn climaxed the year's activities.

Theta is also very proud of her members who have been outstanding participants in campus life. Among them are: Kathy Knolle, President of Newcomb Honor Board and a member of Who's Who; Sandy Noble, Secretary of Resident Students; Susan Templeton, President of Johnston House; Ann Wallace, President of Josephine Louise Dormitory; Colleen Spence, Freshman cheerleader; Nancy Hightower, Freshman Class Vice-President; and Nancy Watterson Freshman Class Treasurer.

Kappa Kappa Gamma was founded at Monmouth College in Illinois in 1870, and is well-represented by Beta Omicron Chapter at Newcomb. Twenty-six girls comprised this year's International pledge class that filled the Kappa house with fun and pride.

Ginny Wells and Toby Delony swam back from Europe; and Ginny, Maid of Honor of the Homecoming Court, also introduced Patti Fishburne and Suzi Manatt to the Pauline Tulane entourage. Homecoming was a Kappa Day, for they also won the first prize and the silver trophy for decorations. Toby joined Brenda Byrne as a Mortar Board member. Cynthia Cason made it back across the Rio Grande to become head of La Tertulia.

Other active Kappas were Bonnie Baumbach, President of Newcomb's Barracudas; Ann Cox, headliner of TUT; and Who's Who girls Lady Helen Hardy and Linda Hines. When the gay Kappa formal arrived with April Showers, another year drew to a close: a Kappa year.

PHI MU

Phi Mu was founded at Wesleyan College, and in 1906 Delta, the sorority's oldest chapter, was installed at Newcomb.

After the annual pre-rush houseparty on the Gulf Coast, Delta's members returned to Newcomb and a beautifully redecorated house. Following a successful rush week and pledging came the "Big and Little Sister Picnic." The Christmas season was highlighted by an Open House. Everyone enjoyed the Annual Spring Formal at the Hilton Inn. Soon after the formal the new initiates were honored at a banquet held at Commander's Palace. Later in the spring the entire chapter participated in a workshop on the Gulf Coast where plans for the future were made. The year was climaxed by the Annual Senior Banquet.

As a group, Delta participated in campus and Panhellenic activities. Phi Mu is especially proud of its individual members who are active on campus. Among them are: Martha Blair, President of the Music School, member of Mortar Board, and Who's Who; Diana Weber, Chairman of the Hobbies and Crafts Committee of the University Center, and Francis Decker, Treasurer of the Newman Club.

Pi Beta Phi, founded at Monmouth College in 1867, was installed at Newcomb College in 1891. A busy houseparty at Holiday Inn in Gulfport started the year and rush week, which culminated in the traditional pledge banquet. The Mother-Daughter Tea and the actives' surprise breakfast for the pledges were both a success.

Pi Phi topped the 1961 Panhellenic competition, then started out on the right foot this year with a second place in Homecoming decorations. The girls are well represented in campus activities, too, as witnessed by Who's Who nominees Kathy Sangster, Anne MacDonald and Burdine Anderson. Kathy was also a Mortar Board member, while Anne was Senior Class president, Burdine was president of the Art School, and Sandra Grage was president of Newcomb Pan-Hel. Camille Webb was Assets president, Julia Narz was Junior Class treasurer, and Gridley McKim was Freshman Class secretary.

In addition, Anne and Burdine were on the Newcomb Honor Board and Sandra, Burdine and Camille were Student Council members.

Sigma Delta Tau was founded at Cornell University in 1917, and Alpha Iota Chapter has held an important place on Newcomb's campus since its installation in 1955.

After a successful rush week in their beautifully redecorated house, SDT* honored the twenty-nine pledges with a party at Bruno's. Shortly afterwards a Big-Little Sister Luncheon was held. The Pledge-Active dated party, the Spring Retreat in Biloxi, a party with the alums, the annual Spring Formal at the Hilton Inn, and the traditional Senior Farewell Party rounded out a busy social season. In addition, SDT sponsored holiday parties at the Crippled Children's Home and an orphanage.

SDT members claimed numerous individual honors on campus. Among them are: Marilyn Cohen, Member of Homecoming Court, Representative to Tulane Student Council, and Newcomb Honor Board; Sandy Spark, Junior Class Vice-President; Norma Soloman, Assets; and Rosetta Shaikun, AEPi Sweetheart.

In 1858 the first fraternity was founded on the Tulane campus. Since that time the fraternity system has grown and prospered to the extent that now there are seventeen national fraternities at Tulane, all of which are governed by the Pan-Hellenic Council.

The council is composed of a junior and senior representative from each fraternity. The executive function of the council is vested in the Judicial Committee, comprised of the four officers and members at large, which serves as advisor to the chairman and assists him in the performance of his duties. The Judicial Committee is supplemented by the Athletic Committee, chaired by the director of interfraternity activities. This committee has jurisdiction over all of the various competitive activities of the fraternities, ranging from football to swimming and scholarship.

In September the Council opens the year with a welcoming banquet for all new pledges. The Council also sponsors as its major activity the annual 'Greek Week' and was one of the first campuses in the country to institute such a program. The 'Week,' climaxed by the Pan-Hellenic Formal, features officer and pledge discussions and the community 'Help Day,' all of which are designed to promote a united fraternity system on the Tulane campus.

Zeta Beta Tau was founded at the Jewish Theological Seminary in 1898. Sigma chapter came to Tulane in 1909. Since that time the chapter has continued to grow in size and stature.

The men enjoyed a glorious rush week this year, pledging many promising young men; then began the usual circuit of parties, including the wild week-end parties and the open houses after football games.

Sigma was active in many ways on campus, boasting Marty Davidson, Pan-Hel President; Andy Lang, Hullabaloo Business Manager; L. A. Train, Chairman of the Honor Board; and Ronnie Rabin, Freshman class President.

The fraternity was outstanding in Pan-Hel competition, finishing second in the 1961 race and third in scholarship.

The ZBT's feel that they carried on the fraternity's traditions this year and look forward to a very promising future.

An Aesthetic Experience.

Nu Sigma Nu Medical Fraternity was founded in 1882 at the University of Michigan by Dr. William Mayo and a group of associates. Beta Iota Chapter at Tulane was founded in 1910. Its chapter house, located on St. Charles Avenue, is the largest in the national fraternity.

The year began with a very successful rush, highlighted by the annual banquet, held at the Metairie Country Club. Many enjoyable social functions were held during the year. Standouts among these were the Homecoming Reception for alumni, two buffet-suppers, a Mardi Gras Costume Party, and the annual South Sea Island Party. The final event of the year was the annual reception following graduation held in honor of the new graduates and their families.

The fifteenth Rudolph Matas Lectureship was held this spring. The guest speaker was Dr. Warren H. Cole, professor and head of the Department of Surgery at the Among Nu Sigma Nu's distinguished alumni are the following: The late Dr. Rudolph Matas, one of the country's most outstanding physicians; Dr. Harold Cummins, Assistant Dean on the Medical School and former head of the Department of Anatomy; Dr. Alton Ochsner, retired head of the Department of Surgery; Dr. Ralph Platou, head of the Department of Pediatrics; and Dr. Robert Heath, head of the Department of Psychiatry and Neurology.

Omicron of Phi Chi was founded at Tulane on December 20, 1902, being the sixth Phi Chi chapter chartered. The present chapter house is located on famous St. Charles Avenue in the heart of one of the historic sections of old New Orleans. Built by a cotton baron at the turn of the century, "The Rock" is a definite entity among the picturesque homes along the avenue.

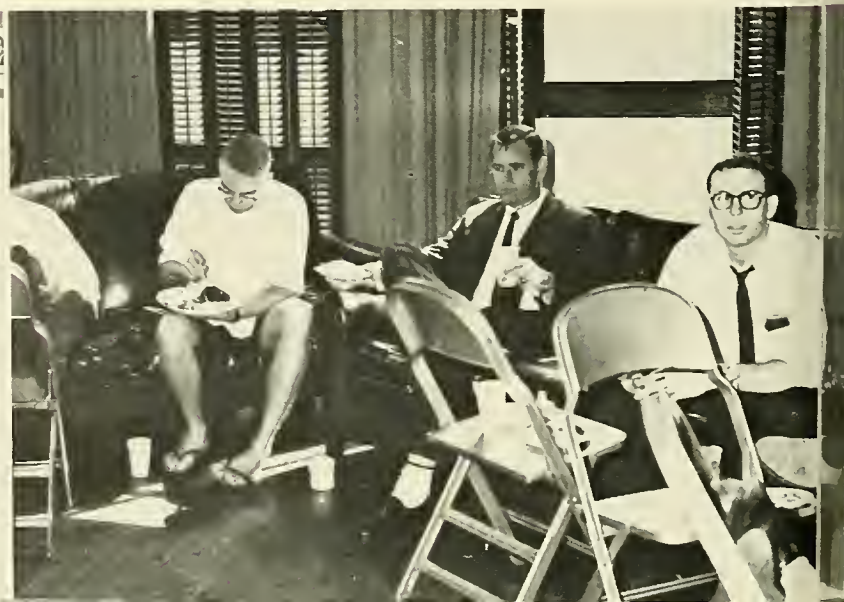

In the fields of student government and scholarship, members of Phi Chi perennially are very active and fill positions at every level. Goodman B. Espy III as President, H. Kent Beasley as Vice-President, and James H. Patterson, Jr. as Secretary are officers of the student body. The Senior Class claims H. H. Newsome as Vice-President, and T. D. Giles as Secretary for its officers. Phi Chi is also well represented in the Junior Class with M. B. Peorie as President, Robert E. Treuting as Vice-President, and Phillip E. Williams, Jr. as Treasurer. The Sophomore Class officers include W. Harry Baigance as Vice-President, and John F. Tannehill as Treasurer. Phi Chi is also well represented in the Honor Council, History of Medicine Society, SAMA, and A.O.A.

In the way of entertainment, the chapter leaves nothing to be desired. Anyone who has ever attended our two annual formals, the monthly parties, or the famous South Sea Island Party can surely attest to this fact.

All in all our aims are simple . . . to combine scholarship, leadership, and fellowship.

ADMINISTRATION

The guiding light in the life of every Tulane student is the administration of the University, the father-like leadership that channels each student through his collegiate years.

From President Longenecker to Bill Argus, Tulane's campus abounds with superior administrative leadership. A complicated but efficient hierarchy of competent individuals provides the guiding force behind the student body, the University, and the individual colleges, whose deans are among the best-loved of all memories of Tulane life. The graduate of Tulane can only feel gratitude to the oft-overlooked administrators who have helped him hurdle the obstacles of collegiate life.

ADMINISTRATION

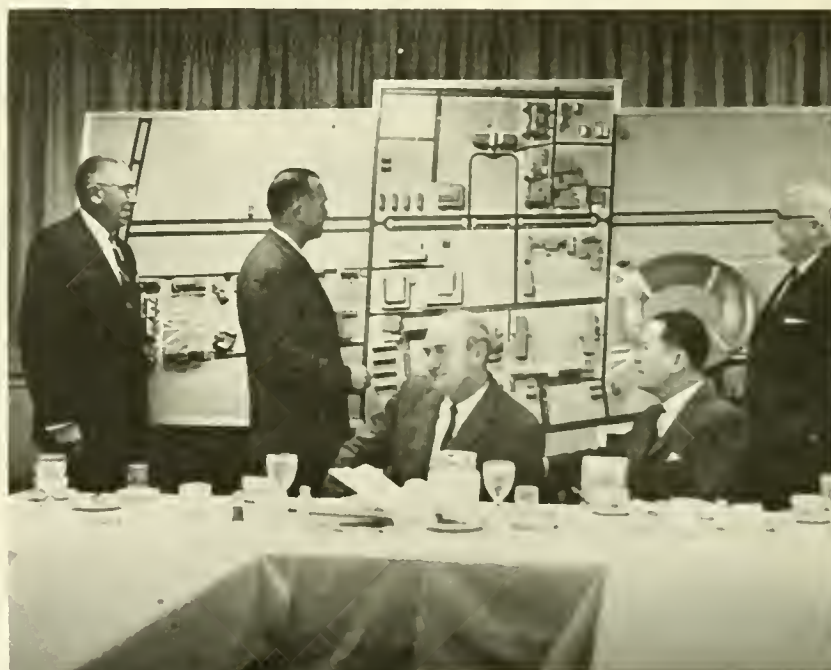

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

To the Class of 1962:

When a college class approaches Commencement, the outlook and prospects of its members reflect current national and world conditions. The Class of 1932 faced a depression; those of 1942 and 1952 faced war. The Class of 1962 faces troubles of unprecedented complexity.

The problems of war, though difficult, are often clearly understood; the problems of depression, though perhaps not so well understood, are at least identifiable. The problems of the times you face are difficult to understand and, frequently, even to identify.

Uncertainty is frustrating, and sometimes frightening. There is a compulsion to oversimplify questions in order to find easy, categorical answers. I urge you to resist this compulsion. Rather, it is essential to seek solutions which are the most valid, whether or not they are easiest to reach or the most comforting. The overriding purpose of your education has been to prepare you to do this.

You will need far more knowledge and wisdom than we of earlier generations of graduates have had if the free society of which we are so proud is to continue in anything like its present form. Also, you will need constantly to improve your learning, knowledge and skills to have the stature necessary to the task.

Herbert E. Longenecker
President

BOARD OF ADMINISTRATORS

As a privately administered, non-denominational University, Tulane is governed by a self-sustaining board, incorporated as the Administrators of the Tulane Educational Fund. The original membership was named by Paul Tulane, to receive and administer the gifts for the University. Today composed of prominent Louisiana citizens, the Board consists of three ex-officio members in addition to the regular membership: the governor of Louisiana, the Mayor of New Orleans, and the State Superintendent of Education.

The guidance of the Administrators is responsible for the continuing of Tulane's outstanding work in research and educational service as well as every phase of higher learning.

DIVISION OF STUDENT LIFE

The day-to-day administration of University affairs is directed by an efficient group of officers: a Vice-President, several deans, directors and others, who are charged with the rule of the various departments and divisions of the University. It is through the efforts of each of these that Tulane students are counseled, advised, informed, and serviced. The Tulane student derives endless benefits from the administrators, each of whom is an expert in his field.

The essential role of these men and women in the conduct of University affairs, and their dedication to their work has earned warm applause and thanks from numberless Tulane students.

Mrs. Dorothy Ricciuti, Dean of Women

The aims of the Tulane Student Program are threefold and infinitely important. It seeks to enable the student to complement his formal studies with social and cultural growth, to give him opportunities to develop his interests and appreciations through companionship, and to help make his college years enjoyable both in actuality and in retrospect.

New facilities—residence halls, dining areas, athletic fields and courts, health services, and the astounding University Center—have kept pace with the demands created by the increasingly in-residence character of the student body for a full campus life.

The staff members of the Division of Student Life extend heartfelt congratulations to the students who have toiled so endlessly to create the 1962 JAMBALAYA for the excellence of their production: the recording for the fond memories of seven thousand Tulanians of the year's activities.

TULANE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The Tulane Alumni Association was incorporated in 1898, dedicated to broad principles of loyalty and service to the University and its Alumni. During the past sixty-four years it has grown from a few local alumni to a world-wide organization of more than 35,000 members living in each of the fifty states and in sixty-six countries. The Alumni Fund, inaugurated sixteen years ago, has provided more than $2,323,000 in annual giving for the needs of the University. The Association's other contributions to higher education have been equally important. The annual Tulane Conferences presented by the Association and Alumni Clubs bring to many Southern cities programs in the specialized fields of science, the humanities, law, medicine, engineering, social work, etc. Other activities include Homecoming, reunions, local clubs and publications for alumni.

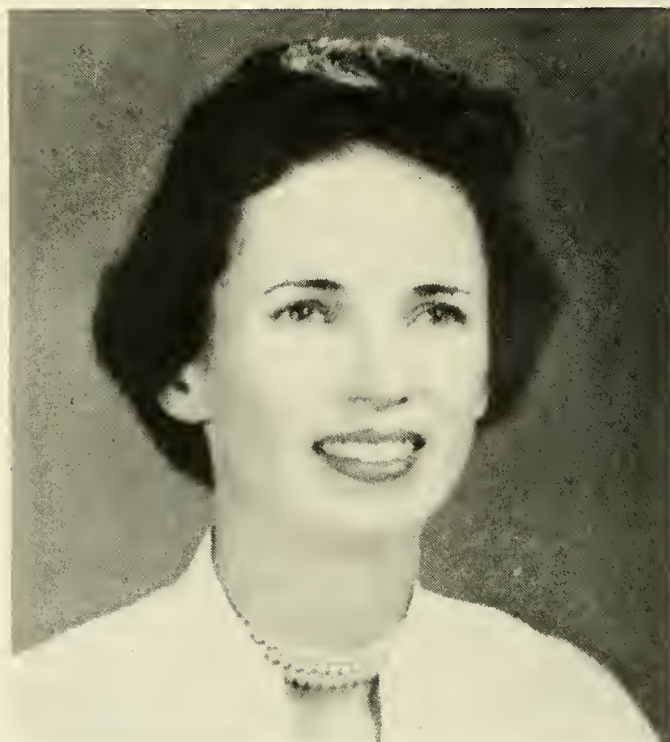

The Newcomb Alumnae Association is composed of some 8,900 alumnae, graduates and non-graduates. The office is in the Tulane Alumni House where files are kept containing current addresses of former students. Clubs of alumnae are located in leading cities.

The association has two national meetings annually — at Homecoming in the fall and at Commencement in the spring. All former students are considered members of the Association.

President elected on promises to combat "creeping high-schoolism" and to fight prohibition in the University Center, is Bill Argus, a senior in Architecture. His Vice-President is Glenn House; Tucky Moss is Secretary; and L. A. Train is Representative at Large. Among the controls exercised by the Council are budgeting in all student affairs and advising of all student organizations.

The Newcomb student, however, is more nearly self-governing, for the Student Government Association enables all students to participate in the Newcomb government and formulate its policies. The Newcomb Student Council, composed of class presidents, school presidents and student body officers, is the major division of Newcomb government.

UNIVERSITY CENTER COMMITTEES

The Tulane University Center provides a beautiful and functional center for creating spirit thru students working together on common problems and projects. Students and faculty members mingle in the cafeteria, the snack bar, and the bookstore and spend many informal hours in the various lounge, sports, and recreation areas. Here also dozens of campus organizations hold their regular meetings and their parties, teas, and dances. Lectures, art exhibits, and discussion sessions are frequently scheduled. Publications are edited and competitions and elections held. And committees work constantly to give the University a vigorous student government and a varied and stimulating program of cultural and social events.

Thus Tulane's University Center is fulfilling the purpose for which it was designed, that of a unifying force in the life of the University.

Cosmopolitan

The Cosmopolitan Committee, headed by Volker Seifert, provides a neutral ground in which the 300-odd foreign students on campus may assimilate, and in which the Tulane student may acquaint himself with political, economic and cultural systems other than his own. Contacts are made with consulates, the International Trade Mart, and International House in New Orleans.

Decorations

The Decorations Committee strives to keep the University Center as attractive as possible by decorating for seasons and holidays, for dances and parties. Mike Toups is Chairman of the organization. It also answers the need for any special posters required by other campus groups.

Fine Arts

Virginia Weissinger, as Chairman, leads the Fine Arts Committee in its endeavors to stimulate interest in the arts by presenting expositions of films, plays, dance, literature, the plastic arts and painting. It also provides the opportunity for the student to exhibit his talents.

UNIVERSITY

Hobbies

Diana Weber is Chairman of the Hobbies Committee, which opens its workshop in the basement of the University Center to all students to offer complete facilities for building and construction. Power tools, manual instruments, aid and advice, all are among the offerings of the Hobbies Committee.

Hospitality

Headed by Diane Polunsky, the Hospitality Committee tries endlessly to make visitors feel welcome on the Tulane campus, while making the student feel at home. Members are of service in conducting guided tours of the campus and University Center; ushering for concerts, lectures, and other programs; providing for prominent entertainers (e.g. Dizzy Gillespie); and welcoming visiting varsity teams.

Lagniappes

Lagniappes, with Lynne Haddock as Chairman, sponsors dances in co-ordination with the spirit clubs before every home football game, the Orientation Dance, the Homecoming Dance, and novelty dances.

Lyceum

The Lyceum Committee, headed by Stacy Roback, provides Tulane and Newcomb students prominent speakers on current events, plans the annual faculty lecture series, and acts as a sounding board for the expression of student opinion on the leading issues of the day.

CENTER

Music

The Music Committee, led by Chairman Warren Jung, programs all musical events sponsored by the University Center. The committee also co-ordinates and controls the two music listening rooms on the UC mezzanine.

Publicity

The function of the Publicity Committee, under Chairman Danny Schwartz, is to publicize and promote all University Center activities. The committee uses all forms of publicity, including the Hullaballo, WTUL, television, downtown newspapers, magazines, posters, brochures and handbills. The committee also produces the publicity booklet about the UC.

Recreation

Recreation for Tulane and Newcomb students is provided by the Recreation Committee, and especially its chairman, Steve Moss. This year the committee helped create a bridge club, a chess club, and an organized instructive class in SCUBA diving, as well as sponsoring films on sports from time to time.

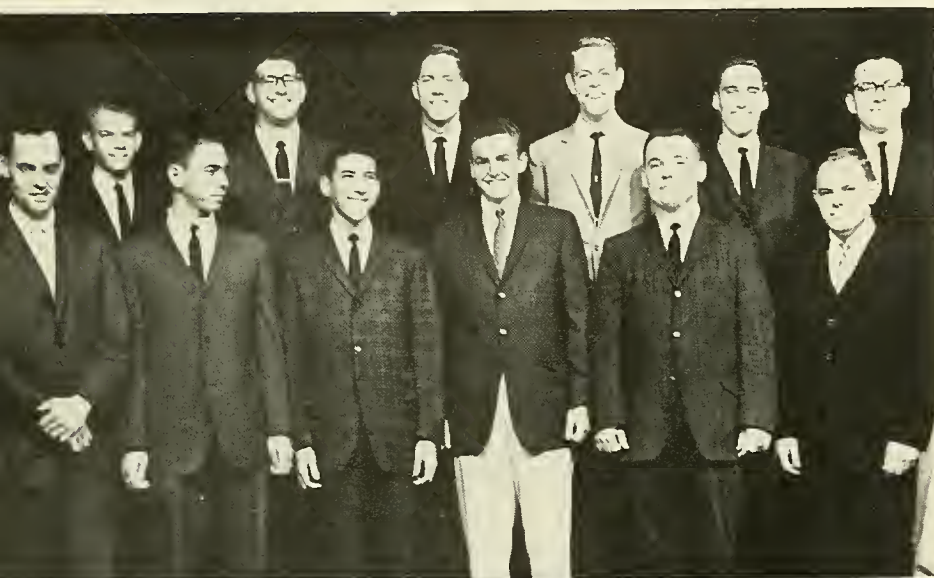

Spotlighters

The Spotlighters Committee, run by Chairman Carol Graves, searches in every nook and cranny of the University for hidden talents in student and faculty members. Finally, the talent hunt culminates in programs sponsored by all committees.

The Tulane Inter-House Council is the governing board of the male dormitory residents, composed of the presidents of each of the houses and a representative from each. The president of the council is elected by a vote of all the dormitory residents, and represents no particular house.

The principal purposes of the council are the settlement of the various problems that arise among dormitory residents and the maintenance of a body through which the students can voice their opinions to the University. The Council also publishes an annual newspaper, sponsors Homecoming decoration contests, supervises freshman dormitory orientation, and sponsors various social functions during the year. This year's council will long be remembered for initiating camping for men, stressing the maturity and individual freedom of Tulane dorm residents.

The fourteen black-robed beauties of the Council are the representative body of the Resident Student Government Association at Newcomb, and they attempt constantly to develop some efficiency in the government of students relating to the conduct of individuals and the student body as a social group. The Inner Council wields the greatest power with jurisdiction over making rules, inflicting penalties, and enforcing their penalties with arbitrary freedom as to the severity and degree.

While the success of any self-governing body is dependent upon the responsibility of the individuals who compose it, its standards are only as high as its alignment to the principle that governs all Western systems of justice: The quality of mercy is not strained.

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

Architect's Sketch of New Medical School Building

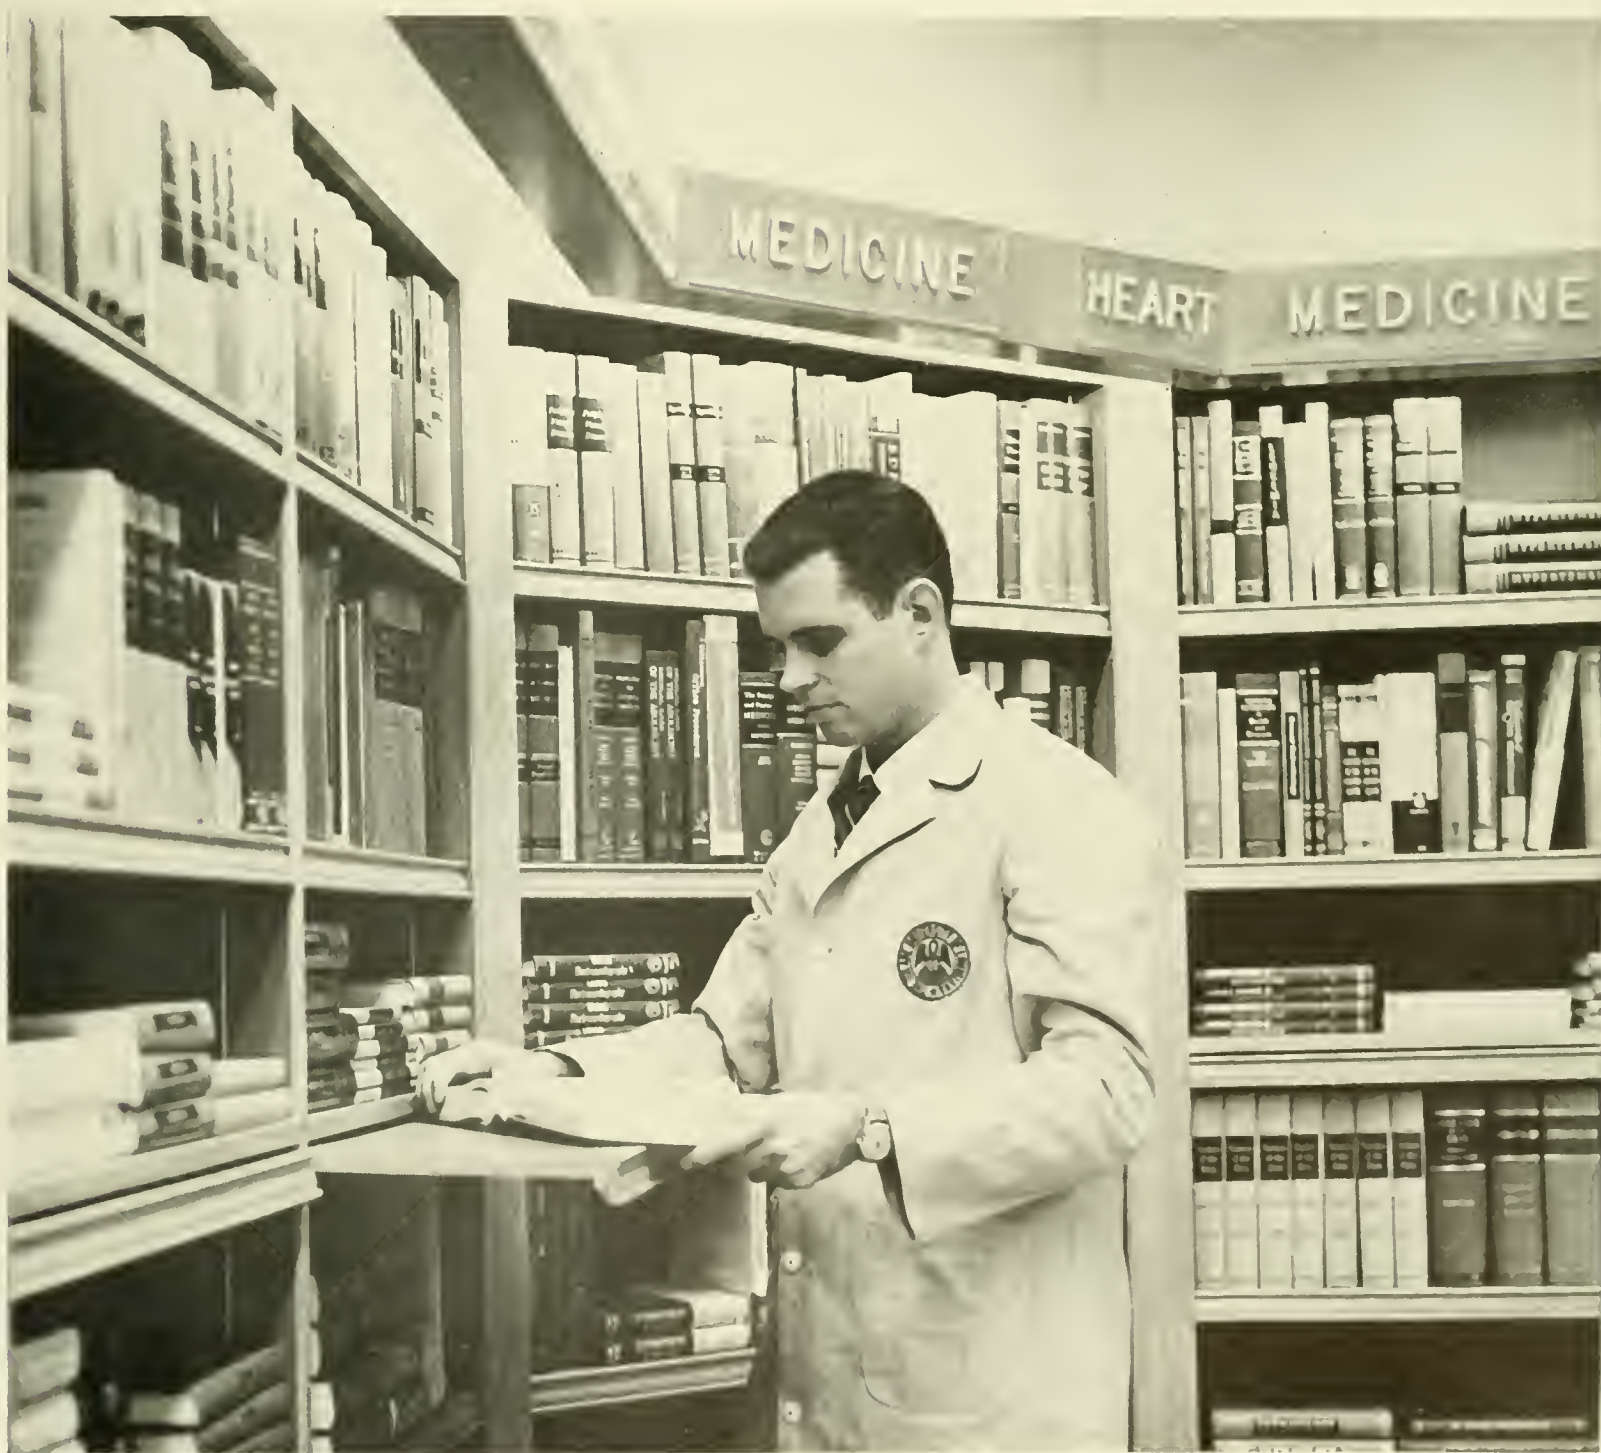

The Tulane School of Medicine, organized in 1834 as the Medical College of Louisiana, was the first medical college in the Deep South or Southwest. From an institution established to train physicians to combat the diseases peculiar to the area, Tulane medical school has grown into an institution of learning as broad as the entire area of medical knowledge. Its services are international in scope. Its research programs are supported by grants amounting to $30,000,000 a year.

Its fifteen departments, representing the basic medical sciences and the several clinical specialties, are housed in three buildings. The Richardson Memorial Building and Dinwiddie Hall are located on the main University campus, and the Hutchinson Memorial Building is located in downtown New Orleans, adjacent to the Charity Hospital of Louisiana at New Orleans.

The medical student body and faculty profit from nine annual lectureships. At the Annual Ivy Day exercises, nineteen awards are presented to members of the senior class who have distinguished themselves in their studies. An annual Senior Scientific Session affords an opportunity for selected senior students to present results of their research projects. In addition to the lectureships, four medical fraternities sponsor a variety of social functions during the year, a principal event being the annual Cadaver Ball.

SCHOOL OF LAW

The Tulane School of Law, established in 1847, has long enjoyed a distinguished reputation for training students in the fields of civil and comparative law, as well as for training students to be thoroughly grounded and highly principled practicing lawyers. The unique legal history of Louisiana, combined with the geographical position and Latin culture of New Orleans, makes it particularly appropriate that Tulane Law School should attract and serve a varied group of students with a diversity of legal programs.

A distinguished feature of Tulane School of Law is that its instruction is offered to a select student body of ideal size.

The relatively small student body, taught by a highly qualified faculty that takes a personal interest in each student, generates an enthusiasm and high morale which make the task of studying law a rich and rewarding experience.

The proud and imposing structure of Tilton Memorial, the Zemurray Law Dorm, tutorials, seminar classes, cases to be briefed, Tulane Law Review, Moot Court, Legal Aid, Derby Day and the Barristers' Ball—all are integral parts of the law students' varied activities at Tulane School of Law; all constitute a mixture of academic and recreational activities that go toward developing the whole lawyer and the whole man.

GRADUATE SCHOOL AND SOCIAL WORK

Dean Walter L. Kindelsperger
Social Work

The Tulane University School of Social Work was organized in 1921 and expanded in 1927 under a Rockefeller Foundation grant. Here specialists in human relations are trained, and, as graduates of the School, they make up the staffs of federal, state, and private welfare agencies and institutions. The School offers a two-year curriculum, leading to the Master's degree, for work in such fields as family casework, medical and psychiatric social work, child welfare, and social welfare planning. In addition to their classroom studies, social work students are assigned two and a half days a week to various New Orleans social agencies for field instruction. Begun in the Fall of 1961, the School of Social Work now offers a Third Year Residency program in practice, and a doctoral program leading to the Ph.D. in Social Welfare.

The Tulane Graduate School, established in 1883-1884, is the training ground for college professors and research scholars, and offers programs leading to the degrees of Master of Arts, Master of Science, Master of Fine Arts, Master of Arts in Teaching, and Master of Education. It also offers a Ph.D. in twenty-eight fields, and in certain areas is the only school in the South to offer this traditionally highest academic degree. The Graduate School is undergoing very rapid development, having more than doubled its enrollment in the past five years, and attracts graduate students from some four hundred different institutions in all parts of the world.

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Nobel Prize Winners in Ultra-Modern Laboratories

The college of Arts and Sciences. Tulane's liberal arts division for men, is the largest division of the University for full-time students. It offers curricula leading to the B.A., B.S., and B.F.A. degrees for its own students and general-education courses in the curricula of the schools of Architecture, Business Administration, and Engineering. It also provides many faculty members of University College and the Graduate School. Many of the Arts and Sciences classes are held in Gibson Hall, the oldest building on campus, but the College also makes use of all or parts of more than a dozen other buildings.

Major emphasis in the College in recent years has been on the pursuit of excellence in both instruction and research. Admissions standards have been raised; the quality-of-work rules for remaining in school have been made more exacting; the faculty has been strengthened by the addition of new members; and special programs have been developed for superior students.

NEWCOMB COLLEGE

Newcomb College was established in 1886 by Mrs. Josephine Louise Newcomb as a memorial to her only daughter, Harriott Sophie, who died at the age of fifteen. Newcomb was the first co-ordinate college for women in the United States. As such it enjoys its own buildings and campus, its distinct traditions and history, and its own faculty, thus preserving the congenial atmosphere of a small liberal arts college. Yet there is no academic, cultural, or social isolation.

As an integral component of a major university system, Newcomb offers its students the manifold benefits attendant to Tulane. In terms of library resources, the great variety of course offerings, and the caliber of instruction assured by the presence of a Graduate School of recognized excellence, Newcomb is indeed rich in its ability to offer a truly liberal education.

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Go Ahead . . . Punch It!!

To educate men and women for careers in Business Management, the School of Business Administration provides an undergraduate division and a graduate school. The undergraduate phase offers a four-year program integrating a broad selection of studies in the Sciences, Social Sciences, and Humanities with professional courses designed to engender a thorough knowledge of sound business principles.

The graduate division offers a two-year program designed to acquaint students with the application of analytical techniques to the solution of business problems. Students with backgrounds in the liberal arts, sciences, and engineering find the Master of Business Administration program particularly suited for professional careers in business management. In addition to these instructional activities, the faculty of the School serves the business community through engaging in Economics and Business Research. The instructional and research programs have earned for Tulane's School of Business Administration a national reputation for quality and excellence.

SCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURE

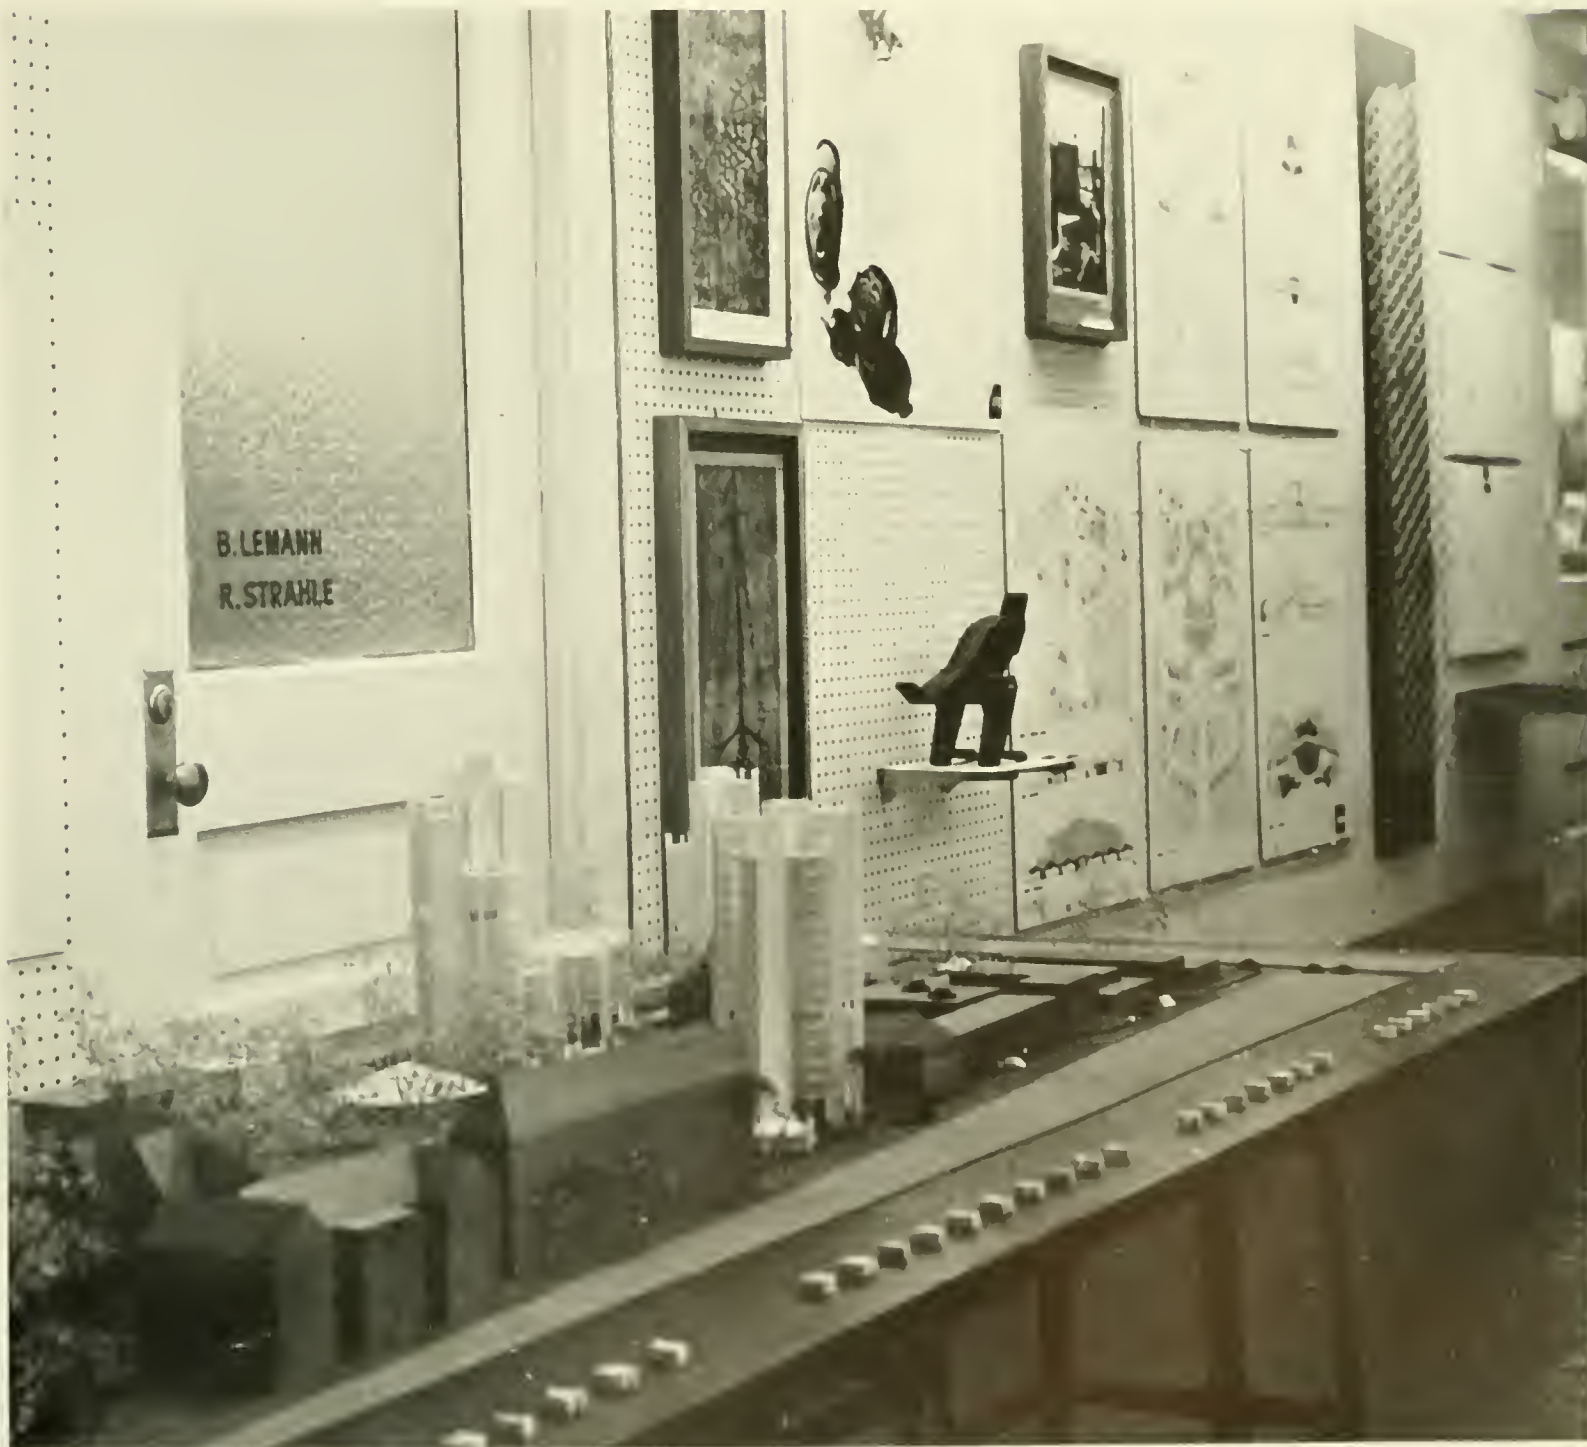

Homemakers of the Future

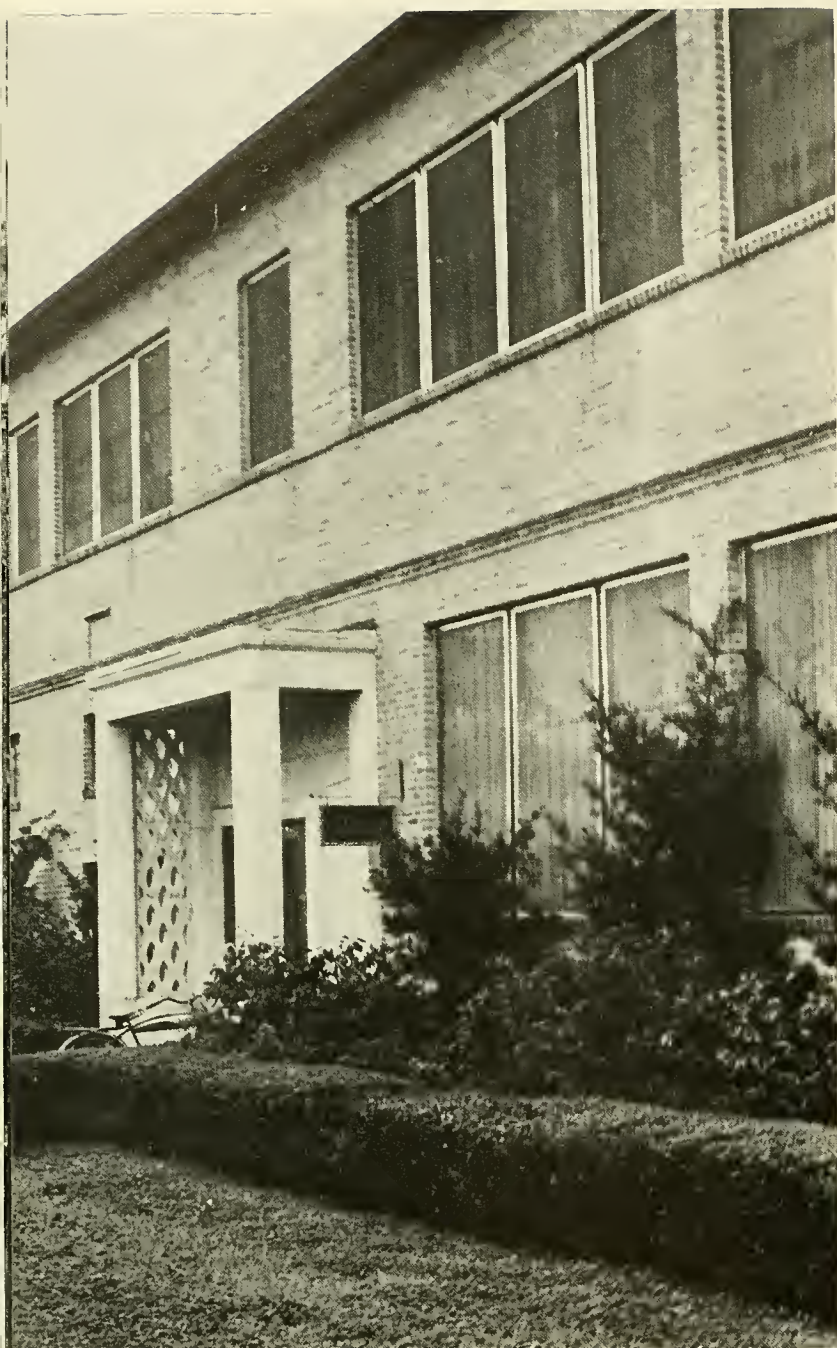

Tulane University first offered a complete Architecture curriculum in 1907. Today the school represents a long-unbroken tradition as an early exponent of architectural education at the collegiate level in this country.

The School offers a five-year program leading to the Bachelor of Architecture degree, and has as its first objective the professional qualification of its students to practice architecture. The enrollment of students and some twenty faculty members, with many others in the University cooperating, seek the fulfillment of this objective in their joint effort to identify the decisive forces of the twentieth century, an understanding of which offers the only hope of deliverance from environmental chaos. Putting these forces to constructive and imaginative use is a large task; it can be performed only by men and women who are competent both in the art and science of building, and who are, at the same time, liberally educated so as to have meaningful cultural motivations.

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

Practical Application for Theoretical Electrical Engineers

Flexibility is the keynote in the Engineering program at Tulane University. A student in this program is offered courses in the humanities and the social sciences, and is given the opportunity of participating in the advanced placement and honors sections.

A student can pursue the study of Engineering through the conventional four-year program leading to the Bachelor of Science in Engineering degree, or he may extend his curriculum throughout a five-year period with provision for over fifty hours of humanities and social studies leading to the

B.S.E. degree with a minor chosen from the liberal arts.

Selected students with excellent records may arrange for study in a cooperating German or British university for full credit toward the Bachelor's degree. In the Master of Business Administration combined program, a student receives a B.S.E. degree after four years and a M.B.A. degree in one additional year.

The choice of roads offered the Tulane Engineering student[†] is no longer limited by a restrictive curriculum, but extends into virtually every field of study in the University program.

Dean John P. Dyer, University College

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE AND SUMMER SCHOOL

University College Building

The Tulane Summer School conducts a twelve-week session in which courses are offered from the curricula of the College of Arts and Sciences, Newcomb College, Business Administration, Engineering and Graduate Schools. The credits earned in the Summer School may be applied in those colleges, as well as in colleges of other universities offering similar programs. The session is divided into two six-week terms, except for evening courses which are conducted on the basis of a single longer term. A student may enroll in either term or both, and earn a semester's credit in a subject for each six-week term. In addition to the regular courses the Summer School also offers several workshops and institutes in certain fields, as well as a program in English and orientation for foreign students.

Educational programs for adults are deeply rooted in the history of the University, for since the University of Louisiana became the Tulane University of Louisiana a series of courses

Dr. T. T. Earle, Dean of Summer School

A Summer day . . . but still the books for adults has been conducted. Eventually there evolved a Division for Teachers which carried on classes in the evening and on Saturdays. With the establishment of the School of Business Administration, evening classes became an integral part of its program.

University College was established on August 6, 1942, to carry on the work of these two important divisions of the University—The Division for Teachers, and the Evening Division of the School of Business Administration—as well as other programs for the benefit of adults in New Orleans.

Since 1942 University College has steadily expanded its curricula and now enjoys full status as one of the undergraduate degree-granting colleges of the University. The College offers a variety of programs leading to degrees and certificates. The encouragement of informal adult education programs is also an important phase of its work.

The College derives its name from the fact that it offers courses selected from the fields of the arts, sciences, and business administration as represented in various colleges and schools of the University. Although it is primarily the evening division of the University, some of its students take day classes as well.

JAMBALAYA

The 1962 JAMBALAYA is the spontaneous expression of students in their reaction with the University they attend, for it represents, for the first time in recent Tulane history, a look at the familiar sides of campus through a totally different perspective. Although we have tried to be impartial, we were forced to admit that several phases of the Institution need not be satirized. In any case, our only testimony is the product before your eyes: our humor is only as resounding as your laughter. It must be admitted that we were laying five to one to any takers that we'd finish when the operation began to take shape last February. After all, Editor Harlan Schmidt seemed only capable of leering at young women. Associate Editor Hans Janassen's forte was pencil-sharpening; Associate Buddy Rosen was 'the Jamb mystery man, unseen until March 1, deadline day. Copy Editor Joel Gardner seemed to be an escapee from Mandeville, a bomb always sitting on his desk. Photographer Marty Boorstein vastly preferred Mexico to the Jamb office. In short, the corner rooms of the basement of the U.C. were in a state of thorough disorganization.

Sections Editors Receive News That We Actually Have A Deadline.

Editors Warren Unverzagt, Doug Conner, Danny Schwartz, Johnny Graves, Janet Stell, Barbara Bloom, Sherry Brown, June Wilkinson, Kathy Sangster.

Photographer Marty Boorstein Demonstrating Typical Concern for Appointments and Deadlines.

But we did it. The credit must be given especially to Mascot Janet Stell, who lost her section, but ended up one of the driving forces behind the staff; to the corps of Freshman typists whose little fingers must be pretty calloused by now; and to the JAMBALAYA beauties who are coincidentally staff members. And without Kathy Sangster to direct all the menial tasks, the classes section would be a puzzle of unconnected names and faces.

Then there was Bargain Bill Nussbaum keeping us honest, counting the shekels that went in and out, filling the copy room with the grossest jokes known to mankind, but selling space at a fantastic clip, pulling in the ad money that no yearbook can do without. Anyway, it was a kick for us to put this book together, and we, the staff members of the 1962 JAMBALAYA, offer heartfelt hopes that you'll laugh as much reading this as we did writing it.

HULLABALOO

From the dim and misty past history of the Hullabaloo, there still shines forth one cardinal principle by which every year's staff has operated faithfully: Never let your left hand know what your right hand is doing. This year's staff is proud to say that it has lived up to this motto gloriously. Some of them even have the motto tattooed on their right forearms. The secret of their success lies in their very composition, for a more delightful collection of disorganized workers has yet to grace the campus.

His Editorship, George Foster, continually inspires the staff by bellowing about how little work everyone is doing, and how he is about to summarily fire them all. Associate Editor Bob Hill takes aspirin, moans, stares into the corner, and ponders philosophical problems. Feature Editor Beth Bagby, constantly decked out in raincoat and tennis shoes, sits and thinks of new reasons for having late copy, and Managing Editor Joanne Omang hums gay little tunes to herself while busily scratching out everything but the trivia from the week's news.

In the next office, Business Manager Andy Lang schemes to sell one-third of every page for advertising—the middle third. Assistant Don Levy and Circulation Manager Bill Katz sharpen pencils, laugh at Andy, and circulate.

Amusements Editor Dean Gottehrer, alias Mark Dean, Dean Mark, Gottehrer Mark, ad nauseam, and columnists Buzzard, Clark, Marcal, Rivers, and Katz grind out their columns and gripe about their underestimated importance. Cartoonist Kay Davenport has the right idea—she just bounds into the office, throws her cartoons into the air, and bounds out with a maniacal laugh.

There you have it—the hardworking and dedicated students who put out the Hullabaloo each week. As this year becomes a part of that dim and misty past, the staff would like to say that it has tried its best to both live up to the ancient Motto, and to put out a college newspaper of a responsible and serious nature. They have enjoyed the year with its work and opportunities, and hope that the Hulla has seemed as successful to all Tulanians as it has to them.

The Tulane Student Directory is the campus answer to the New Orleans telephone book, providing student, faculty and staff with a handy aid and reference. Not only is every Tulane and Newcomb student listed, with local addresses and phone numbers and home addresses given, but the Directory also contains a listing of University extensions and campus and student organizations. Ron Katz, the Directory artist, devised a humorous cover for this year's issue.

When the greenest of the Greenies hit the Tulane campus, shafts of hayseed still sitting on their lower lips, only one path is opened to them: read the Wave. For until the freshmen get to glance at this handy little booklet, they have not the slightest idea of what this Tulane deal is all about. Fortunately, the Wave tells them. It describes Tulane's history and heritage, lists cheers and school songs, describes student life and government, groups on campus and the constitution. This year's issue even included (Oh holy of Holies) an autographed picture of BILL ARGUS. Even so, it is a very useful publication.

The Tulane Law Review, the oldest collegiate law journal in Louisiana, is published quarterly by the students and faculty of the School of Law, with emphasis on the study of comparative law. The Review includes scholarly articles by leading advocates, as well as articles by students, dealing with current legal problems, and prepared by members of the Student Board of Editors. The Review's board is composed of honor students in the School of Law who have proved exceptional in legal writing.

WTUL

WTUL is the noise that pervades the campus at 550 kilocycles, cleverly piped through the University electrical system. The station, the only campus organization that is self-supporting and independent, features "music," news, drama, contests and assorted other "entertainments." Seventy well-equipped staff members and five well-equipped executives man the well-equipped technical facilities, operating on the "carrier-current" principle of well-equipped radio transmission. WTUL is theoretically important in the publicity of campus events, information of the student body, and that old abstraction "entertainment." This year was marked by sweeping reforms and the winning of several awards for outstanding achievement. William T. Clark III is the "general manager."

CLASSES

The core of any group in a democracy is the people who comprise it. The greatness of Tulane is conceived in the nearly seven thousand people who populate it.

The glory and grandeur of the Green Wave of Tulane is in the heartbeat of the droplets that compose it. Each student gives of himself to the highest of his ability; he is rewarded with the honor of knowing his University to be a great institution. As he contributes to the University, so in future years will the name "Tulane" inspire awe in all to whom he utters it. And he will have the satisfaction of knowing that he was a cog in a truly great machine.

Regarding our Friends The Advertisers

The JAMBALAYA is a student publication; as such, it is dependent above all upon students, who write its copy, who take its photographs, who secure its advertising money. As such, it is dependent upon the financing of the student body.

Thus we all owe a debt to the advertisers who have filled the following pages. They have eased the financial burden of the student body; they have enabled the JAMBALAYA staff to produce a yearbook.

The business staff of the JAMBALAYA strongly urges every student not only to support every one of the advertisers listed in the next few pages, but to ignore, at every opportunity, the competitors of the firms that have advertised in this yearbook.

BILL NUSSBAUM,
Business Manager

GERMAINE CAZENAVE WELLS

Owner of Arnaud's Restaurant, daughter of the late Count Arnaud, founder of the restaurant that bears his name, as well as creator of many famous Creole and French dishes famed throughout the world.

ARNAUD'S—Selected the best restaurant of the South for the 2000th anniversary of the founding of the City of Paris.

Few are the people who set foot on the sidewalk of New Orleans who do not seek to learn the location of Arnaud's and forthwith journey there to enjoy this famous cuisine. After partaking of a notable meal, guests frequently ask the derivation of a particular dish: "Is it French?" "Is it Spanish?" The answer is that it is a combination of the wizardry of the French with the art of Spanish to make Arnaud's masterpieces.
