

1956 - 57

—Photo by The Times-Picayune.

THE JUNIOR PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY has elected these new officers. Seated is Mrs. Alvin Grevemberg, president. Standing are (from left) Mrs. Vernile Wynn, recording secretary; Mrs. William H. Gallmann, treasurer, and Mrs. Daniel W. Hayes, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Isidore Cohn, not pictured, was chosen vice-president.

Junior Philharmonic Society Officers

- Mrs. Alvin C. Grevemberg - President
- Mrs. Isidore Cohn - Vice-president
- Mrs. Daniel W. Hayes - Corresponding Secretary
- Mrs. Vernile Wynn - Recording Secretary
- Mrs. William H. Gallmann - Treasurer

THE JUNIOR PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY held the kickoff meeting for its ticket drive for the 1956-'57 season concerts. Displaying a poster to be used in the drive are, seated, from left, Mrs. Alvin Grevemberg, president, and Mrs. Ralph E. [unclear]

C' Est La Vie

BY LAURRAINE GOREAU

Nobody'll-Ever-Tell-Her Dept.: The dignified woman moving leisurely down Poydras, her hat's spiraling feather gyrating like a dervish, in a high wind.

* * *

FROZEN CANDY'S on its way. You can mark it on your grocery list in about a year, judging from progress of current experiments.

* * *

FEW SHARP notes and no flats were the score for Friday's first fall meeting of the Junior Philharmonic. . . . It's their 10th anniversary, so expect a big season. A major kickoff luncheon's being plotted, probably at the Orleans Club, says President Pat Grevemberg.

* * *

SPEAKING OF junior musicians . . . those jazzy youngsters who perked up Ciudad Trujillo last month at festivities honoring La Voz Dominicana, the national radio station . . . the NORD Dixielanders . . . are on tap for the homefolks this Monday night at The Roosevelt. . . . The Jazz Club will be jamming, and we hear visitors can sign in. One of the world's most enthusiastic jazz fans, oil pipeline engineer Russ Wait, is flying in from Houston to strum his banjo. . . . So the joint will be jumpin'.

Laurraine Goreau

* * *

THE VETERAN diplomat who's director of the Chilean exhibition opening Monday at the Trade Mart . . . Sergio