Chère Madame Cordon Bleu,

Thank you for a delicious lunch. Your oyster dressing was magnificent and your remoulade a masterpiece of subtlety. You have many devotees, but thanks to you, I am sure I am the best fed and best dressed. I love my shirt and all the other things your generous heart has given me. I will treasure my copy of Boethius with your inscription. Confederacy will no doubt help the sales of the Consolation enormously and it would not surprise me if Penguin Books sent a detective to New Orleans to investigate the mysterious boom in sales.

I will be in touch shortly. Looking forward especially to our night on the town on the 10th!

Much love,

Joel
