

Junior Philharmonic winners learn

How does it feel to perform in a concert atmosphere? To know whether or not you like it, and like it enough even to become a professional musician?

For years, the Junior Philharmonic Symphony Society of New Orleans has been making it possible for children to have that chance. Thanks to behind-the-scenes efforts of adults, many youngsters' lives have been enriched. Each young person participating in the program of auditions and concerts has opportunity to develop poise and confi-
