ZIMMERMAN WAS THERE

While it is hard to single out a football player from a fighting machine, it is not amiss to comment on the versatility and form shown by Don Zimmerman, Tulane halfback, in the Green Wave's opening game last Saturday.

The statistics speak more conclusively than we can. The Flying Dutchman carried the ball 22 times and reeled off 139 yards. He was the leading ground gainer of the day and his average of 6 yards was twice that of any other back on the field. He was a constant threat and Chuck Smalling, Ole Miss. backfield coach and former star fullback of Stanford, declared Zimmerman was one of the greatest backs he had ever seen.

Harold Lemmon, Charlie Calhoun, Louis Boasberg, Jim Hodgins and John Scafide were other Greenies who stood out in the Wave's 31 to 0 victory.

BURNS PUTS OVER A KAYO

Jimmy Burns, sports writer of the Atlanta Georgian is a real prophet.

Here is his prediction, made last Friday on the Duke-South Carolina game:

"It is something out of the ordinary to be picking a Wallace Wade coached team to lose. But Wallace lacks the material at Duke, and in football, players and not systems count. Bill Laval had the best freshman team in the Carolinas last year, and, in addition, has strengthened his coaching staff. Also, Billy brings his team along fast. It is rarin' to go, and is likely to repeat last year's upset, but will hardly duplicate the 22 to 0 score."

Mr. Burns couldn't have scored a bull's eye more decisively if he had the power to see into the future and count touchdowns days ahead. As far as we can find, Jimmy was the only expert to predict a South Carolina victory.

Laval, however, has always been noted for his ability to produce an early season winner.

It may be recalled that in 1928, Laval's second year at South Carolina, that the Gamecocks licked

Chicago in the season opener, trimmed Virginia at Charlottesville a week later and then rapped Maryland over. They blew after that and Clemson beat 'em, 32 to 0, while they were pasted on numerous other occasions.

Billy may have the reserve strength to ward off such catastrophes this year though.

GIVE THE AGGIES A BIG HAND

The Texas Aggies, our guests today, are as fine sportsmen as you'll ever meet.

They have no alibi when they lose yet they battle as hard as any team in the country for a victory.

Matty Bell for two years has been as wonderful in defeat as any man could be. He was the first to congratulate the victor and then started thinking a year ahead.

They are here today determined as usual. Give the Aggie team a big hand when they come on the field.

A special train load of Texans are here with their team. Let them know you respect them and are glad to see them.

Morgan Blake, sports editor of The Atlanta Journal and Bill Rollow, sports writer of The Nashville Tennessean, came down to see Tulane beat Ole Miss. Both left with the highest praise for Zimmerman and Bierman's potentially great team.

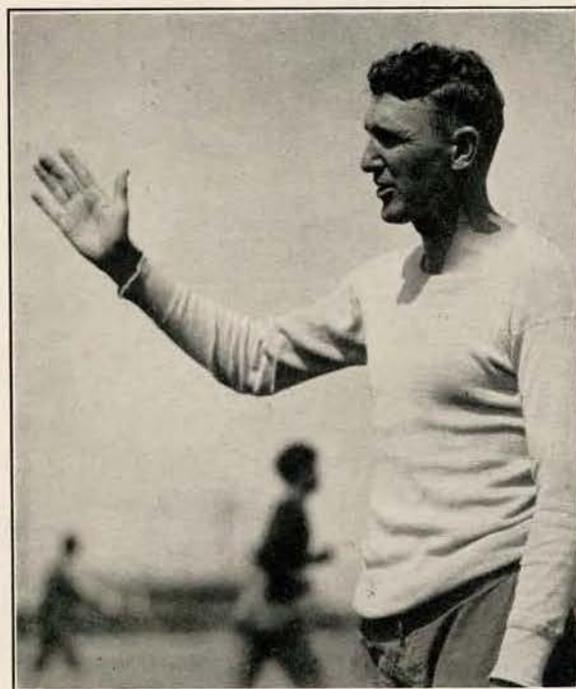

Children of all orphanages of New Orleans were the guests of Tulane at the Ole Miss. game last week and hundreds of these kiddies romped out on the field to surround the Greenies at the conclusion of the game.

Tulane and South Carolina are tied for the Southern Conference leadership at this time, each having a standing:

What Makes Green Wave Wave?

By Wm. McG. Keefe
Sports Editor Times-Picayune

Like all teams that are drilled in the "shift" system of football which was made popular at Minnesota, teams of Bernie Bierman do not "arrive" until they have learned their lessons well. And for that reason Coach Bierman of the Green Wave never asks his boys to attempt plays that require intense study and practice until they know those plays well enough to execute them almost as perfectly as they can be executed.

Perhaps you have seen, during some game early in the season, a Bierman-coached Tulane team try a few plays that hadn't been learned so well—plays that should not have been attempted until they were down pat? They looked messy, didn't they? And the chances are Bernie Bierman cussed softly to himself on the bench. Because no doubt he had ordered the boys to stick to stuff they knew and he therefore would disapprove of seeing the team "go off half cocked," as it were.

But let a Tulane team study its lessons well; let it try nothing haphazard and then let it suddenly, in one game, unfold itself on difficult plays which have been learned well and practiced, and what a revelation?

Such a spectacle was furnished year before last when Georgia Tech's Golden Tornado, coming here cocksure of Tulane's scalp, was shown a class of attack that was as bewildering to the Yellow Jackets as it was beautiful to look at from the stands. In this writer's memory that game and two other games stand out as the classiest pieces of football work he ever saw.

One was Mississippi A. and M.'s 14 to 6 victory over Tulane here in 1924; the other was Tulane's 18 to 7 triumph over Northwestern at Chicago in 1925. Two of those teams were coached by Bernie Bierman; the other was coached by Bernie's schoolmate, Clark Shaughnessy, both products of Minnesota—and the shift.

As a rule, it usually takes the entire fall practice and at least two weeks work after the season starts for a team to learn well the type of football Bierman teaches. That's why, in the past, you have seen Tulane teams start off rather slowly—raggedly in the first two or three games, perhaps—and then suddenly blossom out into smooth-working football machines.

And but for two things, one hardly could hope to see evidence of this polish showing up in this battle today with the Texas Aggies. Those two angles give us hope, however, and New Orleans football fans are leaning on that hope as the Aggies and Greenies prepare for battle at Tulane Stadium.

The first reason for hope is that spring football practice at which Bierman, with his mind on this fall's schedule, probably went a lot further in instruction and signal practice than he ever had gone in the spring.

Several regular games were played and when the Greenie camp called a halt, the foundation had been set for lots of learning this spring.

Reason No. 2 is the Mississippi game last Saturday. Tulane was given enough to do in that battle to exhaust all her preliminary stock of offensive plays and, with a grand squad to work with and the knowledge that the Texas Aggies are going to be dangerous, we haven't a doubt Bierman has cooked up a few new dishes for the Texans.

Prepare then, to see a flash or two of lightning today. Not the dazzling assortment of flashes that blinded Georgia Tech here in 1929, but a short sample of such brilliance.

Set yourself, too (if these bolts are loosed thus early in the season), to get a glimpse of the real Tulane Wave of 1931.

Maybe I'm wrong—maybe it won't be the team I think it will be.

But then again, maybe I'm right.

There goes the kickoff!

Tulane Athletic Review 1930-31

FOOTBALL

After winning the Southern Conference championship in 1929, the Greenies finished unbeaten and untied in 1930 and were co-champions with Alabama. The Wave lost one game, that to Northwestern at Evanston, Ill., 14 to 0. The Wildcats were co-champions in the Big Ten.

The Greenies defeated Georgia, Louisiana State, Georgia Tech, Texas A. & M., and Auburn among others.

Jerry Dalrymple, end, was the selection of Grantland Rice and the All-American board for their All-American teams.

TRACK

Tulane, for the first time in history, won the Southern Conference track and field championship. Coach Fritz Oakes' team led at Birmingham with 31 points, Virginia was second with 29 points, Alabama third and North Carolina fourth. The Greenies in dual meets overwhelmed Louisiana State, Mississippi A. & M., and beat Alabama in a close meet. Auburn was the only team to win from the Greenies in dual competition although Tulane won eight first places to five for the Plainsmen. Auburn's edge stood in second places.

Don Zimmerman was the hero of the track season, winning the Southern Conference pole vaulting event at the title meet and placing in the javelin event.

Later, Zimmerman set a new national junior A. U. pole vault record at 13 feet, 5 7/8 inches.

GOLF

Tulane won the Southern Conference golf championship at Athens, Ga., leading Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech, Georgia, Duke, Alabama and others. George Bush, Jesse Rainwater, Jr., Russell Welch and Shelby Friedrichs were the foursome to bring Tulane the team links title.

After finishing in fourth place in the first round of national golf championship at Chicago, only four strokes back of Yale, the Greenies with most of the other leaders cracked. They finished ninth in the national but ten or twelve other teams were back of them.

BOXING

Tulane finished second in the Southern Conference boxing championship, Virginia winning. North Carolina, Duke, Louisiana State, Florida and several others brought up the field. Doyle Hill, Tulane, won the Southern Conference heavyweight title. This title had been held the previous year by Jack Pizzano of Tulane.

The Greenies in dual meets won from Duke, Clemson, and Ole Miss. but lost to L. S. U., twice.

TENNIS

Tulane, losing Clifford Sutter, national intercollegiate champion of 1929-30, and Maurice Bayon, his championship doubles team mate, played the schedule with a sophomore team. They won, however, from Drake, Alabama, Louisiana State, and a number of others. The Greenies finished third in the Conference title meet held at New Orleans in May. They had won the singles and doubles titles the preceding two years.

SWIMMING

Joe Lienhardt, of the Tulane swimming team, won the 220 Free Style in the Southern Conference championship meet at Alabama. Harold Moise placed in the diving events at Atlanta.

BASKETBALL

Tulane's basketball team was an in-and-outer, mostly out. The Greenies lost three out of four to Louisiana State, two to Alabama, two to Sewanee, two to Auburn and split a two game series with Ole Miss.

*I*N MEASURED BEAT I hear your teams march by,
 Dim ghosts of yesterday, whose work is done;
 And where young April's blow should light the sky
 There is a shadow now across the sun.
 O, spirit brighter than the flaming ship
 That drove you downward on life's final trip.

First Eichenlaub—and then upon his way
 The brilliant Gipp careens above the turf,
 A flaring comet none might hold at bay
 As your front wall sweeps forward like the surf,
 And Johnny Mohardt flips a pass once more
 Where Anderson or Kiley wait to score.

And then among the old dreams that remain,
 That from the darkness shift and gather form,
 I see Four Horsemen ride across the plain
 And strike as lightning hurtles through the storm,
 And after this there comes the closing thrill
 Of Schwartz, Carideo, Savoldi, Brill.

And now the curtain falls. Yes, other teams
 Upon remembered fields will hold their sway;
 But will they bring the same far lasting dreams
 To span the sunset of an older day?
 What master brush will paint for weary eyes
 After a flame rode down the western skies?

HOTELS of the Dinkler Chain

From the tradition of the Old South, glows the flame of fellowship and hospitality that takes worldly praise and an envious place in the hearts of all who visit this section.

The upbuilding of superlative hotel accommodations is a natural consequence, having taken its ideals from the famous Wayside Inn, and the comfortable hospitality of the Colonial Days.

Even in this field of Southern Leadership, Dinkler Hotels mark four places of outstanding predominance. They are established with the aim of convenience to travelers, and are located in the leading commercial, industrial and railway centers of the South.

And in Atlanta, Birmingham, Nashville and Montgomery can be found the outstanding features which experienced travelers recognize as being distinctly Dinkler organization. Private bath and radio in all rooms, convenient garage connections, excellent cuisine in dining rooms and coffee shoppes at each hotel.

Make Dinkler Hotels your home.

ALMA MATER

Sing these words as Tulane's Alma Mater is played

I

We praise thee for thy past, O Alma Mater!
Thy hand hath done its work full faithfully!
The incense of thy spirit hath ascended
And filled America from sea to sea!

II

We praise thee for thy present, Alma Mater!
Today thy Children look to thee for bread!
Thou leadest them to dreams and actions splendid!
The hunger of their soul is richly fed!

III

We praise thee for thy future, Alma Mater!
The vista of its glory gleameth far!
We ever shall be part of thee, great Mother!
There thou wilt be where e'er thy children are!

CHORUS

Olive Green and Blue, we love thee!
Pledge we now our fealty true
Where the trees are ever greenest,
Where the skies are purest blue!
Hear us now, O Tulane, hear us!
As we proudly sing to thee!
Take from us our hearts' devotion!
Thine we are, and thine shall be!

"Hot air" roasting preserves its distinctive aroma and brings out its fresh, full flavor. Ask your grocer for the yellow tin.
