AUBURN NEXT!

The Greenies meet a traditional rival in Auburn next Saturday, a hammer-and-tongs affair that always thrills.

Last year, the teams met in one of the few postponed games in the history of football, played on Monday after torrential rains had made the regularly scheduled game out of question. The result was the second scoreless tie in successive years.

Auburn comes to the Stadium this fall rated as one of the "Big Three" of the Southeastern Conference, virtually an even chance pick with Alabama and L.S.U. for the championship.

Coach Jack Meagher has a veteran team returned, sprinkled with a few standout sophomores.

Tulane's young team, supported by a squad largely made up of sophomores, will be a decided underdog in the contest.

Yet, the history of Auburn-Tulane games assures action and the unexpected.

HAIL PIGSKIN:

Pigskin, the oval king of the autumn months, is with us once again, all decked out to make a big year of it for the short duration of his stay. Beginning this week this country of ours will be all eyes and ears on the current football season. And, from advance indications we are in for a top-notch period of gridiron sport.

Getting closer to home we find the Tulane Green Wave starting out for the third year of Red Dawson's regime as head coach. The Wave is taking on the toughest schedule yet and the boys will really have their hands full trying to keep on the right side of the won and lost ledger. Dawson is using only 38 varsity men to represent the Wave, the smallest squad in many years, but in this game it isn't always the numbers that count, except those at the end of the contest. Red and his staff have been hard at it in an attempt to get the club ready for the opener today, against what may prove to be a first class hard nut, the Clemson Tiger. Injuries are playing their usual low-handed role in the regular work-outs, and have succeeded in leaving the team with several tackles and backs on the uncertain list.

Last year's encounter between the Green and the Bengal of Clemson was none too easy for the Tulane lads as they won by the very close score of 7-0. The game today may be every bit as close, and if Tulane comes off on top they should be headed in the right direction. The Wave will take the field with a team composed of several extra fancy backs, some veteran aces in the line, and a sprinkling of untried sophs. What these sophs do will in a large way determine the team's success or lack of it for the coming year. Tulane will be heavy this season with an unusually big line. Behind this are a number of swell ball carriers who are good enough to give the best of opponents fits if they can get beyond the 'ole line of scrimmage. If one were to try and sum up the team at present, he could do much worse than say that it is a good deal of an unknown quantity. There are men on the eleven who have earned their places through first class performances, and they are almost certain of coming through. But no one ever knows what a sophomore will do when he faces the whistle for the first time in his varsity career.

CONFERENCIANA:

And now let us look at the rest of our league members, the other schools that with Tulane make up the Southeastern Conference, one of the best and toughest in the land. The feature point at this time is the number of new coaching set-ups throughout the circuit. Exactly three of the larger schools have changed head mentors of their grid teams, namely, Ole Miss, Miss. State, and Georgia. Thus ten of the former men are back on the job at their old stands. The three new positions are at schools well known for their athletic might so the respective gentlemen have their jobs cut out for them.

Harry Mehre, old Tulane nemesis, and the University of Georgia discontinued relations, and now Mehre is head man at Ole Miss. In order to replace him the Bulldog school has hired the capable Joel Hunt to handle the job. Hunt was former top backfield coach under Bernie Moore at Louisiana State. Another former L.S.U. man, Spike Nelson, is the new head coach at Miss. State. Nelson was line mentor at the Ole War Skule. Thus two institutions saw fit to replace their coaches with members of the L.S.U. staff, which may help to explain why the Tigers have been so powerful in the grid wars for the past several years. You can bet that Bernie Moore will miss the services of those gentlemen.

As is always the custom at this time of the year, everyone tries to let you know who he thinks is going to win the crown for the season. So this scribbler won't try to be much different, except that he isn't going to make any definite choices. Just a few remarks after glancing over the expert opinion of the press.

Alabama, L.S.U., and Vandy look like three tough clubs. The Tide is biting off a big piece this week in the battle with the Trojans on the Pacific coast, but Frank Thomas has another fighting 'Bama team at the Capstone. The Louisiana Tiger will be strong, but this corner can't see them repeating all of the wins of last year. Loss of several outstanding stars coupled with the loss of the above mentioned coaches won't help them much. Yet anyone who counts the Bengal out is in for a rude awakening. And from right here we think the team to beat in this league is none other than the Commodores of Vanderbilt. Ray Morrison had one of the Circuit's better teams last year, the only one in the south to whip L. S. U. Now he is back with an experienced outfit. His schedule is good and not too hard. With a fair amount of breaks the Commodores will finish just about on top.

Tennessee, Tech, Tulane, and Auburn should all be good. They won't win the championship, but the favorites are going to be in for some tough afternoons when they engage these clubs. Florida is said to be improved, as is also Georgia. The two Mississippi schools, Kentucky and Sewanee are somewhat unknown quantities. All in all the football fan in this neck of the woods is in for a period of mighty interesting Saturdays.

INTRODUCING THOMAS G. CLEMSON

By Joe Sherman

There are a lot of things that a lot of you do not know about Clemson College, the home of those football playing Tigers you see prancing around out there on the field, and there is no better time to become acquainted with your enemies than on the day of the battle.

So we'll convert Tulane Stadium into a temporary classroom and hold the first history lesson of the 1938 football season.

Clemson is the state college of South Carolina, thus corresponding to Louisiana's L. S. U. It is the realization of Thomas G. Clemson's late nineteenth century dream to provide South Carolina with a first class institution of scientific learning. Primarily Clemson is an agricultural and engineering college, though in late years the departments of textiles, chemistry, vocational education, pre-medicine and general science have forged rapidly to the front.

Its student body numbers a record breaking total of 2,000 all men students for the 1938-39 college year. Clemson is a seven-day-a-week military school. Cadets wear uniforms the year 'round, they sling the regulation Army Springfield around with absolute ease. The military department is under the jurisdiction of U. S. Army officers and high ranking cadets bear the titles of Colonels, Captains and Lieutenants.

Clemson's president is Dr. E. W. Sikes, a graduate of Wake Forest College in North Carolina and former president of Coker College for Women at Hartsville, South Carolina. J. C. Littlejohn is manager of Clemson's business affairs and Colonel Charles W. Weeks is Commandant of Cadets.

Athletically spaking Clemson is a member of the Southern Conference and boasted one of the finest all-year 'round records of the year in 1937. In football the Tigers won two games, tied one and lost none. As boxers the Bengals won the Southern Conference crown, placing individual championships with Captain Russell Dorn and sophomore Harvey Ferguson. On the basketball court in Raleigh last February Duke University defeated Clemson 40 to 30 for the Conference championship. Banks McFadden, that elongated youngster running around with the Clemson backs this year, was an All-Southern forward.

Take a better glance at Tiger No. 22. He is Charlie Woods, Clemson captain and All-Southern Conference center of 1937.

A word about the Clemson Senior Platoon, unchallenged champions of fancy drill exhibitions in the country. They will parade at the half and if there is a person in the stands who has seen better, Clemson would like to know about it. A competitive drill would be very much to their liking.

Leading the Platoon this year is Cadet Colonel Hoyt Bookhart, a senior from Orangeburg, South Carolina. Those boys are 45 hand-picked drillers from a student body of 2,000 cadets that drill three days a week, nine months a year, plus a six-week R. O. T. C. camp stretch for the juniors. They are literally the cream of the crop.

A few points to observe: Very often the platoon will go through "silent maneuvers." That is, the leader will stop in midfield and the platoon will continue down-field, counting silently each step; suddenly half will go one direction, half another. Eventually they will come back together in perfect step. Later they will go through the manual of arms without a command from Colonel Bookhart. If possible listen carefully to Bookhart's commands. Often he gives six or eight commands in one breath. It is then up to each individual to remember them in the order given and execute them accordingly. One misstep may throw the entire Platoon out of whack; but those boys haven't time for a misstep.

Back to football for a moment. The Tigers are coached by Jess Neely, former Vanderbilt University star, later head coach at Southwestern and still later assistant to Coach Wallace Wade at Alabama. Since 1931 he has been directing Clemson's athletic destiny. The line is coached by Frank Howard, a guard on Alabama's 1931 Rose Bowl team; the ends by Joe Davis, former Southwestern star flankman, and the backs by Covington McMillan, one of Clemson's immortals.

It should be a great game we see this afternoon, folks, and you can lay your last dime on the line that Clemson's Tigers will make it the best possible.

Postscripts . . . .

Tulane's frosh football team opens the season next Friday night at Hammond in the "Strawberry Bowl," meeting the varsity of Southeastern College.

* * * *

Rufus C. Harris had the members of the Clemson drill platoon as his personal guests at luncheon today at the Tulane cafeteria.

* * * *

C. W. "Mickey" O'Brien, live-wire Mississippi State alumnus in New Orleans, is chairman of the "Mississippi Day" affair to be held in New Orleans the same day (October 29) the Maroon meets the Green Wave in football. O'Brien predicts 15,000 Mississippians will be here for the occasion which is also Tulane's homecoming.

* * * *

D. H. Holmes Company had the Clemson platoon as dinner guests last night.

Fans buying season tickets at Tulane home football games this fall really had a bargain. Their season ticket, midfield location, cost 'em $10.22 plus tax which amounts to less than $1.50 a game net and in addition they get a program without additional cost at each game and preference on Tulane-L.S.U. tickets.

* * * *

The Auburn Alumni chapter of New Orleans has planned a big affair at Kolb's Friday night, welcoming the Auburn coaches and whooping it up for the annual Plainsmen-Greene game.

* * * *

Friends of that erudite demon dopest of football, Colonel David Dabster Dingelhoff, will be wowed to know that the old gentleman is now ensconced high in the Carpathian mountains, looking over the developments in the European crisis. His pigskin forecasts will be missing this fall. Last reports to his lovely secretary, Prucilla Pimpernel, from the Colonel read:

"Crisis passed. Am now busy building miniature golf course with gold fish ponds for water hazards. Course ideally laid out for such long range hitters as "Doc" Smith and "Fats" Dufour. Regards to Willie Keefe and the gang."

As soon as our old friend, Jim Menefee, heard of the Colonel's retirement, he immediately signed to try his expert hand at picking 'em for you. (See page 42.)

Mr. Deke Houlgate of Los Angeles, with a slide rule in one hand and popcorn in the other, picks Washington's Huskies and Dartmouth's Indians as most likely to win the national title . . . Elmer Layden is now limited to 22 scholarships at Notre Dame. Rockne used to get 60 . . . Gil Dobie has a sophomore tackle who is 6 feet, 4 inches, weighs 268 . . . Arkansas has an end who is 6 feet, 8 and weighs 220.

They're saying in Los Angeles that either Bernie Bierman or "Bo" McMillan will be head coach at U. C. L. A. next year . . . "Greasy" Neale, assistant coach at Yale, got his nickname back in the days when he was a halfback. He was that slippery . . . George Munger, Pennsylvania's new head coach, is going to personally handle the duties of trainer. He believes he can handle the conditioning more to his satisfaction. Fritz Crisler tried it while head coach at Princeton and found it an awful headache.

Don't look now, folks, but that four-man line coming up this fall is Brown. The Bears used it last year to beat Columbia and will try it again some Saturday.

Auburn's Plainsmen and the Tulane Greenies figure to offer something in the way of a football fashion show next Saturday as well as a rootin' tootin' football game. The Plainsmen have raided the solar spectrum to bring up a uniform spangled in green, orange and blue which should please an Irishman of Cork or Belfast. Tulane's green satin pants, green jerseys, green headgears and white satin numbers will be nifty enough.

Whizzer White isn't the highest paid pro football star. Sam Baugh gets the most dough . . . And White didn't get 15 grand but actually got 10 . . . Joseph Farrar Smith, known in football at Mercer a decade or more ago as "Phoney" and one of the greatest halfbacks anybody ever put the glimmers on, was an umpire in the Florida State League this past summer . . . The Pacific Coast Conference doesn't permit football practice until September 8 but Southern Cal's Trojans took a vacation in the high Sierras. Not a squawk though because not one football was carried along, just an outing.

The real dean of Southern football is Walter Johnson of little Presbyterian College in South Carolina . . . Twenty-five years at the same stand and still going strong. (Last fall, Time Magazine termed Wallace Wade dean of Dixie Coaches.)

The Notre Dame-Army game, scheduled for October 29, was a sellout August 23 . . . The valve idea, in footballs and basketballs, is patented by Irl Tubbs, Iowa head coach. Incidentally, Ernie Nev-ers is Tubbs' new assistant . . . The longest football scoring play of last year was made by Ray Hapes, Ole Miss back, who ran 103 yards.

They're saying in Atlanta that Johnny Bosch, a freshman at Georgia Tech, weighing 125 pounds may prove to be another "Shorty" Roberts, a 135 pounder, who was Tech's offense for three years. In an all-star high school game recently, Bosch was not only the running star but the standout blocker.

No Notre Dame player ever wears number 77. Reserved in honor of "Red" Grange, the Urbana ghost who made it famous . . . Lou Little has added a new term to the football vocabulary. "Reverts." It means any quick change in the routine, as called by a quarterback, to meet unexpected conditions such as a sudden change in the opponent's defense.

A black and white photograph of several football players sitting on a bench. They are wearing dark jerseys with light-colored numbers. The player in the foreground has the number '44' on his jersey. They appear to be looking towards the left of the frame.

The Southeastern Conference

The above illustration indicates the membership and location of the thirteen schools that compose the comparatively new Southeastern Conference. These universities were formerly a very important part of the unwieldy Southern Conference, but withdrew in order to form a more compact group. Today the Big Thirteen, as the S. E. C. is often called, holds a top spot among the major football leagues in the nation.

Cut out the above drawing, and when a team suffers defeat, mark through its flag, and when the season is over only the white flag of the undefeated teams will remain — if any team goes through without a reverse this year.

TULANE FOOTBALL THUMBNAILS

Thumbnail sketches of Tulane Green Wave football players who'll probably see action in major games:

CAPTAIN RAY MILLER—One of Dixie's finest tackles. Home, New Orleans. Lived in Central America as a boy. Third year as regular tackle. Weight 207. Aggressive, fast. Natural leader.

MILLARD WHITE—Probably finest all-around athlete of Tulane University. Broke into football line-up as sophomore last November, was regular from there until end of season. Home, Arkansas City, Kas. Southeastern Conference shot and discus champion. Goes into backfield for major share of punting when Stan Nyhan, quarterback, isn't in game. Weight 216.

BILL KIRCHEM—Tulane tackle. Home, New Orleans. Weight, 216. Probably fastest lineman in America. Won both 100 and 220 in varsity track meet against Alabama last Spring. Second year on team.

BERNIE SMITH—Rated one of finest centers ever at Tulane. Weight, 204; second year on varsity. Plays fast roving game on defense, back of six-man line. Aggressive. Home, Clarksdale, Miss.

CARL DAILEY—Guard. Home, Canal Zone. Weight, 191. Fast, aggressive type. Second year on varsity.

CLAUDE GROVES—Guard. Home, Fort Smith, Arkansas. All-Southern prep center before coming to Tulane. Sophomore. Probably will alternate at center with Bernie Smith in addition to guard play. Weight, 201.

GEORGE CLAY—Sophomore. Guard. Fast. Weight, 201. Home, Meridian, Miss.

RALPH WENZEL—End. Home, Tucker, Arkansas. Weight, 201. Second year on varsity. Fast, good defensive man. Sings in A cappella choir among other student activity interests.

PETE GOLOMB—Sophomore. End. Home, Oshkosh, Wis. Weight, 202. Suffered a broken leg last fall before season opened and was out for year.

PAUL KRUEGER—Quarterback. Home, Gary, Ind. Rated as number one field general. Weight, 173. Second year on varsity.

STANLEY NYHAN—Quarterback. Home, Waterloo, Iowa. Second year varsity. Weight, 170. Best punter on squad.

RALPH BOND—Quarterback. Weight, 180. Home, New Orleans. Third year on varsity. Fair punter and passer.

"BRONCHO" BRUNNER—Tulane left halfback. Triple threat. One of finest ball carriers in South last season. Third year on varsity. Home, New Orleans. Weight, 180.

"BUDDY" BANKER—Tulane left halfback. Weight, 195. Triple threat. Broke into line-up as sophomore middle of last season. Scored six touchdowns, threw two touchdown passes. Home, Lake Charles, La. Brother of all-American halfback Bill Banker of 1929 Tulane team.

BOB KELLOGG—Tulane left halfback. Home, Wynne, Ark. Weight, 163. Junior college transfer from Northeast Center, Monroe, La. High point scorer of U. S. last year.

MONETTE BUTLER—Tulane fullback. Weight, 179. Home, Oak Grove, La. Second year on team.

LEONARD SAUER—Tulane fullback. Weight, 185. Home, Kildare, Okla. Second year on team.

ALMA MATER

Sing these words as Tulane's Alma Mater is played

I.

We praise thee for thy past, O Alma Mater!
Thy hand hath done its work full faithfully!
The incense of thy spirit hath ascended
And filled America from sea to sea!

II.

We praise thee for thy present, Alma Mater!
Today thy Children look to thee for bread!
Thou leadest them to dreams and actions splendid!
The hunger of their soul is richly fed!

III.

We praise thee for thy future, Alma Mater!
The vista of its glory gleameth far!
We ever shall be part of thee, great Mother!
There thou wilt be where e'er thy children are!

CHORUS:

Olive Green and Blue, we love thee!
Pledge we now our fealty true
Where the trees are ever greenest,
Where the skies are purest blue!
Hear us now, O Tulane, hear us!
As we proudly sing to thee!
Take from us our hearts' devotion!
Thine we are, and thine shall be!

TIME OUT

An Englishman, an Irishman, and a Scotsman were having lunch together. "By the way, did either of you go to Smythe's wedding?" inquired the Englishman. "I wasn't able to, but I sent him a dinner service set for twelve people."

"I wasn't there, either," said the Irishman, "but I sent a tea set for twenty-four people. Were you there, McTavish?"

"No, I couldn't get there, but I sent him a pair of sugar tongs for a hundred people."

"Hello! This is long distance. I have a call for you from Miami."

"Hello! This is Ben. Listen, Jack, I'm stranded here and need $100."

"Something must be wrong with the 'phone."

"I want $100."

"Something must be wrong with the connection."

Operator: "I can hear it O. K."

"Well, you give him the $100."

The banker was questioning the Negro applicant for a chauffeur's job.

"Are you married?" the banker asked.

"Nawsah, boss," replied the applicant, "nawsah; Ah makes mah own livin'."

"Have you ever earned a dollar in your life?" thundered the judge to the vagrant.

"Yes, Your Honor," came the reply. "I voted for you in the last election."

"I see that an explorer in the Congo has discovered a new tribe, the men of which beat the ground with sticks."

"Dear, dear! Fancy golf spreading to Central Africa!"

Tourist: "I've come here for the winter."

Californian: "Well, you've come to the wrong place. There's no winter here."

Customer: "You know that music stool you sold me?"

Shopkeeper: "Yes."

Customer: "Well, I've twisted and turned it in all directions, but I can't get a single note out of it."

Madam: "The Browns say we serve a stingy table."

Maid: "Don't mind them, ma'am. They're just repeating what everybody else says."

Smith had been pestered by his small son asking questions. One evening, as he sat down to a quiet perusal of his paper, a small voice piped, "Dad, am I made of dust?"

"I think not," said the father; "otherwise you would dry up now and then."

I had decided to take the furnished flat.

Landlady: "Of course I must ask you for a deposit."

Myself: "Certainly" (handing over the required sum).

Landlady (beaming): "Thanks. And now, do you want a receipt, or shall we trust one another?"

First Salesman: "What is your greatest ambition?"

Second Salesman: "A room with twin beds in every hotel room."

First: "But why twin beds?"

Second: "That would make just the right amount of blankets for one bed, from my experience."

The Vicar: "I want to speak to you, Fishner, about the milk you've been delivering lately—we don't require it for christenings."

"So you're studying at a school of political science?"

"Yes, we're now on the handling and kissing of babies."

Green: "You must be keen on the talkies, old boy, to go twice a week."

Howarth: "It's not that exactly. You see, if I don't go regularly I can't understand what my children are saying."

G-Man: "Got away, has he? Did you guard all the exits?"

County Constable: "Yes, but we think he must have left by one of the entrances."

Two men were seated in a crowded tramcar. One, noticing that the other had his eyes closed, said: "Bill, are yer feelin' well?"

"I'm all right," said Bill, "but I do 'ate to see ladies standing."

Returned Missionary: "In Africa many of the natives wear almost nothing."

Miss Prude: "Mercy! It's a good thing Africa is a Dark Continent."

"Have you any knowledge of the silk and satin departments?"

"Spent all my life in them, sir."

"And what about sheets and blankets?"

"Born among them, sir."

Young Man: "Darling, you look beautiful in that dress."

Young Lady: "Really; it is my twenty-first birthday present from dad."

Young Man: "Really, dear? And it's still in fashion."

The "machine" had made a clean sweep of the election. "I'd almost be willing to bet that we beat them two to one," said one of the politicians.

"Yes," said another; "I wish now we had counted the votes and seen."

Night Club Staff:

Manager: "I want you to remember, gentlemen, there is no cover charge here. The price of $1.00 for each hot dog includes everything—even the mustard."

"Both our sons are studying in Paris. Mine is going in for art; what is yours doing?"

"He wants to be a writer."

"Indeed. And is he doing anything in that line?"

"Yes, quite a lot. He writes for money nearly every week."

"H'm, then we're pretty much in the same boat. My son, as I said, is going in for art, and regularly draws on me."

A little Scotch boy, having become an uncle at the age of four, was taken to see the new baby.

"What's she saying, Sandy?" asked his sister, as the infant made the usual gurgling noises.

Sandy cast a wary and inquiring eye round the room and then replied: "It sounds like, 'Gie Sandy an apple'."

Helen: "Winnie has a very difficult role in the show the dramatic society is giving."

Joan: "Difficult? Why, she hasn't a word to say."

Helen: "Well, what could be more difficult for her?"

"What'll happen if your invention doesn't work?"

"Well, old man, I'll have to."

Young bride (seeking advice): "What does your husband like for dinner?"

Experienced Housewife: "Oh, almost anything that I haven't in the house."

She: "I'd like some soap, please."

He: "We have just the thing for that delicate peach blossom complexion—"

She: "Oh, it's not soft soap I wanted."

Political Speaker: "Is there anyone in the audience that would like to ask a question?"

Small Boy: "When's the band going to play?"
