THE PLAINSMEN—PAST AND PRESENT

A forward-looking group of Auburn footballers trot into Tulane Stadium today, full of hope, and with no way to go but up in pigskin circles.

Once a potent SEC football power, the Plainsmen have fallen on evil days of late, but under the tutelage of their new coach Earl Brown, the Alabamians are bent on regaining their former prestige.

Opening the season with a victory against Mississippi Southern and then tying Louisiana Tech, the Plainsmen lost a tough tussle to Florida, and last week ran into the Georgia Tech tornado. On the comeback trail against Tulane, they can be expected to make things interesting for the Green. Torrid Travis Tidwell, sensational tailback whose broken leg is now completely mended, is capable of breaking up any ball game, and his teammates don't have to give anything to Tulane in size.

A line of 200-pound plus heavies screens a system of offense devised by Coach Brown that is as unnameable as it is baffling. The Tiger attack has some relation to the "T", but the many tricky variations employed are not found in the standard "T" encyclopedia.

In pre-war years, the Auburn-Tulane series produced one of football's unique chapters—three straight years of ties. From 1936 to 1938, neither the Greenies nor the Tigers could push a touchdown across the other's goal, and 0-0 appeared on the scoreboard after each tussle.

Last year, however, the Wave had the Tigers measure to the tune of 40-0—one of the two Tulane victories of 1947. Soon, perhaps today, Auburn is expected to start anew her practice of making things tough for the South's football greats, and climb again into the chosen ranks.

Tulane and Auburn have met 28 times since 1902, when the series began. Six games have ended in ties, and Tulane holds a scant margin of 12 victories to ten defeats.

THIS IS AUBURN . . .

The Alabama Polytechnic Institute is located at Auburn, in Lee County, Alabama. This strictly college town, with no manufacturing industries, is sometimes referred to as the "loveliest village of the plains," located at the southern border of the Piedmont area where it joins the Coastal Plains.

The college, founded by the Alabama Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1867, became a land-grant college in 1868, and in 1899 became co-educational—one of the first colleges in the South to admit women.

The campus consists of 2,085 acres and there are 35 major buildings. Close to 8,000 students are now enrolled, including 4,000 veteran students.

Alabama Polytechnic Institute is dedicated to research, instruction and extension, and there are twelve separate schools, teaching agriculture, architecture and the arts, chemistry, education, engineering, graduate studies, home economics, military science and tactics, naval science and tactics, pharmacy, science and literature, and veterinary medicine.

The college, which has an elective student government, has 21 social fraternities and eight sororities. Fraternities have their own houses while sorority women reside in suites in the women's quadrangle.

Students publish a weekly newspaper entitled "The Plainsman" and the college year book, "Glomerata."

Dr. Ralph Brown Draughton, A.P.I. alumnus, is acting president of the college. He was appointed in August, 1947 following the death of Dr. Luther Noble Duncan.

Athletics at Auburn include a vast intra-mural program of sports for both men and women students. On the inter-collegiate level, Auburn competes in football, basketball, baseball, tennis, track, cross-country, wrestling, swimming and golf.

Nicknamed the Tigers, Auburn's colors are burnt orange and blue. Last year's Tigers won 2 and lost seven encounters on the gridiron—a record they will surely surpass in 1948.

A MEDLEY OF

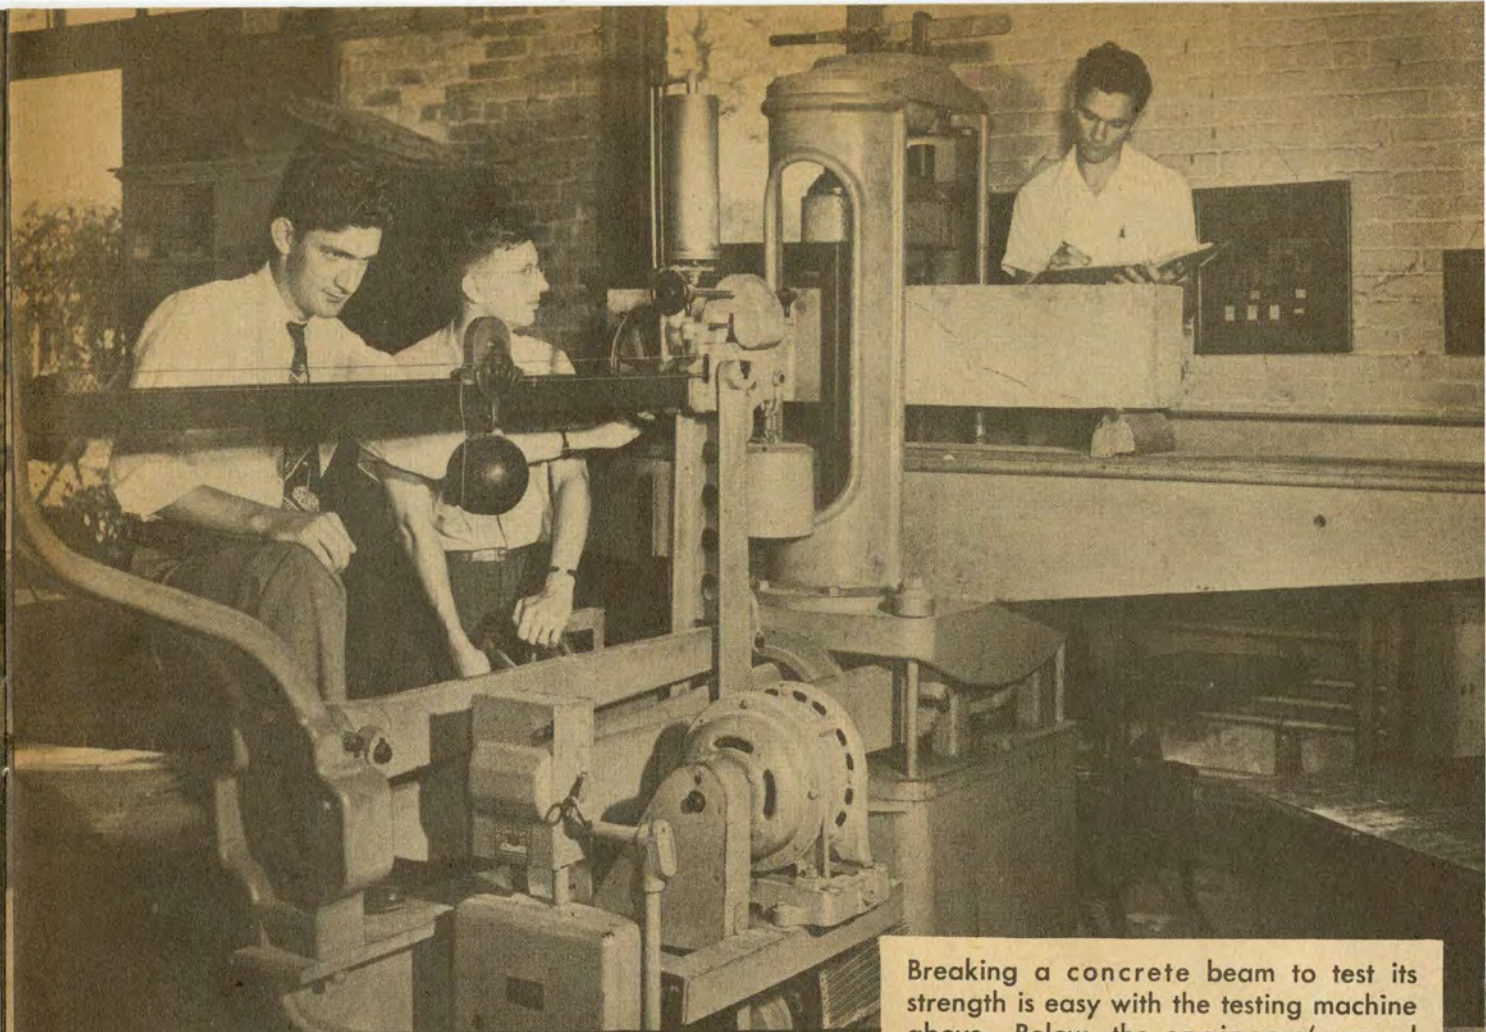

The demand for trained technicians to keep pace with modern developments is being met by Tulane's college of engineering. Better engineers mean a better world, and here's how both are assured—

A model drainage system designed by a Tulane graduate gives the engineers realistic experience.

Breaking a concrete beam to test its strength is easy with the testing machine above. Below, the engineers' annual beauty court treats itself, as well as the boys, to a good look-see.

TULANE SONGS

ALMA MATER

We praise thee for thy past, O Alma Mater!
Thy hand hath done its work full faithfully;
The incense of thy spirit hath ascended
And filled America from sea to sea!

We praise thee for thy present, Alma Mater!
Today thy children look to thee for bread!
Thou leadeast them to dreams and actions splendid!
The hunger of their souls is richly fed!

We praise thee for thy future, Alma Mater!
The vista of its glory gleameth far!
We shall ever be part of thee, great Mother!
There thou will be where e'er thy children are!

Chorus

Olive Green and Blue, we love thee.
Pledge we now our fealty true.
Where the trees are ever greenest,
Where the skies are purest blue.
Hear us now, O Tulane, hear us.
As we proudly sing to thee!
Take from us our heart's devotion!
Thine we are, and thine shall be!

ROLL ON, TULANE

Here's a song for the Olive and the Blue.
Here's a cheer for the team that's tried and true.
Here a pledge of loyalty to thee,
Oh, Tulane Varsity.
Here's to the Greenbacks that never will say die,
And here's to the hearts that are true
To the men of Tulane, who are fighting for her name,
For the Olive and the Blue.

Chorus

Roll, Green Wave,
Roll them down the field.
Hold, Green Wave,
That line must never yield.
When those Greenbacks charge through the line
They're bound for victory.
Hail, Green Wave,
For you we give a cheer.
Hail Green Wave,
For you we have no fear.
So ev'ry man in ev'ry play,
And then we'll win that game today.
Hurrah for Old Tulane.

TULANE FIGHT SONG

Green Wave, Green Wave,
Hats off to thee,
Fight, fight, fight for our victory
Shouts to the skies
The Green Wave war cry.
The bravest we'll defy.
Hold that line for Olive and Blue
We will cheer for you.
So fight, fight, Old Green Wave
Right on to victory.

PIGSKIN ROUNDUP

Illinois vs. Purdue—Two Big Nine heavy losers tie in, and the Illini will burst for good the Boilermaker Balloon that soared after the Notre Dame game, and has been leaking ever since.

Army vs. Cornell—The Black Knights will splash about playfully in Cayuga's waters, and the Big Red will be but a faded pink at the end.

California vs. Washington—A Husky is no match for the bowl-bound Golden Bear.

Alabama vs. Mississippi State—Salem can sail 'em, and the Red Elephants have found their stride, which is more than the Maroons have done.

Baylor vs. Texas A&M—It's a Bear market, and a bare day for the Aggies.

Michigan vs. Minnesota—If the smoke ever clears away from this battlefield, survivors will count more dead Gophers than Wolverines.

Ole Miss vs. Boston College—Eagles make poor Salmon fishermen, and Coach Denney Myers' 41 returning lettermen will all be drowned in a deep Poole, as the Rebs extract a little belated Civil War vengeance.

Notre Dame vs. Iowa—Leahy'll say 'em low.

L. S. U. vs. North Carolina—The Bayou Bengal will get a football lesson from Snavely's Tarheels, but what the Tiger learns won't help him much today.

Georgia vs. Miami—Bulldog, Bulldog, Bow-wow-wow. The Hurricane season is over.

SNAP JUDGEMENTS—Kentucky over Marquette, Penn to swamp Navy, Indiana to shade Pittsburgh, Clemson, but barely, over S. Carolina, Columbia easily over Princeton, S. California to scalp Stanford, Oklahoma to eke by T.C.U., Texas over Rice, Vanderbilt to whip Yale, and Harvard to take Dartmouth.
