UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA.

ANNUAL CIRCULAR
OF THE
MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
OF THE
UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA.

The Lectures will commence on the third Monday of November, 1847, and continue four months.

Whilst the Faculty feel assured that nothing more is required in evidence of the increasing prosperity of the School, than a simple reference to the fact that, in the short space of four years, the class has increased from thirty to one hundred and sixty-six, (as exhibited by the annexed catalogue); yet they take great pleasure in stating for the information of the students, that extensive arrangements have been made, and are now in progress, by which increased facilities will be afforded the class at the ensuing session. The Amphitheatre at the Charity Hospital is now finished, and the new building for the Medical Department is being erected and will be completed in time for the coming Lectures. This building is the centre one represented in the frontispiece, which is a view of the University Buildings, situated on Common street, occupying the entire front of the lot situated between Philippi and Baronne streets.

The building for the Medical Department, will be one of the largest and best arranged for its purpose in the country, presenting a front of one hundred feet by a depth of one hundred and four feet. It contains three large lecture rooms, each of which will accommodate six hundred persons—a large museum, several large dissecting rooms, and a number of private rooms for Professors, &c.

The Professor of Anatomy lectures five times a week, upon general, special, and surgical anatomy; for the illustration of which, besides a large supply of subjects, he is furnished with plates, models, and preparations of the greatest excellence.

The department of Practical Anatomy is entirely under his control, in which the facilities for prosecuting the study of this branch are unrivalled, as any number of subjects for dissection, or for the practice of operative surgery are furnished free of charge. To assist him in this department the Professor has appointed an able Demonstrator.

The Professor of Physiology and Pathology lectures four times a week on the functions of digestion, respiration and circulation in man, and on the general principles of Physiology and Pathology.

The Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine lectures six times a week, and his course is devoted to the History, Causes, Character, Diagnosis and Treatment of Diseases: these he has daily and ample opportunities of illustrating to his class, in the wards under his charge, in the Charity Hospital.

The Professor of Surgery lectures five times a week on the principles and practice of Surgery, on Surgical Anatomy, and on Operative Surgery; in this Department, the advantages of the School are equal, if not superior, to those of any other in the country—for the number of Surgical accidents and diseases requiring the use of the knife, admitted into the wards of the Charity Hospital, will be found on enquiry, to exceed that of any other in America. These advantages the Professor avails himself of, by delivering much of his course at the bedside of his patients, and performing all his operations and dressings in the presence of the class.

The Professor of Obstetrics, &c., lectures four times a week on the Principles and Practice of Midwifery, on the treatment of women in childbed, and the management, and diseases of newborn infants; and, besides an ample supply of models, plates and instruments for the full illustration of his course—he furnishes to the senior members of his class, as many cases of labor as are necessary to give them a practical acquaintance with this important branch.

The Professor of Materia Medica and Therapeutics delivers four lectures a week on the general principles of Hygiene Therapeutics and Toxicology, and pays particular attention to the Natural History, properties and mode of administering the articles of the Materia Medica.*

The Professor of Chemistry lectures four times a week. He has a large and well selected chemical apparatus, most of which has been obtained lately, and is admirably adapted to the illustration of the science in its present advanced state.

The above is a representation of the Charity Hospital, situated on Common street, about four hundred yards from the University Buildings. It occupies an entire square, which has a front of about four hundred feet.

This institution presents advantages to students not offered by any other in the country. The act establishing the University of Louisiana, gives the Professors in the Medical Department the use of the Hospital, as a school of practical instruction. During the session of the school, it is therefore, under the charge of the Professors. The admissions in the course of the year amount to about ten thousand, and there are usually to be found in its wards about five hundred cases, presenting almost every variety of disease. It is the practice, in the Hospital, for the Professors, to visit daily the Medical, Surgical, and Obstetrical wards, between 8 and 10 o'clock, A. M., at which time the students have an opportunity of obtaining a vast deal of practical information, in witnessing the progress of disease and its treatment from day to day. In addition to this daily bedside instruction—on Wednesday, and Saturday, regular Clinical Lectures will be delivered in the Amphitheatre, where also will be performed all the Surgical operations in presence of the class.

The Faculty have adopted for graduation, the rules, regulations and requisites, obtaining amongst the highest schools in the country, which are, three years' study, inclusive of attendance on lectures,—two full courses of lectures, the last of which must be in this School—the candidate must be twenty-one years of age, and must deposite with the Dean, a well written Medical Thesis, one month before the close of the Session.

TERMS: —For the Ticket of each Professor,.....	$20 00.
For the Ticket of Practical Anatomy,.....	10 00.
Matriculation Fee,.....	5 00.
