

94

John K. Toole
Age 15 (3)
Biggest News
Oct. 27, 1952

Think, America!

Now that the last decisive days are closing in, the fury of the campaign is becoming even greater. Many conclude that it will be a weighty problem to choose the one candidate marked for victory. Veteran campaigners are utilizing every possible moment remaining to publicize their party's candidate and to instill among the voters a spirited avoidance of their opponent.

Pollsters appear baffled to predict a winner, inasmuch as both parties are almost equally strong in 1952. While many clamor for a change in the present government, others are staunch supporters of the present régime claiming that to it we owe the rise from the great economic slump to today's financial stability.

Statistics show that the Republicans may have a healthy chance of securing the young vote. For the first time in twenty years the Democrats are perturbed with the fact that the ~~west~~ South is not completely "solid." This is the Republicans' greatest opportunity to win in the Democrats' dominating score of years.

The farm and labor groups have pledged their allegiance to Stevenson and the party which changed them overnight. Rural areas ~~state~~ ^{state}

That only those with "mighty poor memories" would vote Republican, for the farmer of 1932 is a miserable comparison to the one of 1952.

Labor owes its current supremacy to the party now in Washington. It is fully cognizant of the fact that a change in party doubtless will mean an abrupt reversal in its own makeup.

Foreseeing citizens of the world are hoping that an alert and thinking America, with the help of God, will select an astute and dynamic leader.

Get the correct heading.
Put it on the upper left-hand side.

If you write this, write on alternate lines, if you type, double space.

Josephine Forbodings.

name	dad
Age	instructor
home adress school	