Ladd Memorial Stadium

Ladd Memorial Stadium, scene of today's game, is one of the most modern and best equipped stadia in the nation. Completed in 1948, Ladd Stadium was financed as a non-profit undertaking by a group of Mobile business interests and individuals who recognized the value of such a structure to the recreational, health and economic interests of the community. Dedicated on October 2, 1948, as a memorial to Ernest F. Ladd, prominent business and civic leader who served as president of the Merchants National Bank of Mobile from 1915 until his death in 1941, the structure is entirely debt free and is administered by a non-profit corporation directed by a board of seven trustees headed by the president of the Merchants National Bank.

Although used primarily by the City's high schools, the million-dollar 36 000 capacity stadium has been the scene of major collegiate football games involving such well known teams as Alabama, Auburn, Clemson, Florida, Louisiana State University, Tulane, Vanderbilt, University of Mississippi, Mississippi Southern and is the home of Mobile's Annual Senior Bowl game. During Spring and Summer months Ladd Stadium is the scene of such varied events as ice shows, rodeos, boxing matches, musical programs and other attractions for which adequate indoor facilities are not available. Since its dedication over a million people have attended various events in Ladd Stadium.
