At the picnic last Thursday the rolling pin contest was won by Mrs. W. H. Upsall, who threw the pin 67 feet. Mr. Upsall won the 100 yard dash for married men.

Mother: "Why did you strike this little girl?" Bobby: "Well, we were playing Adam and Eve, and instead of tempting me with the apple, she ate it."

Jailer: (to prisoner awaiting execution) "You have an hour of grace.'

Prisoner: "O. K. Bring her in."

He: "What would you do if I kissed you?" She: "I would call Father."

Lapse of a few minutes.

She: "Oh daddy."

Doctor: "What you need, young lady, is a little sun and air."

Patient: "Why, doctor! How dare you? I'm not even married.'

Counsel: "Now answer yes or no. Were you or were you not bitten on the premises?"

Witness: "Anatomy ain't my strong point, but I can tell you I couldn't sit down for a week."

"Bobby, why are you so unkind to nurse? Don't you like her?"

"No, I hate her. I'd like to pinch her cheeks like daddy does.'

"Mother," asked Willie, "do fairy tales always begin with 'Once upon a time'?"

"No dear, not always, they sometimes begin with 'My love, I will be detained at the office tonight'."

We have a friend who is an Optimist and his answer to every sad tale is "That's too bad, but it could have been worse."

A neighbor of ours came home one day to find another man in his home. In anger he killed his wife, the man and himself.

We were telling the Optimist of the tragedy and he of course made the usual remark: "That's too bad. It could have been worse."

We asked him how he figured that out and he knocked us for a goal when he said, "Well, if he had come home the day before, it would have been me.

A colored woman demanded a refund on a pair of hose recently purchased. The floor walker asked:

"Madam, did they not come up to your expectations?"

"Lordy no," she answered. "Dey hardly come up my knees."

Young Hopeful: "Whiz."

Teacher: "Johnny, how old is a person who was born in 1890?"

Johnny: "Man or woman?"

Employer: "You say you have done very little typeing and scarcely know shorthand. Then how came you to answer my advertisement for a smart stenographer?"

Fair Applicant (sweetly): "When you said smart I thought you referred to personal appearance."

INTRODUCING THE GREENIE

Tulane's Official Souvenir football program has now become a full-fleged gridiron magazine.

We hope you will like it. We solicit your patronage and with your interest, it will grow from year to year just as it increased from a sixteen page program in 1929 to twenty pages in 1930 and now has reached the proportions of 32 pages.

We expect to spare no effort or pains to make it worth reading before the game, at the intermission and finally to take home to the family to read.

Art by John Held, Jr., Jack Sords, both nationally known, and by Darrell Pischoff, Tulane's own student artist, has been secured for all eight issues this year.

Pen contributions from Ralph Cannon of The Chicago Daily News, Brian Bell of the Associated Press, Morgan Blake of the Atlanta Journal, Wm. Mc. G. Keefe of The Times-Picayune, Harry Martinez of The States, Fred Digby of The Item, Alan J. Gould of The Associated Press, Ole Timer of The Atlanta Journal, Ed. Danforth of The Atlanta Georgian, Ralph McGill of The Atlanta Constitution, Blinkey Horn of The Nashville Tennessean, Zipp Newman of The Birmingham News and many other famous sports writers will be printed from week to week.

Something new in cover designs for the College Football Program is offered this week. An entirely different type of cover is in store for you on October 10 and October 24. Watch for them.

A contest with pep and a reward is coming soon. It will furnish a real wholesome fifteen minutes and perhaps pay a worthwhile dividend. THE GREENIE will offer something interesting, something different and something distinctive in every issue.

SUPPORT THE GREEN WAVE

Tulane's own Green Wave has brought glory to New Orleans in the past two years. The Southern champions of 1929 and the co-champions of 1930 were hailed from Coast to Coast.

The team of 1931 will be battling just as hard as those great teams—whether they win or lose.

There is no dross in that football team. It is made of men of pure gold.

They are he-men . . fighters . . all. They are led by an indomitable spirit, Bernie Bierman.

Leadership as offered by Bierman is clean, wholesome and makes winners of boys who will become winners in life's activities after they have gone from the gridiron.

It is a sport that teaches team work, that makes men fight in the face of obstacles, learning that the last ounce put into a job is all that a man can give and that it wins in the long run.

Tulane is playing a hard, eleven game schedule. The Green Wave, comparatively speaking, is a small squad.

They must play almost sixty minutes of every game.

Follow them and support them.

The Gory Grounds of Glory

A Deeply Erudite Examination of Our Pet Pastime

By RALPH CANNON

The symbol of France is the Folies-Bergere. Without their schnops it would not be so hard to beat the Dutch. The eroticism of the Italians is best expressed in their grand opera. An Englishman's idea of getting plastered is to be presented at the Court of St. James. Nothing better portrays the spirit of America than a big college football game.

"Environment," as Zuppke says, "is everything." And nowhere else in the world is there an environment so crystal clear, zestful and healthful as the environment of a college football classic. It is a Cloth of Gold into whose gaudy fabric is woven the hardy fortitude of ancient Spartan youths, the trumpeting and pageantry of the medieval Tournaments of Knighthood, the blood and thunder of the Roman Colosseum. And after it is all over you may find in the newspaper all the best features of a Spanish bull fight!

Football started out to give a few fellows a chance to kick a ball around a little and wound up by giving everybody a big kick.

But there are among us those serious-minded philosophers and sage-brushes who are everlastingly wanting to know why. What is the primal purpose of it all, they demand. What is all the shouting and tumult for?

Well, they think that's a stumper, but it isn't. There is plenty of evidence to show what football is all about. Without a doubt the ultimate object of all these big football games is to prepare our pigs' skins for their last resting place in the trophy rooms of our halls of learning.

It is altogether fitting and proper, as Abraham Lincoln once said, that we should do this. Does not the noble Red Man, our brother, wrap his favorite blanket around himself and lie down to bad dreams? How does Mother India look after all her sacred white cows?

This religious ceremonial of ours over the skin of the pig similarly shows once more how much use we have for the hog.

But still the guttural chorus of the profs breaks out, like the witches in Macbeth, "Quo Vadis?" whither are we bound?

Granted, say they, that we are making whoopee times out of the big business of daubing hieroglyphics upon the skins of pigs and storing them away in sacred sarcophagi, where do we go from here? What is that going to get us into? If this keeps on, they cry, in time we will all be crowded out of our halls of learning by all these trophies of the grid campaigns.

Their reasoning is sound. As time goes on and new moon succeeds old, autumn follows autumn, or rather summer, there will come the millenium when old grads no longer will be asked to send in contributions to build new chemistry laboratories or gymnasia or winning elevens. They will be asked instead to give until it gives them a pain to the fund to build bigger and better glass houses in which to store these spotted and splotched trophies captured on the gory grounds of glory.

There will be in all the halls of learning in this broad land of ours enough scuffed and battered footballs, if cut into slices and wrapped around the trunk, to keep the saps from going up the flagstaff of any small Ibernian college that has just sewed up a pennant of the worsted sort.

And somewhere in this broad land of ours some shrewd coach will build himself a swell home out of his royalties on a new rubber stamp for the shower rooms. Instead of the old saws: "Inland expects every man to pay his dues" and "I'd die for old Calaboose," he will merely take out the copyrights on the immortal words of the poet:

Lives of fullbacks all remind us We can also wind up lame, But departing leave behind us Footballs in the Halls of Fame!

THE advertiser who selects the proper medium to reach the quality market will run far ahead of his competitors.

RNEST ELMO CALKINS says, "What we mean by quality circulation is merely a publication which selects its readers along the lines of their interests, ways of living, amusements, hobbies and sports. Tulane football! Here is the very element of selectivity.

VER 150,000 people will witness the eight football games in the Tulane Stadium this fall. Unquestionably they constitute one of the most influential groups in the South.

SPACE may be reserved for all of these games or for any one individually.

HOTELS of the Dinkler Chain

From the tradition of the Old South, glows the flame of fellowship and hospitality that takes worldly praise and an envious place in the hearts of all who visit this section.

The upbuilding of superlative hotel accommodations is a natural consequence, having taken its ideals from the famous Wayside lan, and the comfortable hostelry of the Colonial Days.

Even in this field of Southern Leadership, Dinkler Hotels mark four places of outstanding predominance. They are established with the aim of convenience to travelers, and are located in the leading commercial, industrial and railway centers of the South.

And in Atlanta, Birmingham, Nashville and Montgomery can be found the outstanding features which experienced travelers recognize as being distinctly Dinkler organization. Private bath and radio in all rooms, convenient garage connections, excellent cuisine in dining rooms and coffee shoppes at each betal.

Make Dinkler Hotels your home.

ALMA MATER

Sing these words as Tulane's Alma Mater is played

I

We praise thee for thy past, O Alma Mater!
Thy hand hath done its work full faithfully!
The incense of thy spirit hath ascended
And filled America from sea to sea!

II

We praise thee for thy present, Alma Mater!

Today thy Children look to thee for bread!

Thou leadest them to dreams and actions splendid!

The hunger of their soul is richly fed!

III

We praise thee for thy future, Alma Mater!

The vista of its glory gleameth far!

We ever shall be part of thee, great Mother!

There thou wilt be where e'er thy children are!

CHORUS

Olive Green and Blue, we love thee! Pledge we now our fealty true Where the trees are ever greenest, Where the skies are purest blue! Hear us now, O Tulane, hear us! As we proudly sing to thee! Take from us our hearts' devotion! Thine we are, and thine shall be!

"Hot air" roasting preserves its distinctive aroma and brings out its fresh, full flavor. Ask your grocer for the yellow tin.
