Pandemonium

She got a bid?!

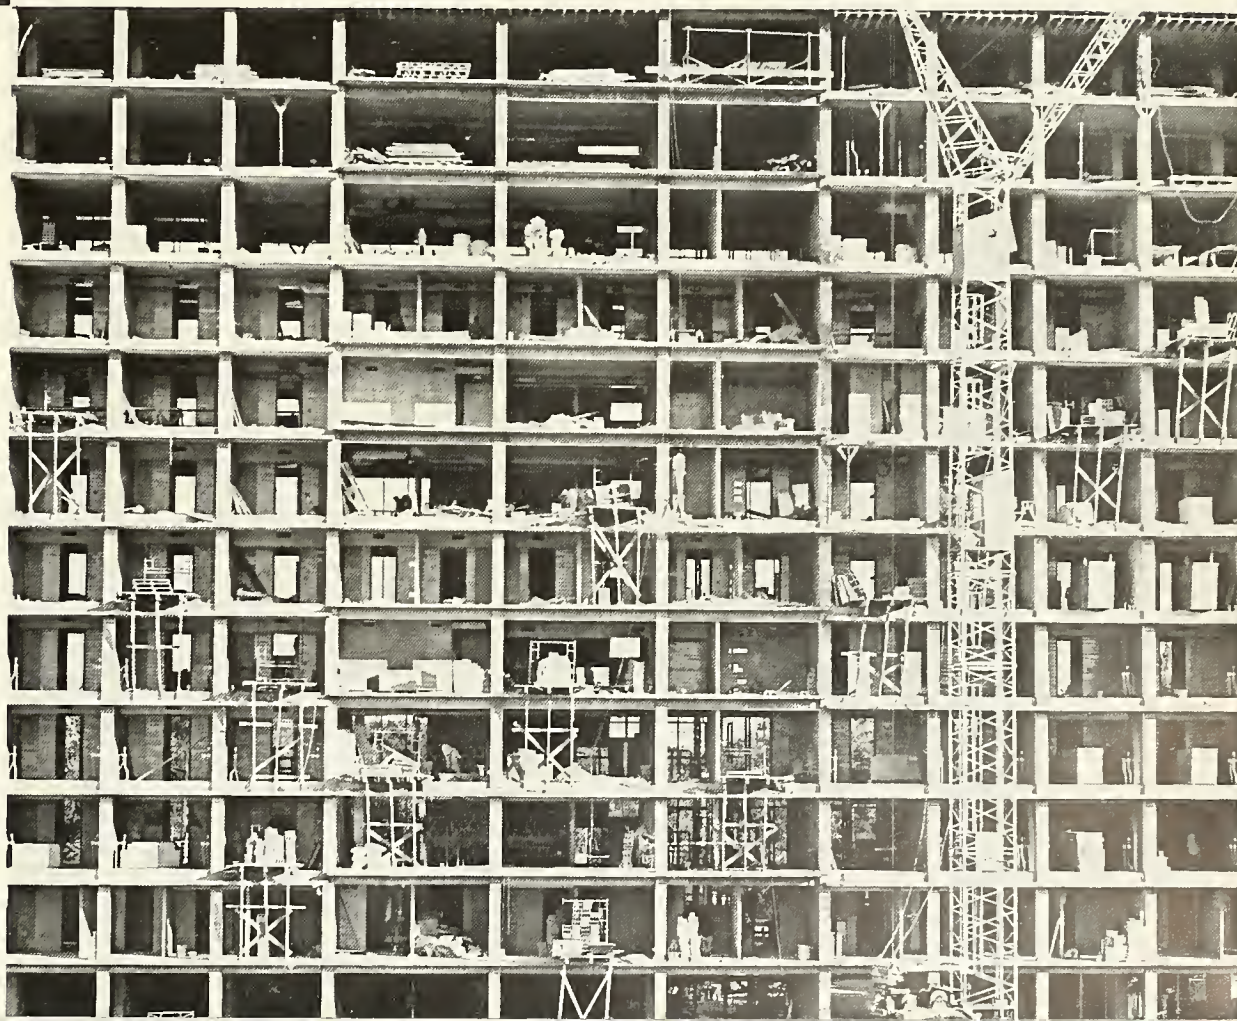

An hour before confusion begins.

When the Fall of the year is beginning to spread, hot and damp as always, over the Mississippi Delta, the new year of the University begins. September, to paraphrase, is a cruel month in New Orleans, and it is even more bewildering to the thousand-odd students who face Tulane for the first time. For the rest, it is merely taking up where they left off last May: the same friends; a planned curriculum; renewed social life. But for the new student, the Freshman, the transfer student, September is the moment of crisis, the moment at which the forces that will guide his growth must find him, and he must find them. There is the chaos of registration, which no one handles efficiently. There is the quickly-made but important decision that must be made after a week and a half of rush. And then he settles down, relaxed in his personal groove, to immerse himself in the life of the University.

Pick one!

"You walk across the street when I tell you to, not before!"

Cash a check? No, we don't believe in them.

"Rally 'Round the Flag, Boys"

The first contact of the student, new or old, is the force of growth that he does not choose, the strict yet compassionate Father image that exists to exert a protective control over him. The administrators guide the path of his education, ensuring him the finest education possible and the curriculum most suited to his aptitudes. The Campus Police Force protects him from the capricious acts of immaturity and teaches him to accept a regulated life. He is provided with a cafeteria and a bookstore, which guide his physical and intellectual well-being. But the sum of all these forces is the important phase of his existence: an organization whose essence is to help him grow, to lead him towards the preferable road of mature life, and irrevocably away from his childhood.

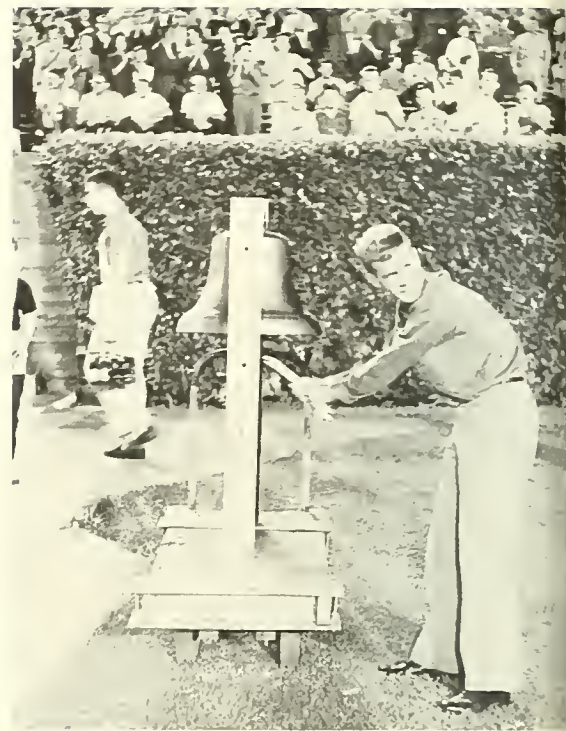

Big Brother is watching you.

Is Peace Possible?

For whom the Bell tolls.

The Mice that Roar.

Light up and live.

Spirit is the most intangible aspect of a student's growth, for it is one that he assumes almost without realizing it. Spirit pervades the University campus and becomes its atmosphere: spirit that is the excitement of the LSU game despite any odds; spirit that is a bonfire, a sacrifice to the "gods"; spirit that is drinking, toasting the Green Wave. When a student comes to the Tulane campus, he slowly becomes a part of the feeling that spreads silently and untouchably over the University; he slowly takes on a deep and unbreakable sense of pride in being a Tulane student. This pride is the first checkpoint of his growth, the first mature identification that he can make. This pride remains with him forever: as he grows older, he guards within his spirit his allegiance to Tulane.

Use only when score exceeds 63-0.

One thing about Tulanians—always full of spirit.

The primary function and responsibility of a University is the fostering of the intellect. A student comes to college with the mind and background of a youth; when he leaves, he should have acquired the quick and natural intelligence that characterizes the college graduate. It is part of the essence of a University to provide the student's mind adequate opportunity for growth: like an infant, it grows quickly if sometimes sporadically, always in many directions. But it is part of the essence of the student to develop the capabilities for finding knowledge wherever it may lie. He learns to study efficiently, to absorb what he reads. He develops a taste for the fine arts, for literature and the theater. And when he finally graduates, his mind is the firm and polished intellect of the man, anxious to know, willing to learn, never satisfied with its limits.

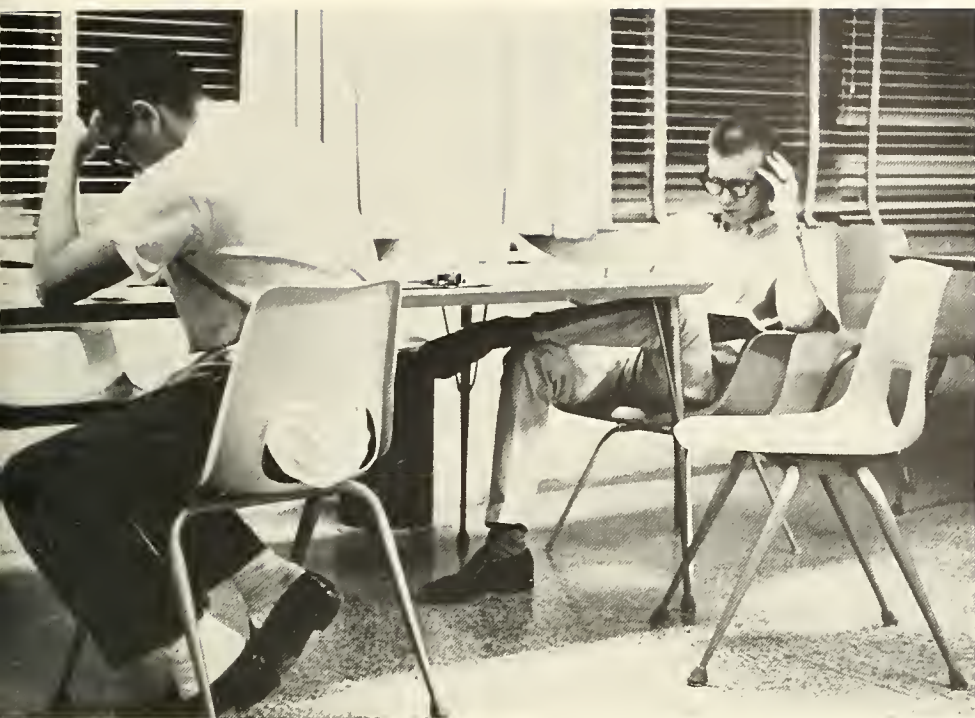

Well stacked, well informed.

One should have a regular place to study.

$E = mc^2$

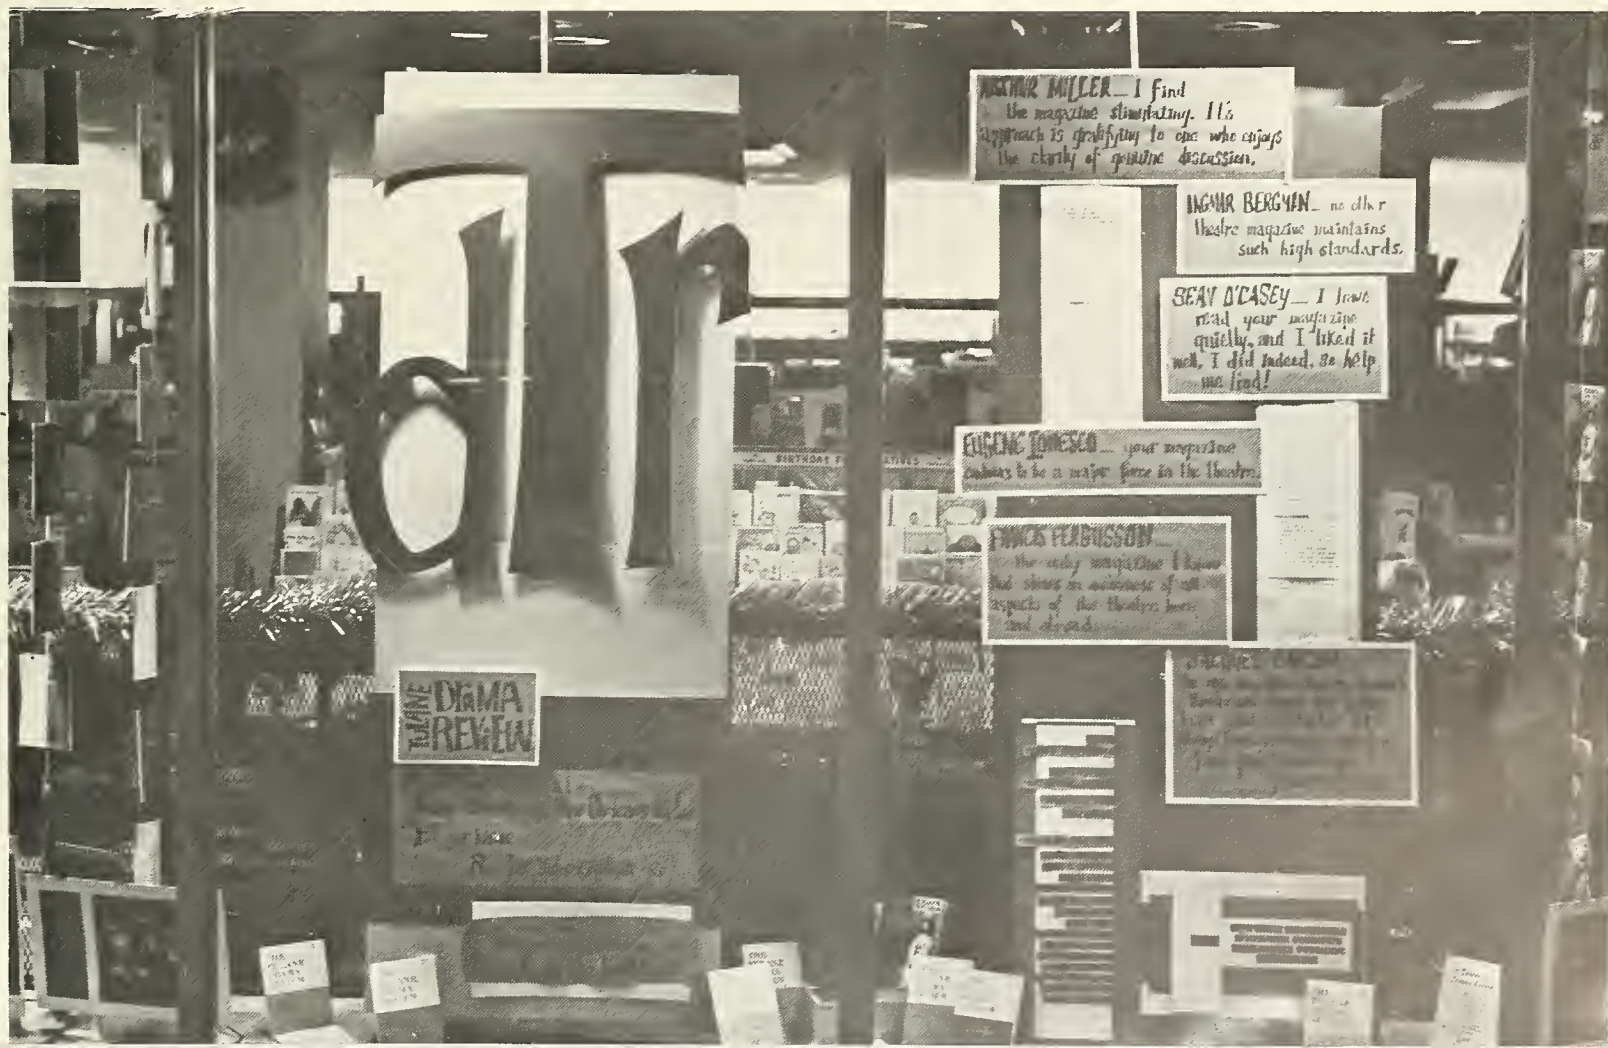

In between coffee breaks.

21st Century Ashtray.

The Best in the World!

Illegal use of hands.

Isometrics help in any sport.

Instruction from the chief.

Light and airy like a fairy.

There is more to the growth of an individual than merely the nourishment of his mind: the clichéd adage about sound bodies is irretrievably bound to the ever-quicken pace of modern society. Sports, though, can be any recreation; any pastime that relieves the student from the pressures of his academic existence can qualify. The student finds recreation in an informal co-ed football game, or in the hard-hitting rigor of Pan-Hel competition; he finds recreation in the new fad of winking tiddlies, or the intellectual battle of chess. But each time he pauses from the day's work; each time he stops to relax, it is not relaxation that he finds—it is growth, the rounding out of his being and personality.

The bishop got the queen.

It's such a comfort to take the bus.

Hanging of the greens.

The growth of maturity is also essentially founded upon the ability of the youth to achieve a manlike relationship with the world about him, to get along with other people in a sense of equality, to lose the egotism of youth. This, the University cannot control, the student must achieve this measure of growth by himself. But the University can supervise: it can supervise the Tug O'War, a contest based purely on teamwork; it can supervise songfests, Christmas caroling, that add the spiritual to his relations and attitudes. And in the end, youth comes to realize the necessary philosophy of Man and men: that the most satisfaction in life, life's greatest achievement, is working, playing, existing among and in unison with one's fellow man.

"God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen"

One, two, three o'clock, four o'clock—?

Man is a social animal, and must above all be able to get along with others, not only at work, but at play. A large part of the growth of the student, his molding while at college, is gained at parties, at dances, at social functions in general, where he acquires poise and the social graces. Most of the organizations on campus and all of the University sub-strata offer social as well as intellectual outlets to the student. The branches of R.O.T.C. break the discipline of their ranks with banquets and dances. The schools let loose once a year—Architecture with the Beaux Arts Ball, Law School with the Barrister's Brawl. And there are fraternities, and University-sponsored functions. When the laughter and the shouting ends, when the seriousness must return to his life, the student regains the order and rule of every-day existence a little closer to true maturity.

Musical Middies

The Tower of Babel

Rush starts with a Bang—ends with a whimper.

Breezy! There is only one.

And the end product is the finished diamond, polished, finely-cut—the well-rounded mature individual who is the Tulane student. He fits into no particular groove; instead, he represents individuality in the same sense as a flake of snow. His personality is his own: the bold professionalism of the athlete or the amateur humility that is purely human; the timidity and coyness of a growing girl or the polished awareness of the almost-woman. Yet in the end, he emerges as part of a heritage: for all his individuality, he is indelibly marked somewhere inside his being with the pride and assurance of someone who has attended Tulane University.

DEDICATED

This JAMBALAYA, our 68th volume, is dedicated with pride, respect, and admiration to the seventeen members of the Board of Administrators.

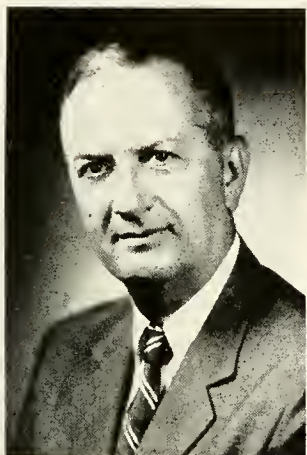

The position of the Administrators is seldom a glorious one: their role is to control the University, instruct its policy, to insure that it remain a well-oiled machine. Their actions and achievements are never performed with desire for credit.

1962-63, though, the 129th year of Tulane's existence, was a year of crisis for the University; thanks to the seventeen members of the Board, it became a year of growth, the year

Tulane came of age. In December of 1962, the Board delivered the now-famous, nationally-hailed decision to admit Negroes to Tulane.

It was a bold and courageous action, and one that does not deserve to go unpraised, but, even more, it served to underline and re-emphasize the existence of a group that is too often forgotten or unnoticed.

To the Board of seventeen who stand behind the University, who in actuality make it run with smoothness and efficiency, we dedicate this year's JAMBALAYA.

ADMINISTRATION

TULANE'S PRESIDENT

The short time that you have been in college has been a period of momentous events and changes. Colonial empires have withered, giving place to new, independent countries, and drastically altering relationships among the nations of the Earth. The growing use of jet aircraft has brought every place in the world within a few hours' flight to the commercial traveler; astronauts have circled the globe in 90 minutes. Telstar has pointed the way to instantaneous worldwide communication. Molecular biologists have made basic discoveries in the process which determines whether an organism shall become a bacterium or a human being.

Yet such developments represent only feeble beginnings in man's efforts to find a peaceful world order, to conquer space, and to dominate the mechanism of life itself. Stupendous achievements in these directions will take place before your sons and daughters are ready for college. Some of you will have a part in those achievements.

Because of the new knowledge and techniques which are constantly introduced to the curricula, your college generation has had a better education than any previous one—better than that received by the scientists and leaders who are transforming the world. The accomplishments of these people have been possible because their education has never stopped. They have continued to learn. College was only a propelling agent in their higher education, to which there is no end.

Here at Tulane you have advanced appreciably along the road of learning. How well you continue will determine the parts you play in the wonderful world of tomorrow.

The Board of Administrators

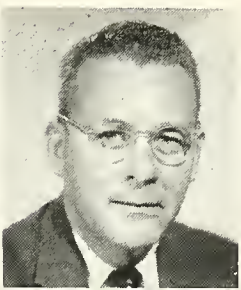

Tulane is a privately administered, non-denominational University; as such, it is governed by a self-sustaining board, incorporated as the Administrators of the Tulane Educational Fund. The original members were selected by Paul Tulane, to receive and administer the gifts for the University. Today the Board consists of prominent Louisiana citizens, as well as three ex-officio members, the Governor of Louisiana, the Mayor of New Orleans, and the State Superintendent of Education.

The Board of Administrators is responsible for the constant growth of the University, the enlargement of its vistas, in research and educational service as well as every phase of higher learning. Under the competent guidance of the Administration, Tulane continues to be an outstanding University, but strives to become a better one.

Officers of Administration

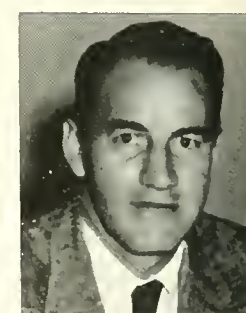

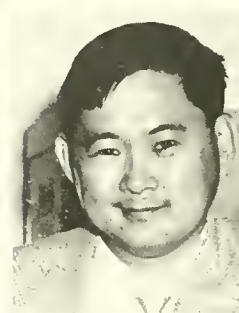

Division of Student Life

The administration of the particulars of campus life, of the personal growth of each student, is directed and supervised by the Division of Student Life and its staff. It is through the efforts of the various departments and divisions of this branch of the Administration that Tulane students receive counsel, information, advice, and guidance. From the top of the hierarchy, Dean Stibbs, Dean of Students, and Mrs. Ricciuti, Dean of Women, to the bottom levels, the Division of Student Life is staffed with men and women experienced and talented in their respective fields.

DR. JOHN H. STIBBS
Dean of Students

Einar N. Pedersen, Director of the University Center; Louis Berndt, Assistant Director of the University Center; Mrs. Mildred B. Barkley, Reservations Officer; Mrs. Susan Pace Guma, Program Consultant of the University Center; Carolyn Yenni, Program Secretary of the University Center; Hodding Carter, Adviser to Publications; Rev. George D. Hopper, Coordinator of Religious Activities; Dr. J. Karlem Riess, Adviser to Fraternities; Dr. James C. Ching, Supervisor of Forensics; Dr. Samuel S. McNeely, Jr., Director of International Office; James D. Schneider, Director of Placement; Mrs. Janet H. Hansche, Guidance Officer; James Davies, Assistant to the Dean of Students (Men's Residence Halls); Agatha Newitt, Assistant to the Dean of Students (Cultural Activities); Mrs. Georgia P. White, Secretary to the Dean of Students; Tom McCay, Budget Officer.

MRS. DOROTHY RICCIUTI, Dean of Women

The aim of the Student Program, as it is envisioned by the staff members of the Division, is three-fold, for it seeks to give the student an opportunity to complement his formal studies with social and cultural growth, to give him opportunities to develop his interests and appreciations through companionship, and to help make his college years enjoyable, both in actuality, and as a memory that will remain with him throughout his life.

The Orientation program at the beginning of the year strives to acquaint new students with Tulane, and to assist them in making the transition from reliance on others to reliance on self. The University Center, in all its many aspects, offers the student recreation, both intellectual and otherwise, while at the same time providing him with meeting-rooms, and many activities. Every phase of the University as it directly concerns the student can be traced to one or another of the branches of the Division of Student Life, whether it be Forensics, Publications, or Fraternities.

The new facilities created constantly for the student—new dorms and food services, renovated athletic facilities, the health service and University Center—are the testimony of the Division of Student Life and their unselfish labor for the student and his benefits. But the respect of the Division for the students is only equalled by the respect of the students for the Administrative branch.

Tulane Alumni Association

The Tulane Alumni Association was incorporated in 1898, dedicated to the broad principles of loyalty and service to the University and its Alumni. During the past sixty-four years it has grown from a few local alumni to a world-wide organization of more than 35,000 members living in each of the fifty states and in sixty foreign countries.

The Alumni Fund, inaugurated sixteen years ago, has provided $2,674,746 for needs of the University. The Association's contributions to higher education have been equally important. Alumni clubs provide scholarships to deserving students in their areas. The annual Tulane Conferences, presented by the Association and Alumni Clubs, bring to many Southern cities, programs in the specialized fields of science, the humanities, law, medicine, engineering, social work, etc.

Other activities include Homecoming, reunions, local clubs and the principal publication for the alumni, THE TULANIAN, sent without charge to all alumni.

Newcomb Alumnae Association

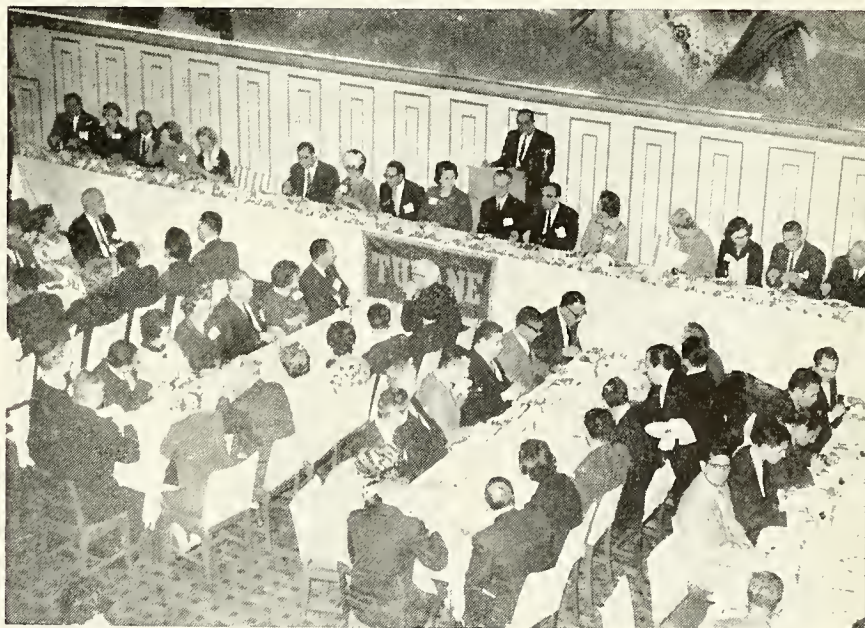

The Newcomb Alumnae Association is composed of some 9,169 alumnae, graduates and non-graduates. The office is in the Tulane Alumni House, where files are kept containing current addresses of former students. Clubs of alumnae are located in leading cities.

The Association has two national meetings annually, at Homecoming in the fall and at Commencement in the spring. All former students are considered members of the Association.

Tulane Student Council

1962-63 was a year of both turmoil and progress for the Tulane Student Council. It was during Harlan Schmidt's reign that Freshman Herb Stanford introduced his long list of University reforms, in the form of a petition from a group of students, that should alter the concept of student government at Tulane in years to come. Gano Lemoine assumed the presidency upon Schmidt's resignation, moving up from Vice-President, and immediately effected several reforms, including a Constitutional Revision Committee and the appointment of Sherri Brown as Chaplain. The second-semester reinstatement of Town Meetings helped underline the importance of the Council as the representative of every student on campus.

Schmidt gives it up!!!

A student resolution is an important cog in Student Council Machinations.

The Student Council is the central governing body of all Tulane University students. Its elected members supervise, by means of a highly complex legislative-executive machine, the government of Tulanians. Specific problems are discussed by specially-named committees.

1962-63 was a key year for the Tulane Student Council, for it was a year of new directions, a year which may be remembered by Tulane students in the same way that they remember 831 B.C.

Harlan Schmidt was Student Council President, riding in unopposed, first semester, but upon Schmidt's resignation, Gano Lemoine, formerly Vice-President, succeeded to office. Guy Wooten was elected new Vice-President. Louis Fishman was Representative at Large, and pretty Sandy Noble was Secretary for the entire year.

The most crucial event of the year was the December petition-reading by Freshman Herb Stanford, who presented a list of complaints and queries as to the running of the University, and signed by a number of students. Upon Lemoine's succession to the Presidency, action was taken on the complaints, and a Constitutional Revision committee was formed.

Lemoine also named a Chaplain for the Council: Newcomb's Sherri Brown. The active leadership of Harlan Schmidt and Gano Lemoine made 1962-63 a great year in the annals of Tulane Student Government.

University Center Board

The University Center is the setting for a dynamic community life at Tulane. Students and faculty members spend many informal hours in the various lounges and recreational areas, the bookstore and cafeteria.

Recreational and cultural opportunities are unlimited. Scheduled throughout the year are such programs as dances, talent shows, lecture and film series, concerts, and art exhibits. These activities are planned and organized by students, who compose the committees of the University Center Program.

The University Center Board is the coordinating body for student activities in the University Center. The 10 committees of the Board provide ample opportunities for students interested in service and in leadership responsibilities. The Board is composed of four officers, four division heads, and the chairmen of the 10 committees.

The University Center program is actively fulfilling the purpose for which it was designed; that of a unifying force on campus.

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE

The Publicity Committee uses all means available to publicize and promote all University Center sponsored activities. The "Hullabaloo," W.T.U.L., and posters are three of the various forms employed to keep the Tulane-Newcomb student body and faculty informed of what is taking place. The committee is also in charge of conducting and tabulating all public opinion polls to determine the efficiency of University Center program.

FINE ARTS COMMITTEE

The Fine Arts Committee endeavors to bring to Tulane Cultural programs which will supplant the fine arts and humanities departments. This year the committee ran a very successful Fine Arts Film Series and presented continuous art shows, drawing exhibits from the art school, school of architecture, and from art associations. The Dame Judith Anderson program was handled by this committee, also. Expansion in programs progressed firmly in the field of theater and dance, with plans for a campus literary magazine and English readings.

HOSPITALITY COMMITTEE

The Hospitality Committee is always ready to make visitors feel welcome on the Tulane-Newcomb campus and to make students feel at home. The committee's many activities include conducting guided tours of the campus and University Center; ushering for concerts, films, and other programs; providing receptions for prominent entertainers, as Judith Anderson and the Romero Family; and sponsoring a weekly coffee on Wednesday afternoon. In addition, the committee sponsors a travel map and exam coffees.

LYCEUM COMMITTEE

The Lyceum Committee has as its main objective the desire to obtain interesting speakers on stimulating topics for the educational and cultural development of Tulane students. The Committee has thus created several series programs such as the Faculty-Lecture series and Green Room discussions for this purpose. Many other programs such as Student Life discussions, alumnae lectures, political speakers, and the adult Tulane-Lyceum speakers are programmed by this committee. Lyceum thus tries to present topnotch speakers with something of value to say.

LAGNIAPPES

Lagniappes, the Dance Committee of the University Center, sponsors a large number of dances during the school year including pep dances with the spirit clubs before every home football game, the Orientation Dance for the Freshmen, and the Homecoming Dance. Highlighting the spring semester Lagniappes plays host to the Varsity Dance and the Spring Weekend Dance. Throughout the year Lagniappes presents several novelty dances such as the ATMC Dances and the Sadie Hawkins Dance with its spotlight on "Campus Lover."

MUSIC COMMITTEE

The Music Committee programs all musical events sponsored by the University Center.

This year the committee once again participated fully in the programming of the annual Tulane Artist Series, featuring well-known classical and popular entertainment, such as the Romero Family and the New Orleans Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra. The committee also sponsored the Brothers Four.

Another primary function of this busy committee is that of the coordination and control of the two music listening rooms, housing stereo and monaural equipment, in addition to over three hundred indexed LP's.

PADOHAD COMMITTEE

The functions of the PADOHAD committee (Preservation and Development of Hobbies and Decorations) are to keep the University Center as attractive as possible by decorating for seasons, holidays, and special activities. At Christmas time the committee sponsors The Hanging of the Green.

In addition, the committee programs in the Hobbies Room where facilities for building and construction and free aid and advice are available.

COSMOPOLITAN COMMITTEE

The Cosmopolitan Committee provides a neutral-ground in which the 300-odd foreign students on campus may assimilate, and in which the Tulane student may acquaint himself with political, economic and cultural systems other than his own. Contacts are made with consulates, the International Trade Mart, and International House of New Orleans.

RECREATION COMMITTEE

Recreation for Tulane and Newcomb students is provided by the Recreation Committee. By enlarging its program to include pool, bowling, bowling lessons for girls, SCUBA diving, judo, sports films, weight-lifting, swimming, wrestling, bridge and chess games, and a Health Club, the group became very active in student affairs. Convenient, inexpensive trips to Europe and Biloxi were also sponsored by the committee.

SPOTLIGHTERS

The Spotlighters Committee spotlights talent on the Tulane University campus. The talent is seen by all in the Freshman and the All-Campus talent shows which the committee produces. This year auditions were also held for the Texas A & M Intercollegiate Talent Show providing a wonderful opportunity for Tulane's best talent to be seen by thousands.

Among its other activities the committee produced a Bridal Fashion Show and was responsible for bringing the Smothers Brothers to Tulane.

Tulane Honor Board

The Tulane Honor Board is the parent organization to the Honor Boards of the various colleges, for it serves to co-ordinate the structures within the University. Under the leadership of the Student Council Vice-President, the University Honor Board consists of two representatives from each college. It decides questions of interpretations of the University honor code.

Newcomb Honor Board

The Newcomb Honor Board is responsible for helping uphold one of the college's oldest traditions, the Honor System. The Honor Board is composed of sixteen members and the President, who is elected by the Student Body. The duties of the Honor Board are many. They give the Honor Pledge to new students at the beginning of the year; check attendance at all Student Body meetings; and direct all campus elections. The Board also meets to investigate and recommend penalties in cases of infringement of the Honor System.

Tulane Inter-House Council

Interhouse Council is the co-ordinating body of all dormitory activities. Its purpose is to aid in the governing of the residence halls, to represent the will of the dormitory residents, to co-ordinate social activity of the dorms, and to provide for the general welfare of the student living at Tulane. I.H.C. tries to make the college dorm "a home away from home" where students can enjoy the main aspects of college life.

Newcomb Inter-House Council

The purpose of the Newcomb Inter-House Council is to develop and maintain a system of self-government with regard to individual behavior within the Newcomb campus. The Inner Council of the body is unique among governments in that it combines legislative, judicial, and administrative functions, making rules, declaring penalties, and enforcing their own judgments.

Social Work

Graduate work first began at Tulane in 1883, and the first Doctor of Philosophy degree was conferred in 1887. The Graduate School which now offers Ph.D.'s in twenty-nine fields, has become a training ground for scholars and college professors, continuing to attract students from all corners of the world.

Graduate School And Social Work

The Tulane University School of Social Work was organized in 1921. The three-year program to which it was expanded includes one year of practice in such fields as family casework, medical and psychiatric social work, child welfare, and social welfare planning. In addition to classroom activities, social work students participate actively two days per week with various New Orleans social agencies in their specific field of interest.

Newcomb College

Newcomb College, Tulane University's liberal arts division for women, is the first co-ordinate college for women in the United States. Although Newcomb has its own buildings and campus, the women students share the many benefits attendant to Tulane such as vast library resources and courses available in other divisions of the University. Newcomb also enjoys its own student government, as well as a rich heritage of traditions.

College of Arts and Sciences

The largest and oldest division of Tulane, the College of Arts and Sciences provides the student with a liberal, many-sided education as well as a foundation for entrance into graduate or professional school. The diversity of curricula in the college, which enrolled its first students in 1851, leads to B.A., B.S., and B.F.A. degrees, while also supplementing the more specialized courses in the schools of Engineering, Architecture, and Business Administration.

School of Business Administration

Tulane's School of Business Administration, the oldest in the South and among the first business schools to be formed in the nation, offers undergraduates and graduates professional training necessary for competent business administration. Based heavily in the liberal arts and sciences, the curriculum is designed to give students an understanding of the basic foundations of business coupled with the new mathematical and statistical tools for analytical and creative decision making. The electronic computer is an integral part of the student's study.

School of Architecture

Tulane University first offered a complete architectural curriculum in 1907. Today the School offers a five-year program leading to the Bachelor of Architecture degree, and has as its first objective the professional qualification of its students to practice architecture. Students and faculty members seek the fulfillment of this objective in their joint efforts to identify the decisive forces of the twentieth century.

IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

The students recognized in Who's Who each year are nominated from approximately 600 colleges and universities. Campus nominating committees are instructed, in making decisions, to consider the student's scholarship, his cooperation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities; his service and citizenship to the school; and his promise of future usefulness. Recognition by Who's Who means that the student was officially recommended from the university or college he attends and then accepted by the organization.

E Company, 8th Regiment is one of the 180 companies which form the National Society of Scabbard and Blade. On the Tulane campus, the society is comprised of elected Army, Air Force, and Navy ROTC cadets who become eligible for membership by exhibiting outstanding military bearing in their respective units and by maintaining a satisfactory overall scholastic average.

The purpose of the Society is to unite in closer relationship the military departments on the Tulane campus, to preserve and develop the essential qualities of good and efficient military officers, and to prepare cadets to take a more active part in the military affairs of their communities. Above all, Scabbard and Blade attempts to present intelligent information concerning the military requirements of our country.

Tusk

The Tulane University Spirit Klub is an honorary organization for the stimulation of school spirit. Three members are selected from each of the sororities and fraternities on campus. The football and basketball teams are each allowed four representatives, and the cheerleaders are included as honorary members.

Besides sponsoring pep rallies and bonfires, this year TUSK has decorated goal posts and has promoted the wearing of greenie beanies and Tulane ties for the Freshmen at football games. Through breakfasts and cavalcades to the airport with large student turnouts, big sendoffs were given for the football team before out of town games.

TUSK began basketball season by posting a display with pictures of all the varsity players in the University Center. They also spotlighted a player of the week with his picture and a short biography.

This year TUSK has done much to arouse the interest of Tulane students and to reassure the team that the student body is behind it in full force and spirit, at home and away.

Greenbackers

The Greenbackers spirit organization was founded in order to direct a combined effort of spirit-minded individuals, both Greeks and Independents, in providing spirit demonstrations for the greater edification of the players and the spectators. Greenbackers attempt to build a positive attitude among the members of the student body and among those students representing the University in contests with other universities.

This year, Greenbackers affirmed their leadership of the campus spirit organizations. The group sparked the revival of Greenie beanies for Freshmen. The highly successful "Sacrifice to the Gods" bonfire was an idea conceived by the members. Greenbackers worked diligently in the preparation and conduct of the Freshmen-Upperclassmen Tug o' War. In co-operation with Coach O'Boyle, a Player of the Week award became a weekly attraction in the UC.

Members of Greenbackers believe that a strong university and strong alumni can best be achieved through the solidarity of University members in supporting the University's athletic and academic endeavors and that maturely-grounded spirit (contrary to opposing arguments) can supply this solidarity.

Pep Band

Although the Tulane Band has itself set numerous musical precedents, even it must take a back seat to the Pep Band: the only marching band anywhere with a violinist. Utilizing several sets of uniforms (?) and a constant flow of music and spirit, the Pep Band has become near and dear to the hearts of Tulane students everywhere. For who else would dare to march through the Tulane library? Or give a halftime show with sixteen people? And so, trailing its press clipping behind it, the Pep Band roars merrily off into the stadium, or perhaps the nearest bar.

Spirit Council

The Tulane Spirit Council provides the organization and co-ordination of all the Spirit groups on campus (except the Young Brunologists). Presided over by the presidents of Greenbackers, TUSK, Lagniappes, Pep Band, and the Head Cheerleader, the Spirit Council supervises the activitis of the individual groups, and seeks to prevent duplication.

Young Brunologists

The outstanding spirit group on campus is the Young Brunologist Society, whose Pep Rallies are famous, whose bonfires are rumored to include the Chicago fire and the London blaze of 1665, whose awards to athletes are the most highly desired by members of the various teams. One short-coming of the group, whose weekly meetings are held on Friday afternoons in a wooden clubhouse on Maple St., is that they very seldom attend the early-Saturday-morning team sendoffs. Generally, though, it is very seldom contested that the Young Brunologists raise spirits more than the common run of spirit club. It is reported, too, that the beer cartons used in the sacrifice to the gods were donated from among the millions that the Young Brunologists have saved.

Tulane University Band

Under the credo that the band exists solely for the benefit of its members, Professor Morrissey and his staff have created the Tulane Band into one of the South's top musical organizations. Besides the annual Christmas and Spring concerts, the Band also goes on a spring concert tour.

The Band not only premieres works of outstanding musical merit each year by Professor Morrissey and various Music majors in the Graduate School, but also makes a professional quality record, one copy of which is given to each band member.

Another aspect of the Band is the Brass Ensemble, conducted by Ted DeMuth. The Ensemble's appearance at the 1962 concerts was an example of nearly absolute musical mastery.

None of the Band members will ever forget the friendly guidance of the two teaching assistants, Richard Crosby and Frank Mannino.

Sibling Rivalry

Dark at the Top of the Stairs, realist-symbolist depiction of an Oklahoma family's crises, then in December, Archibald MacLeish's J. B., billed as a modern morality play, was presented for the first time in an Arena production.

Clerambard, a satire by Marcel Ayme of everything French, was the next production, in the Playhouse. An Arena presentation of Othello and a double bill of Genet's The Maids and Grad Student Robert Head's Sancticity concluded the season.

Tulane University Theatre

The Tulane University Theater continued its tradition of excellence in theatrical presentation through the 1962-63 season, with six outstanding productions. TUT plays are produced in collaboration with the Department of Theater and Speech; for the most part, students and faculty provide the casts and production assistance.

Last season opened with the Samuel Taylor farce, The Happy Time, produced in the Arena, which depicted the life of a French-Canadian family.

In November, TUT presented William Inge's

National Collegiate Players

The National Collegiate Players is a nationwide, honorary fraternal organization created to foster and encourage the highest manifestations of educational theater. Individuals at the better universities and colleges are yearly recognized for their excellence in theater by their election to membership in N. C. P.

Established in 1941, the Tulane Chapter has always held to the most stringent ideals of the national by electing only the finest of those qualified. At Tulane, neither diligence in the theater, nor the garnering of high scholastic averages will guarantee election to N. C. P.

Rather, there must be an esthetically perfect balance in both those areas. In short, excellence in all phases of theater—both on stage and in the classroom—must be achieved.

A Cappella Choir

"I'd walk a mile to see the A Cappella Choir."

Because of its successful series of concerts in Monterrey, Mexico, in the spring of 1962, the A Cappella Choir this year was invited to make a tour of central Mexico. The choir started its season with over ninety applicants of whom sixty-eight were selected to begin rehearsals. Fifty-nine of this group were selected by individual examinations to make the Mexican tour. The tour was at the invitation of the American Embassy in Mexico City and was arranged with the assistance of the Cultural Presentations Program of the United States Embassy in Mexico. Concerts were scheduled in Toluca, Morelia, Guanajuato, San Luis Potosi, San Miguel de Allende and Mexico City. Professor John M. Kuypers was the director of the choir and the tour was managed by Miss Agatha Newitt.

In addition to its Mexican tour the choir also sang the usual campus functions: the annual Christmas Concert on the last Sunday before the Christmas vacation, the two Sophie Newcomb memorial services, the alumni meeting at homecoming, the annual choir concert in February and the Baccalaureate service at commencement time.

In the spring the choir combined forces with the Concert Choir of New Orleans to sing Faure's "Requiem" and Prokofieff's "Alexandre Nevsky" with the New Orleans Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Professor Kuypers.

The Tulanians were formed in the Spring of 1960 from members of the Tulane Choir. The impetus for becoming an organization came from the United States Army, which offered the group an invitation to sing for the troops in Northern Europe. After little persuasion, the group accepted the invitation and received rave notices for its thirty performances, including a citation from the Secretary of the Army.

Campus Night

Campus Night 1963 brought to Tulane one of the finest shows ever assembled on the campus. This year's show, T'Ain't So was written by Russ Herman. The show was directed by Marty Boorstein, who was also the executive producer. T'Ain't So involves the use of one of the oldest comic plots, mistaken identity. Paul Kennedy, a minor Washington official on his way to Kansas for the Fourth of July, meets an old army buddy, Speed Scanlin. Speed, a frequent participant at the racetrack, promises to double Paul's money in a short time. Some time and many bets later, the pair find themselves stranded and penniless in Watershed, Iowa. Watershed, they find, is besieged by graft, corruption, and authoritarianism. The inhabitants of the town are plagued by not only corrupt officials but by the local DAR and its farcical interpretations of the ideologies of their forefathers. The town is fearful of an investigation by a "Kennedy," and Kennedy and Scanlin are afraid they will be convicted of vagrancy.

The 1963 Jambalaya

The Fleet Street of the Tulane campus is the University Center Basement; at its head, the dean of the publications, the oldest and most respected for its literary and artistic achievements, the JAMBALAYA stands.

Every year, the JAMB office fills with sincere and dedicated student's whose only desire is to see that the yearbook fails to meet its deadline. This year, under the careful and astute supervision of Hans "Toonderbolt" Jonassen (not to be confused with a certain Swedish heavyweight), the JAMB succeeded in its goal for the 68th consecutive year.

But credit for the JAMB's success cannot be limited merely to its Editor. Marty Boorstein, boy Campus-niter, managed to sell more ads and make less money than any Business Manager in history, following up in poor style the immensely successful financial coup of Bad-mouth Bill Nussbaum.

And the Assistant Editor, Danny Schwartz, did his part, too, by providing the spiritual guidance so necessary on a yearbook. Doug Conner, another Tampa terror, came around every once in a while, looking glumly at his forced deposition.

The sections were in capable hands. Ruthie Spier,

Rod Chasant squares up political future.

Features Editor Dinah Conyers and Tommy Jones run their own Pauline Tulane contest.

lithe and fast-moving, moved so quickly that no-one ever saw her in the office until three weeks past the deadline. Frat Editor Tommy Tucker was too worried about his name being mis-spelled to get anything in on time. Rod Chasant was involved most of the year in a Machiavellian struggle to take over the campus.

Others had good reasons, too. Dinah Conyers got dropped, and her room-mate, Gretchen Birosak, was lost in projections of Next Year In Paris. Tommy Jones and Zuma Lee Gribben played gin with the classes and honoraries pictures. Pierce Landry sat and looked lovingly, although spiritedly, at Hans. And Joel Gardner threw everything away and started all over again.

This year, too, the JAMB became an art book. Chalon Fontaine sat at Marty's desk and scribbled views of the campus. Porcher Miles read faithfully his Harvey Kurtzman-Don Martin handbook of grotesque cartoons, which he captioned in his picturesque KA vocabulary.

Migrant worker Tommy Zander helped with photographs, but it was Richie Keenan and Dick Rivers, whose unique camera angles and conceptions of life were submitted to Mrs. Seago's campus psychiatric agency, who headed the lens corps. Bishop Cornwell, a noted Anglican theologian, provided more meaningful shots.

And all the while, punching merrily away at the vintage typewriters were Mary Ann Hyde and Karen Deener, whose vigilant submission to duty earned them the epithet "Owls."

Along about March 1, when the Spring of the year and the deadline were already with us, we took a gleeful look around the room, laughed three times at Porcher, and went out for a beer. Yet the book that you hold at this time in your sweaty hands is proof of something.

Tommy Tucker contemplates putting D.K.E. housemother on their page.

Hullabaloo

Status in a University organization is determined by its proximity to a Mens' Room; at Tulane, the Hullabaloo leads WTUL by thirteen yards and the JAMBALAYA by twenty-five. In the University Center basement, the Hullabaloo proudly stands as the Prince of eight-page College weeklies at Universities of over five thousand students.

This year's Hullabaloo exceeded all others in excellence and unpopularity. Dean Gottehrer, operating for the first time in years under his real name (or is it?), but disguised in a mustache and beard, managed to incense every pressure group and lobby around the Alumni, University, City, State, and region. His Associate Editor Joel Gardner got the pressure, though, and then got the gate, resigning in December as the result of curricular conflicts. In this time, though, he managed to write Humor, Politics, Amusements, and many, many headlines.

The Brenda Starr of the Hullabaloo was Betsy "Red" Roosa, whose hysterical scoops and worthy-of-comic-strip love life kept everyone entertained most of the year. Within her jurisdiction fell the Asst. Editors: Joan Spaulding, always sporting a golden tan; Nancy "Doris Day" Bernard; Teel Salaun, who pulled the surprise of the year; and Michael U.N. Gotkin, who took the position late, but tried like U Thant to make up for it.

The field pass staff included Bill Weiss, Madras Sports Editor; Larry "Nicely-Nicely" Gordon, unpaid and always late Asst. Sports Editor; and Barry Jacobs, the only man alive who knows who hit .494 in the nineteenth century.

Contributing Editor Joel Gardner and Managing Editor Betsy Roosa.

Features were handled by Bob "Casanova" Carter and his all-girl, all-campus staff. Always ready with a smile and a pleasant word, Bob was loved by everyone but Inner-House Council.

Russ Herman started out in Amusements, but did not last long, and was replaced by Bonnie Kaplan, who did a good job of describing things that had already happened as though they were coming, and Tony Distler, the suave, debonair Theatre Department envoi to the Hullabaloo.

And then there was Free-Pass Frumkes, Mighty John Musser, Photogs Dick Rivers and Carlos Archilla, and Columnists Ronnies Katz and Goldberg. And to top it all off, the vanilla frosting, Cartoonist Kay Davenport.

All the while, counting receipts, money, and the payments on his '62 Corvette, sat Andy Lang, Business Manager, and sometimes Circulation Manager, and most of the time his own assistant.

And so went the year, the 68th for the Hullabaloo, the best paper in recent years, but the one most likely to be in the Men's Room that stands a mere ten yards from the office.

The most inescapable of the Tulane publications complex is WTUL, the ham, although not amateur, radio station, that filters insidiously through the power lines, and hides sinisterly on the radio dial of any student who is stupid enough to plug in his radio at 550 kilocycles. A new Harry Wismer was born to WTUL in sportscaster Dick Spero, whose account of the Tulane-LSU game was a smash. The payola set was supervised by Mike Marvins, of Student Directory infamy, and Tom (Little Buckley) Gallagher with their Rock 'n' Roll Oldies show. Hooper ratings taken during the Sunday afternoon Show Music and Jazz shows revealed the fantastically large listening populace around campus. Other notable WTUL personalities included Todd Everett, Chief Thief, Records Division, Dennis "the Menace" De Witt, and several "girls." Also J. K. Pollard, Jeff Johnston, Roger Bankston, and Kathy Riley. Rod Chastant was Business Manager for the first semester, but defected in February as part of his Machiavellian plan to take over the campus, and Brad Lucas replaced him. Bill Clark was replaced as Chief Head by Little Rock Lynn Rockenbach, who vainly revamped the programming of the station. Rockenbach said, when questioned as the future of WTUL, "Possibly."

Military Commanders

John W. Fueg, Lt. Colonel of the Transportation Corps, US Army, assumed the position of Professor of Military Science at Tulane University on June 1, 1959.

Lt Col. Fueg had just returned from Korea where he had been in charge of the United States Military Assistance Inspection Program. He has served terms of duty in Germany, Alaska, England, and Washington, D.C.

Lt. Col. Fueg, who was born in Wheeling, West Va., was an ROTC graduate of the University of West Virginia, Asst. PMS of Lindsley Military Institute, Wheeling, West Virginia, graduate of the Command and General Staff College in Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, the Naval War College in Newport, R. I., and an instructor in the US Army Transportation School, Fort Eustis, Va.

Colonel Thomas E. Williams, United States Marine Corps, is the Professor of Naval Science and Commanding Officer of the Naval Reserve Officer's Training Corps at Tulane University.

Colonel Williams, a native of Denver, Colorado, received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of Denver and was commissioned in the U.S. Marine Corps. During World War II he served in Iceland, Guadalcanal, Guam, Okinawa, and China. It was during the Okinawa Campaign that Colonel Williams won the Legion of Merit. Later in the war he was transferred to China where he was awarded the Bronze Star.

Among the Colonel's many duty assignments are tours as Head of the Intelligence Section of the Sixth Marine Division; Assistant Naval Attache in Pieping, China; and Commanding Officer of the Seventh Marine Regiment. He also had attended the Army War College at Carlisle, Virginia.

In addition to the Legion of Merit and the Bronze Star, both with Combat "V", Colonel Williams wears the Presidential Unit Citation. Among his other decorations is the Chinese Order of the Cloud and Banner.

Lt. Col. John B. O'Rourke, Jr., Professor of Air Science, came to Tulane University from the Air University, Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama, where he was Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel HQ AFROTC.

Col. O'Rourke is a graduate of the Lamont School of Music, of Denver University. He was commissioned from Air Corps Officer Candidate School, Miami Beach, early in World War II.

During World War II he was Executive Officer of the 506th Fighter Bomber Squadron. Col. O'Rourke commanded the radar stations in the Japan Sea surrounding Korea. Prior to assignment to Air University, Col. O'Rourke graduated from Air Command and Staff College.

The Army ROTC program, four years of classroom and applied training, prepares its cadets for leadership in today's modern Army and benefits them in all endeavors of life.

Tulane has the only voluntary Transportation Corps R.O.T.C. unit in the United States and, consequently, also a chapter of the National Defense Transportation Association, which integrates the role of transportation and the Army.

Basic training is simulated by six weeks of summer camp during the summer of the cadet's junior year. The battle group itself offers him the opportunity to take part in a drill time, band, rifle team, several military organizations, intramural athletics, and social events.

The Pershing Rifles Drill Team has won numerous awards throughout the South in precision drill competitions. Important guests of the University are often greeted by an honor guard from the PR's.

The Rifle Team was organized into a platoon this year. National interest was focused upon the annual Mardi Gras rifle match sponsored by the Rifle Team in March.

In November, the Fourth Annual Military Banquet proved to be a great success, but the social highlight of the year was the 15th Annual Military Ball.

In May, the senior cadets received their commissions as Second Lieutenants in the United States Army, ready to take their places in the defense systems of the United States.

The Navy ROTC is a four year program designed to equip young men with the basic knowledge and skill necessary to become commissioned officers in the United States Naval Service. The NROTC develops the natural leadership and executive abilities of each individual so that he will be able to accept the tremendous responsibilities incumbent upon Commissioned Officers.

Tulane is one of fifty-two universities in the United States that has a Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps, and one of only twelve universities whose NROTC unit offers a course leading to a commission in the U.S. Navy Supply Corps. Also available to selected students is a course leading to a commission in the United States Marine Corps. The academic and military phases of the program are taught by Naval and Marine Corps Officers, well qualified by education, experience, and training.

The Tulane NROTC Unit is an active supporter of sports here at the University. This year saw the introduction of two brass cannons, manned by Midshipmen gun crews, at Tulane football games. These cannons are fired to signal a Tulane touchdown. The NROTC drill team is always eager to perform during half-time at football games and at other public events.

Social life isn't neglected by the Midshipmen. There are three major social events each year. In the fall the "Welcome Aboard Ball" gives new Midshipmen a chance to get acquainted and all Midshipmen a chance to renew friendships on a social level. This formal ball is followed in the Spring by a Battalion picnic. In May the 'Farewell Ball' is held in honor of the graduating Midshipmen who are soon to be commissioned.

A weekly parade is held on Friday on the drill field adjacent to the Student Center. It is always a colorful sight as the Battalion of Midshipmen passes in review to the strains of martial music provided by the NROTC Drum and Bugle Corps.

The annual President's Review and Awards Day Ceremony is the climax of NROTC activities for the academic year. The President of the University is invited to review the parade on Awards Day. Prior to the review, awards are presented to outstanding Midshipmen for excellence in both academic and military fields, by civilian and military organizations and individuals.

Detachment 320 exists for the purpose of training future officers for leadership positions in the United States Air Force's combined aero-space team. To accomplish this objective cadets go through a program of combined drill, classwork, and practical preparation. The program lasts four years. It utilizes the skills of the regular officers to the utmost degree, and channels the enthusiasm of the basic cadets into the experience of the upperclassmen.

AFROTC cadets go places: Florida, California. They learn how to fly as a part of the flight instruction program for senior cadets. They learn how to command, both on the drill field and in the classroom. They learn how to teach the skills that they themselves have learned.

At the end of four years the program has become more than a mere "course." It is a way of life. The cadets are proud of their blue uniforms; of their pretty sponsors; of their red and white bereted marching units. At the end of the four years, they are not only fully qualified to defend their country, they have a more perfect understanding of it, and the organization which helps to defend it. In the final analysis this is the mission of the detachment, and one in which it is succeeding well.

The oldest organization on campus, the Glendy Burke Literary and Debating Society, participates in competitive forensic events across the country. Members have distinguished themselves in tournaments at such places as Chicago, Illinois; Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Fort Worth, Texas; Tallahassee, Florida; Boston, Massachusetts; Birmingham, Alabama, and others. In addition to representing Tulane in out-of-town events, Glendy Burke each year holds two speech tournaments of its own. The Glendy Burke High School Speech Tournament, held each January, is the largest of its kind in the South. Glendy Burke also sponsors its famous Mardi Gras Invitational Tournament, which is attended by a selected group of the most outstanding college speakers across the country.

Each spring, the Society presents an award to an outstanding speaker on campus at its annual persuasive speaking contest. From time to time throughout the year, individual members represent Glendy Burke through appearances on New Orleans radio and television programs.

Eta Sigma Phi

Alpha Chi chapter of Eta Sigma Phi, national honorary classical fraternity, carries out a full program designed to encourage classical scholarship, to provide increased opportunities for fellowship among students of the classics, and to develop knowledge and appreciation of classical culture not only among its own members, but also in the university community at large.

To accomplish these ends, a series of faculty lectures is presented each year, and following ceremonies of initiation, new members are entertained at an annual banquet. The chapter cooperates with other students in classics courses in assisting the Oreades in presenting their annual Saturnalia Orgy in December. Alpha Chi chapter further encourages classical work outside the university by awards and testimonials, and by contributing to a national fund which provides fellowships for graduate study in the classics at Athens and at Rome.

The outstanding students of the Junior and Senior classes of the Tulane Law School comprise the Moot Court Board. Selected on the basis of academic achievement, board members are responsible for the drafting of the fictitious cases which provide the basis for the school-wide competition. Phi Alpha Delta Phi Alpha Delta was founded in Chicago on November 8, 1902, to develop a strong bond among the members of the different classes at the various law schools; to form a strong link between the schools and their former students; and to establish a wide-spread exchange for the interchange of business, information, and matters of common interest to the members of the fraternity.

Phi Alpha Delta has more active chapters than any other law fraternity, although its chapters are restricted to law schools accredited by the American Bar Association.

The fraternity cultivates a closer bond of friendship and the attainment of a higher and broader attitude than that offered by the regular college, fostering, under the influence of intimate friendships, those principles that tend to form a higher type of manhood.

The Tulane chapter's activities are focused on professional and social functions which include addresses by prominent members of the bench and bar, a bi-monthly toastmaster program, maintenance of a lending library, dances and banquets.

Phi Delta Phi

Founded in 1869 at the University of Michigan, the international legal fraternity of Phi Delta Phi expanded to the White Inn chapter at Tulane in 1911. The brothers of the White Inn join legal students at seventy-three other student inns throughout the world for the advancement of high scholarship and culture, the opposition to corrupt practices, and rigid adherence to a code of professional ethics.

Inspired by a dedicated group of officers, the luminaries of Phi Delta Phi led the Law School in all fields of student endeavor, from the academic spectrum to the social. Beginning with the early fall party, and followed by several banquets and many kegs of beer, the men of the White Inn, ably assisted by the largest pledge class in years, proved that "all work and no play" does not apply to Phi Delta Phi.

The Pre-Medical Society

Linking Tulane Pre-Medical students with those already successful in the practice of medicine, the Pre-Med Society is one of the most successful societies on campus. The primary goal of the society is to bring together into a closer fellowship those to whom the field of medicine is a common interest and a common goal. Throughout the school year the society promotes discussions on topics of common interest, current developments in medicine, the problems of the premedical student, and the relation of the premedical and other school courses to the field of medicine. Now in its fifteenth year, the society offers students the opportunity to hear lectures by successful doctors, as well as the chance to tour Charity Hospital and the Tulane Medical School. The year is climaxed by a parting banquet, highlighted by the distribution of the annual publication, the Pre-Medical Journal, and the presentation of awards to the society's most successful members.

Beta Beta Beta

Beta Beta Beta is a national honorary biological society founded to cultivate intellectual interest in the natural sciences and to promote a better appreciation of the value of biological study.

To be eligible for membership a student must have at least a 3.0 average in biology and must have completed not less than ten semester hours in this field.

Activities of the Beta Lambda chapter include lectures, field trips, and the maintenance of a display case in Newcomb Hall as well as various social functions.

Delta Sigma Pi

The presentation of the Rose of Delta Sig at the annual Rose Formal climaxed a whirlwind social season for members of the Gamma Mu chapter of Delta Sigma Pi. The chapter, which has been active on the Tulane campus since 1949, also sponsors tours of local firms, conducts programs with prominent speakers from various fields, and promotes discussions about important topics from today's business world. Each year the chapter enters a national efficiency contest against other chapters, which conform to standards set up by the Central Office. The Gamma Mus always score in the upper echelon of the final standings of this contest.

Phi Chi Theta

Women enrolled in the School of Business Administration as well as Economics majors at Newcomb are eligible for membership in the Alpha Xi chapter of Phi Chi Theta. The chapter was re-activated in May, 1962, after three years of inactivity, and it was at this time that Newcomb Economics majors were admitted to the fraternity. In the brief time since its reactivation the chapter has striven to become more active in the Business School and on the campus. In many of its activities, Alpha Xi works in cooperation with the Beta Gamma chapter at Loyola as well as other business school organizations. To stimulate interest in the field of business administration, Phi Chi Theta presents annual awards to the outstanding freshmen and outstanding senior women in the Business School, as well as sponsoring professional speakers for its members.

On the lighter side is the annual Christmas party which Phi Chi Theta sponsors with Delta Sigma Pi for the faculty and staff of the Business School.

Tulane Marketing Club

The Tulane University Student Marketing Club, organized in the spring of 1957, is affiliated with the American Marketing Association. The club provides programs oriented toward pertinent developments and innovations in the dynamic field of marketing. These programs have been highlighted by discussions with nationally prominent men in the marketing field. Guest speakers representing companies noted for their contributions to the marketing field—such as Esso Company, Proctor and Gamble, U.S. Steel, and WDSU-TV—help members to develop sound thinking in marketing theory and a more exact knowledge of marketing principles and their practical application. Through the parent organization, placement and educational services are provided the student members. The club is open to all students interested in taking advantage of the many opportunities offered in marketing.

A. S. C. E.

Established at Tulane's College of Engineering in 1933 the A.S.C.E. Student Chapter today sponsors activities of many types for engineering students. At the bi-monthly meetings speakers and films concerning Civil Engineering are presented. The group also organizes field trips for its members to construction sites, offshore drilling rigs, and fabrication and industrial plants in the New Orleans area. In a lighter vein the A.S.C.E. organizes intramural sports participation for the Department of Civil Engineering in addition to sponsoring several parties for members during the school year.

A. S. M. E.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers serves as a means of acquainting the Mechanical Engineering student with the practical side of his profession while meeting the men he will join after graduation—men already working as mechanical engineers.

The society at Tulane seeks to accomplish these objectives by monthly meeting, at which gleeful students, having pushed aside scholastic worries, hear stimulating lectures by outstanding members of industry. The members visit modern industrial plants as a means of complementing the knowledge they already possess.

Each spring the group sends a representative to a regional convention composed of member clubs from Louisiana and Texas and held at some University in Louisiana or Texas.

AIEE—IRE

The Tulane Joint Student Branch of the American Institute of Radio Engineers was formed in order to present a more realistic view of the engineering profession to the college student. This Student Branch strives to attain the dissemination of knowledge of the theory and practice of all phases of electrical engineering as well as to further the professional development of the members.

The student-governed group has monthly meetings which generally feature a talk given by a professional engineer. Some of the meetings, however, are set aside for educational scientific movies or technical talks given by students. All of these functions aid in developing the members as professional engineers. In addition, the group sponsors periodic social functions for its members.

The American Institute of Chemical Engineers, Tulane chapter, is a student organization which strives to provide for the student the vital link between the professional world and the academic world. Throughout the year students hear speakers in engineering and other related fields, as well as view films on various phases of engineering. From these speakers and films the members become acquainted with present-day engineering problems and are kept informed on the latest developments in engineering and the sciences. The ultimate goal of the chapter is to develop a professional attitude in the chemical engineering student before his graduation from school.

Alpha Chi Sigma

Alpha Chi Sigma was founded in 1902 to promote friendship and co-operation among those in the field of chemistry, and to advance the study of chemistry both as a science and as a profession. The organization is now represented nationally both by student chapters in leading colleges and universities, and by professional chapters in all major cities. The student chapters, such as Alpha Tau at Tulane, aid students during their college life, whereas the professional chapters help the members upon entering the field after graduation. Membership in the Tulane chapter is open to students majoring either in chemistry or chemical engineering.

Louisiana Engineering Society

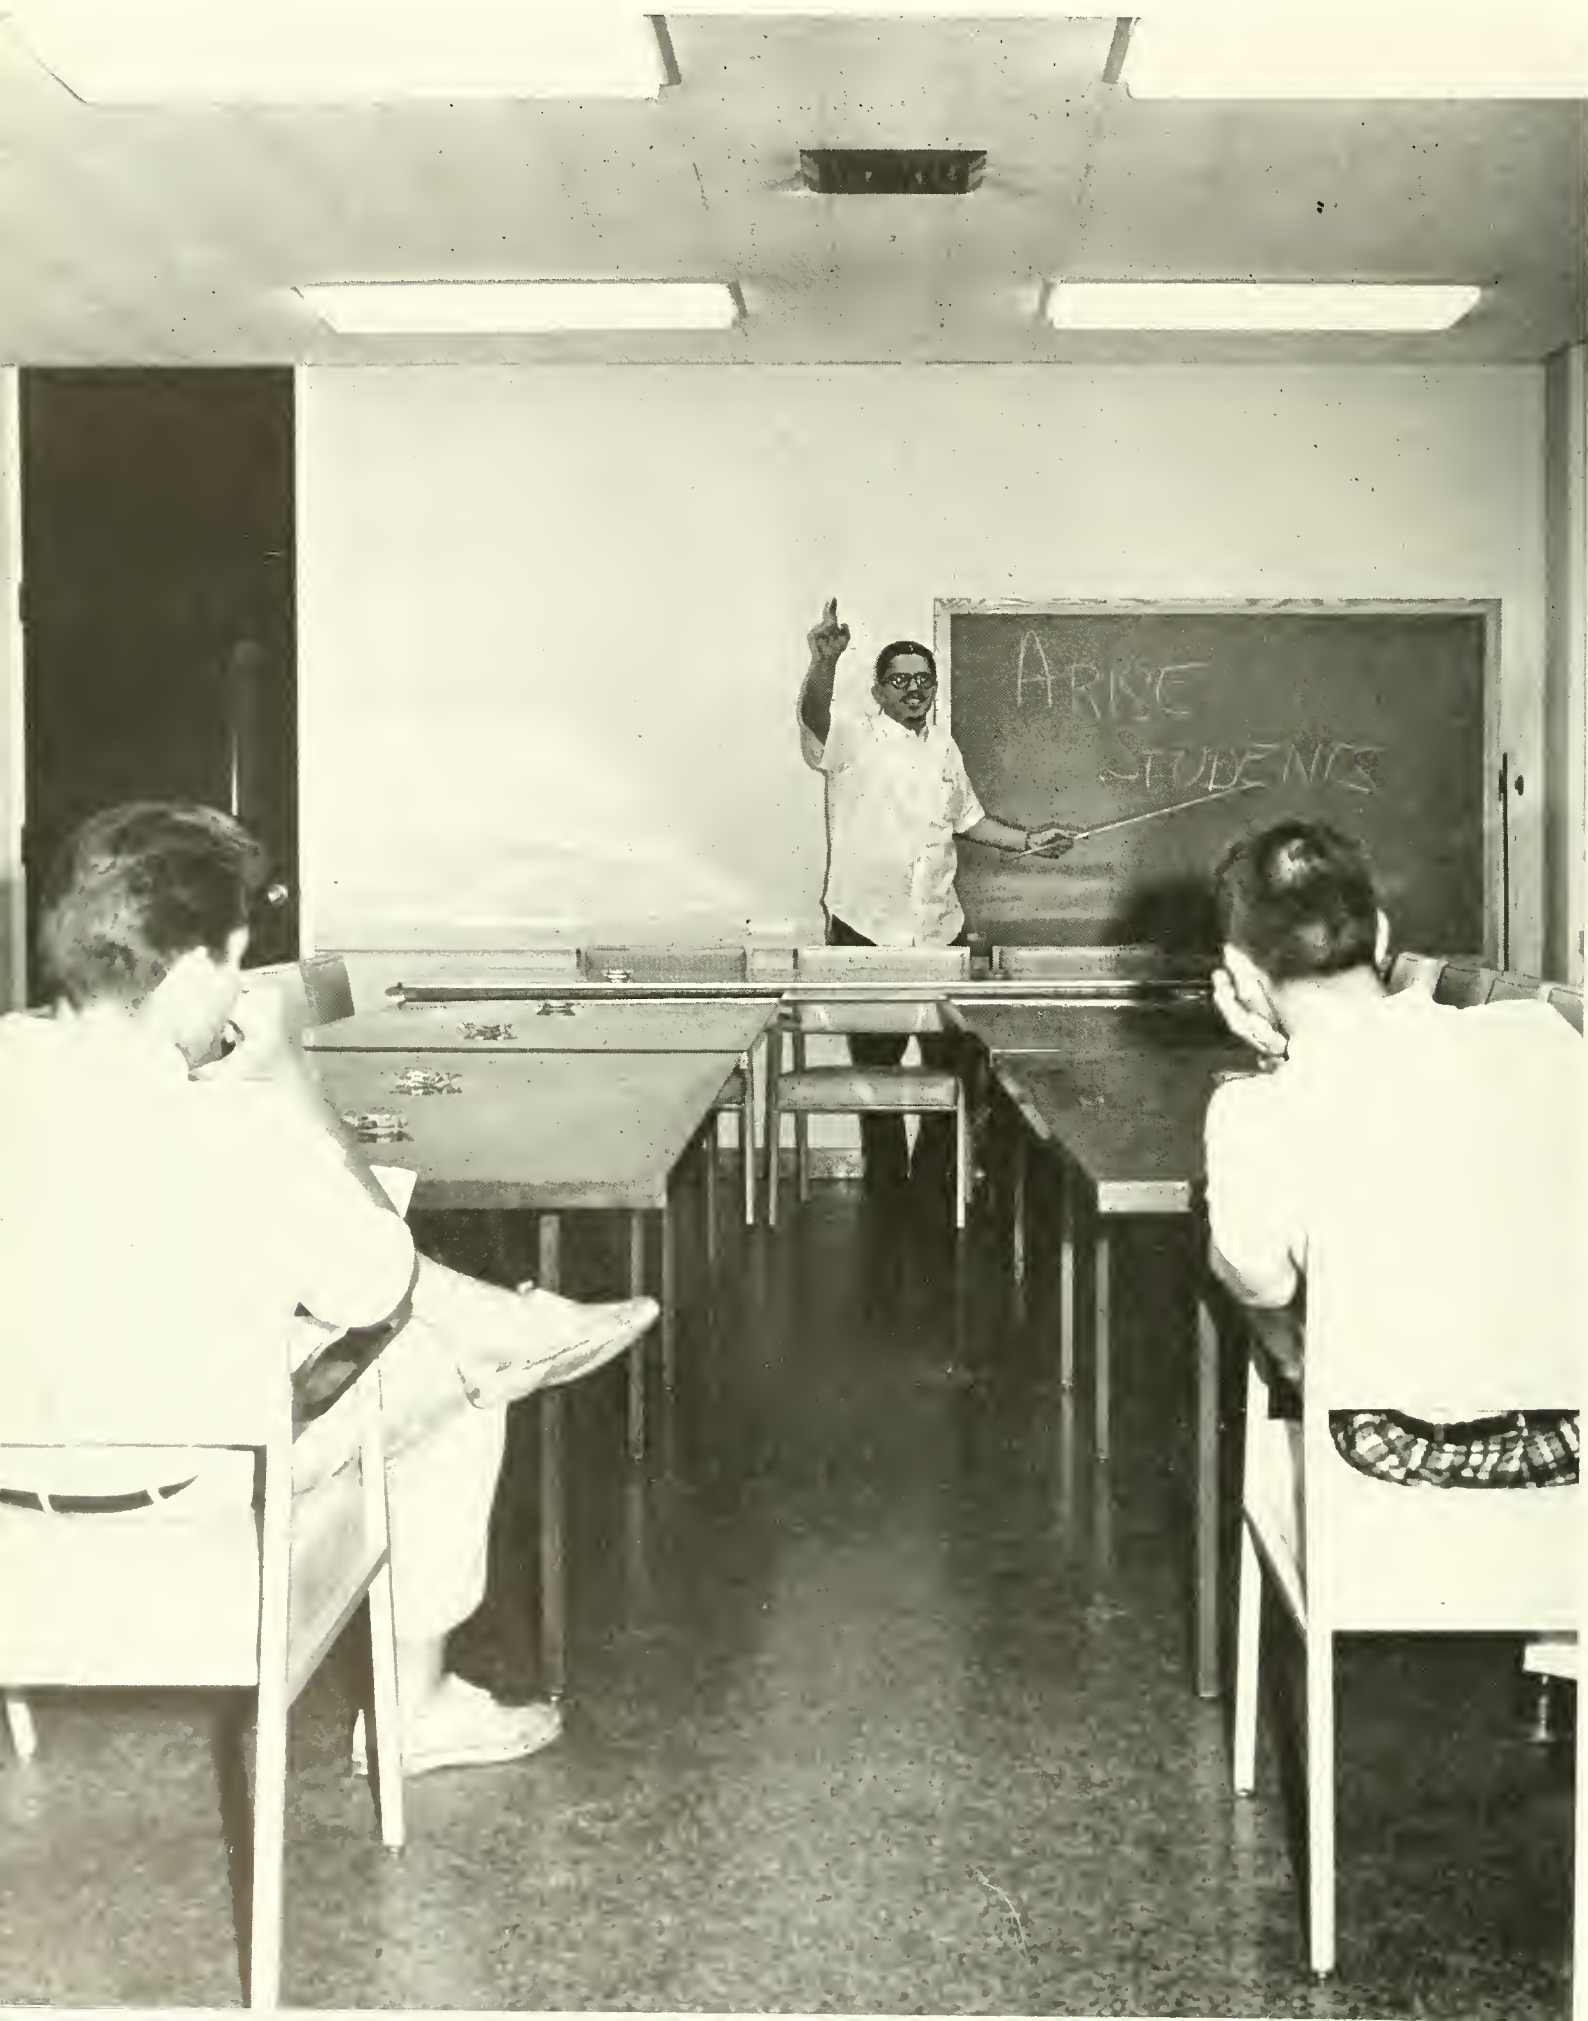

The Tulane Student Chapter of the Louisiana Engineering Society has the distinction of being the only technical society in the School of Engineering whose membership is composed of undergraduates and graduates from each of the four major fields of engineering. The organization strives to promote a closer union of the engineering student body by having monthly meetings with guest lecturers speaking on subjects of interest to all engineers.

Other activities of the L.E.S. include field trips and social events. The field trips enable the students to see in practice, the principles they are now studying in the classroom. Nor is the social life of the engineering student neglected, as the L.E.S. assists in all social functions sponsored by the various technical societies of the School of Engineering. In addition, the L.E.S. sponsors an outdoor barbecue for its members in the spring of each year.

Circle K

The Circle K organization is the filial organization to the Kiwanis Club, and serves as more than merely a club, but as a service organization besides. The single-sheet directory of dorm residents is among the greatest achievements of the club, and proceeds from their sale go to campus service funds. Circle K also sponsors social events from time to time. Organized internationally in 1952, membership now exceeds 5,000 throughout the United States and Canada. Circle K came to Tulane in 1955.

Charles Snyder, President; Jim Davies, Advisor.

A. P. O.

Gamma Upsilon is Tulane's chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, the national service fraternity. The fraternity's purpose is to assemble college and university men in the fellowship of the Scout oath and law, to develop friendship and to serve the school, community and nation.

Orientation tours for Freshmen, information booth during registration, decoration of a campus Christmas tree, and coordination of the Campus Carnival in the spring are among the many activities of Alpha Phi Omega. Other projects include raising money for a needy family at Christmas, assistance in the Varsity-Freshman basketball game, and passing out Freshman club interest sheets.

Newcomb Service Club

Newcomb Service Club is composed of girls who are interested in devoting their time to serving the campus and community.

Orientation tours for Freshmen, a Library Clean-up Project, and aiding with the annual Christmas party for the children of Tulane faculty and students are among the Club's activities serving the campus this year.

Service for the community has taken the form of parties for the New Orleans Crippled Children's Hospital and St. Ann's Home for the Aged. Christmas was a cheerful occasion for two needy families adopted by the Newcomb Service Club.

The girls are looking forward to continuing their service in the future.

Officers: President, Cookie Sulkin; Vice-President, Fran Wynne, and Secretary-Treasurer, Lurline Graffognino.

La Tertulia

La Tertulia, an honorary club for Spanish students, attempts to encourage those interested in Spanish customs and language to pursue these activities. During the year La Tertulia sponsored a social gathering for Spanish speaking students with entertainment provided by Emmanuel Arias, guitarist. Other meetings included slides of Spain by two JYA members of the club, the traditional Christmas party with Spanish carols and the Mexican pinata, an informal talk by Teresa Munevar on her native country, Colombia, and the annual spring banquet.

Officers: President, Nancy Graves; Vice-President, Carol Gene Waldman; Secretary, Kay Grossman; Treasurer, Susan Jeter, and Advisor, Mrs. J. B. Martinez.

Oreades

Oreades, the honorary organization of the Newcomb Classics Department, seeks to stimulate interest in our classical heritage of the Greek and Roman cultures. The group meets once a month for lectures, discussions and social activities. Last year the group was privileged to have a lecture by Professor Hanfmann of Harvard University on his excavations at Sardes. Another outstanding feature in the club's activities was the presentation of a Roman comedy directed by student Peggy Hanemann and performed by the third-year Latin class.

The Oreades's celebration of a Roman Saturnalia festival has become a tradition at Newcomb. At this celebration honoring the god Saturn, skits are given by various classes in the classics department, and in accordance with the ancient custom, a "slave" is chosen by lot to rule as king for the day. Other equally colorful fetes round out the organization's social season.

Pi Mu Epsilon

Pi Mu Epsilon, the national honorary fraternity of undergraduate and graduate students and faculty members in mathematics, strives to promote scholarly activity in the field of mathematics. The Tulane chapter of the organization, in order to give complete opportunities to all students, regardless of eligibility in the national fraternity, has absorbed the Tulane Mathematics Club, and now includes all students showing a deep interest in mathematics. Featured at the meetings of the group are lectures by faculty members or visiting mathematicians, as well as informal coffee and discussion periods.

Officers: President, Hank Frantz; Vice-President, Donald Ramirez; Secretary, Pat Merkle.

Sailing Club

The sailors get a new bailing pail!!!

Dedicated to the proposition that "Sailing is Happiness," the Tulane Sailing Club gives students an opportunity to learn the art of sailing through the facilities of the Southern Yacht Club. The club holds regular training sessions for novices, as well as novice cruises to give the students actual experience in the boats. For the organization's qualified skippers there are series races each week and a trophy awarded at the end of each semester's series. The club is fortunate to have its own fleet of ten Gannets as well as a newly acquired sloop of the Luder class.

As a member of the Southern Intercollegiate Sailing Association, Tulane's club participates in invitational regattas in the southeastern portion of the United States. The club-sponsored Baldwin Wood Regatta in the fall and the Garner Tullis Regatta each spring draw participants from colleges across the country. In December of recent years the club has hosted a Sugar Bowl Regatta in conjunction with the Sugar Bowl Association of New Orleans.

The social aspect of sailing is not overlooked by this active group, and beer parties and club cruises have become an important part of the club's regular activities.

Barracuda Club

The main interest of the Barracudas is the promotion of synchronized swimming.

Tryouts are held every fall, and membership is based on skill in performing basic strokes and special stunts. The new members are known as "Baby Barracudas" until after their participation in the annual spring show. Each spring the Barracuda Club presents a water ballet in the Monk Simons Memorial Pool.

The club also sponsors the annual intramural swim meet held at the Newcomb pool.

Now in its ninth year, the Tulane-Newcomb Junior Year Abroad Program offers honor students the opportunity to spend their collegiate year at major European universities following courses of study for which they will receive credit toward their degrees. The program affords the student the chance to elect courses which are not available at Tulane or other American universities and courses of cultural content relevant to their resident country.

Participants in the program attend approximately forty European universities in England, Germany, France, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Scotland, Spain, Switzerland, and Wales.

Living with European families or in dormitories with fellow European students provides an intensive and unique medium for mutual cultural understanding and exchange. The vacation periods and summer holiday allow an unequalled travel opportunity, and most participants get the chance to visit many of the fountainheads and historic centers of Western civilization and at the same time experience the phenomenon of twentieth century modern Europe.

Back at Tulane, the Junior Year Abroad Club, composed of those who have participated in the J.Y.A. Program, provides a means whereby the various and varied experiences of the members are integrated into Tulane-Newcomb campus life. It is a source of new and different ideas which add dimension to Tulane student life. The Club functions in an orientating capacity in regard to those who will next year be studying abroad. Since the club members were in a similar position, they possess unique qualifications to help foreign students at Tulane have a more rewarding experience.

Louisiana members board ship for France and Germany.

Newcomb Art Club

The Art Club does not actually exist as a club, as it once did, but is now made up of the entire student body of the Art Department. One purpose of the group as it functions today is the presentation of exhibitions of students, faculty, and other work throughout the University, in the hope of furthering an interest in and an appreciation for the fine arts. The strong bond of common interests and ideas makes the group a closely-knit one; there is always a good attendance, both student and faculty, at the parties given in the building, which last usually for three or four days, and at which all stags are welcomed with open arms.

Jane Rose, Vice-President; Julie Hoerner, President.

Newcomb Dance Club

The Newcomb Dance Club is made up of members of the advanced dance class plus any other interested dancers. Meeting twice weekly, the club is mainly interested in classical ballet, but interpretive and modern jazz dancing are also studied. Although it presents no individual program of its own, members participate in such events as Campus Nite, University Talent shows, and Newcomb student body meetings. Miss Frances Bush is teacher and sponsor of the club.

Seated: Terry Gorman, President; Georgellen Costan, Vice-President.

Young Republicans

The Tulane Young Republican Club is an organization dedicated to the preservation and advancement of the ideals of the national Party and has as its chief function the practical task of taking an active part in the recent and phenomenal upsurge of the Republican Party in the South. This is being accomplished by support of candidates in local elections and by maintenance of ties with the local and state Young Republican organizations. The Club holds monthly meetings at which timely issues are debated, political films are shown and discussed, and speakers are presented. One of the highlights of the year was the address to an open meeting of the Club by Mr. William Rusher, publisher of "National Review." Also the Club was represented at the Executive Board meeting of the Southern Area Federation of the College Young Republicans and at the Louisiana State Young Republican Convention.

There are few places whose atmosphere can rival that of an automobile: there is music, hot or cold air, and the smooth and soft comfort of the rear seat. In the Spring of 1962, four far-sighted young men who delight in the epicurean pleasures to be gleaned in cars, organized the Riding Club. The club is undoubtedly the most exclusive group on campus: among its nine members (five boys and four girls) number six members of Who's Who and five who serve on the Student Council. The group grows incessantly in size and stature, but that's what happens when you spend too much time fooling around in cars.

Delta Beta

Delta Beta (Dead Bird Watchers Society) was founded at Tulane University in 1962. Alpha Chapter was soon followed by the establishment of four new chapters at other schools. The fraternity enjoyed a successful rush party at Audubon Park, pledging the eleven best rush-ees. The usual round of parties followed, including dinner meetings on Sundays at which time the dead birds were thoroughly enjoyed. Burp! The Delta Beta's feel they have established many traditions this year and look forward to a very promising future.

Beta Alpha Psi

Beta Alpha Psi is an honorary society which recognizes and honors those Junior and Senior students who exhibit scholastic ability and proficiency in the field of accounting.

The fraternity was founded in 1919 by a small group of students majoring in Accounting at the University of Illinois, and since its founding, Beta Alpha Psi has grown to have fifty-seven active chapters at universities across the country. The chapter at Tulane, Beta Nu, was established in 1961.

In October of 1962, Beta Nu conferred honorary membership upon Professor Sidney Davidson, Professor of Accounting at the Graduate School of the University of Chicago and one of the foremost authorities on accounting in this country.

Once a month, Beta Alpha Psi holds professional meetings at which prominent members of the accounting profession from New Orleans and other parts of the country speak on timely issues.

Pan-Hel Formal

Cookie and the Cupcakes rise to the occasion.

"How on Earth can you be hungry at a time like this?"

The highlight of the fraternity season is the Pan-Hel formal, when the Greeks gather, all seventeen frats, to drink, dance, and have fun. This year's dance was held in the International Room of the Hotel Roosevelt on a Friday night in March, and featured Cookie and his Cupcakes.

The highlight of the dance was the presentation of the traditional white roses to Miss Pauline Tulane of 1963, Miss Pierce Landry, by JAMBALAYA Editor Hans Jonassen. Miss Landry was escorted for the presentation by Danny Schwartz. Her maids, as announced by Doug Conner, were Sherry Brown, escorted by Tommy Tucker; Ana Maria Williams, escorted by Marty Boorstein; and Sandy Noble, escorted by Rodney Rene Chasant.

The high social point of every football season is Homecoming, when the thousands of Tulane alumni whose homes are spread around the world return to the campus, for a weekend of parties, dances, and a football game. Friday night ushers in the week-end, with the Homecoming Queen, Sandy Noble, and her court of six maids presented for the first time at the Alumni Dance; and the hard-studying Law Students breaking loose with the Barristers' Brawl.

Saturday, the Virginia Tech game, with cocktail parties before and after; Derby Day for the Law School Seniors; and then the week-end climaxes with Homecoming Dance, Ralph Marterie and his band, and the final presentation at midnight of Queen Sandy and her Maids. The sun of Sunday morning shines on ten thousand hangovers.

At Tulane

The cornerstone of the "New Look" in football at Tulane is Head Coach Tommy O'Boyle. He took over the reins of a talented but under-strengthened football team after the resignation of Andy Pilney last season. Faced with the toughest schedule in the nation, he and his fine young staff infused into the players, the Student Body, and the Administration, a spirit that has not been seen at Tulane for many years. Through his efforts, he made the fans who follow Tulane appreciative of the courage and determination of his staff and players—courage and determination that gave some of the S.E.C.'s and nation's best teams many moments of agony.

With his new uniforms and new offense, the game of football was once again an exciting thing to watch in Sugar Bowl Stadium. The Green Wave was at all times a potential scoring threat, and this potential attracted many fans, even though the Greenies were moving through their worst season in the history of the school.

Though winless the past season, Coach O'Boyle has already recruited many talented high school players, and their power shall be felt in the days to come. It is the responsibility of Coach O'Boyle, his staff, and the thankless group of devoted players to build Tulane into the football power she once was in years gone by. Good luck, men, and thanks for the tremendous effort this season.

HEAD COACH TOMMY O'BOYLE

New coach, new team, same spirits.

Tulane 3 Stanford 6

New coach, new uniforms, new offenses, new hopes—all marked the opening game for the Tulane Green Wave's 1962 football season.

O'Boyle's Green Men anxiously awaited their chance to demonstrate "The New Look in Tulane Football."

Tulane opened the scoring in the first quarter on Gordon Rush's 28-yard field goal to give the Wave a 3-0 lead. Bruising play by both teams kept the offensive game at a standstill during the first half. Stanford retaliated with a 30-yard run in the second half to make the score 6-3.

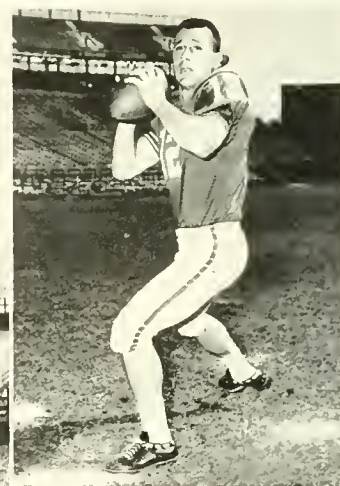

The Greenie fans retained hope even through the final seconds of the game that Tulane would come from behind to command a win. However, a late field goal try by Krajewski failed and the game ended with the T.U. boys 3 points shy of the win.

Tulane 6

Alabama 44

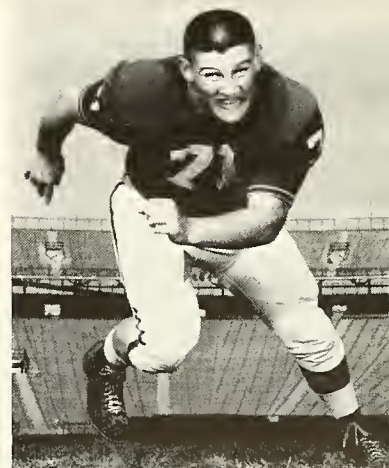

Alabama entered the Tulane game as the number one football team in the country, and outclassed, but did not outfight, the Tulane Green Wave.

Bama settled early the eventual outcome of the game. The Tide machine methodically moved the ball at will by ground and air. The Alabama defense was so effective that Tulane was forced to stay in the air. Tulane unveiled the famous "shotgun offense" which puzzled Alabama defenses for a while. On the only TD the Wave made, Miller hit Dellenger in the Bama end zone for the score, the first TD scored against Bama in 35 quarters.

Tulane fought well but to no avail. Score after score came until the board read 44-6. Despite great odds Tulane played excellently. The Wave just did not have the talent or power to seriously threaten the mighty Alabama with a defeat.

Tulane 8

Texas 35

The Texas Longhorns were ranked 3rd in the country. After meeting Tulane they knew they had played a ball game, although the score did not attest to the fact. Both teams had 15 first downs. Texas had 241 yards rushing to 74 for Tulane, but Tulane had 173 yards passing to only 74 for Texas.

It took the Longhorns two minutes to light up the scoreboard. Later they drove to score again. The Wave gathered in the ball on a Texas fumble at the Steers' 41. Still the Wave could not score, so the half ended 13-0.

In the second half Texas scored twice before the end of the third period on 59- and 63-yard drives. Then Melton quarterbacked the Wave on a long 71-yard drive to score on a pass to McIntire. Miller made the two extra points. The physically-spent Greenies allowed Texas to score again. Tulane had the will to win but not the strength.

Tulane 6 Mississippi State 35

Every team should be allowed one "off-day," but Tulane played such inferior ball compared to the game she has been exhibiting this year, that the fans were disgruntled enough after the first quarter to begin leaving. The flag went down 10 times against Tulane for a total of 114 yards.

Tulane used the air almost exclusively against the Bulldogs and equalled a school record by attempting 41. Melton and Miller completed 17. Dellenger, then ranked the nation's 7th pass receiver, caught 6.

Tulane went all the way to State's 8-yard line in the opening minutes. There Tulane stopped. Apparently the Bulldogs' clutch playing broke Tulane's back. The Wave could never get its pass attack off the ground again.

The Greenies generally played good ball this year, much superior to that of last year. For instance, one did not hear the fumble cheer this year. However, this game produced little to be proud of.

Tulane 0 Ole Miss 21

Rated high in the nation's top ten football teams, the Rebels of Ole Miss came into the Tulane game sure of a victory. However, a driving rain persisted the whole game, slowing up play, and the Greenies played exceptional ball to keep Ole Miss worried the entire first half.

The Rebels were outplayed in the first half. Their only score came on a very questionable pass interference call against Tulane which gave Ole Miss the ball on the Tulane 15. Halftime score was 8-0.

The Tulane band distinguished itself at halftime. The Greenie musicians, donned in steel Federal Marshal-type helmets, stopped in front of the Ole Miss fans to play "Mickey Mouse." The fans applauded wildly.

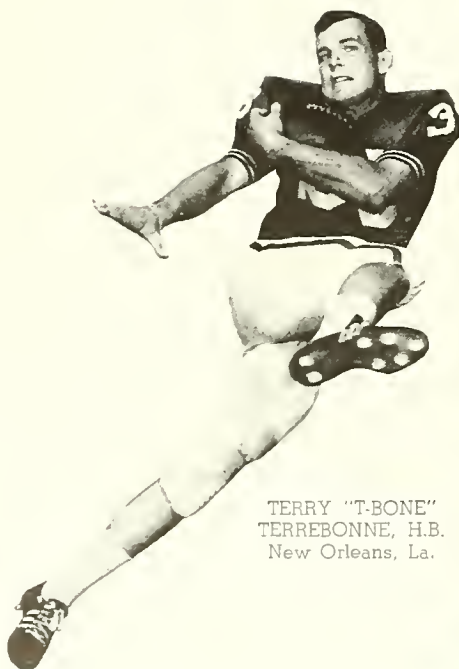

In the second half Ole Miss finally wore down the spirited Wave with reserve power. In the final period the Rebels scored twice to make the final score 21-0.

Tulane 12 Georgia Tech 42

Tulane caught the ill effects of Georgia Tech's two straight losses to LSU and Auburn when the Yellow Jackets swamped the Wave to the tune of 42-12. Despite the lop-sided score, the Tulane team showed no signs of giving up until the final whistle had blown. With overpowering reserves, the Georgia Tech squad completely dominated the contest in all four quarters, bearing out pre-season predictions of having one of the finest teams in the Southeastern Conference.

Graves carried the ball over to climax a 72-yard drive. Earlier in the half, Graves had returned a kickoff from his own one to the Tech 23. With less than two minutes remaining in the contest, Bob Boisvert guided the Wave in for its second score. The TD was scored by O'Boyle.

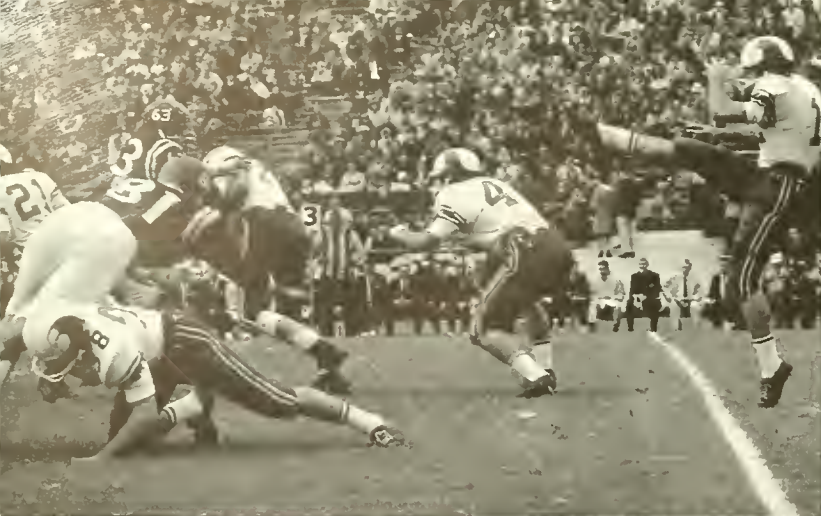

Tulane played hard and determined football; however, the Wave just did not have the power to ever seriously challenge the Yellow Jackets.

Tulane 22 Virginia Tech 24

For the festive Homecoming weekend, the Tulane Green Wave faced supposedly their weakest opposition of the season in the form of V.P.I. Despite their hopes for a victory, the Greenies vastly underrated a better than average Gobbler squad. The game proved to be Tulane's seventh consecutive loss of the year and a poor performance.

By aggressive superior play the Gobblers completely dominated the first half of the game in every department. Halftime score was 10-0, in their favor.

Boisvert engineered an early second half drive with Miller finally scoring. V.P.I. scored again on a long drive which the hapless Tulane men could not attempt to stop, and the score went to 17-7. Tulane finally caught fire and the Wave drove 71 yards and Rush scored from the six.

A Tech 74-yard run raised the score again to 24-14. Six pass completions by Miller and Boisvert brought another score for Tulane. A pass to Rush was good for two points. The final read 24-22 and again Tulane went down in defeat.

Tulane 16 Tennessee 28

The Greenies invaded Knoxville with hopes of their first win of the season, only to be put down by a score of 28-16.

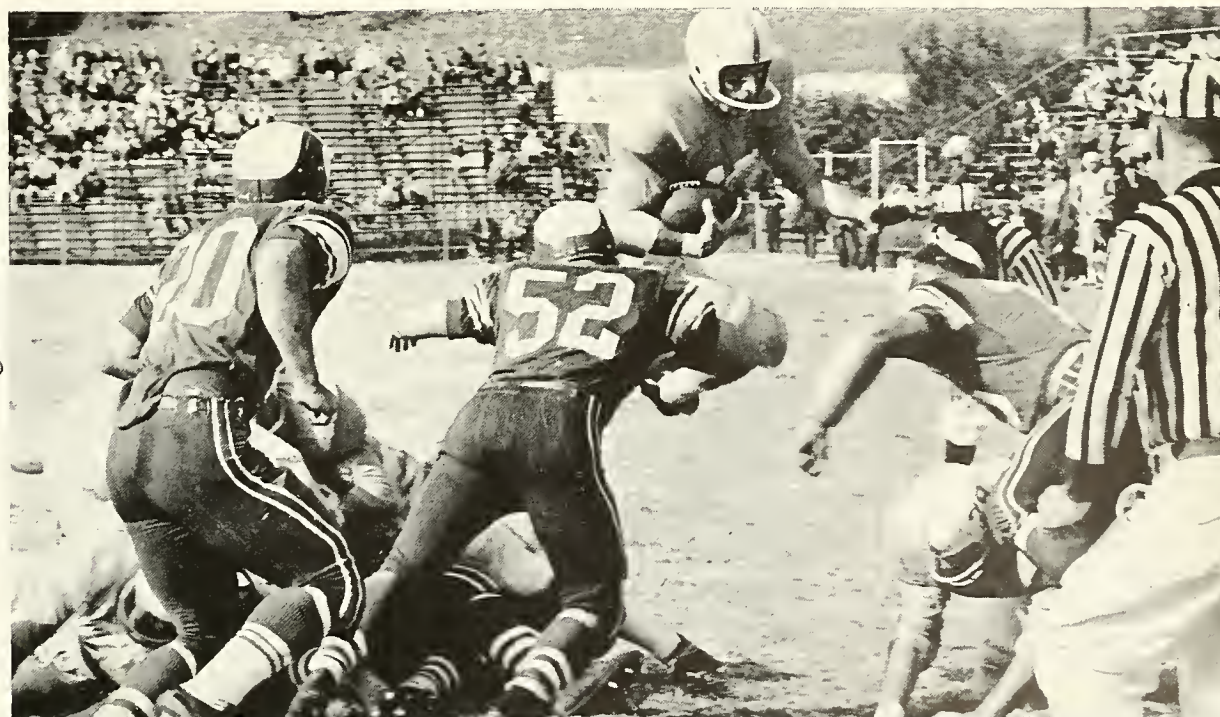

Tulane passed almost at will, completing 24 of 36 attempts. Clem Dellenger set a Tulane record of 35 catches in one season.

Tennessee scored early in the half for a 7-0 lead. Dellenger trapped a Volunteer for a safety. Later, Graves took a pass from Miller to score, giving Tulane the lead 8-7. Tennessee scored on the next set of plays to take the lead 15-8. The Wave took over and scored on a pass to Rush. The two point attempt was good and Tulane led 16-15.

Tennessee mustered two scores late the last half to finally win 28-16. Penalties kept the Greenies from threatening again. Tulane again played excellent ball. However, the reserve power was not available to maintain the lead for the victory.

Tulane 0 Vanderbilt 20

On a dreary and overcast Saturday, Tulane met the Commodores of Vanderbilt to determine which of the winless aggregations should have sole possession of the Southeastern Conference cellar.

The Greenies won the dubious distinction, losing by a score of 20-0, and caused Coach O'Boyle to later remark: "Definitely our poorest showing of the year."

Even in this game several factors besides Tulane's overall poor play decided the contest. Two penalties late in the first half, one moving the ball to the Wave three-yard line, one immediately following nullifying the recovery of a Vandy fumble on the one, allowed the hustling Commodores to begin the second half with a 7-0 lead.

Two more touchdowns by quarterback Lesesne of Vandy iced the victory, and put Tulane in the S.E.C. cellar in football for the first time in many years.

L.S.U. 38

In their traditional battle Tulane outplayed L.S.U. for a half before succumbing to the awesome manpower of the eighth-ranked team in the nation.

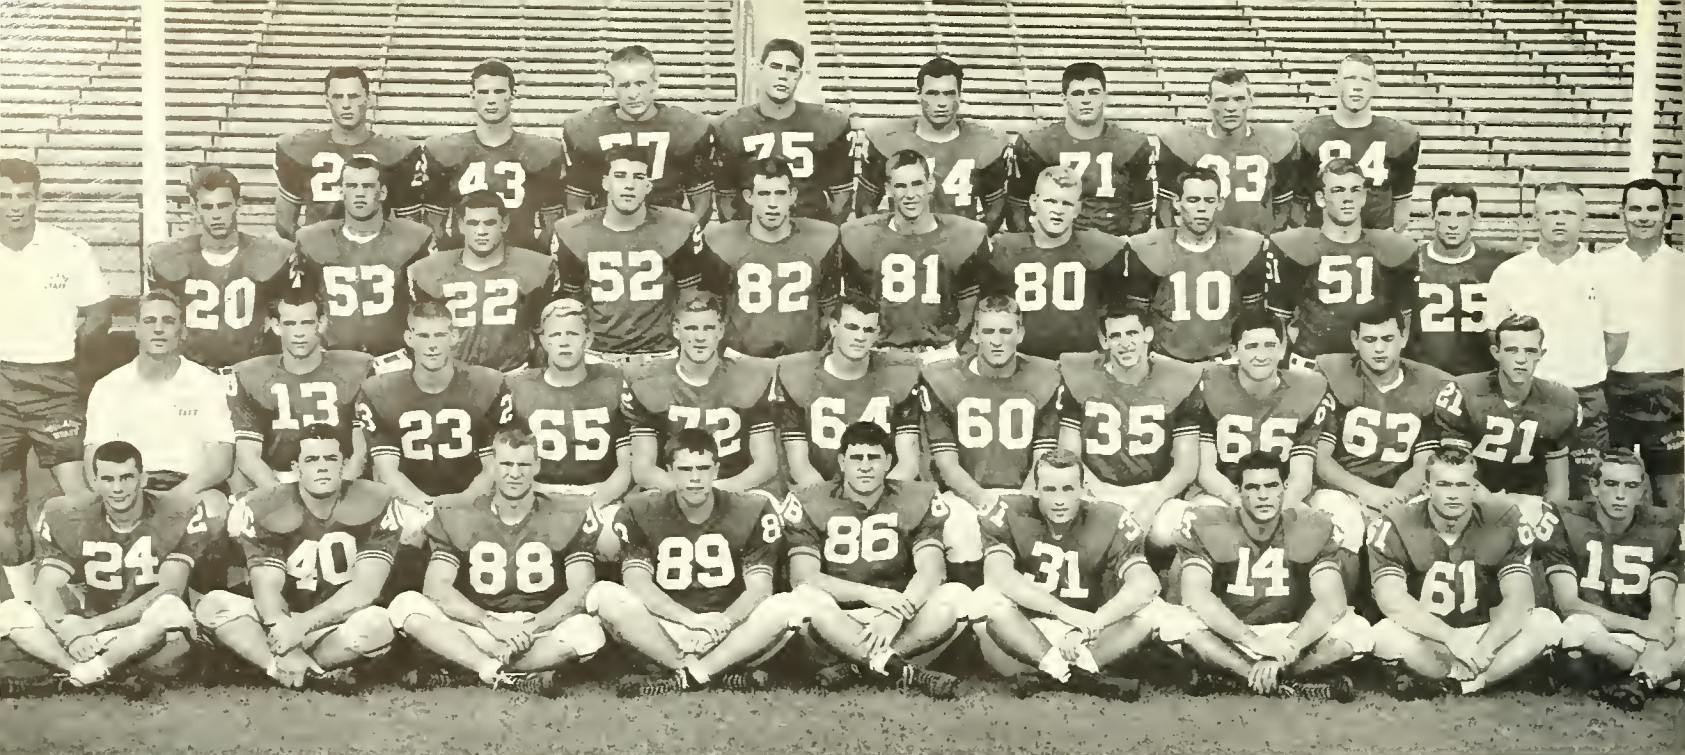

The surprise of the game was the handling of the L.S.U. running plays by a tough defensive unit. Tulane led at the end of the first quarter 3-0 on a field goal by Rush.

It was the passing of L.S.U. quarterback Amedee that led to the Wave's downfall. Connecting on a long pass in the closing minutes of the first half, L.S.U. led only 7-3.

During the second half, Amedee's passing gave L.S.U. the victory. Tulane's tired warriors still checked the ground game, but gave up yardage in the air. The game left Greenie fans with the feeling that with a few more "horses" the outcome could have been different. The spirit was good, and with the fine final showing, many Greenie fans had high hopes for the future.

In making the announcement Dr. Longenecker said that "Dr. Yard's appointment culminates a nation-wide search for the man whom we think would best fill the role of athletic director at Tulane."

Dr. Yard is a native of Toms River, New Jersey, and a graduate of University of Pennsylvania with a degree in physical education. Later he obtained a master's degree and a doctorate in education administration.

Coach Wells Leaves

The 1962-63 season marked the eighteenth season the Green Wave basketball team has been coached by Clifford Wells. Next year Coach Wells departs from Tulane to be the head of the National Basketball Hall of Fame. Coach Wells' tenure at Tulane has been one of great success; fourteen of his eighteen teams have finished in the first division in the S.E.C. Under Wells, the Greenies have been runner-up in the conference three times. Only three S.E.C. teams hold winning records over Wells-coached teams. Over the past eighteen years, Tulane teams boast a fantastic homecourt record of 168 wins to only 48 losses.

Coach Wells is a member of the National Basketball Rules Committee, past president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, and the District Three representative on the N.C.A.A. selection committee. He also serves as an editor of the Bulletin, the official publication of the college coach's association.

Coach Wells will be missed by Tulane students and fans when he assumes his new position. He will also be fondly remembered, not only for his great basketball teams, but more for his abilities as a teacher and a builder of men.

COACH CLIFF WELLS

Basketball Season

The 1962-63 basketball season was not one of tremendous success; however, it was one in which the Greenies were a strong competition in each game they played. The greatest thrill of the season came when the Greenies, struggling under a ten-game losing streak, upset sixth-ranked Georgia Tech. Jim Kerwin had one of his best nights of the year, pumping in 33 points. The 6'3" senior from Long Branch, New Jersey, the leading scorer in the S.E.C., ripped the nets for 460 points this season to boost his career total to 1462, the individual scoring record at Tulane.

The round-ballers started the season by thumping Southwestern of Memphis 105-71. However, glory was not to be the Wave's as they stumbled to an 85-76 upset at the hands of Louisiana College. The Greenies next battled the giants of Texas who managed to turn back a late Wave surge to defeat Tulane 81-72. The Wave bounced back to defeat Rice 82-78. The team then hit the road and suffered the same road troubles that have been experienced by the squad in previous years. The Greenies lost ten straight on their road journey but managed by a determined spirit they bounced back to upset Georgia Tech and L.S.U. respectively. After a few more losses and a couple of wins, a fired-up Wave five blazed to a 77-65 win over rival L.S.U. to finish their season.

Although the Wave will be hurt next year due to Kerwin's loss, tall Bob Davidson, scrappy Mike Kurtz, and playmakers Denny Shoup and Dale Gott are expected to fill the gap. Davidson, a top rebounder in the conference, is also a great scorer. He joined two other Greenies in the 400-point club this season. George Fisher and Alan Kern will serve to provide needed depth.

GREENIE RECORD-BREAKER

Green Wave basketball enthusiasts were provided many thrills this season by the outstanding playing of Senior Jim Kerwin, who has the distinction of having the title of Tulane's greatest scorer tagged to his name. The black-haired boy from New Jersey, who stands 6'3", scored 460 points for a 23.0 average in the 1962-63 season. The Greenie sharpshooter totaled 1462 points in three years of play to finish a brilliant career. Kerwin holds sole membership to the "500 per season" club, scoring 509 points in 1962.

COACH DOUG HAFNER

Baseball

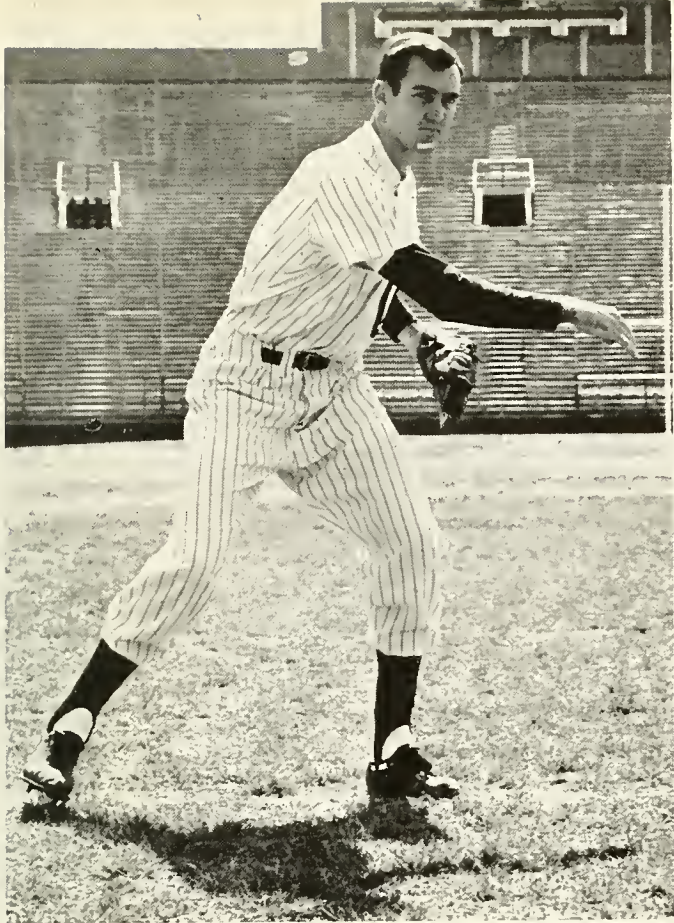

Tulane's hopes for a winner in any sport has one of its best chances in the form of a greatly-improved baseball team facing the longest schedule in its young history. Coach Doug Hafner's charges look forward to a twenty-four game schedule against the finest teams in the Southeastern Conference and the nation, with a fine chance to improve on last year's record of 5-17, and many young players that will insure good teams in the future.

This year's squad will have only one senior, and a group of eight pitchers, led by Dick Roniger, one of the best in the S.E.C. With a corps of nine returning lettermen, his new dugouts, and his fine pitching staff, Coach Hafner has been quoted as saying that "... this squad could win twenty of its games."

Southeastern Conference Champs

The 1962 edition of the Tulane tennis team won the S.E.C. title for the eighteenth time in twenty-three years. Working together splendidly as a team were junior Lee Fentress and sophomores Andy Lloyd and Dan Rhodes in the first three positions. Seniors Jimmy Morse, Ed Austin, and Jerry Varland, along with sophomore Jack Hepting, completed the championship team.

Tennis

Tulane enters this tennis season as defending champion in the Southeastern Conference, and picked by those who know as the team to beat again this year. The team is rated sixth in the country, and with the outstanding players on the squad should improve on this rating. Lee Fentress is nationally ranked and was undefeated last year. Sophomores Hardcastle, ranked in the South, and Bleckinger, ranked in the Midwest, along with Dan Rhodes, who was undefeated in Conference play last year, and Ed Austin will be the backbone of the 1963 squad. Coach Emmett Pare is looking forward to one of his best years, and the Greenies should repeat as S.E.C. champs in Tuscaloosa this Spring.

Swimming

Coach Lowell Damont's young swim team pretty much went the way of all athletic teams at Tulane this season. Although the "Mermen" experienced the first win of this sport at Tulane against Emory, failure to register additional wins can be attributed primarily to a lack of depth. Consistent point winners this season were Serpell Edwards, backstroke and individual medley, Jim Fulton, 50-yard freestyle, and team captain John Jackson, butterfly and distance freestyler. Highlights of the season were the appearances of the first female swimmers in the S.E.C., Martha Leveritt and Pam Hayes, two Newcomb lassies.

Returning Sophomores who composed the bulk of the team point the way to a brighter future for the "Mermen" in '64.

The Tulane golf team will be led this year by four returning lettermen: David Lawrence, Bill Lee, Ed Olsen, and Mario Perez. Under the able direction of Coach Miller, the returning linksmen along with some promising sophomores, Herman Crowder, Bob Frankle and Tom Grace, can look forward to a successful season.

The team is scheduled to play in six dual meets, one triangular match and four tournaments. The season is opened by the fifth annual Lake Charles Invitational Intercollegiate Tournament. Throughout the season the Wave golfers will meet such formidable teams as L.S.U., Ole Miss, Alabama, and Kentucky. The top team in the S.E.C. will be decided in the season's closing match at Athens, Georgia, in the Southeastern Conference Tournament.

Frankle tees off.

Track

The 1963 edition of the Tulane track team may be likened to a young child taking its first step. Although lack of depth will prevent any team victories, there are several individuals who should give excellent performances.

The brightest of the budding stars is Bill Shapiro. Last year he tied the conference 440 freshman record and should contend strongly for the varsity crown this year.

Other good men are Brunas in the hurdles, Harry Belin and Bill Kerwin in the distance runs, and Ira Sorkin in the shotput. Bob McKenzie, Emmet Grandy, and Steve Wagner will team with Shapiro and Buras in handling the relay duties.

As a young child gets stronger every year, so should Tulane's track team. There are no seniors on the predominantly sophomore squad and the strongest freshman group in years is standing in the wings.

There is also a tackle football game played in pads in the stadium each year called the Saccharin Bowl. The Intramural program also boasts a Faculty-Staff league.

Pan-Hellenic Council

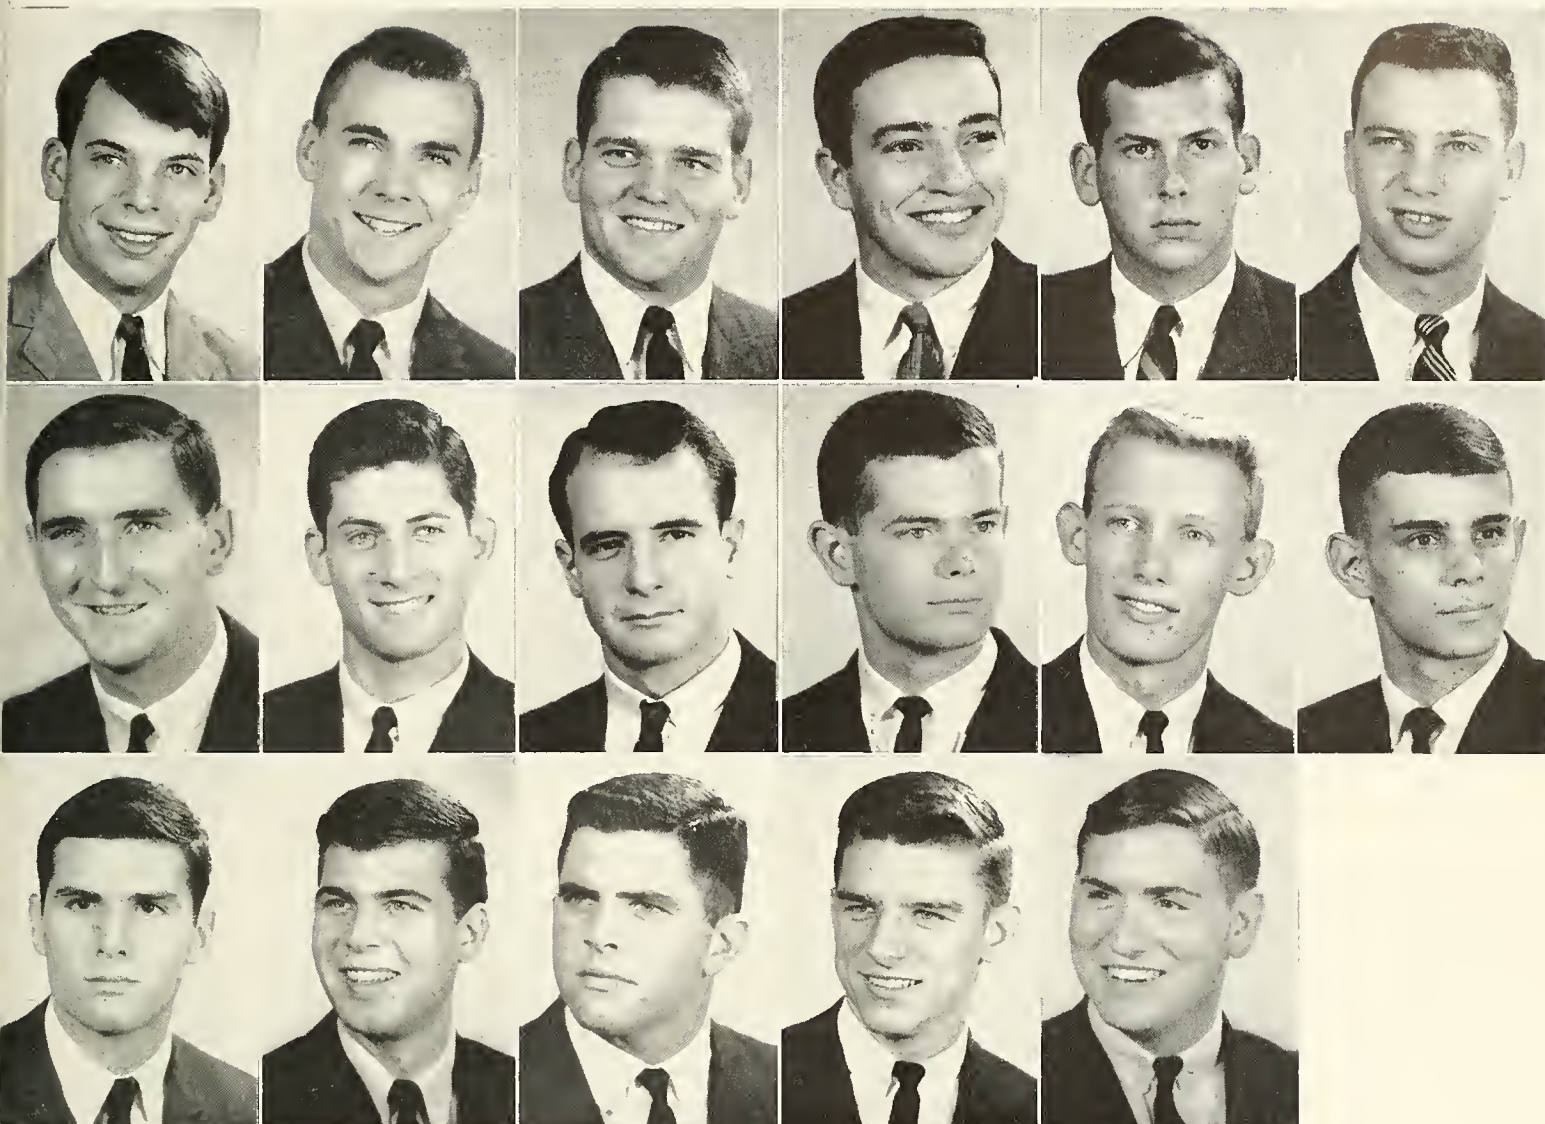

The Tulane Pan-Hellenic Council is the general coordinating and supervisory agency for the seventeen national fraternities and three colonies on the Tulane campus. The council is composed of two representatives from each fraternity, chosen by the fraternity. The council is governed by the four officers and a Judicial Committee. The Judicial Committee and officers set the policies of the council, and serve as a trial body in cases of dispute.

The competitive activities of the fraternities are supervised by the Director of Interfraternity Activities and an Athletic Committee. These competitive activities range from football, basketball and baseball to the minor sports, homecoming decorations and scholarship.

The highlights of the fraternity year are the September rush season, culminating in pledging and a welcoming banquet for new pledges, and the annual Greek Week, at the opening of the second semester. Greek Week features a community "Help Day," officer and pledge discussions on current topics, and a convocation with a distinguished fraternity man as speaker. The social climax is the annual Pan-Hellenic Dance, held at the end of Greek Week.

"No, she's not my girl; wanna make something of it?"

Founded, Miami of Ohio—1839.

Established, Tulane—1908—since then have been most active in campus functions—this year no exception.

Represented in all phases of campus life: Al Hecker—President of Delta Sigma Pi; Buzzy Sutherlin—Vice-Pres., Junior Class; Ray Lake, Plauche Villere, Chuck Murphy, Joe Wells—varsity sports; Jim Rasmussen—Alpha Epsilon Delta; also members in spirit, vocal, religious and honorary groups.

Main purpose of frat is social one however—Here Betas excelled: neer-to-be-forgot Jungle Party; Beta Formal. Also helping were bridge games, front step sessions, etc.—these kept up brotherhood.

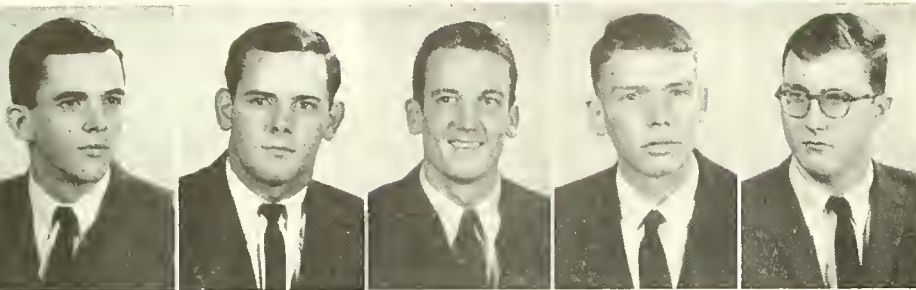

Next year even better.

Delts started off seventy-third year at Tulane by serving as host chapter to National Convention in Royal Orleans—followed by rush week and pledging of eighteen conceivably promising men.

Delts prominent in all phases of campus life—represented in engineering, architecture, pre-med, classical language, political science, honor societies—also Phi Eta Sigma, Tusk Greenbakers, Scabbard and Blade—one in ODK—two in Phi Beta Kappa—Robinson head of NROTC Midshipman Battalion—Wiesenburg designated Distinguished Military Student.

Delts strive for excellence on non-academic side of ledger also—usual parties planned—highlights: Christmas Party—costume parties—Rainbow formal. Patio Bar finally finished—This year Chapter Travel Day initiated.

Pledges have shown amazing spirit—a few have passed pledge tests—Actives thrashed them in pledge-active football game.

Hoff back from England and JYA—chapter grieves at loss of Sweetheart to same program.

On the whole—outlook bright.

Splendid rush week—pledged twenty energetic, understanding young gentlemen. Grades excellent with 20 brothers and pledges making above a 3.0 first semester.

Social season most active—included best parties for Newcomb lovelies, Christmas party with Chi O's for orphans, Christmas Formal, Spring Formal at Royal Orleans, weekend at Biloxi, Parent's day and parties after the game.

In sports, Kappa Sig took championship in football and swimming to lead in PanHellenic trophy race. Brothers in varsity sports are Tom Cato, Will Warren and Ed Fitzgerald—football; Don Cantrell—baseball; Serpell Edwards—swimming. All Spaz team turned 0-2 record—dropped games to Theta and Pi Phi Pledges.

Political scene—Harlan Schmidt, President of Student Body—Jacob Landry, President of PanHellenic—Berdon Lawrence, Bill Lammey, Tom Tucker—class presidents—Bill Lammey, Battalion Commander of NROTC—Doug Conner—Asst. Editor of JAMBALAYA—also represented in Phi Eta Sigma, ODK, Who's Who, Architecture and business honoraries and other fields of endeavor.

Newcomb Pan-Hellenic Council

Miss Gaither McConnell
Advisor to Newcomb Pan-Hellenic

Newcomb Pan-Hellenic Council is an organization made up of two representatives from each sorority on campus. It aims at good scholarship, wholehearted cooperation with the ideals of the college, and service to the community. The Council cooperates with the college administration in the maintenance of high social standards; it strives for unity and cooperation among sorority groups, thus maintaining a high plane of fraternity life; it is a forum for the discussion of questions of interest in the college and sorority world; and it compiles rules governing rushing, pledging, and initiation on the campus.

It awards the Newcomb Pan-Hellenic Trophy to the sorority which has accumulated the most points for participation in various campus activities and for the highest scholarship. The City-Pan-Hellenic Trophy is awarded each year to the sorority attaining the highest average. These presentations are a stimulus to the sororities and determine the sorority which best achieves the aims of the organization.

PI CHAPTER OF AOP

OFFICERS

JUDY WAITE	President
KAY MOSLEY	Vice-President
MARY BATTS	Recording Secretary
VERONICA KASTRIN	Corresponding Secretary
HELEN CARNEY	Secretary

Home Economics majors.

Founded at Barnard—1897.

Established at Newcomb—1898.

Socially oriented—twenty-eight pledges added to its lists, Christmas party with Phi Kappa Sigma for orphans, beer party given by the lady-like pledge class (now no more alcoholic beverages can be served at sorority functions)—pledge dinner-dance, Founders Day Banquet and Spring Formal showed AOPis well versed in all phases of social activities.

Active on campus—Sherry Brown, Pan-Hellenic President—Karen Peeler, Honor Board and Resident Association Secretary—Fran Wynns, Mortar Board—Mikki Pellettieri, Senior Class Vice President.

Beauties galore—Sherry Brown and Ann Marie Majoue, Homecoming Court—Judy Waite, Floral Trail Queen (and what a trail!)—Barbara White, Sigma Chi Sweetheart.

After another successful year AOPi is looking forward to bigger and better things.

"And, according to OUR survey, A.O.Pi's are 99 and 44/100% pure!!!"

RHO CHAPTER OF XΩ

OFFICERS

SUSAN SHANKLIN	President
JANE ESELMAN	Vice-President
BETTY ORENDORF	Secretary
JUNE WILKINSON	Treasurer
LINDA ANN BLACK	Pledge Trainer

Founded at University of Arkansas—1895.

Established at Newcomb—1900.

Socially the Owls kept wide awake—an uproarious and notorious pledge class of twenty-nine welcomed at annual pledge banquet; orphan party in co-operation with Kappa Sigs (and what co-operation those boys got!); fall and spring formals; annual Spring Banquet; journey to L.S.U. to picnic with the Chi Omegas there.

Entrenched in all phases of campus life—Anne Franks, President of University Center Board, member of Tulane and Newcomb Student Councils—Susan Shanklin, the all-time great owl, Newcomb Student Council Vice-President;—class secretaries, June Wilkinson and Carolyn Council—Mary Mundy Clayton, Homecoming Court—Linda Ann Black, Kappa Sig Sweetheart.

Another prosperous year can be chalked up to Chi Omega!

"I move we appropriate funds to fix the roof."

Founded at De Pauw University—1870.

Established at Newcomb—1914.

Spirit of sisterhood—fabulous work-and-play houseparty began a successful rush week; pledge banquet at Commander's Palace; indigestion; pledge-active baseball game; kidnap breakfast for pledges and the Lindbergh baby; pledge picnic for actives; 2nd place in Homecoming decorations; Annual Spring Formal.

Campus Life Enthusiasts—Sandy Noble, Homecoming Queen, Mortar Board Vice-President, Secretary of Tulane Student Council—Colleen Spence, Cheerleader—Linda Hudson, Resident President—Pierce Landry, Homecoming Court—Millie Eby, Freshman Class Treasurer.

Will No. 3 please step forward?

Founded at Monmouth—1870.

Established at Newcomb—1904.

Just as socially adaptable as the rest—took a fabulous pledge class, naturally; won Homecoming for the third year in a row; had the usual number of parties, highlighted by the gay Kappa formal.

Active both on (and off) campus—Linda Hines, President of Newcomb Student Body—Julie Sellers, Secretary of Newcomb Student Council—Alice Gandy, Honor Board Member—Bonnie Thompson, Homecoming Court—Karol Ann Kuersteiner, Tulane Cheerleader.

So . . . What can you say??? It was the usual good year for Kappa.

Founded at Monmouth College—1867.

Established at Newcomb—1891.

Successful social season—swinging pledge class (it was either sink or swing) welcomed at the traditional pledge banquet; weekly luncheons at the house resulted in fewer members; Mother-Daughter Tea showed the Pi Phis to be real ladies and then there was the Spring Formal . . .

Busy in various campus activities—Class Presidents, Lynn Farwell and Ann Fothergill—Carol Boren, President of Barracudas—Warren House President Jackie Hestwood—Sandy Groves, Freshman Cheerleader.

It was a great year . . . the Arrows hit straight and true.

"Then she said . . ."

A WORD TO

College seniors and graduate students

You are on the threshold of one of the most exciting and important phases of your life . . . your career. Your reward for many hours of study will be a good position in your chosen field of endeavor. In other words, your future is unlimited. Why not protect it NOW?

PACE, Pan-American's College Estate plan, was designed just for you seniors and graduate students, to provide a fair amount of life insurance protection at an age when you benefit from lower rates. This is protection that will grow with you. And, we can guarantee that in future years we will sell you additional coverage regardless of health or occupational hazards.

Yes, we know you don't have funds enough to buy life insurance while in school. Most of us at Pan-American Life remember our undergraduate days when money was a scarce item. That's why we have built into the PACE plan a special deferred payment arrangement. It allows you to purchase a nominal amount of life insurance with the premium payment coming due after graduation, when you are located in that first big job.

There's a Pan-American agent near you. Why not give him a call, or write to our Special Plans Department in New Orleans for complete details of our unique PACE plan.

Owner of Arnaud's Restaurant, daughter of the late Count Arnaud, founder of the restaurant that bears his name, as well as creator of many famous Creole and French dishes famed throughout the world.

ARNAUD'S—Selected the best restaurant of the South for the 2000th anniversary of the founding of the City of Paris.

Few are the people who set foot on the sidewalk of New Orleans who do not seek to learn the location of Arnaud's and forthwith journey there to enjoy this famous cuisine. After partaking of a notable meal, guests frequently ask the derivation of a particular dish: "Is it French?" "Is it Spanish?" The answer is that it is a combination of the wizardry of the French with the art of Spanish to make Arnaud's masterpieces.

JOSEPH MERRICK JONES

AUGUST 30, 1903

MARCH 11, 1963

... "He brought to his Tulane trusteeship role the same kind of imaginative leadership that had characterized his dynamic career as an attorney, businessman, and civic benefactor. He employed his many talents in the advancement of the deeper interests of Tulane, and to say that he always gave generously and freely of himself would be an understatement. It would be more accurate to say that he always did more than the maximum expected of him in everything he undertook.

"Encouraged by his own tireless effort and his confident attitude, the university surged forward to the acceptance of the challenges of greatness, incorporating his always optimistic view of its own destiny.

"New Orleans and the nation have truly lost a great civic leader."

Dr. Herbert E. Longenecker
President
The Tulane University of Louisiana
