Tulane and the Community . . .

Dr. Longenecker

TULANE UNIVERSITY is an integral part of the New Orleans community.

The university's primary roles of education, research and service are largely focused on this area, affording opportunities for thousands of students of all ages to advance academically, contributing to the increase of knowledge, and providing a wide variety of community services, ranging from the upgrading of elementary education to the delivery of health services.

The university's programs and its calendar of events cover almost every aspect of life and make possible frequent interaction between the university family and its neighbors.

This gathering tonight is but one manifestation of this, offering not only recreation for thousands of persons but also a chance for visitors to see the obvious signs of Tulane's progress and to exchange views with students, faculty and staff about the university's mission and its impact on the community.

Athletic events bring visitors to the campus throughout the year.

And there are many other occasions.

Stage performances, concerts, lectures.

And, also, throughout the year, conferences, seminars and major conventions of scientific, professional and business organizations which attract to the campus not only persons from this area but visitors from many distant points.

Tulane, in fact, has become a core of many community interests—in art and the performing arts, in health and medicine, in science, law, engineering, architecture, business and education, to name but a few.

For whatever stimulus it does provide, Tulane is rewarded amply through the stimulation it, in turn, receives from the participation in its activities of so many from outside the university.

For the public's participation in all of these functions provide the leavening ingredient needed to enable Tulane to continue to improve in the accomplishment of its missions.

Dr. Clarence Scheps, Executive Vice President

Wave Tackles Resurgent Vanderbilt Tonight; Both Teams Bear Misleading Records

By BILL CURL, Director
Sports Information Office, Tulane University

Tonight's Game

Vanderbilt and Tulane, two teams with misleading records, will clash under the Tulane Stadium lights tonight in the 27th meeting between the two old rivals.

Vandy comes in with a 2-3 record while Tulane holds a 2-4 mark, but both teams are coming off strong performances last week. Vanderbilt was edged by a strong Florida outfit, 27-22, after the Commodores led 15-14 at halftime. Tulane rolled up all 23 points in the first half to belt Georgia Tech, 23-12.

First-year Coach Bill Pace has a young, aggressive squad at Vanderbilt, reminiscent of Coach Jim Pittman's first Tulane squad last fall. The Commodores own victories of 21-7 over North Carolina and 14-12 over William and Mary, while losses have been to Florida, Georgia Tech (17-10), and Alabama (35-21). Pace's pack was in the thick of all five frays.

Comparative scores with common foes proves nothing about tonight's contest. Both teams took the measure of North Carolina. Vandy came much closer to Florida, which whitewashed Tulane 35-0, but the Commodores lost to Georgia Tech, the Wave's victim Saturday night.

Pace and his staff won't have to remind the Commodores of last year's tussle in Nashville, in which Vandy put forth one of its better efforts of the season only to lose, 13-12.

Tulane holds a 14-9 edge in the series, with three ties. Since 1952, the rivalry has been very close, with the Green Wave holding a 6-5-2 edge in that span.

Look for big Warren Bankston (19) to be at fullback for the Green Wave again tonight after an impressive debut at that position last week. Some other Tulane players who came up with strong performances against Georgia Tech and may be worth keeping an eye on again tonight are defensive end Jim Wallace (55), offensive end Turk Evans (84), defensive tackle Charles Browning (74), and defensive halfback Lou Campomenosi (22).

Vanderbilt players to watch include linebacker Chip Healy (45), an All-American candidate who blossomed against Tulane last year in Nashville; tailback Jim Whiteside (35) and wingback Dave Strong (14), the Commodores' leading ground-gainers; quarterbacks Roger May (12) and Gary Davis (17); strongside end Bob Goodridge (87), who has already caught 36 passes this season; and defensive tackle Sid Ransom (75).

Most of the principal figures in last year's Tulane win in Nashville are back for tonight's clash. Donnie North, who counted the first touchdown for Vandy, is gone. But Healy, who scored on a 35-yard interception return, is most definitely back. For Tulane, quarterback Bobby Du-hon (13) notched both touchdowns on runs of one and nine yards, and specialist Uwe Pontius (56) kicked the decisive extra point.

Coach Jim Pittman's team will take to the road next week to meet the high-riding Volunteers of Tennessee Saturday afternoon in Knoxville. The Green Wave will be back in Tulane Stadium for the home finale two weeks from tonight when Virginia comes in for a 7:30 p. m. kickoff.

Spirit at Tulane

Alma Mater

We praise thee for thy past, O Alma Mater!
Thy hand hath done its work full faithfully.
The incense of thy spirit hath ascended
And filled America from sea to sea.

CHORUS—

Olive Green and Blue, we love thee
Pledge we now our fealty true
Where the trees are ever greenest,
Where the skies are purest blue.
Hear us now, O Tulane, hear us
As we proudly sing to thee!
Take from us our hearts' devotion!
Thine we are, and thine shall be!

Hullabaloo

A one, a two,
A helluva hullabaloo,
A Hu-la-ba-loo Ray-Ray!
Hu-la-ba-loo Ray-Ray!
Hoo-Ray! Hoo-Ray!
Vars, vars, tee-ay!
Tee-ay! Tee-ay!
Vars, vars, tee-ay!
Tulane!

Roll, Green Wave

Here's a song for the Olive and the Blue.
Here's a cheer for the team that's tried and true.
Here's a pledge of loyalty to thee,
O, Tulane Varsity.
Here's to the Greenbacks that never will say die,
And here's to the hearts that are true
To the men of Tulane, who are fighting for her name,
For the Olive and the Blue.

Roll, Green Wave, Roll them down the field.
Hold, Green Wave, that line must never yield.
When those Greenbacks charge through the line
They're bound for victory.
Hail, Green Wave, For you we give a cheer.
Hail, Green Wave, For you we have no fear.
So ev'ry man in ev'ry play,
And then we'll win that game today.
Hurrah for old Tulane!

(Chant to be used on second chorus)

Roll, Green Wave, Roll, Roll Green Wave
Hold Wave, Hold Wave, Hold, Green Wave.
Go— go— go get the tigers
Go win, go win, go win from the tigers.
Fight, fight, fight for T. U.
T. U., T. U., the Olive and the Blue,
T — U — Rah, Rah, Rah, Tulane.

Tulane University is an educational institution deeply rooted in the past and reaching toward the future.

Founded in 1834 as the Medical College of Louisiana, Tulane today offers undergraduate programs in 30 areas of study, masters' degrees in 43 fields and the doctor of philosophy degree in 33 disciplines.

Courses are offered in the College of Arts and Sciences, Newcomb College (the coordinate college for women), and University College (the evening division); in the Schools of Architecture, Engineering, Law, Medicine, Public Health and Tropical Medicine, and Social Work; in the Graduate School, the Graduate School of Business Administration, the Summer School, the Center for Teacher Education and at several research institutes.

The interest in tropical medicine—the Medical College of Louisiana was founded to combat epidemics of yellow fever and other tropical diseases—is the one cord that runs throughout the University's history, even as its interests expanded with its development as part of the University of Louisiana in 1847, and with its emergence, finally, as the Tulane University of Louisiana in 1884, after a generous gift from Paul Tulane had established the Tulane Educational Fund. The Fund's administrators used the gift to reorganize the University as a private, non-sectarian institution bearing Tulane's name.

Today Tulane's President, Dr. Herbert E. Longenecker, directs the operation of a cosmopolitan community whose faculty (650 full-time, 500 part-time) and students (6,000 full-time, 2,000 part-time) represent every state and 60 foreign countries.

By far the major portion of the University's activities are centered at the main campus, a 100-acre site in uptown New Orleans. Scholars also pursue their interests at the downtown Medical School campus; at the Delta Regional Primate Research Center in Covington, La., 35 miles from the main campus; at the International Center for Medical Research and training at Cali, Colombia, and at the University's newest campus—the F. Edw. Hebert Center, across the Mississippi River from downtown New Orleans, a development devoted to scientific research.

Do You Remember?

This Green Wave Star of the 1930's

Touted by many as the greatest defensive football player in Tulane history, this gridiron great of the late 1920s and early 1930s is the only Green Wave gridder in the National Football Hall of Fame.

He was an All-American end in both 1930 and 1931, and the Tulane teams he played on compiled a fantastic 28-1 record.

He captained the 1931 team that had an 11-0 record and earned a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Knute Rockne once said that there were two ways to follow a football game that this Tulane great played in.

"You can sit in the stands and see him play," explained Rockne, "or you can close your eyes and hear him."

A few of his teammates include Lowell "Red" Dawson, a former Tulane Head Football Coach; Richard Baumbach, former Director of Athletics at Tulane; and Richard Bankston, father of Tulane fullback Warren Bankston.

Vanderbilt is an independent, privately supported university which was founded in 1873. It is named for the New York shipping and railway magnate, Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, who gave a million dollars to build and endow the University. On the base of his statue, placed on the campus by Nashville citizens, is inscribed his wish that the University should "contribute to strengthening the ties which should exist between all sections of our common country."

The University includes a liberal arts college and six other schools. The degrees granted are as follows:

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCE: Bachelor of Arts.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL: Master of Arts, Master of Arts in Teaching, Master of Science, Doctor of Philosophy.

SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING: Bachelor of Engineering.

THE DIVINITY SCHOOL: Bachelor of Divinity, Master of Sacred Theology.

SCHOOL OF LAW: Bachelor of Laws.

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE: Doctor of Medicine.

SCHOOL OF NURSING: Bachelor of Science in Nursing, Master of Science in Nursing.

The faculties of the several schools number just over a thousand. Student enrollment is approximately 5,000; about a fourth of them are women. A majority of the students live on the campus which occupies 150 acres. Vanderbilt's campus adjoins those of Peabody College and Scarritt College. The Joint University Libraries, serving all three institutions, contain more than a million volumes.

Facilities off the campus include the Arthur J. Dyer Observatory, situated on a 1,131-foot hill six miles south.

Honorary scholarship societies and the year each chapter was chartered are: Phi Beta Kappa (liberal arts, 1901); Alpha Omega Alpha (medicine, 1923); Sigma Xi (scientific research, 1944); Tau Beta Pi (engineering, 1946); Order of the Coif (law, 1948); Sigma Theta Tau (nursing, 1953).

Vanderbilt is a member of the Association of American Universities.

A highlight of the musical season at Tulane University is the annual Campus Nite presentation, a musical comedy presented by Tulane students. Shown here is Robbie Hoffman, Newcomb College student, who prepares for her scene in the 1966 Campus Nite production of "Little Me." This year's Campus Nite production will be "The Boy Friend" to be presented March 14-17, 1968 in cooperation with the Tulane University Theatre.

This is a scene of the chorus in one of the big production numbers of "Little Me" which is the story of an aging actress, Belle Poitrine. It was written by Patrick Dennis, author of the popular novel, "Auntie Mame."

The chorus of "Little Me" presents the "Good-Bye" number of the musical production which enjoyed a long-run on Broadway several seasons ago.

Louise Rogers, a Newcomb College student, played the young role of Belle Piotrine during Tulane's production of "Little Me." She is shown here with her girls entertaining doughboys during World War I. Proceeds from the Campus Nite productions go toward worthy charity causes in the New Orleans community. Other Campus Nite productions have included "Damn Yankees," "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" and a number of original comedies written and produced by Tulane students.

TULANE STADIUM

One of the finest college football facilities in the nation, Tulane Stadium is the world's largest steel stadium. It is located on the Northeastern end of the campus, on the site of the old Etienne de Bore plantation where Sugar was first granulated in this country.

Tulane Stadium was dedicated October 23, 1926, with East and West side stands seating some 35,000. Much of the enlargement and improvement since then has been due to the efforts of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association, sponsor of the Sugar Bowl Classic. In 1937, 14,000 North Stand seats were erected. The upper deck was added in 1939, boosting the capacity to 69,000. Then in 1947, the bowl was enlarged to its present capacity of 80,985.

Tulane added floodlights in 1957. Other improvements have included permanent box seats, portal seats, press box elevator, and photographer's ramp. Two new scoreboards will be added for the 1967 season.

The press box, which has been voted among the nation's best by the Football Writer's Association, is 240 feet long and seats 254.

Auburn edged Tulane, 2-0, in the inaugural game in 1926. Tulane won the first Sugar Bowl game on Jan. 1, 1935, downing Temple, 20-14, in a game highlighted by an 85-yard TD run by the Wave's Claude "Little Monk" Simons.

The Sugar Bowl

One of the nation's great football classics is the annual Sugar Bowl game played in Tulane Stadium on New Year's Day. Founded in the depths of depression, it stands today as one of the most unique amateur athletic achievements in the history of American sports.

While the annual football game is the highlight, the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association also sponsors a basketball tournament, tennis tournament, track meet and regatta during Sugar Bowl week. Thousands of visitors flock to the Crescent City for the festivities.

The idea was first presented in 1927 by Colonel James M. Thomson, publisher of the old New Orleans Item, and sports editor Fred Digby. The first game was held on January 1, 1935, with Tulane defeating Temple, 20-14. From its inception, the group has been free of political entanglement. Under the charter, it was stipulated that it was to be a "voluntary, non-profit civic organization whose members serve without remuneration." Every Sugar Bowler buys his own tickets to all events.

LOOKING AHEAD: BASKETBALL

By GAYLE PATRICK LETULLE

With four starters from last year's talented run and shoot gang back for another assault on enemy nets, Tulane's young cagers figure to continue the steady improvement they showed en route to a 14-10 slate last winter.

Engineer of Tulane's return to winning basketball is Ralph Pedersen, former Tulane cage star and assistant coach. "Pete" took over the top job after the Wave had a disastrous 1-22 record in 1963-64, and brought respectability back to the program in just three years.

After a dismal 1-4 start last season, Pedersen revamped his starting lineup to include four sophomores, the tallest standing 6-4, and the youngsters rolled to a 13-6 record over the last 19 games, including victories over Yale, Davidson, NYU, Georgia Tech and archrival LSU.

Led by the now-departed Al Andrews, Pedersen's Kiddie Korps ranked fifth in the nation in field goal percentage (hitting 50.2% as a team) and seventh in the nation in team offense (scoring 88.4 points per game).

Andrews, who ranks second on Tulane's All-Time scoring list, will be hard to replace. But the Wave has four double figure scorers, a starter from the 1965-66 season who was injured last season, last season's No. Six man, and a promising crop of freshmen and transfers back to make the battle for starting jobs rather interesting.

Heir apparent to the scoring crown worn by Andrews for the past three seasons is forward Johnny Arthurs, a 6-4 Junior from New Orleans who bucketed an average of 15.4 points an outing last fall, second only to Andrews among Wave scorers. A fine pro prospect, Arthurs was also a standout on Tulane's baseball team last spring.

Playmaker, Terry Habig, an honor student in Tulane's School of Engineering, followed Arthurs in scoring with a 14.0 average. Habig, a 6-2 Junior from Auburn, Ind., topped the Wave in both assists and free throw percentage last winter.

Junior Bill Fitzgerald bucketed 13.3 points per game last season and was generally considered the Wave's top defensive ballplayer. A tremendous competitor, Fitzgerald led Tulane's baseball team in hitting last spring with a .339 batting average and was chosen the diamond team's MVP while only a Sophomore.

Six-foot-five-inch Dan Moeser, one of only two seniors on the 1967-68 squad, was Tulane's leading rebounder last fall. The Stroughton, Wis. native, who averaged 12.6 points per game, also topped the Wave in field goal percentage, hitting on 53.5% of his shots from the floor.

The other senior, Mitch Urbanski, was a regular last season before being sidelined after the Wave's second game. The return of the 6-5 Kenosha, Wis. native, who was a starter as a sophomore, should take some of the rebounding pressure off of Moeser.

Urbanski's stiffest competitor for a starting job figures to be lanky Bob Spurck, a 6-4 hustler from Fort Worth who averaged 7.0 points and 4.3 rebounds per game last winter.

Dennis Riddle, a promising 6-8 transfer from the Air Force Academy, and Junior lettermen Rick Carlson and Don Simmons are top front court candidates, while Soph Ned Reese, who had 102 assists in 16 frosh contests, Junior letterman Joel Miller, and Drew Madar, a Junior College All-American last season, will be vying for backcourt jobs.

Coach Pedersen and assistant Tom Nissalke will be looking for improvement defensively and on the boards to go with the returning nucleus of one of the nation's top offensive ball clubs when pre-season drills open this fall. If they find it, the sky's the limit.

Ralph Pedersen

TRAINING A TEACHER'S TEACHER

By ROBERT N. KELSO, Special Writer
Tulane University News Service

Young blood in the principal's office is helping upgrade instruction in several hundred public schools across the United States.

New approaches in teaching developed over the past 15 years are being introduced in these schools by administrators trained in an experimental program originated in 1963 by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Similar programs, following NASSP'S lead, are now operating at the local level in four widely-separated areas of the country.

NASSP decided an infusion of new blood was needed after observing that most principals were unwilling to try out new ideas, even when money for experimentation was available.

The innovators—called “administrative interns”—are supervised on the job by university education specialists and the principals of the schools to which they are assigned.

Most interns have two or three years of classroom teaching experience before internship training, and all attend periodic university seminars geared to new approaches in instruction and administrative practice.

The idea of interns, or approaches, has long been commonplace in industry, most professions and the highly-skilled trades. But public school systems, bogged down by tradition, have been slow to pick up the cue.

A Tulane University education specialist, engaged in one of the largest administrative internship programs in the United States, says the traditional approach to training school principals is bankrupt.

“In the past,” explains Dr. Louis E. Barrilleaux, “principalships were filled by people from the teaching ranks who had an advanced academic degree and had taken a few college courses in the theory of public school administration. They had no prior experience in administration, and were strongly disposed to run the school as it always had been run.

“It is obvious that the behavior of a classroom teacher and that of an administrator are vastly different. The role must change from that of a teacher of students to a teacher of teachers.”

Dr. Barrilleaux, over the past two years, has helped train 105 interns assigned to elementary and secondary schools in eight Southeast Louisiana parishes (counties). The largest contingent of interns is now working in New Orleans public schools.

This program was launched at the request of the parish school systems, and is paid for by the school systems and Tulane. University supervision of the interns comes from Tulane's Center for Teacher Education, and is carried out by Dr. Melvin R. Cruwell, the center's director, and Dr. Barrilleaux, assistant professor in the center.

What do the interns bring to their schools? Some of the innovations include team teaching, new curricula, cross-grade instruction, new reading programs and use of new teaching materials.

An example:

A pilot project for improving mathematics skills among poor learners was conceived and supervised last year at a large New Orleans junior high school by former intern Norward Roussel, who now is in charge of the New Careers training program for New Orleans, financed by the U. S. Office of Economic Opportunity.

Barrilleaux

“I found the kids were counting on their fingers,” recalls Roussel. “The teachers knew they had a problem but they didn't know what to do about it. None of them.

At Halftime Tonight: The Lake Charles H. S. "Kilties"

The popular Lake Charles High School Kilties are making their sixth appearance at a Tulane football game this evening.

The Kilties were organized in 1939 by G. W. Ford at that time Principal of Lake Charles High School, who saw the need for a girl's organization that would build school spirit and a desire for service. Bea Field, now Tulane's Alumni Director, was the first director of the Kilties.

The Kilties have built their reputation on precision in drilling, in rapid cadence, fast maneuvers, and service to the community. It is the oldest girls' drill team in Louisiana and since 1957 there have been several second generation members.

Composed of dependable, conscientious girls, the Kilties are very favorable and popular representatives of the city of Lake Charles. They are a select group of girls with high standards both scholastically and morally, holding the most honored places in student life.

The first group had about 65 members; now there are more than 150, although the number on the field is 102. Originally there were six members in the drum corps; now there are 24.

The student leaders are called Colonels. These are three senior girls chosen by popular vote of the Kilties. The Drum Colonel is chosen by members of the drum corps only. The Color Guard is elected from the Sophomore members of the Kilties in the spring, and the American flag is carried by the girl securing the largest number of votes.

Miss Shirley Hillman, a graduate of Northwestern State College, took over directorship of the Kilties this year and is a Health and Physical Education instructor at Lake Charles High School. Miss Bonnie Luke, also a Northwestern State graduate and Health and Physical Education teacher, is assistant director.

The Kilties are familiar to New Orleans because of numerous past appearances here. They have been featured at the Sugar Bowl, in Mardi Gras parades and at Tulane games.

Drum Colonel of the 1967 Kilties is Francis Stewart, and the other Colonels are Laureen Micelle and Mary Woosley. Brenda Copeland carries the American flag, Barbara Street the Louisiana flag, and Cindy Miller the Kiltie flag.

had paid any particular attention to the finger-counting.

"The fact was, the kids couldn't add or subtract, and a study of tests they had taken proved this. No wonder they were unable to do more complicated math. The study also showed that the retardation in skill was cumulative—that a ninth grader, for example, was likely to be further behind his class level than a sixth grader."

With the help of the principal and four math teachers, a special 10-week program was devised for 115 students, predominantly from disadvantaged homes. The teachers taught as a team, and students were grouped according to ability, regardless of their nominal grade level. Simple addition and subtraction was the sole curricula.

Testing at the start and end of the 10-week period, compared with test grades for two entire years prior to the start of the project showed the average student accomplished more in 10 weeks of special instruction than he had during two entire years of the routine method.

Roussell attributes the rapid improvement shown during the experiment primarily to "meeting the student at his own skill level, and showing him he can succeed."

Aside from the few dozen interns being trained this year in local programs NASSP-sponsored projects are training only 116 interns in 28 states. Current funding of the NASSP program, by the Ford Foundation, ends in 1968.

"This," observes Dr. Barrilleaux, "is just a drop in the bucket compared to the need. More local schools systems should accept the responsibility of training interns as educational leaders."

Coach
George Blackburn

Tulane will take on the Cavaliers from the University of Virginia in the 1967 home finale two weeks from tonight. Coach George Blackburn has a resurgent squad this season. The Cavs included wins of 35-12 over Buffalo and 14-12 over Wake Forest among their early-season successes. Virginia features a veteran offensive line and strong overall team speed. The Cavaliers should provide a stern test for the Green Wave as 19 Tulane seniors will be making their final appearance in Tulane Stadium.

Mal MacGregor

Our Sports Department

A look of bold innovation and the feel of competitive excitement set Chevrolet sport models apart from the pack for '68.

Revolutionary styling.

Looking like a dream car come to life, the '68 Corvette Sting Ray is an astonishingly beautiful new sports car. It's nearly seven inches longer and two inches lower. Startling new features include Hide-A-Way windshield wipers concealed beneath a power-operated cowl panel, rear deck spoiler, high-backed bucket seats and push-type door opening buttons.

Great performers, too.

Quieter and smoother riding this year, Chevelle and Camaro,

"The Hugger," offer new sports car-type performance—better handling, big engines. Camaro SS has a bulging striped hood that covers your choice of either a 350- or 396-cubic-inch V8. Chevelle SS 396 for '68 has completely new styling, a wider tread, shorter wheelbase, and a twin-domed hood.

More engine efficiency.

Standard on many models with automatic transmission is an ingenious carburetor heater that gives you increased efficiency in cold weather. Standard, also, is a new GM exhaust emission control.

New ventilation system.

Astro Ventilation, a brand-new system of bringing in outside air, comes on Corvette, Camaro and the Caprice Coupe, and is available on many other models.

Proved safety features.

All Chevrolet safety features are continued and you get many new ones such as energy-absorbing front seat backs and side marker lights for '68. Be smart. Be sure. Buy now at your Chevrolet dealer's.
