FIRSTS AND FOREMOST

The first team to charge admission to its football games was Yale. Back in 1872 fans paid 25c to watch Yale meet Columbia.

The first broadcast of a football game was at Texas A. & M. in 1921. It was sent out by dots and dashes. The first standard radio broadcast was from Stagg Field, Chicago on October 28, 1922, when Princeton defeated Chicago 21 to 18.

Knute Rockne developed 89 players who went on to become coaches. Among the best known were Harry Stuhldreher, Jim Crowley, Elmer Layden and Frank Leahy.

The famous Pop Warner received his first coaching salary from Georgia in 1895. They gave him $35 for a 10-week season.

The first Rose Bowl Game was played on January 1, 1902. Stanford and Michigan were the opponents. Michigan was the victor—49 to 0.

The forward pass was first legalized in 1906.

Tulane vs. Florida

TONIGHT'S GAME

Coach Andy Pilney's sixth edition of the Green Wave starts off this 1959 grid campaign tackling one of the stronger members of the Southeastern Conference, the University of Florida.

Tulane fans can expect the Wave to throw an improved running game against the Gators. The fine passing attack Tulane boasted in '58 will also be very much in evidence, giving the Pilneymen a more versatile attack.

KARL

The fine passing of '58 (ranked second in team pass yardage last year) is still a big factor what with the return of ends Leo Young (86), Pete Abadie (81) and Bill Brabham (89). Abadie and Young were ranked Nos. two and three in SEC pass receiving in '58. However, doing the pitching tonight will be a pair of comparatively new faces—quarterbacks Phil Nugent (10) and Bobby Cornett (16). Both are excellent passers and handle the Split T variable offense with finesse.

The running attack will count on Tommy Mason (20), Tom McClellan (47), Jeff Bratton (17), Will Ellzey (26), Howard Kisner (35) and Terry Terrebonne (38) to carry the mail behind the experienced, larger-sized forward wall that shows much promise of becoming a staunch defensive unit.

Heading the No. 1 line will be tackles Dave Painter (71) and Joe LeSage (74), guards Billy Clements (60) and John Di-Vietro (62), center Neal Jones (50), and ends Young (76) on the right side, and either Abadie (81) or Brabham (89), whoever starts on the left side.

That first line will average a hefty 213 pounds. The starting backfield of Nugent at quarterback, Mason and Bratton at halfbacks and McClellan at fullback will average 192 pounds, giving Tulane its largest starting unit in several seasons.

Florida stars to watch tonight are Dave Hudson (87) at right end, one of the better flankmen in the land, Asa Cox (65) a 5-8, 235-pound demon at guard and Bob Milby (41) who operates at fullback.

Tonight's game is the 13th between Tulane and Florida. Tulane has won six games, lost three and three contests ended in a tie.

Next week Tulane travels to Miami. Follow the Wave, by listening to the Green Wave Radio Network. The Greenies will return here to Tulane Stadium Saturday night Oct. 3 to meet Wake Forest.

Tulane Songs

ALMA MATER

We praise thee for thy past, O Alma Mater!
Thy hand hath done its work full faithfully;
The incense of thy spirit hath ascended
And filled America from sea to sea!

We praise thee for thy present, Alma Mater!
Today thy children look to thee for bread!
Thou leadest them to dreams and action splendid!
The hunger of their souls is richly fed!

We praise thee for thy present, Alma Mater!
The vista of its glory gleameth far!
We shall ever be part of thee, great Mother!
There thou will be where e'er thy children are!

Chorus

Olive Green and Blue, we love thee.
Pledge we now our fealty true
Where the trees are ever greenest,
Where the skies are purest blue.
Hear us now, O Tulane, hear us.
As we proudly sing to thee!
Take from us our heart's devotion!
Thine we are, and thine shall be!

ROLL ON, TULANE

Here's a song for the Olive and the Blue.
Here's a cheer for the team that's tried and true.
Here's a pledge of loyalty to thee.
Oh, Tulane Varsity.

Here's to the Greenbacks that never will say die,
And here's to the hearts that are true
To the men of Tulane who are fighting for her name,
For the Olive and the Blue.

Chorus

Roll, Green Wave,
Roll them down the field.
Hold, Green Wave,
That line must never yield.
When those Greenbacks charge through the line
They're bound for victory.
Hail, Green Wave,
For you we give a cheer.
Hail, Green Wave,
For you we have no fear.
So ev'ry man in ev'ry play,
And then we'll win that game today.
Hurrah for Old Tulane!

FOOTBALL.

TULANE SELECTS THE ELEVEN FOR TODAY.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the football eleven from the University of Louisiana, at Baton Rouge, and the team from the Tulane University, of this city, will meet on the field for the first time. Both teams are comparatively new and neither play a very high grade of game. The Baton Rouge eleven has trained its men more on team work and interference, while the Tulane men have been drilled in tackling, falling on the ball, catching a long pass, and in fact all the main points of the game. Team work has not been neglected, however, and the eleven is a very fair one, and in fair trim for a fight.

There are men on the team like Hugh Bayne, Foster, Castenado and Romeyne, whose playing has already won them praise.

Hugh Bayne, when at Yale college, some few months ago, was substitute on the university's champion eleven. He plays a hard game from start to finish, tackles low and very hard and generally disables his man. He has been given the position of left tackle on the team, where he can easily do great damage to his opponents. He is looked upon as one of the men to win. Foster, one of the southern guards, has recently entered the law school of the Tulane University, and was induced to take a position on the eleven. He is in the best of health, and is fully up to the standard in the game. Castenado, the 230 pound center rush, has gotten off almost all of his fat, and now plays a very fast and hard game. The rapidity with which this big fellow gets about the field is remarkable. Romeyne, another heavy weight, is also playing a very good game. He will be a very good man behind the line.

At 4 o'clock the old medical yard was crowded with football players. They had assembled for their last practice. T. L. Bayne, the team coach, arrived a few minutes later and worked his men through a number of new plays they have taken up. One of these has proved very successful, and will be used to-day. The teaming is very good at bucking the center, and rushing the flying wedge. Their half backs are speedy and strong and will do some fine running, if they are given a chance. In any style of play the team will prove hard to defeat. Their strong point is quickness. Not a minute is lost during the time on the field. Immediately after a play the men are in line again and ready for the next signal. The report that the Baton Rouge team was very good on team work has had but little effect upon the local players, and they are fully confident of winning. They realize that they will have to play hard to defeat a team which has had every day in the week to get into condition, and they will play hard from start to finish.

Mr. T. L. Bayne has trained his men in blocking a rush from a wedge in the style that made his team last year famous among local athletes. Castenado will do the blocking and the other heavy men in the rush line will attend to the breaking of the massed eleven.

At the practice game last evening the men played very well. Lewis and Tevault, the two half-backs, were given a chance to do some fine running, and met with every expectation.

When practice was over the men were settled up and told who would play in the first half. This team will be as follows: Potts, right end; Porter, right tackle; Guthrie, right guard; Castenado, center rush; Foster, left guard; Bayne, left tackle; Blakemore, left end; Lombard, quarter-back; Tevault, right half-back; Lewis, left half-back; and Romeyne, full back.

Another football season is opening to-night, and for the first edition of the 1959 Cam-Pix we went to the files of the Times-Picayune to bring fans a glimpse of some of Tulane's outstanding grid games. From the first collegiate encounter with L. S. U. in 1893, won by the Wave 38-0, to the 1958 victory 14-6 over Navy in the Oyster Bowl, Tulane teams have achieved wide recognition. On this page, the 1893 pre-game story appears at right, the result at left and a squad picture below.

Play-by-Play Returns Show Greenies Outplayed Northwestern Wildcats

The evidence that Tulane completely outplayed Northwestern and that bad breaks helped the Northwestern get their single touchdown is given in the following play-by-play description.

FIRST QUARTER

Lewis kicked off to Tulane's seven-yard line, and Pat Browne ran the ball back seventy yards. Flournoy gained two yards off tackle and Lautenschlaeger gained a yard around right end. Flournoy then passed into Northwestern's end zone. The ball was brought out to play on the twenty-yard line. White tried two times at the line and gained two yards, and then Gustafson went around Tulane's right end for six yards, going out of bounds. Tulane was penalized five yards for being offside. Gustafson was thrown for a loss of a yard for a fumble, and Lewis then made four yards to the oak right guard and White passed over. Lewis passed to Tulane's twenty-five-yard line and Lautenschlaeger returned it eight yards. Northwestern played through tackle for two yards. Lautenschlaeger passed Northwestern's right end for sixteen yards, getting great interference. Time out for Northwestern.

Flournoy gained two yards through tackle. Lautenschlaeger then swung around Northwestern's right end for twelve yards more, getting splendid interference. Tulane was then given a five-yard penalty for offense. On a beautiful pass, Lautenschlaeger to the island, Wilson ran to Northwestern's four-yard line. The Tulane crowd went wild, while giving kudos over the Northwestern action.

Flournoy was held on an off-tackle block, and then he cranked through Northwestern's left tackle for a touchdown, getting the ball over by six inches. A try at forward pass. Lautenschlaeger to tackle, failed. Score, Tulane 6, Northwestern 0.

Flournoy kicked off into the end zone. Gustafson gained a yard through tackle. Robinson was knocked out but quickly struggled up cutting Tulane's line out. Lewis hit center, but gained only two yards. Lewis passed to Tulane's fifty-yard line, and Lautenschlaeger ran it back six yards. Matthews went in for Flournoy. Flournoy gained a yard off tackle. Lautenschlaeger failed to gain around right end. Flournoy then passed to Northwestern's twenty-five-yard line, the ball being grounded.

Gustafson was thrown for a two-yard loss by Harry Gamble around left end. White gained a yard off tackle. Lewis passed to Tulane's fifty-yard line, and Lautenschlaeger returned it thirteen yards, running out of bounds. Tulane was penalized five yards on the next play. Morgan was held in his tracks. Flournoy passed, sixty-five yards into the end zone. There was a

O GRID FANS

Orleans arrived in Chicago

CHICAGO GRID FANS THRILL AT PLAYING OF GREENIE STARS

(Special to The Times-Picayune)

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The band played Dixie at Stagg Field today and the Green Wave of Tulane swept to a spectacular victory over Northwestern, 18 to 7.

More than 15,000 rooters watched the stand of the South against the North and thrilled at the brilliant runs of Flournoy and Captain Lautenschlaeger which sent Tulane out in front in the first quarter and which later brought them from behind in the second quarter to finally win by a comfortable margin.

This is a fighting team from the South and is all and a little bit more than has been said about it in advance press notices.

It outplayed, outgeneraled, and out-fought the Purple Wildcats at every turn and with a small band of 1000 Dixie rooters cheering them, raced up and down the field very much like a true champion.

Northwestern, without the services of its sensational "Moon" Baker, fought gamely but was finally beaten into submission by the sturdy crew from New Orleans.

The Purples' big rally came in the second quarter when two long passes sent them almost the length of the field to finally let White go over for its lone touchdown.

Flournoy, while given splendid assistance by each of his mates from Dixie, particularly the brilliant Lautenschlaeger, made all the Tulane scores.

Tulane, fresh from the swampy bayous of the Southern part of Louisiana, was right at home in the rain soaked field as the teams trotted tort to engage in the warming up exercises, that are as much a preliminary feature of a football game as batting and fielding practice is before a baseball contest. The Southern squad gave evidence of being greatly determined to win and pranced around the turf with plenty of fight evident on their faces.

Although outweighed greatly in the line and even the backfield, the Dixie eleven was ready to give the Purple machine a close struggle.

The fans, of course, were attracted mainly to watch the football battle, but Tulane offered many colorful sidelights for the spectacle.

In the first place, the Southerners' cheers were led by Miss Marian Draper, who danced in the "Folies" in 1923.

She returned to Tulane to study architecture and because of her terpsichorean ability she was chosen head cheerleader over the man candidates.

It was the first time in the history of football on Stagg Field that a girl has led a cheering section.

She was assisted by Miss Elizabeth Heaslip of New Orleans, Misses Gertrude Brady and Rosalie Smith of McComb and a group of enthusiastic girl "rooters" from Tyertown, Hammond and other Southern points, now residing in Chicago.

They swarmed into the reserved seat section colorful in gay winter attire, decked out with Tulane colors and let the pop-eyed world know they were of and from Dixie and were strong for the Dixie footballers.

The yells of the Dixie delegation were interesting, as the broad Southern dialect harmonized with a chorus effect, is somewhat unusual in this vicinity.

The Tulane rooters had the school spirit read about in books but seldom seen. It was good to watch a section of rooters showing wild enthusiasm rather than a keen but slightly dignified interest in the battle going before them.

Several of the Tulane regulars attracted attention from the stands by something more unusual than their gridiron ability.

Lamprecht, who played fullback, is the present national intercollegiate golf champion. It seemed odd to watch a star of such a gentle pastime risking injury on the gridiron.

Then there was Harry Gamble, who joined the ranks of the married men a week ago. His bride was at home listening in as her young husband battled for his alma mater. Peggy Flournoy, left halfback, is French, and certain signals were given in the Gaelic language.

He was the only man on the field who could curse his opponents and have it overlooked by the English speaking officials.

It has often been said that Tulane earned its place on the national football map when Clark Shaughnessy's 1925 team defeated Northwestern, 18-7 at Stagg Field in Chicago.

GREEN WAVE DOWNS GEORGIA IN HEROIC STRUGGLE, 21 TO 15

Tulane Advances One Step Closer to Championship of South by Victory Over Bulldogs

BANKER, ARMSTRONG AND SMITH STAR

Crowd of 10,000 Sees Con- test in Drizzling Rain; 1000 New Orleans Fans Cheer Victory

Memorial Field, Columbus, Ga.,

Nov. 1.—Where speed, cleverness and the spectacular filled here today, Tulane's Green Wave filled the gap with the never-say-die fighting spirit and a hammer-and-tong style of warfare and battered out a 21 to 15 victory over the Georgia Bulldogs in a bloody, gruelling game. Three well-earned touchdowns for the Green and a safety and two touchdowns for Georgia (one touchdown of which was something of a lucky break) furnished the point scoring.

It was Tulane's ability to come from behind on two occasions with an exhibition of indomitable battling which thrilled the 1000 Orleanians who made up a part of the rather disappointing crowd of 10,000. Threatening weather and intermittent drizzles no doubt kept down the attendance though the light rains in no way affected the playing field.

Wave Has Off Day

Compared with the first half of the game with Georgia Tech, Tulane's showing today constituted an off day and it certainly is pleasing to the Tulane followers to know that the Green Wave got this off day out of its system and still kept its place on top of the Southern Conference heap, headed now for the 1929 championship.

All of Tulane's scintillating plays and clever generalship and most of Tulane's snap and dash of last Saturday were lacking today, but by turning into Bulldogs themselves, the Greenies outfought a dead game, hard-hitting and rough Georgia team and thus finished the job of sweeping two formidable Georgia elevens out of its path which leads towards the title.

While the individual alertness of Ike Armstrong and Bill Banker looked best for Tulane on the surface, again it was the never-say-die spirit of the Tulane line which formed the bulwarks of success in either attack or defense for the Wave.

Line Wins Glory

Bloody and battered, that line, pitted against a courageous, desperate Bulldog line that was making its dying effort to remain in the conference race, literally covered itself with blood and glory. At times the fierceness of Georgia's desperate attacks made substantial gains but when the ball was pushed into Tulane's danger zone, that tried and true line held and it remained for a long forward pass and a lucky break to account for Georgia's two touchdowns, while the alertness of one of the best ends in the conference spelled the safety which made up the rest of Georgia's 15 points.

Vernon Smith, the end who played such great ball against Yale, again distinguished himself as the star of the Bulldogs and Smith was right close on the heels of Bill Banker and Ike Armstrong as heroes of the game.

Smith Makes Safety

It was Smith who tore through the Tulane line when Banker had dropped back into the end zone to punt from the seven-yard line and who threw Banker for a safety soon after the game started.

But a blocked punt by Rucker which gave the ball to Tulane on Georgia's 25-yard line turned the on a terrific bombardment on Georgia's line was started by Banker and Seeuws and wound up by Banker ramming center for a touchdown from the two-yard line.

Coach Bernie Bierman's great undefeated Southern Conference Champion 1929 team turned in many outstanding performances, but many oldtime Wave fans rank the 21-15 victory over Georgia as one of the highlights of that season.

 Pasadena, Cal. (Special to The Times)—Tulane and Southern California awaited the (11) tonight to football stars in the annual Tournament of Roses game tomorrow with a weather eye turned skyward.

There was a fear in both camps that a blower and in either might have an active part in the game. If it rains, many believe the game will have to be postponed.

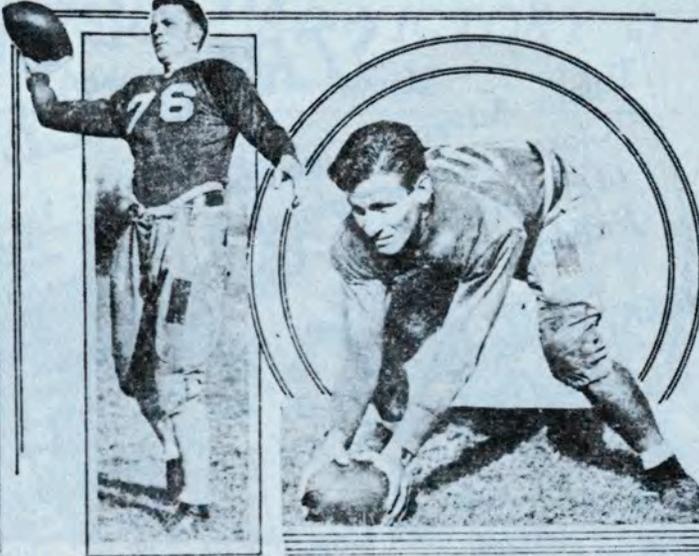

A definite threat of rain appeared tonight and of heavy precipitation forecast on the Rose Bowl (not including any rain). The probability of the weather was the subject of much discussion.

It is an exciting day in the history of the Greenies. Jimmy Patterson, State Champion, and the Greenies will have to play for the national championship.

Two special trains bearing Tulane Green Wave boosters left Pasadena Friday night for the return trip to New Orleans.

A third special train with the most of the Greenies aboard will leave Pasadena today and will make the return trip by way of the Grand Canyon. Four members of the team, "Footie" DeLoach, Little Preacher, "Bob" DeLoach, and "Winnie" Lodrigue, left today night for New Orleans as they can get back to their studies.

Routing Welcome Planned
 Tulane's Green Wave will receive a rousing welcome when they return to New Orleans, according to Mayor A. Miles Pratt.

Planes flying overhead, whistles of the mighty Green Wave in the parade. Banners will be planted in the streets in which they will be according to the plan.

The parade will precede a public reception at City Hall. The parade will be led by motorcycle patrolmen and a mounted police escort while the police band will march.

All Urged to Attend
 Merchants are being asked to display Tulane colors for the occasion and everyone who can attend the parade is urged by the acting mayor.

Despite a 21-12 loss to Southern California in the 1932 Rose Bowl, Tulane's battle gained great prestige and established the Wave as leader among the nation's grid-iron powers.

Green Wave and Tiger Backfield Stars in Action, Dashing Off Good Gains in Nip-and-Tuck Pigskin Conflict

Green Wave Beats L. S. U. 13-12 in Desperate Battle; Gloom Reigns in Tigertown

Simons Turns Defeat Into Victory With 42-Yard Dash for Tulane's Last-Minute Touchdown

By Wm. McG. Keefe
(The Times-Picayune Sports Editor)
Baton Rouge, La., Dec. 1.—The greatest crowd that ever saw a football game in Louisiana watched Tulane's Green Wave down the Louisiana State Tigers, 13 to 12, on Tiger Stadium field here this afternoon in what probably was the most exciting and spectacular game ever played in the history of this annual clash.

More than 31,000 fans, about equally divided on opposite sides of the field in sentiment, yelled themselves hoarse as first one team and then the other held command of the situation until finally, in the last few minutes of play, "Little Monk" Simons of the Green Wave rung down the curtain on his collegiate football career by completing one of the prettiest plays of the season to race 42 yards for the touchdown that turned a 12-to-7 defeat into a glorious 13-to-12 victory over as dauntless a team as ever represented the Old War Skule.

The touchdown, the tumult and the shouting arose just as Abe Mickal, L. S. U.'s 1934 hero, was being carried through the field gates on a stretcher.

Crippled going into the game, Mickal wound up his 1934 season as gloriously in defeat as he had done in any L. S. U. victory wherein he participated 60 full minutes.

Mickal's injuries today made it seem certain he could not get in any more of L. S. U.'s remaining games on schedule this year.

Tulane not only scored first, putting over a touchdown in the opening period, but held a one-point lead at the end of the half though L. S. U. scored a touchdown in the second period. But in the third, the Tigers forged to the front with another touchdown and that one looked like the money play until the Greenies put over their big wallop in the home stretch.

Pall of Silence Settles Over Baton Rouge; Breath-Taking Finish of Great Game Stuns Losers

By Meigs O. Frost
(The Times-Picayune Staff Representative)
Baton Rouge, La., Dec. 1.—A megaphone told the whole story. It was a cheerleader's great white megaphone. It lay discarded on the cinder track of the Louisiana State university's stadium here, as the crowd of 30,000 streamed from the field after Tulane's heart-straining 13-12 victory over their ancient foes. It leaned against the front of the box, draped in purple and old gold, the Tiger colors, where had sat United States Senator Huey P. Long, Governor O. K. Allen and others of Senator Long's official family, expecting to see a Tiger victory. On it was painted the one word of command a Tiger cheerleader holds high before his raving cohorts when their team must hear its own signals. The word, in great capital letters, was "silence."

That told the story of Senator Long's sole comment after the game. He had nothing to say about the defeat of his pet ambition to build up an L. S. U. team that could defeat Tulane in open, equal battle. He hurried from the field, silent.

One Lodge of Sorrow
"Silence" was the watchword in Baton Rouge tonight.

Before the game, odds of seven to five and eight to five were offered here that L. S. U. would defeat Tulane; odds of six points favoring L. S. U. were offered freely. Tulane was the underdog. And the underdog chewed the top dog to ribbons. Celebrations, student and townfolk, scheduled for tonight in Baton Rouge turned into one citywide lodge of sorrow.

It was from the special trains rolling homeward to New Orleans that cheers and song sounded; from the thousands of cars that roared southward to New Orleans along the Air Line Highway. Homeward bound Tulane's olive and blue fluttered high. In Baton Rouge the purple and old gold of the Regimented Tigers drooped.

Never in their history of 32 great football battles have Tulane and L. S. U. fought in a more colorful con-

The game that sent Tulane into the inaugural Sugar Bowl game was this 1934 win over L. S. U. by Coach Ted Cox's Green Wave.

Tulane's two performances in the Sugar Bowl were both thrilling contests. The Wave won the first one, 20-14 over Temple, on Jan. 1, 1935 (at right), then dropped a 14-13 decision to Texas A & M on Jan. 1, 1940.

Never a better where; never a never a better a more courage by a powerful opponent who with speed and ity that any football team needs when it encounters a team as mighty as Tulane. Just one regret was there. And that will be the regret nursed by Pete Mandich who, in playing one of the most brilliant defensive games on this field of great playing, also contributed a bit of thoughtlessness which while it may not have meant as much as a touchdown to the Aggies, came close to being as much.

In the heat of battle (and it was a struggle between gridiron titans), Mandich, in the first quarter forgot himself and, instead of doing what he probably would do nine times out of 10—prevent a rival from hurting himself—heaved Derace Moser head over heels out of bounds after the play had stopped.

Penalty and Touchdown

That brought Tulane a 15-yard penalty to her own one-yard line and brought A. & M. a touchdown a few seconds later when "Jarring John" Kimbrough cracked open the most powerful defense he probably ever encountered and smashed that yard to A. & M.'s first touchdown.

Walemon Price kicked the extra point. To the everlasting fame of Walemon, he also kicked the extra point on the next touchdown A. & M. scored—the boot that kept the game from being a 13-13 tie.

Unable to match the consistent (monotonous, if you will) gains of Kimbrough in spite of a magnificent 76-yard run by Kellogg and a couple of sustained marches, one of which scored a touchdown, Tulane nevertheless gave the Aggies a battle that left little to choose between the

Green Wave Wages Uphill Battle to Defeat Temple in Sugar Bowl Inaugural

Rooters Go Wild When Wearing of Green Plaid Victory Out of What Looked Like Defeat

By Meigs O. Frost

Northern football and Northern weather invaded New Orleans today as the Green Wave and the Orange and Blue of Temple met in the inaugural Sugar Bowl at Tulane Stadium. The Green Wave, led by "Little Monk" Simons, won the game 20-14.

The worst adversity a cold wave could start in the benches turned into a glow of victory that would have melted an iceberg bare-handed and drunk the result to coffee. In the heat of that victory forged out of defeat those Tulane rooters went mad, and the loyal little group of Temple students who had traveled from Philadelphia with their undefeated team, sat stunned. Only a few moments before they had been going mad themselves. But the Temple Owl, padding with a grin in a green Wave if thought a placed barrow pond found itself suddenly sunk beneath the surging of a tidal wave.

Staged Amid Color

New Orleans football year started with the great victory won out of defeat against Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge, ended with one of those furious, heart-grIPPING gridiron battles never seen before for years. It was a battle staged amid pomp and circumstance rich in color, fitting start for what should be a long line of Sugar Bowl contests.

That game had everything: speed and skill and dash and intelligence and teamwork and individual stars and non-crushing power and the open courage and fighting heart that will not admit defeat until the last whistle blows and thereby no man takes a defeat into triumph. Tulane Tuesday night could lay away the tradition for a year with head held high and a spring in its step. And if one of those 20,000 spectators had a complaint to make, it wasn't audible.

The who sits and fancies the game is in the same position as a mouser toward mice in a hole. There are just too many of them to hoard that quarter Tulane and Temple struggled, and neither was able to make a long pass to Hardy.

Harney Mints Fumbles. Then the Mints fumbled in that Defensive Back in Philadelphia, with his great teammate, Tom.

Tulane Overcomes 14-to-0 Lead With Brilliant Attack to Grab Victory Before Crowd of 26,000

By Wm. McG. Keefe

"Dynamite Dick" Simons certainly did his part for Temple, but "Little Monk" Simons, Barney Mints, Dick Hardy, "Bucky" Bryan and one or two other Tulaneans arose to the heights Tuesday afternoon at Tulane Stadium and rolled the old Green Wave to a glorious 20-to-14 victory in the first Sugar Bowl in history—and a game that 26,000 fans pronounced one of the most thrilling they ever had seen.

Another blow—a 14-to-0 score which Temple ran up early in the first half, the dauntless Greenes of this straggled upstream in a performance that was as clever as it was courageous. In this, the first Sugar Bowl meeting of the North vs. South, those Tulaneans, who were playing their last game for the Green certainly wound up their collegiate careers in a way that not only will give them something to be proud of the rest of their lives, but gave Tulane university and the Sugar Bowl some football history that long will be remembered.

'Little Monk' Never Greater

Standing out as the most brilliant of Tulane's departing stars was "Little Monk" Simons, carrying a wounded shoulder into the last game for Tulane. Had shoulder or no "Little Monk" never was greater.

He ran 43 yards for Tulane's first touchdown, which turned a gloomy looking 14-to-0 score into a 14-to-7 count, he pointed superbly against a high wind, he passed and he backed up the Green line like a Spartan. Late in the game he ripped off a 34-yard run that helped send the Greenes down the field to what looked like a certain fourth touchdown, their drive ending on Temple's 20-yard line when the final whistle blew.

Dick Hardy's scoring two of Tulane's touchdowns, put a fitting finish on his collegiate career. One of his touchdowns, a 20-yard run right next to Simons' 34-yard run. From hardy's muffling, Barney Mints took a long pass to Hardy.

Ball Deflected

Harney Mints headed the first two touchdowns for the extra points that gave the Greenies a tie game, and

ALABAMA ELEVEN ROLLS TO VICTORY IN ROSE BOWL TIL

'Dixie' Howell Leads Crimson to 29-13 Triumph Over Stanford

By The Associated Press

Aerial sleight of hand met the power on the ground today and 40,000 excited spectators saw Alabama defeat Stanford 29 to 13. The winners from the South put on the greatest exhibition of forward passing seen in the 40 years history of the annual competition. The Rose Bowl. The winners had nothing to match the tremendous drive of the losers, but they took the ball with an accuracy that let the record-breaking crowd—many Stanford players—gasping for breath. The Crimson compiled the amazing record of completing 36 out of 53 attempted passes for a total of 216 yards.

Capacity Crowd

With the exception of one 40-second account for a touchdown by Miller (Dixie) Howell, all the counters were scored or made possible by the astonishingly effective overhead attack.

The capacity crowd, a new record for the Rose Bowl, and the largest attendance of the current football season first marveled and then cheered as Howell threw pass after pass right into the hands of his receivers, principally Don Hutson, Paul Bryant and Jim Angrelchik. Howell scored two touchdowns, half of his team's total, but it is not merely as a runner he will be remembered in the Rose Bowl. Every Stanford supporter will think of him as a man who a ball of fire and sudden football death when he stood with a ball poised for flight.

One Intercepted

There was nothing Stanford could do about Howell's deadly pitching as he threw strikes most of the afternoon. Not until late in the fourth period was one intercepted and then the passer was rushed. His receivers caught many of the passes on the run but the ball was there for them 92 per cent of the time.

To Complete a Busy Day, Howell did some sensational punting.

Alabama won the game in a headed second period, a quarter packed with enough action for a dozen football games. Stanford led, by virtue of a first period touchdown when without warning the game exploded.

HINDS MEMORIAL STADIUM, JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 20.—Tulane's resourceful and inspired football team rocked and shocked a crowd of 20,000 predominantly Ole Miss fans here Saturday night by socking the unbeaten Ole Miss Rebels 10 to 3 to spring one of the most stunning upsets of the season. An 85-yard run by Gene "Fig" Newton in the third period and a field goal by Emmet Zelenka from the Rebel 25 in the final quarter furnished the points that whipped a desperately fighting Ole Miss team and rubbed out the three-point lead the Rebels opened in the first period when Paige Cothern, dead shot place kicker,

TECH BLASTS AUBURN, 28-7

Menger Leads Point Surge
for 'Jackets

By MERCER BAILEY
ATLANTA, Oct. 20.—Johnny Menger, Georgia Tech's "Mister Clutch" utility man, faked Auburn tacklers out of their shoes on a 60-yard run and an 87-yard put return Saturday and Tech walloped the Plainsmen 28-7 in their traditional football battle. Menger, a 156-pound senior who can do everything, set up a touchdown with his almost unbelievable 60-yard off tackle sprint to the one to give Tech a 14-7 lead in the second quarter. Then in the third, he made another fantastic run, eluding tackler after tackler and going all the way with a punt.

It was revenge aplenty for Auburn's 14-12 upset victory last year which cost Tech the Southeastern Conference championship. It left the Engineers unbeaten in four starts this season.

Auburn matched Tech's first period score with a fine drive of its own, but the underdog Plains-

Menger, a five-foot, 11-inch quarterback from Augusta, Ga., is another example of the booted a field goal from the 11 yard line.

Unwavering defense work and the clever quarterbacking of Newton, as well as his spectacular run, were the chief reasons why the Rebels were stopped but to some extent they beat themselves with penalties, drawing costly setbacks time and again for personal fouls, holding and clipping, and in the fourth quarter the rough play turned into slugging when Gene Higerson was ejected from the game and the Rebs handed another 15 yard penalty.

Ole Miss drew nine penalties for 115 yards; Tulane 4 for 40 yards. And though the Rebels registered 13 first downs to Tulane's five and racked up 331 yards rushing to Tulane's 177, that long run of Newton's and the clutch defensive work of the Greenies proved the undoing of the Rebels and sent Tulane's stock sky-high in the

TULANE'S HOME-COMING QUEEN, Miss Anne Roach, Newcomb college senior, is crowned by D. B. H. Upset Roaring Climax to Home-coming Festivities

(Details of the Tulane Auburn game will be found on Page 1, Section 6.)

By DON WHITTINGHILL
The home-coming celebration at Tulane university came to a thrilling climax Saturday afternoon with the university's great family of faculty, students, alumni and friends witnessing Tulane's 27-13 victory over Auburn university.

Tulane's huge concrete and steel stadium was a megalom of excitement as the Green Wave outmanned one of the most powerful teams in the Southeastern Conference.

Approximately 35,000 spectators saw Miss Anne Roach of McComb, Miss., crowned queen of the 1955 home-coming, during half-time ceremonies. She was crowned by D. B. H. Chaffe, New Orleans businessman, and newly elected president of the Tulane Alumni Association.

Color was everywhere within the stadium. Tulane's 1000 man Reserve Officers Training Corps representing units of the Army, Navy and Air Force, paraded in neatly pressed khaki and blue service uniforms under the cloudless blue sky.

Tulane's reputation in recent years of being a team capable of big upsets gained much momentum with the 1956 win over Ole Miss, 10-3 (above) and the 1955 victory over Auburn, 27-13 (insert bottom).

Tulane Upsets Navy, 14-6, In Oyster Bowl Thriller

By George McClelland
Virginian-Pilot Sports Writer

NORFOLK—For a Tulane football team they said was "still a year away" time moved forward at a great rate Saturday.

Arriving at Foreman Field for the 12th annual Oyster Bowl very definitely the party of the second part, the Green Wave from New Orleans inundated the Navy, 14-6.

This came as a monstrous surprise. The Naval Academy eleven brought an undefeated record and sixth position in the national ranking into this spectacle. Tulane was a four-time loser, a two-touchdown underdog.

Yet as the sky over the participants and the festive crowd of 32,169 assumed an ever graying cast so did Navy chances.

Petitbon Shows Way

Inspired by Richie Petitbon, a magnificent junior quarterback, Tulane swept 83 yards in 13 plays for a second period touchdown, then 67 yards in 15 for the clinching points in the final quarter.

Petitbon, a 198-pound New Orleanian, registered both times—on runs of seven yards and two feet. Carrying the ball on 18 occasions for 88 yards, completing two of four passes for 24 yards, defending fiercely and in general carrying the load for 56 minutes this tall, articulate young man emerged the player of the game. For his efforts he received the Mel T. Blassingham award, donated by the Norfolk Sports Club. Joe Tranchini, Petitbon's gifted counterpart, passed for the Navy touchdown in the final minute of the first half. Driving the favored team 71 yards in three minutes, the second classmen connected four times. The climactic one covered 25 yards, with Joe Bellino, a yearling halfback, leaping to make the catch deep in the end zone.

Point Try Fails

Bellino then attempted to sweep right end for the two points which would have given Navy an 8-7 lead at halftime. He was shoved out of bounds at the three. Tulane had tried nothing but two-point conversions in earlier games. Against Navy the Green Wave went for one twice—and both times Howard Kisner, a sophomore halfback, responded with a perfect placement.

Tranchini finished with 10 completions in 19 attempts for 126 yards, a sterling piece of business but one which had to finish second best.

Tulane, too, is endowed with a reputation for passing. Indeed in past games the Green Wave had thrown more than it had run. However, assistant coach Jim Root scouted Navy against Michigan and indicated a ground game would succeed. It did. On neither touchdown drive did the white-shirted southerners go to the air. Instead they swept the flanks on pitchouts and used Petitbon for key third-down yardage up the middle.

It was not all offense. Tulane alive with a still later drive. This time passes by Jim Maxfield, Tranchini's replacement, moved the Midshipmen from their own 28 to the Tulane 33. Bellino made three receptions. Pete Van Nort, a first classman at end, caught another. Then Maxfield went for the touchdown, and Tom Mason, a Tulane sophomore, caught the ball in the end zone. At this point 36 seconds remained.

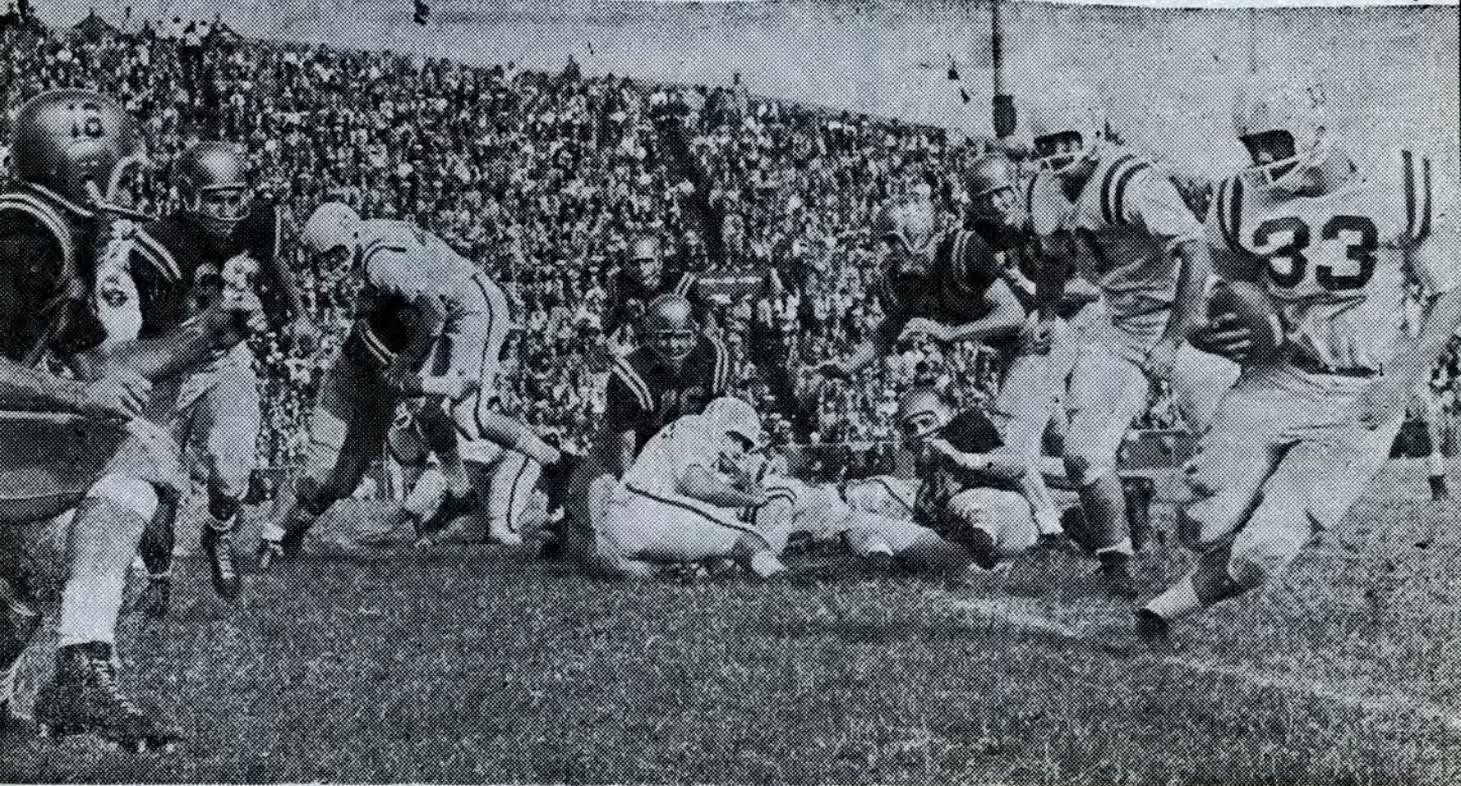

Thus Tulane maintains its unbeaten status versus Navy. The Green Wave owns three victories and a tie against the Midshipmen.

Further, the Academy, committed to the Oyster Bowl through 1962, suffered its first Foreman Field defeat. In 1953 Navy walloped Duke, 40-6. Last year Georgia was beaten, 27-14.

Also broken were two longer streaks. Navy had won six in succession including the Sugar Bowl victory over Rice and had not been beaten in 11 games.

Navy Fights in Air

Faced with a truly aroused foe coach Eddie Erdelatz' detachment made a fight of it because of its passing. Although it was apparent that Tulane meant to keep the upper hand the Midship-

Tulane Stadium lighted in 1957 at a cost of $168,000, is famous as the home of Green Wave football teams and of the annual Sugar Bowl Classic, was dedicated 33 years ago this fall with east and west stands seating 35,000. Subsequent enlargements, due in large measure to the efforts of the Sugar Bowlers, have increased the capacity to its present 80,985. The stadium is located on the site of the Etienne de Boré plantation, where sugar was first granulated in this country.

rule changes for 1959

"Unless I miss my guess, those goal posts are wider apart this year." Well, you are right, my friend, they are wider apart this year. Last season, and as far back as most of us can remember, they were nineteen feet and two inches across, outside measurement. This season they are twenty-four feet across, outside measurement, or approximately five feet wider. "How come?" The answer is simple: To encourage more field goal attempts and further open up the game of football. There was considerable talk of moving the goal posts up to the goal line, ten yards closer, such as they are in professional football; and everyone knows how important the field goal has become in the "Pro" Game. On the other hand, the Rules Committee of the N. C. A. A. felt in the best interests of safety they had better leave the goal posts on the end line where they have been for many years. The alternative was to widen the distance between the uprights by five feet and in this way encourage more field goal attempts.

There were fewer changes in the rules this year than heretofore, but the following will be most noticed.

1. No distance penalty shall exceed half the distance from the enforcement spot to the offending team's goal line.

As an example of the application of the new rule, let's assume that Team A has the ball on Team B's fifteen-yard line. On the next play, Team B was detected holding Team A's end on the line of scrimmage. The penalty for this foul is fifteen yards, and last year the ball would have been placed on Team B's one yard line after the distance penalty had been marked off. This year the maximum penalty would place the ball on the seven and a half yard line (one half the distance to the goal). The only distance penalty that will place the ball on the one-yard line this year is for a defensive foul committed on the two-yard line.

2. On successful try for point(s) with foul by Team B, Team A has choice of accepting score and penalty from following kickoff, or declining score and repeating try after penalty.

This is a significant rules change and could penalize Team B severely for a defensive foul on the try for point after a touchdown. As you will recall, the try is now made from the three-yard line and counts two points if it results in what would have been a touchdown, and one point if it results in what would have been a field goal or safety. Let's assume Team A has scored a touchdown and is about to make the try from the three-yard line. They are successful in a field goal attempt, and on the play Team B is offside. Under last year's rule, Team A is awarded one point for the field goal and Team B is penalized five yards on the following kickoff. This year Team A gets a real break as they can elect to take the penalty and repeat the try. In this case, the ball would be placed down on the one and one half yard line and Team A would most likely go for the two points.

3. Substitution rule further liberalized to permit free substitution of one player of each team when game clock is stopped.

Under last year's Substitution Rule, any player could re-enter the game once during the same quarter. In other words, the same player could be in and out of the game eight times during the four quarters. This year the rule has been further liberalized to the extent that one player of either team may go into the game between downs when the clock is stopped, and this does not count as one of his official entries.

4. Number of time outs changed from four to five.

This year each team will be allowed five free time outs without penalty, in each half. Last year the number was reduced from five to four, but now the Rules Committee has decided to allow the same number as in the years prior to 1958.

GREATEST GAINER OF THEM ALL

In the past 12 months more motorists switched to Amoco-Gas than to any other premium gasoline.

Why has Amoco-Gas scored the biggest gain in its field? The reasons are as crystal-clear as the gasoline itself. Regardless of the make or model of the car you drive, there's more for you at the Amoco-Gas pump.

More gas per gallon because only Amoco-Gas is all gas—untainted by lead, untinted by color! More gas means more natural power, more mileage . . . with no lead to foul vital engine parts, corrode mufflers or stain carburetors. Avoid costly repair bills.

Use clear, white, lead-free Amoco-Gas for best performance from your car.
