Tulane and the Community . . .

Dr. Longenecker

TULANE UNIVERSITY is an integral part of the New Orleans community.

The university's primary roles of education, research and service are largely focused on this area, affording opportunities for thousands of students of all ages to advance academically, contributing to the increase of knowledge, and providing a wide variety of community services, ranging from the upgrading of elementary education to the delivery of health services.

The university's programs and its calendar of events cover almost every aspect of life and make possible frequent interaction between the university family and its neighbors.

This gathering tonight is but one manifestation of this, offering not only recreation for thousands of persons but also a chance for visitors to see the obvious signs of Tulane's progress and to exchange views with students, faculty and staff about the university's mission and its impact on the community.

Athletic events bring visitors to the campus throughout the year.

And there are many other occasions.

Stage performances, concerts, lectures.

And, also, throughout the year, conferences, seminars and major conventions of scientific, professional and business organizations which attract to the campus not only persons from this area but visitors from many distant points.

Tulane, in fact, has become a core of many community interests—in art and the performing arts, in health and medicine, in science, law, engineering, architecture, business and education, to name but a few.

For whatever stimulus it does provide, Tulane is rewarded amply through the stimulation it, in turn, receives from the participation in its activities of so many from outside the university.

For the public's participation in all of these functions provide the leavening ingredient needed to enable Tulane to continue to improve in the accomplishment of its missions.

Dr. Clarence Scheps, Executive Vice President

Tonight's Game

Tulane, Tampa In First Meeting Tonight

Tulane will entertain Tampa's soaring Spartans tonight as the two institutions meet for the first time on a football field.

Tampa has ripped off two wins in its first two outings, while Tulane is still looking for its first victory.

Tampa owns victories of 18-7 over the University of California at Santa Barbara and 24-9 over the University of Akron. Tulane has dropped two decisions to a pair of Texas teams, losing to Houston, 54-7, and to Texas A & M, 35-3.

Spartan Head Coach Fran Curci is in his first year at the helm, but Curci is no stranger to Tulane. In the senior year of a brilliant quarterbacking career at the University of Miami, Curci led the 1959 Hurricanes to a 26-7 win over the Green Wave.

Building his team around 31 returning lettermen, Curci has already matched last year's victory total for the Spartans. Tampa was 2-7 in 1967.

Tampa is led by quarterback Del Gaizo, fullback Monk Coleman, and running back Leon McQuay. Del Gaizo and Coleman hooked up for six complete passes for 87 yards and two touchdowns at Santa Barbara.

The Spartans upended Santa Barbara after the Californians had battled perennially-tough Texas El Paso to a 14-14 tie a week earlier.

McQuay has racked up 270 yards on the ground in the Spartans' first two contests. He has two touchdowns to his credit and a sparkling 7.1 yard average.

Del Gaizo has completed 52 per cent of his passes, good for 343 yards and three touchdowns. His favorite targets have been Coleman and Joe Sliker, who has caught nine aerials for 81 yards and one TD.

Tulane will be trying to sharpen its scoring punch tonight. The Wave moved the ball effectively against a strong Texas A & M defense last week. Tulane moved inside the Aggie 15-yard line five times, but put only three points on the board.

Spirit at Tulane

Alma Mater

We praise thee for thy past, O Alma Mater!
Thy hand hath done its work full faithfully.
The incense of thy spirit hath ascended
And filled America from sea to sea.

CHORUS—

Olive Green and Blue, we love thee
Pledge we now our fealty true
Where the trees are ever greenest,
Where the skies are purest blue.
Hear us now, O Tulane, hear us
As we proudly sing to thee!
Take from us our hearts' devotion!
Thine we are, and thine shall be!

Hullabaloo

A one, a two,
A helluva hullabaloo,
A Hu-la-ba-loo Ray-Ray!
Hu-la-ba-loo Ray-Ray!
Hoo-Ray! Hoo-Ray!
Vars, vars, tee-ay!
Tee-ay! Tee-ay!
Vars, vars, tee-ay!
Tulane!

Roll, Green Wave

Here's a song for the Olive and the Blue.
Here's a cheer for the team that's tried and true.
Here's a pledge of loyalty to thee,
O, Tulane Varsity.

Here's to the Greenbacks that never will say die,
And here's to the hearts that are true
To the men of Tulane, who are fighting for her name,
For the Olive and the Blue.

Roll, Green Wave, Roll them down the field.
Hold, Green Wave, that line must never yield.
When those Greenbacks charge through the line
They're bound for victory.

Hail, Green Wave, For you we give a cheer.
Hail, Green Wave, For you we have no fear.
So ev'ry man in ev'ry play,
And then we'll win that game today.
Hurrah for old Tulane!

(Chant to be used on second chorus)

Roll, Green Wave, Roll, Roll Green Wave
Hold Wave, Hold Wave, Hold, Green Wave.
Go— go— go get the tigers
Go win, go win, go win from the tigers.
Fight, fight, fight for T. U.
T. U., T. U., the Olive and the Blue,
T — — U — — Rah, Rah, Rah, Tulane.

Tulane University is an educational institution deeply rooted in the past and reaching toward the future.

Founded in 1834 as the Medical College of Louisiana, Tulane today offers undergraduate programs in 30 areas of study, masters' degrees in 43 fields and the doctor of philosophy degree in 33 disciplines.

Courses are offered in the College of Arts and Sciences, Newcomb College (the coordinate college for women), and University College (the evening division); in the Schools of Architecture, Engineering, Law, Medicine, Public Health and Tropical Medicine, and Social Work; in the Graduate School, the Graduate School of Business Administration, the Summer School, the Center for Teacher Education and at several research institutes.

The interest in tropical medicine—the Medical College of Louisiana was founded to combat epidemics of yellow fever and other tropical diseases—is the one cord that runs throughout the University's history, even as its interests expanded with its development as part of the University of Louisiana in 1847, and with its emergence, finally, as the Tulane University of Louisiana in 1884, after a generous gift from Paul Tulane had established the Tulane Educational Fund. The Fund's administrators used the gift to reorganize the University as a private, non-sectarian institution bearing Tulane's name.

Today Tulane's President, Dr. Herbert E. Longenecker, directs the operation of a cosmopolitan community whose faculty (650 full-time, 500 part-time) and students (6,000 full-time, 2,000 part-time) represent every state and 60 foreign countries.

By far the major portion of the University's activities are centered at the main campus, a 100-acre site in uptown New Orleans. Scholars also pursue their interests at the downtown Medical School campus; at the Delta Regional Primate Research Center in Covington, La., 35 miles from the main campus; at the International Center for Medical Research and training at Cali, Colombia, and at the University's newest campus—the F. Edw. Hebert Center, across the Mississippi River from downtown New Orleans, a development devoted to scientific research.

COVER STORY

This is the first time the Wave has met the Spartan from Tampa, who throws a big Florida shadow. Here the Greenie's tactics are indicated: (1) to securely nail the Spartan tonight, and (2) save something to hammer out a victory over an Alligator next week. And what's better for hammering out victories than hammers.

Gridiron Glossary Yields Daffynitions

By HOWARD JACOBS

MAYBE WE'RE RUSHING the season but we're taking the advice of originator "Steud" to run STEUD'S GLOSSARY OF FOOTBALL TERMS AND DAFFYNITIONS to give the reader time to ponder over it before the season opens. It follows:

SINGLE WING . . . An Indian maid named Red Wing not married.
DOUBLE WING . . . Her sister Broken Wing who is.

QUICK KICK . . . Squawking to the vendor because the hot dogs are cold and the cold beer is hot.

PLACE KICK . . . Man showing his tickets to the usher and kicking because someone is sitting in his place.

QUARTER . . . The price of a 10-cent hot dog.

TIGHT END . . . This guy is so tight he charges for his autograph

OFFENSIVE TACKLE . . . He doesn't use you know what.

RIGHT GUARD . . . What the offensive tackle should use.

ILLEGAL PROCEDURE . . . Drinking the chaser before the whiskey.

UNSPORTSMANLIKE CONDUCT . . . Drinking the last drink from a friend's bottle.

PASS ATTEMPT . . . Trying to date the girl in front of you when her escort goes for the soft drinks.

INTERCEPTED PASS . . . The guy comes back too quick.

COMPLETED PASS . . . He gets her name and phone number.

LINEBACKER . . . Friend who backs up everything you say when you're handing out a line to some new talent.

STAR PASSER . . . The little old lady sitting on the aisle who passed beer and soft drinks down the line all during the game and didn't spill a drop.

FUMBLE . . . Oops! The bottle slipped out of his hand.

RECOVERED FUMBLE . . . He caught it before it hit the cement.

PERSONAL FOUL . . . The guy sitting next to you has a box of fried chicken he brought from home and doesn't offer any to anybody.

BACKFIELD IN MOTION . . . Man, those cute girls walking up the ramp.

LONESOME END . . . A guy who's way, way out.

DELAYED BUCK . . . Waiting for the tightwad to pay for the drinks.

HALF BACK . . . Slipping the half back in your pocket when the vendor fails to collect.

SHORT GAINS . . . A guy named Gaines from Gainesville, Tex., who's only 5 feet, 6 inches tall.

LONG GAINS . . . His brother, who's 6-foot-6.

YARDAGE . . . That's what they measure materials by.

DOWN . . . That's the fuzz on a young duck.

DOWN THE MIDDLE . . . Another way of saying "It's groovy, man, groovy."

ELEVEN MAN LINE . . . The restroom at halftime.

Do You Remember? THIS TULANE STAR OF THE 20's

Tulane's all-time leading scorer, this grid great from the past holds or shares ten marks in the Green Wave record book.

Besides career scoring (259 points in 3 seasons) he holds records for most career touchdowns (37), highest career rushing average per game (93.2 yards per game), most career rushing attempts (515), most points responsible for in career (295—scored 259 and passed for 36), most points responsible for in one season (129 in 1929—scored 99 and passed for 30), most total plays in one season (208 in 1928) and most rushing attempts in one game (43 vs. Ole Miss in 1927). He shares records for most career touchdowns scored rushing (31) and most touchdowns scored in one game (4—vs. Louisiana Normal and Mississippi State in 1928 and again vs. Auburn in 1929).

He captained the Green Wave squad which had a 9-0 record and won the Southern Conference championship in 1929.

All-Time Tulane Football Records

Compiled by Steve Boda, Jr.

Editor's Note: Steve Boda, Jr., a statistical hobbyist in New York City, has spent the past summer researching Tulane's all-time football records. Tulane is indebted to him for his valuable contribution to her colorful football history. The records are based on official statistics filed with the National Collegiate Sports Services, the service bureau of the NCAA, beginning with the 1937 season, and pre-1937 performances have been verified through responsible research. Thanks are also due to Larry Klein and his staff at the NCSS for their co-operation in this project. Research for the pre-1937 period continues and additional marks will be included in future editions.

What's so great about ROTC?

Check 'em.

Great opportunity. You earn a commission while you earn your college degree. Graduate—you start at the top. Fulfill your military obligation as an Army officer. With officer's pay. Officer's privileges.

Great advantages. Employers prefer a college graduate with service as an officer. Pay more to get him. Because he's a trained, experienced leader. Can handle heavier responsibilities.

Great success. From the 5% of college men who had ROTC training have come 24% of our state governors, 28% of executives earning $100,000 to $325,000 per year, 10% of Congress, 15% of our ambassadors.

Great guys. ROTC men are campus leaders—in ROTC, athletics, extracurricular activities. And they do better scholastically than non-ROTC students.

Great extras. $50 per month in junior and senior years. Scholarships for outstanding students. Free flight training at over 125 colleges. Extra social activities—military balls, honor societies, bands, rifle teams.

Any way you look at it, there's a lot more going for you when you're in ROTC.

Your future, your decision . . .
choose Army ROTC.

FIRST TEAM TO FLY

by ARCH NAPIER

IT WAS BACK in 1929 that a football coach first decided to fly his team to a game.

"Fly?" everyone asked. "Golly, where's he going to get all the planes? It would take the Graf Zeppelin to fly a whole football squad. And why fly? No sensible coach wants to field a team that's airsick!"

No, but you didn't build an athletic program in a little cow college by being too sensible, either. When Coach Roy Johnson came to the University of New Mexico in 1920, the enrollment was 227, and the football field didn't have any grass. The first day of practice each September was devoted to removing tumbleweeds, cacti, and some of the larger rocks. By 1927, Coach Johnson got tired of this; so, he borrowed a plow and a team, and planted grass. He watered it himself every morning. In his spare time, he taught Phys. Ed., coached boxing, baseball, track, golf, basketball, and—when there was water in the fire department pond—swimming. The pond lacked a diving board, but the students jumped out of a tree.

The football team played nearby schools like Montezuma Seminary and occasionally got as far west as Arizona. Then came the big invitation from Occidental College to play in the huge new bowl in Pasadena!

Oxy was evidently reaching far for an opponent. Stanford and UCLA had the Rose Bowl booked for the afternoon of October 12, so Occidental had to settle for Friday night. Few coaches wanted to play under the lights, which were a novelty at the time. (Newsmen were still writing columns with titles like: "Night Baseball and the Mosquito.")

New Mexico had never played at night, but Coach Johnson agreed to try. He felt that a trip to California—the first one in the school's history—would be very educational for his ranch kids . . . and it might help recruiting, too.

His decision came just at the time that Albuquerque was delirious with "airline fever." In the summer of 1929, Charles A. Lindbergh helped organize Transcontinental Air Transport (T. A. T.), the first line with a coast-to-coast schedule. The passengers travelled by train at night and by plane in the daytime, and the segment from Clovis, N. M., to Albuquerque and on to Los Angeles was entirely by air. The line had four or five huge Ford Tri-Motors that carried 12 passengers each.

Caught up in the fever, Coach Johnson decided that the team should fly to the big game, but as a wily strategist, he prepared public opinion by calling several press conferences to say that flying was out of the question. That started the citizens talking, and soon they were all begging him to reconsider. Slowly he gave in, and he finally agreed that every boy who brought a note from his parents—and promised to study on the trip—would have an airplane ride.

Yet T. A. T. didn't have enough space. Even by adding its one spare plane, it could provide only about 18 seats. You see, it did have a few other paying passengers.

"Eighteen seats will be fine," said the coach. "Because of the risk of air-sickness, we'll send our best eleven boys to Los Angeles by train, and the subs will go in the two planes. Then for the return trip, they will switch, and everyone will get a plane ride."

The train group left town quietly that Thursday at 3:45 a.m., and the subs assembled at the Albuquerque Airport before a cheering crowd the same morning at 10. One-fifth of the town's adult population was on hand to see history in the making. The first plane left on schedule, but the second one was delayed by a mysterious weight problem in its tail. A search revealed two student stowaways in the baggage compartment. When they were ejected, the second plane soared away, too.

The pilots took them across Arizona, buzzing herds of antelope and detouring over the Grand Canyon for fun, and the boys reached Los Angeles in time to motor out to Pasadena for a little practice under the lights. But where was the first team? Still on the train! They did not encounter the lights (henceforth described in school annals as "those glaring lights") until the night of the game itself.

Coach Johnson's precautions against air-sickness led to the great strategic error of the trip. The New Mexico starters had difficulty adjusting to the lights. Not once did they manage to catch and hold a punt.

The Oxy team was notably stronger, too, and the New Mexico boys were awed by the size of the Rose Bowl and the huge crowd of 17,000. The Pacific night fog rolled into Pasadena until Coach Johnson thought he was back in the Albuquerque Little Theatre playing the preacher in "Rain." The New Mexico Lobos slipped and slithered on cleats that were designed for sand, not wet grass.

Most troublesome was the fact that the ball was white and the Occidental jerseys were white, too. When Oxy carried the ball, it was well-nigh invisible. (Coach Johnson later persuaded his old coach, Fielding Yost of Michigan, to get the rules changed so that the ball makes a contrast.)

The game ended with a 26 to 0 loss for New Mexico, but everyone enjoyed the trip and the University was proud to have the first aerial team in history.

The air trip did help recruiting. In fact, the football teams became so successful that the regents felt they needed a coach from Notre Dame. So Coach Johnson was elevated to athletic director, and he didn't have to water the grass anymore.

The business manager on that flight, Tom Popejoy, later became president of the University and served with distinction until his retirement in June, 1968. T. A. T. eventually became Trans World Airlines, and now has much bigger planes. The trip across the West is much faster, but the pilots don't buzz antelope anymore.

A highlight of the opening of the 1968-69 school year at Tulane University was the completion of the new Howard-Tilton Memorial Library, a four-story structure which has a capacity for 1,250,000 books. It will be dedicated in special ceremonies October 18 as part of Tulane's 1968 homecoming celebration. Books and other volumes were moved to the new library by ramp (shown at left) from the old library located across the street.

Hand trucks loaded with books and other materials are shown being wheeled on a covered ramp from the old library to the University's new library during Operation Book Move earlier this summer. The old library (in background) will be converted into quarters for the School of Law.

Features of the new library include more space, better lighting, and open stacks which are shelved according to general fields of study under the subject divisional plan. The open stack arrangement allows readers to go directly to books on the shelves, to select material, or to browse through the collection of interest.

This is the science-engineering division located on the first floor, under the subject divisional plan. Materials on the humanities and fine arts are located on the the second floor and the social sciences division is housed on the third floor. The fourth floor is composed of the Latin American library and special collections division.

Mrs. Connie Griffith, librarian of the special collections division, checks a collection of rare prints depicting the Battle of New Orleans with William Cullison, Tulane student. This division also includes the rare book room, the Archive of New Orleans Jazz, manuscripts department, a special Louisiana collection, and the university archive, which contains special materials relating to Tulane.

How you can "join" America's Olympic Team

You can be there at the Mexico City Olympic Games as a welcome contributor to the Olympic Fund. And be proud of it!

Training, transportation, housing and equipping America's top competitors in the Olympic Games is a major financial task. Because the United States Team is maintained almost entirely by public subscription, without government subsidy of any sort, the interest and support of every American is needed to reach the $3,500,000 goal.

If you haven't already done so, "join" in the Olympic movement now. Fill out the attached coupon, with your check for $5.00 or more and mail — today. In acknowledgment, the United States Olympic Committee will send you the handsome men's tie bar (by Danté) illustrated below. Or, if you prefer, you may select a women's bar pin with safety catch of the same design. For a $10.00 contribution, you will receive two gifts of your choice.

TULANE STADIUM

One of the finest college football facilities in the nation, Tulane Stadium is the world's largest steel stadium. It is located on the Northeastern end of the campus, on the site of the old Etienne de Bore plantation where Sugar was first granulated in this country.

Tulane Stadium was dedicated October 23, 1926, with East and West side stands seating some 35,000. Much of the enlargement and improvement since then has been due to the efforts of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association, sponsor of the Sugar Bowl Classic. In 1937, 14,000 North Stand seats were erected. The upper deck was added in 1939, boosting the capacity to 69,000. Then in 1947, the bowl was enlarged to its present capacity of 80,985.

Tulane added floodlights in 1957. Other improvements have included permanent box seats, portal seats, press box elevator, and photographer's ramp. Two new scoreboards were added for the 1967 season.

The press box, which has been voted among the nation's best by the Football Writer's Association, is 240 feet long and seats 254.

The Sugar Bowl

One of the nation's great football classics is the annual Sugar Bowl game played in Tulane Stadium on New Year's Day. Founded in the depths of depression, it stands today as one of the most unique amateur athletic achievements in the history of American sports.

While the annual football game is the highlight, the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association also sponsors a basketball tournament, tennis tournament, track meet and regatta during Sugar Bowl week. Thousands of visitors flock to the Crescent City for the festivities.

The idea was first presented in 1927 by Colonel James M. Thomson, publisher of the old New Orleans Item, and sports editor Fred Digby. The first game was held on January 1, 1935, with Tulane defeating Temple, 20-14. From its inception, the group has been free of political entanglement. Under the charter, it was stipulated that it was to be a "voluntary, non-profit civic organization whose members serve without remuneration." Every Sugar Bowler buys his own tickets to all events.

Coach Ralph Pedersen

Tulane will have a tougher team and a tougher schedule in 1968-69. Coach Ralph Pedersen's fifth Tulane squad will be built around three veterans, all of whom have been starters since their sophomore year. The three leading scorers last season, they are Johnny Arthurs, 6-4 forward from New Orleans; Terry Habig, 6-2 guard from Auburn, Ind.; and Bill Fitzgerald, 6-4 forward from New Orleans.

Two terrific recruits from the Freshman team will bolster the squad—6-8 center John Sutter, who set a Freshman record with 27.5 points per game and will add needed height and improve already good scoring ability; and Harold Sylvester, 6-6 jumping jack from New Orleans, Tulane's first negro cager whose forte is rebounding and defense.

Menu Planning By Computer

By ROBERT N. KELSO, Special Writer

Tulane University News Service

Scientifically-designed meals planned by a computer "chef" are being served to 2,000 hospital patients in New Orleans and two Midwestern cities.

The computer menus cost less. They ensure precise nutritional balance. And they please patients just as well as conventionally-planned menus.

A task that takes a hospital dietitian several hours to complete is performed miles away from the hospital by a giant computer in 40 seconds.

Menus-by-computer are superior to conventional food planning for several reasons:

They specify the exact amount (down to one-tenth of a gram) of 19 different nutrients in every food item in a day's menu, and reveal cost per serving and cost per patient/day.

Beyond this, the computer selects food items that will cut raw food costs to a minimum, while maintaining palatability and taking into account the popularity of specific dishes.

And the dietitian may interrupt the computer during its task to request substitute food items, selective menus, and special or restricted diets. The computer complies, adjusting the programmed menu to meet nutritional requirements—again at minimal cost.

This unique approach to volume feeding has been developed by Dr. Joseph L. Balintfy, a native of Hungary who is professor of operations research in the Tulane University Graduate School of Business Administration.

Developed over the past six years by a research team at the Tulane Computer Center, the Balintfy system applies advanced mathematics and an IBM 7044 computer complex to the intricate problems of day-to-day menu planning.

The research project, financed by a $242,600 grant from the U. S. Public Health Service, is believed to be the first and only one of its kind in the world.

Dr. Balintfy foresees wide application of the new approach.

"This system," he says, "can be applied to almost any kind of mass feeding problem, in school systems, college food services nursing and detention homes, military organizations—anywhere nutritional decisions are made for a lot of people by a few dietitians."

Modified versions of the system, he thinks, would be useful in providing low cost, high nutrition, menus for persons living at or below the poverty level. And optimum daily menus for saving housewives' money could be printed daily in newspapers.

Broad application of the system, however, must await the training of a larger pool of experts equally skilled in dietetics and the use of the computer, Dr. Balintfy emphasizes.

In the hospital or any other context, the dietitian must be able to state feeding objectives in quantitative terms, so linear programming of the computer—a new development—can be accomplished. The dietitian also must be able to "talk" to the computer, via teletypewriter, from the institution's remote computer terminal.

Preliminary moves, in the current hospital application, require that the computer's memory banks be fed three major kinds of data:

The precise content of 19 different nutrients in every food item in the hospital's recipe book.

The popularity of menu items and how frequently each is requested.

The hospital's recipe file, along with market costs of raw food ingredients (the costs can be updated periodically), and sample menus.

Linked by telephone to the 7044 computer at Tulane are Sara Mayo Hospital, an institution for women and children; the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital; and West Jefferson General Hospital; all in the New Orleans area; and the University of Missouri Medical Center at Columbia, Mo.

In Kansas City, Mo., the Midwest Research Institute, a commercial research organization, has adopted the Balintfy system and is providing computer-planned menus for several Kansas City area hospitals.

Experience at the four hospitals linked to Tulane shows average savings in raw food costs of 16 per cent. Savings at Sara Mayo Hospital reached 24 per cent during a trial run.

Dr. Balintfy explains that savings vary, depending on the expense of food items the institution prefers to serve.

"Among the many potential benefits of this approach," he says, "we can count improved patient care, improved medical care, food cost economy, and accurate data for nutritional accounting and research.

"The technique makes it possible to plan and manage human diets with any desired level of palatability, nutrition, and cost efficiency."

Break your beard in right.

Right now your beard is in the formative stage.

You can shave it with a razor blade like your father does. And each time you do your beard will grow back a little more difficult. Until one day shaving's no longer a chore. It's an agony.

Look no further than your father's face for proof.

But fortunately, you're catching your beard at an early age. You can break it in to be just as shaveable 10 and 20 years from now as it is today.

With a REMINGTON® shaver.

And if you think the kind of shave we're selling won't be close enough for you, you're wrong.

Our new blades are sharper than anything that's been in an electric shaver before. And there's a dial that lets you adjust them for your skin and beard.

What's more, you can dial a REMINGTON electric shaver into a sideburn trimmer.

Admittedly, it costs more to buy our electric shaver than a razor and some blades.

But it's a good investment.

These next few years will determine how you and your beard will get along for the rest of your lives. †SPERRY RAND™ ©1968, SPERRY RAND CORP.

Answer: TAME TAMPA.

Olds Vista-Cruiser: Kind of like owning your own stadium.

We didn't start out to build a stadium on wheels. Vista-Cruiser just sort of grew into one. It's bigger this year. Handles like a bigger car. Built on a longer 121-inch wheelbase. Inside, there's more room to stretch out, up and sideways. The forward-facing third seat lets you see where you're going . . . not where you've been. And there's more room to carry all the stuff you carry . . . on and under the big rear deck. Plus room for even more when you order the sturdy chrome luggage rack topside. All this, plus a 50-yard-line view of the world outside through the cool, tinted Vista-Roof. Take the whole family along for a test drive in a Vista-Cruiser at your Olds Dealer's. That way you'll have your own cheering section, too.

1968 Vista-Cruiser, in 2- and 3-seat versions, both with all the new GM safety features.
