Salute to Quality.

During the Brewers Association of America Convention held at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, in October, 1972, a panel of brewing experts taste-tested beer brands from all over the country. When the votes were counted, Jax was presented this Grand Award of the International Oktoberfest for taste and quality.

All of us at Jax are proud of this salute to the quality and taste of our product, and we pledge our assurance that we will continue to apply those high standards of excellence we use in our brewing process to produce only the highest quality beer for your enjoyment.

Tulane University

A university may be described in terms of cold facts and statistics. Thus Tulane has 6,000 full-time and 1,750 part-time students, from all states and some 60 foreign countries; a cosmopolitan faculty of about 800, trained in all leading universities of the United States and many foreign institutions; eleven degree-granting colleges and schools; has 45,000 alumni in all parts of the world; granted 2,016 degrees in the past year; has a 100-acre uptown campus, a downtown Medical Center, and three off-campus centers for research and training.

A university may be described in terms of its history. Since Tulane's founding 139 years ago its medical faculty and graduates have played a leading part in the transformation of the gulf plain from a region of pestilence to one of healthful living and salubrious resorts; its engineers have made possible the expansion of New Orleans onto reclaimed marshland; its architects have had profound influence on building styles of the region, its lawyers on the statutes and jurisprudence of Louisiana; many of its units and programs have been the first of their kind in areas ranging from a few states to the entire hemisphere.

A university may be described in terms of purposes and processes. Disraeli called it "a place of light, of liberty, and of learning;" or to paraphrase Thomas Jefferson, it should not be afraid to follow truth wherever it may lead, or to tolerate error so long as reason is left free to combat it.

In the pursuit of truth it has often been necessary to challenge old and respected concepts, from the anatomical doctrines of Galen to the economic principles of mercantilism, from the indestructibility of the atom to the intellectual inferiority of women.

Tulane is committed to the academic liberty necessary to foster light and learning, to pursue truth with reason always free to combat error. In this it heeds the admonition of St. Paul to the Thessalonians: "Test all things; hold fast that which is good."

Dr. Herbert E. Longenecker, President

How does it feel to go out a winner?

By Val Perkins

As the Tulane Football Team heads into its game with L.S.U., assured of a winning season and a post-season appearance in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl, the graduating members of this season's squad were asked to answer the following question:

"How Does It Feel To Go Out A Winner?"

Here are their responses:

Doug Bynum—I feel gratified that I have been part of a winning and successful tradition at Tulane. I hope that this feeling of winning and success will stay with me as I leave school; that it will be a beginning for me.

Gerry Chidester—Going out a winner gives me a great feeling of accomplishment. Being a winner is what everyone must strive for.

Coleman Dupre—It feels great to go out a winner, because you leave goals behind that others try to better, building better individuals out of all.

Mike Foley—Going out a winner gives me a feeling of gratification and fulfillment; of knowing that all the work and time I've given to football has been put into something measurable, winning.

Mahlon Harrell—It feels very gratifying to grasp such a tremendous sense of accomplishment and self-confidence which comes from my affiliation with an organization as successful as Tulane Football.

Ricky Hebert—It feels great to leave college after having been associated with such a winning spirit as we have had this season.

Doug Lawrence—I have always considered myself a winner. I am just glad that I am able to finish at school with such a great group as that which makes up the 1973 Tulane team.

Bryan Leblanc—To me, going out a winner means being able to stay a winner throughout my life.

Greg Nolan—It feels great to go out a winner. But I think that this team has gone out as winners all four years it has been at Tulane, and will continue to be a winning group because of its fine mental and physical abilities.

Mike Owens—Going out a winner is great, but I have never considered myself or the rest of this team anything but winners.

John Rokovich—It's a feeling like no other feeling. Just to be associated with winners is an honor in itself.

Roland Szubinski—It feels great going out a winner because a winning season helps build a great football tradition at Tulane, and helps me to build a better character and a winning outlook on things to come in the future.

Tom Thibodeaux—Leaving Tulane a winner gives me a feeling of accomplishment and self-confidence. I am now prepared to face the world with a winning spirit.

D.D. Thompson—Winning is the ultimate goal of any athlete, thus it gives me a great sense of accomplishment to go out a winner.

Mike Trapani—Going out a winner gives me a unique sense of accomplishment in an effort to succeed.

Virgil Vaughan—When a team is winning, there is nothing that bothers me, however when you lose, it is all that I can think about. Going out a winner gives me a feeling of surmounting all my troubles.

Steve Wade—Winning is the ultimate in self-satisfaction, both on and off the field. Leaving Tulane as a winner will give me this self-satisfaction and a goal that my teammates and I set as our standard when we were freshmen.

This is New Orleans ... and so is the Whitney.

The clang, clang, clang of the St. Charles trolley has been a part of the sounds of New Orleans for more than fifty years. Operating around the clock and around the calendar, in all kinds of weather, these dependable streetcars have endeared themselves to residents and visitors alike. For much longer, the Whitney has been serving the banking needs of New Orleanians, while helping to build a better city. Putting money to work to help New Orleans grow has been what our banking has been all about for ninety years. In doing so, the Whitney has become the bank that knows New Orleans, and that New Orleans knows best.

Songs and Cheers

Roll, Green Wave

Here's a song for the Olive and the Blue.
Here's a cheer for the team that's tried and true.
Here's a pledge of loyalty to thee,
O, Tulane Varsity.
Here's to the Greenbacks that never will say die,
And here's to the hearts that are true
To the men of Tulane, who are fighting for her name,
For the Olive and the Blue.

Roll, Green Wave, Roll them down the field.
Hold, Green Wave, that line must never yield.
When those Greenbacks charge through the line
They're bound for victory.
Hail, Green Wave, For you we give a cheer.
Hail, Green Wave, For you we have no fear.
So ev'ry man in ev'ry play,
And then we'll win that game today.
Hurrah for old Tulane!

(Chant to be used on second chorus)

Roll, Green Wave, Roll, Roll Green Wave
Hold Wave, Hold Wave, Hold, Green Wave.
Go— go— go get the tigers
Go win, go win, go win from the tigers.
Fight, fight, fight for T. U.
T. U., T. U., the Olive and the Blue,
T — — U — — Rah, Rah, Rah, Tulane.

The Star-Spangled Banner

Oh, say can you see by the dawn's early light
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars thru the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming.
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.
Oh, say does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

Alma Mater

We praise thee for thy past, O Alma Mater!
Thy hand hath done its work full faithfully.
The incense of thy spirit hath ascended
And filled America from sea to sea.

CHORUS—

Olive Green and Blue, we love thee
Pledge we now our fealty true
Where the trees are ever greenest,
Where the skies are purest blue.
Hear us now, O Tulane, hear us
As we proudly sing to thee!
Take from us our hearts' devotion!
Thine we are, and thine shall be!

Hullabaloo

A one, a two,
A helluva hullabaloo,
A Hu-la-ba-loo Ray-Ray!
Hu-la-ba-loo Ray-Ray!
Hoo-Ray! Hoo-Ray!
Vars, vars, tee-ay!
Tee-ay! Tee-ay!
Vars, vars, tee-ay!
Tulane!

Meet The Producers

As intense as the L.S.U.-Tulane rivalry is, this rivalry becomes even more intense within our Organization. The reason for this is the six men pictured here — three of whom played for L.S.U. and three who played for Tulane.

The Tulane men are Bill Zimmermann, Jim Besselman, and Wayne Francingues.

The L.S.U. men are Tom Besselman, Louis Cascio, and Chris Dantin.

The competitiveness that these men have developed through their participation in collegiate athletics is only one reason why our team — Besselman & Associates — is a winning one. These men, in addition to our other associates, have helped to establish our Agency throughout Louisiana as one of the leaders in the insurance industry.

We now have offices in New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Shreveport, Morgan City, Lafayette, New Iberia, Natchitoches, and Franklin. We are looking to add quality men in both sales and management in these areas. If a career in this rewarding profession appeals to you, contact us at 111 Rue Iberville, 4th Floor, New Orleans, Louisiana 70130 — Telephone 581-6743.

NCAA sponsors 33 national championships

The 1973-74 intercollegiate athletic season will mark the first time in history that the NCAA will hold national championships in three divisions. In addition to the first-ever championships in National Collegiate Division III, the coming season also marks the 90th anniversary for the National Collegiate Tennis Championship. This is the oldest National Collegiate Championship contested. It was held for the first time in 1883.

Two other firsts will occur in 1973-74. The NCAA will crown its first football champions in Divisions II and III, and lacrosse will be contested for a national championship in Division II for the first time.

The new divisional make-up of the Association, which was established at a Special Convention in August 1973, will increase in number the more than 7,500 student-athletes who now compete annually in NCAA-sponsored events. Through the years, over 6,100 competitors representing 234 institutions have earned the coveted title of "National Collegiate Champion." Following is the month-by-month schedule of NCAA championships which are slated for 1973-74.

NOVEMBER

- 10 Division II and III (16th and 1st) Cross Country to be held at Wheaton College in Wheaton, Illinois.
- 19 Division I Cross Country (35th) to be held at Washington State University in Spokane, Washington.
- 23-24 Water Polo (5th) to be held at California State University in Long Beach, California (one championship in water polo).

DECEMBER

- 6-8 Division II Soccer (2nd) to be held at Springfield College in Springfield, Massachusetts.
- 8 Division III Football (1st) to be held at the Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl in Phenix City, Alabama.
- 15 Division II Football (1st) to be held at the Camellia Bowl in Sacramento, California.

JANUARY

- 2-4 Division I Soccer (15th) to be held at the Orange Bowl in Miami, Florida (University of Miami, host).

MARCH

- 1-2 Division II Wrestling (12th) to be held at California State University in Fullerton, California.
- 8-9 Indoor Track (10th) to be held at Cobo Hall in Detroit, Michigan (University of Michigan, host; one championship in indoor track).
- 13-15 Division II Basketball (18th) to be held at the University of Evansville in Evansville, Indiana.
- 14-16 Division I Wrestling (44th) to be held at Iowa State University in Ames, Iowa.
- 14-16 Ice Hockey (27th) to be held at the Boston Garden in Boston, Massachusetts (Northeastern and Boston College, hosts; one championship in ice hockey).

- 21-23 Division II Swimming (11th) to be held at California State University in Long Beach, California.

Right; Dr. Robert H. Morris, chairman of the Tulane University Physics department, is surrounded by art and molecular models as he demonstrates the relationship between the two.

Math + Music + Physics

Light—sound—color. Are they art and music? Or Physics?

Both. And more, according to three "with it" professors at Tulane University who have combined a broad spectrum of talents into a physics department course on art and music.

In a burst of creative energy, the three have applied the basic laws of physics and physiology to music and art.

How does the eye see?

How does the ear hear?

What is light? What is sound?

The answers were supplied by:

Dr. Allen Hermann, a bearded, blue-eyed physics professor who also plays a hot trombone professionally with such notables as Al Hirt, Ronnie Kole, and the Dick Stabile Blue Room band.

By Dr. Robert Morriss, a vital, articulate Texan, artist, and chairman of the Tulane Physics Department, whose office vibrates with color and motion from a variety of startling paintings and mobile sculptures.

And by Dr. Fred Sears, a dapper, piano-playing, poetry-writing physiology professor in the Tulane school of Medicine.

Operating on the theory that human creativity is essential to both the scientist and the artist, the three set out to relate art and music to science.

"Mathematics and music, molecular models and art . . . they are all closely related," explained Dr. Morriss.

"The scientist, the artist and the musician are all looking for the same thing. They are searching for truth and beauty."

Dr. Morriss said that in the past two or three years "much of our effort in the Physics Department has been for non-science students and we've enjoyed the new challenge enormously."

Under their tutelage, students in the new course, "Physics in Music and Art," have constructed primitive musical instruments, magnetic sculptures, and a multitude of other ingenious creations.

Using light, the psychology of color, the theories of acoustics, sound waves and vibrations, students have added new dimensions to their understanding of art and music, according to the professors.

Explaining the relationship between art, music and science, as they relaxed in the colorful atmosphere of a physics office filled with art, the three men agreed that "the way the scientist does his research in many ways is the same as the way the artist paints . . . both operate from bursts of insight and intuition. form and a high order of predictability . . . if something is totally chaotic, it is not science and it is not art,"

Physics and mathematics, they have pointed out, have formed a basis for art and music throughout history.

As a prime example, Dr. Morriss cited the Divine Proportion . . . a mysterious mathematical proportion, also called "Phi," which crops up "in the strangest places."

"Phi has intrigued and puzzled scientists, philosophers and artists for thousands of years. It is the geometric proportion which, strangely, is most pleasing to the eye of the majority of people," Dr. Sears explained.

"Plato said Phi was the building block of the universe."

But, what is it?

The Pyramids have it. The Parthenon has it. So does Leonardo da Vinci's painting of "The Last Supper." The beautiful pre-historic and still existant shell-fish, the chambered nautilus, has Phi in exquisite perfection.

The musical scale is based on Phi. It is a recurring proportion of formula or theme in nature, in geometric design, in art, in architecture, the professors explained.

The Greeks understood full well how physics and art and music, and even architecture, blend and compliment each other . . . they are all parts of whole.

"It is the fullness of this knowledge that we are attempting to convey to our students in this physics course," they said.

1973-74 Basketball Outlook

New Tulane Basketball Coach Charles Moir has never had a loser in 21 years of coaching. Moir has six lettermen returning from last winter's 12-14 club, led by forward Dave Renfroe, who averaged 12.0 points per game after becoming a regular at mid-season. Other top returnees include playmaker Bruce Bolyard, who averaged 12.0 points as a sophomore and 7.9 last winter, and forward Jeff Morris, who canned 20.0 points as a soph and 5.8 last winter. Sophomore Phil Hicks, a 6-9 transfer from Long Beach State could be an asset as a newcomer, especially on the boards. "I think we have the makings of a fine team and we can't wait to get started," says Moir, who coached Roanoke College to a 133-44 mark the past six seasons, including an NCAA College Division Championship in 1971-72.

Tulane's broadcast team, with Bruce Miller (top), Lynn Michel (middle), and Wayne Mack.

Green Wave football will again be heard throughout the state on the Tulane Football Network, sponsored by Texaco.

The broadcast team will again have Bruce Miller on play-by-play, Wayne Mack on color, and Lynn Michel as the engineer.

In addition to the basic Texaco network, several Tulane games will be heard throughout the South on the "Pick of Dixie" through the auspices of the G. H. Johnston Agency in New York City.

Home base for the network will again be the 1280 spot on the dial in New Orleans, under the new call letters of WGSO radio.

The Green Wave Club of Tulane University

The Green Wave Club is devoted to the promotion and support of Tulane athletics. All contributions go directly to the Athletic Scholarship Fund for Tulane student-athletes.

The Club is organized within the framework of Tulane University and has its own officers and Board of Directors. The Green Wave Club satisfies all the requirements of Tulane University and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The Green Wave Club welcomes membership from those who attended Tulane, alumni of other universities, and those who did not have the privilege of higher education, but seek to provide that opportunity for others.

Since all operating and administrative costs are assumed by the University, your contribution is tax deductible. You can join now. Minimum contribution is ten dollars. Make your check payable to Tulane University, and designate "scholarships" in the lower left hand corner of the check. Send to: Green Wave Club, 6401 Willow Street, New Orleans, La. 70118.

Meet the Coaches

Don Jackson
Coach, Offensive Linemen

A former player and coach at Texas Christian University, Don Jackson directs Tulane's offensive linemen. Jackson served as recruiting co-ordinator, offensive co-ordinator, and offensive line coach at TCU from 1964 to 1970, and came to Tulane when Bennie Ellender assumed the head coaching duties. Jackson is a native of Texas, but was raised in Walters, Okla. An all-Southwestern Conference tackle at TCU, Jackson earned three varsity football letters. He began his coaching career in Wichita Falls, Tex. in 1962-63, serving as head football coach at Zundy Junior High and line coach at Wichita Falls High. He served in the Army National Guard from 1957 to 1965. Jackson and his wife, the former Wilma Gay Fowler, have two sons: Chad (3) and Brant (1).

INTRODUCING THE '74 VEGA GT. EVERYBODY LOVES A WINNER.

The 1974 Vega.

Improved. With a new nose and a new tail, new colors and new fabrics and several dozen mechanical modifications.

But we wouldn't change the most honored little car built in America, without good reasons. And behind every change is a sensible motive such as durability or security or economy.

There's even a good reason for the new style and the new colors.

Because even though the principal reason you buy a Vega is to save money—especially these days—you'd also like to have a little car you can spot in the parking lot.

And as you leave today, we're pretty sure you'll notice the new Vega. Why not visit your Chevy dealer's and try one out?

Vega honors include:

Car & Driver Readers' Choice, Best Economy Sedan, '71, '72, '73.
Motor Trend, Car of the Year, '71. Economy Car of the Year, '73 GT.
Motor Service & Service Station Management mechanic survey, Easiest Subcompact to Service, '72.

SEE WHAT IT'S LIKE TO DRIVE A WINNER.
