THE '3D CHAMPION'

Tulane's Green Wave today meets the third championship team of its 1938 football schedule. Auburn, Orange Bowl champions, and North Carolina, Southern Conference champion, already are past.

Today, Rice’s Cotton Bowl champions are in our stadium, one of the great teams of the nation.

After today, the Greenies yet must face Alabama, Southeastern Conference champions of last year and Rose Bowl team; and L.S.U., Sugar Bowl team. In addition, Mississippi State and and Georgia have stamped themselves as among the country's finest and they're yet in the path.

There is no spot where "Red" Dawson can peak for a single game. The Greenies, like Rice, must just play 'em in stride.
Football ticket prices at Tulane University are below the average, a survey of prices of twenty leading American universities reveals.

While prices for reserved seats on the sides of the playing field are proportionately the same despite the fact that Tulane’s tickets include a 5% city tax not assessed against the others, the Wave tickets for end zone prices are considerably under the average.

In addition, the survey reveals that Tulane’s general admission are among the few where all seats are reserved. In most instances, the price calls for temporary bleacher seats at the ends.

Tulane, too, is among the few schools where children are admitted at all games at a quarter and high school pupils at 40 cents. Most universities do not have such prices for children and where they do have such a scale the number is extremely limited. Tulane has 5,000 seats in permanent stands for such admissions at all games.

New Orleans' Quality Department Store
Baylor University has an 800-pound mascot in Joe College, a big, black bear. ... Alabama’s football squad is trying a new diet plan for days of games. Instead of an early breakfast and a light lunch, the Tide men are being fed a beefsteak breakfast at 9:30 and are skipping lunch. ... Whenever a fumble is made, it might be appropriate for the university bands to swing into “A Tiger, a Tiger.” ... McGowen, the fine Auburn sophomore halfback you saw here against Tulane two weeks ago, had never played football until he went to the Plains. His home is Empire, Ala., where they have no school football team.

Jake Wade, Charlotte Observer sports editor, says “Bronco” Brunner is four horsemen rolled into one. ... Pat Moulton, sports editor of the Mobile Press, is doing a great job reporting football in our neighboring city. You'll recall Pat was a star player at Auburn back some years ago.

Morgan Blake, sports editor of The Atlanta Journal, called “Bronco” Brunner the peer of any back in Dixie after the Auburn game. ... Seven of the thirteen Southeastern Conference members already have been defeated, not counting last night’s results. ... Eight handicappers of the New York Post last week picked Rice and North Carolina, respectively, over L. S. U. and Tulane. Four each called the Tigers and Greenies to win. On a reverse play, five Los Angeles Times sports writers picked Tulane to win and two selected the Tar Heels.

Frank Long, Rutgers line coach, is the assistant city editor of a Philly rag, now on leave of absence. ... Charlie Miller, Dartmouth end, is a fine skier and goes for it in a big way after football has ended. ... Wallace Wade, Duke coach, cracked a rib recently when he forgot his years and went on the field to show a lineman the proper charge.

Most football scouts declare that Bill Osmanski of Holy Cross is the fastest football back in the East. Yet, Duke Abruzzi of Rhode Island State, intercepted a pass intended for Osmanski and ran away with it to score standing up. ... Tuss McLaughry’s (Brown coach) strapping son, John, who scored a touchdown against Harvard, was an invalid as a child.

Larry Robinson, of the New York World Telegram, says the odd dirty “about a hell of a situation up at Yale” fits the present football status there perfectly. The storm is raging around New Haven and it centers about the September 15 date of starting practice, two factions expressing themselves. ... Harvard and Yale started earlier but there’s been no explanation of what happened to Harvard.

Despite the fact that Dartmouth is rolling along high, wide and handsome, they say Line Coach Ellinger is brooding long hours in the fear he hasn’t the line reserves to hold up all season.

They’re saying in the Big Ten that Minnesota’s Gophers were the most under-rated team in that league a month ago. ... Now, they say Bernie Bierman has come up with another really great team, his reserves (the big point of worry) being tested and found okie-doke.
TODAY’S FOOTBALL ROUND-UP

ALABAMA- TENNESSEE
Vulcan, the Iron Man of Red Mountain, stands in majestic glory above the city of Birmingham. Made of Birmingham steel, he has stood towering above his realm of iron ore for more than thirty years. When you drive into or out of the Magic City on the Montgomery highway, you’ll see him. On a half-spinner, Alabama.

GEORGIA TECH-DUKE
Durham, N. C., is one of the tobacco centers of the world. It’s in the heart of the great burley market, only forty or fifty miles from Wilson, N. C., the greatest tobacco market in the world. The Duke campus is one of the show places of North Carolina, each building moulded into a beautiful picture of academic splendor. On a triple pass, the Golden Tornado to furnish a major surprise.

NORTH CAROLINA-N. Y. U.
Manhattan has settled back to football after a week of uproar in which the Yankees strung the Cubs from the Bronx stadium gibbets. Coach “Bear” Wolf’s fine team won’t go through the Manhattan transfer until Saturday morning, taking a Chapel Hill workout at home Friday before departure. The Violets seem more violent than usual but here’s a very weak vote for the Tar Heels.

VANDY-OLE MISS
The Hermitage is the spot to see here before the game. It’s the home of “Old Hickory”. Also, don’t overlook telephoning Freddie Russell at the Nashville Banner. Ask for his special book on handicapping, one of the sure-fire secrets for picking your winners. Both Ole Miss and Vandy have been playing ring-around-rosie for the past couple of weeks but will be playing for keeps today. A tie is more likely than anything, but if there’s a winner, it looks like the Commodores would have a knife-blade thickness edge.

ARMY-HARVARD—The Cadets to goose-step.

NAVY-YALE—A Middie horn-pipe.
PITT-WISCONSIN—One of the battle royals of the day. Pitt gets the call over a vastly improved Badger team.

FORDHAM-PURDUE — They get tougher and tougher. Purdue by 1-4 vote.

COLUMBIA-COLGATE — The Red Raiders are ready to trip some good team. As a five-star special, this is it.

CORNELL - SYRACUSE — Another hummer. Cornell in a close finish.

PRINCETON-PENN—The Quakers.

DARTMOUTH-BROWN — The Indians to tomahawk a big, bad bear.

NEBRASKA-INDIANA — A flip of the coin. The Cornhuskers.

ILLINOIS-NOTRE DAME — The Irish.

NORTHWESTERN-OHIO STATE—The coin system again. The Wildcats.

UPGRADE:

A loss, a tie, and a win is the present record of this edition of the Tulane Green Wave. Now, that doesn’t look any too good, does it? To the average person glancing at that record, it would seem that the Wave was not much of a ball club. Why most any club could do that, and it certainly wasn’t anything to shout about. So why all the noise.

Well, friend, this is why. We will be real honest and confess that on paper the above listing of games won and lost is not a close comparison to the recent record set by the Yanks in their yearly outing with the National league’s representatives, but we like it and for this reason. The Wave is slowly, but most surely going up the grade.

First they met the Tiger of Clemson. The Green went out in front, took it rather easy, were caught napping, and ended up on the short end of the score. Now, Clemson is a tough club, but they haven’t ruined anybody since beating Tulane. Next came the Tiger from the Plains of Auburn. He was a tougher Tiger, and the Wave did not go out in front. But neither did the Bengal, and both of them ended right where they started. So Tulane had tied a club, rougher than the one which had beaten them in their first start. So that brought us to the engagement of last week. This time the Wave met, not another Tiger, but a Tar Heel. And he may not sound as tough as one of the Bengal clan, but he was a rougher, tougher, and better job than his predecessors. Tulane scored, Carolina scored and the game stood at seven-all. Then Tulane scored again, three points this time. Carolina tallied for seven more numbers, and they led 14-10. Thus is scored in the last period. And what did the Wave do about it? Well, the club took the ball on its own 34-yard line, and Carolina didn’t get it again until they had scored both a touchdown and an extra point. Yes, sir, Tulane drove 66 yards down the field, playing the ole time Wave football, to come from behind and win the game. That, friend, will give you an idea of what we are shouting about. Tulane beat a first class team and beat them the hard way.

THE HOOTING OWL:

This afternoon we have before us the much vaunted Owl of Rice Institute from Houston, Texas. Pre-season dope put this team at the head of the class. Since that time they have been licked twice, both times by mighty close scores. Thus we are looking at an outfit that has blood in its eye and whatever else it takes to get plenty mad about the whole thing. Yes, we are entertaining a very ruffled Owl.

Tulane is on the way up, and Rice is on the way back. Hence, we may expect the worst of collisions when they collide. Red Dawson’s crew has a tough proposition confronting them, ‘cause it is going to take some real ball playing to beat this bunch today. Rice is still one of the best and it may use today’s game to prove it. With two fancy backs and a powerful line they are well fixed.

Now, a lot of things can happen out there today, but this corner is willing to bet that all of us are in for one mighty fine afternoon of football.

ON OTHER FIELDS:

Let us glance around at the other major encounters of the day on the football front. The big outfits are moving towards the games that will make or break their seasons. At Knoxville two top-notch teams will meet in a contest that may decide the winner of the conference crown for this year. For, up in eastern Tennessee the mighty Tide of Alabama will do battle with the also powerful Volunteer aggregation of Tennessee. And if the Tide can come out of this contest on the right side, they will be fairly well on the road to the championship. Every year the rest of the conference spends several months kicking about the so-called easy schedule that ‘Bama plays. Well, if anybody wants to tackle Tennessee, Tulane, Georgia Tech, and Vanderbilt, all first rate league teams, go to it. And the last three named are played on consecutive Saturdays. If ‘Bama can beat all of these and two other conference members they should have a fair claim to the honors. But, Bob Neyland is set to give them the fight of their lives, and a Tennessee victory won’t be the year’s biggest surprise by any margin.

Ole Miss, conqueror of L. S. U., takes on Vanderbilt at Nashville. The Commodores should win, but this may be another one of those Harry Mehre days. Georgia Tech, after a swell fight against Notre Dame will go out of the circuit to play Duke. This should be a dog-fight from beginning to end. And Auburn ought to break into the win column with a close victory over the Maroons of Miss State.

THOUGHTS, ETC.:

After a terrific opening day the present season has settled down right well and is rolling along smoothly. Of course every week-end sees its share of upsets and gambler’s death warrants, but all in all things are very pleasant, almost too much so. Isn’t it too bad that the ole pigskin carnival can’t run off like the annual circus between the Yanks and the pseudo opposition? But, then it would be too easy, and the Monday morning quarterbacks would have nothing to howl about.
THUMBPRINTS OF THE OWLS

HAGER, DON—end; playing No. 42; weight 210; height, 6 ft. 2 in.; age, 18; junior from Bay City, Texas. Hager has the makings for being the greatest end in the history of the Southwest conference. He is by far the fastest and also one of the best line blockers. On defense he doesn’t bother to dodge the blockers, but runs right over them. He is the roughest man on the squad and the hardest man to take out of a play. With proper publicity, Don should make All-American easily.

WILLIAMS, WALTER—end; playing No. 46; weight, 185; height 6 ft. 1 in.; age, 24; senior from Harlingen, Texas. Rice is depending on Walter to hold down one of the end positions. He is fast and is hard to knock off his feet. He uses his hands very well.

GREEN, J. R.—tackle; playing No. 32; weight, 212; height 6 ft. 2 in.; age, 21; junior from Pampa, Texas. J. R. is a fine student and an equally fine football player. The tackle position is well swamped with good material, and to take that position a boy will have to have plenty of hustle and fire. J. R. has both.

HINES, JESS (CAPTAIN)—tackle; playing No. 49; weight, 199; height, 6 ft. 1 in.; age, 22; senior from Simsboro, Texas. Jess will be playing his best this year and trying to set an example for the rest of the boys. He personally thinks that a school can win the Southwest conference championship two consecutive years. Jess is a fine looking fellow and a leader among his men. Rice will have six good tackles, and Jess will be leading them all.

HANER, BILL—guard; playing No. 14; weight, 190; height, 6 ft.; age, 21; junior from Pampa, Texas. Bill is just as good as any guard in the conference. This is his second year, and he will be a power house in the Rice forward wall. He is fast and aggressive and can come out of the line to block for the backfield.

LANDRY, MATT—guard; playing No. 52; weight, 185; height, 5 ft. 10 in.; age, 22; senior from Port Arthur, Texas. Matt is the biggest little man on the squad. He played All-Conference football last year, and will be even better this season. The guard position being weak, a load will rest upon his shoulders.

WHITLOW, KENNETH (TUFFY)—center; playing No. 76; weight, 175; height, 6 ft.; age, 19; junior from Wichita Falls, Texas. Ken was a holdover last year, but will shine this year. He is fast, and it is almost impossible to complete a pass over him. On offense he keeps lots of fire in the boys and has the ability to play any position on the team.

SCHUEHLE, JAKE—halfback; weight, 193; height, 5 ft. 10 in.; playing No. 30; age, 20; senior from Mondo, Texas. Jake has been a good blocker and this should be his big year.

VESTAL, JACK (RED)—quarterback; playing No. 75; weight, 187; height, 5 ft. 11 in.; age, 20; junior from Sherman, Texas. Red Vestal is one of the best blockers on the squad, a power house at backing up the line of defense, and he is a field goal kicker "de luxe". He kicked four consecutive extra points in the Cotton Bowl game of 1938. If the sports writers failed to name him on their All-Conference team, they left out one of the most versatile men in the conference.

LAIN, ERNEST (TRUCK HORSE)—halfback; playing No. 66; weight, 215; height, 6 ft.; age, 20; junior from Mexia, Texas. Ernie Lain is the best passer in the South. He has received All-American mention, and really deserves it. He has learned to quick-kick, making him a triple threat that cannot be equalled in the South. He keeps the team peped up, and is well liked by his teammates. They know that when they block a man for Lain, he can plow through five yards almost any time.

CORDILL, OLLIE—halfback; playing No. 70; weight, 185; height, 6 ft. 2 in.; age, 22; junior from Big Springs, Texas. Ollie, Lain’s teammate, is one of the best pass receivers as well as one of the best punters in the conference. He, too, should receive All-American mention this year. He has a change of pace which makes it almost impossible to tackle him.

ALMA MATER

Sing these words as Tulane's Alma Mater is played

I.
We praise thee for thy past, O Alma Mater!
Thy hand hath done its work full faithfully!
The incense of thy spirit hath ascended
And filled America from sea to sea!

II.
We praise thee for thy present, Alma Mater!
Today thy Children look to thee for bread!
Thou ledest them to dreams and actions splendid!
The hunger of their soul is richly fed!

III.
We praise thee for thy future, Alma Mater!
The vista of its glory gleameth far!
We ever shall be part of thee, great Mother!
There thou wilt be where e'er thy children are!

CHORUS:
Olive Green and Blue, we love thee!
Pledge we now our fealty true
Where the trees are ever greenest,
Where the skies are purest blue!
Hear us now, O Tulane, hear us!
As we proudly sing to thee!
'Take from us our hearts' devotion!
Thine we are, and thine shall be!

The above illustration indicates the membership and location of the thirteen schools that compose the comparatively new Southeastern Conference. These universities were formerly a very important part of the unwieldy Southern Conference, but withdrew in order to form a more compact group. Today the Big Thirteen, as the S. E. C. is often called, holds a top spot among the major football leagues in the nation.

Cut out the above drawing, and when a team suffers defeat, mark through its flag, and when the season is over only the white flag of the undefeated teams will remain — if any team goes through without a reverse this year.
Postscripts...

Mercer's Bears will be playing here next Saturday. It may be recalled that Tulane's President, Dr. Rufus C. Harris, was chairman of the athletic board at Mercer during his days on the faculty of that institution.

Joseph L. Killeen, President of the Tulane Alumni Association, saw the Carolina-Wave game last week at Chapel Hill. Joe, in New York on a convention, rushed his Manhattan departure to see the Greenies beat the Tar Heels.

George G. Westfeldt of the Tulane Athletic Council was another Orleanian at Chapel Hill for the game. He visited his daughter and son-in-law, the Fred Bunting, while in the Old North State.

The Tulane-Y. M. B. C. specials for the Alabama game are fast being filled, Max J. Derbes, Y. M. B. C. official, stated this week. A delegation from Birmingham, including the presidents of the Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber and a member of the City Commission, were in New Orleans Wednesday extending an official welcome.

All Tulane home football games start at 2 o'clock. Tickets for all games, at home and away, are on sale at the Greenie ticket office, 221 Baronne street.

Tulane's Greenies and the Rice Owls won't meet in football next year but they'll resume in 1940. The series has already been signed for five successive years starting that season.
"By the way, darling, what sweet are we having for dinner today?"
"It is sponge cake."
"And very nice, too?"
"Yes. I sponged the eggs from Mrs. Jones and the flour and milk from our new neighbor."

Teacher: "Have you heard of Julius Caesar?"
Pupil: "Yes, sir."
Teacher: "What do you think he would be doing now if he were here today?"
Pupil: "He would be pulling for old-age pensions."

First Neighbor: "May I use your telephone?"
Second Neighbor: "Certainly! Is yours out of order?"
First Neighbor: "Not exactly, but my sister is using it to hold up the window, Ma's cutting biscuits with the mouthpiece, and the baby is teething on the cord."

"Did you go on a honeymoon, Suzabelle?"
"Ah suppose you might call it dat, ma'am—Henry done help me wid washin's de fust week."

Teacher: "Smith, how many bones have you in your body?"
Pupil: "I don't know, sir."
Teacher: "But you were told yesterday."
Pupil: "Yes, sir. But I had fish for breakfast this morning."

"Sam and I have parted forever," said Janet with little outward concern. "Goodness! What does that mean?" asked her roommate. "A five-pound box of chocolates in about an hour's time."

The end of the term had arrived, and the teacher, approaching one of his rather backward scholars, said: "You haven't learned much in this class, have you, my boy?"
"I admire you, sir," replied the boy, "for taking the blame in that broadminded fashion.""

"When I was a little boy I always ate my crusts," said Willie's father. "Did you like them?" asked Willie. "Of course I did," quickly responded the father. "Then you may have mine," replied his son, graciously.

"Only last year in India," boomed the club bore, "I suddenly found myself face to face with a man-eating tiger."
"And only last week," murmured the quiet little man in the corner, "in a restaurant, I found myself face to face with a man eating fish."

Little Archibald had had his first arithmetic lesson that morning, and was telling his mother that if he had two apples and someone gave him two more he would then have four apples.
"Now, then," said his mother, "if you had three bananas and I gave you three more, how many would you have then?"
"Oh, we haven't done bananas yet, Mummy," said Archibald.

Visitor: "Where's your secretary?"
Boss: "Oh, she's my Treasurer now."
Visitor: "How's that?"
Boss: "I married her."

"How do you open this tin of sardines?"
"There's full instructions inside the tin, sir!"

"My friend," said the debtor to the all-too-blustering bill collector, "do you realize that if all fellows like me paid their bills promptly, you'd be out of a job?"

He: "My treasure!"
She: "My treasury!"

"Oh, Mr. Butcher, about that joint you sold me last week. Did you say it was imported or deported from Australia?"

She: "I never could see why they always call a boat a 'she'."
He: "Then I guess you never tried to steer one."

Mrs. Hen: "I wonder if I could borrow your rug beater, Mrs. Peck?"
Mrs. Peck: "I'm sorry, Mrs. Hen, but he doesn't get home till five o'clock."

"Mrs. Jones, I'm so sorry I forgot your party the other day."
"Oh, weren't you there?"

Spender: "I asked you for a loan of $20. This is only ten."
Lender: "I know it is, but that's the fairest way— you lose ten and I lose ten."
A lady was once lamenting the illfortune which seemed to attend her affairs; when a friend, wishing to console her, bade her "look upon the bright side."

"Oh, she cried, "there seems to be no bright side!"

"Then polish up the dark side!" was the reply.

"Sir!" stormed the parson, stamping into the editor's sanctum, "your compositors are grossly incompetent!"

"Indeed," returned the editor, mildly. "What have they done?"

"Why," came the reply, "in your report on my sermon, the word 'reverend' occurs 14 times, and each time they have misprinted it 'neverend'."

The identity of the young lady is withheld, but the memory of her answer lingers on with the instructor conducting a natural science course at a local high school. One of the requirements in the written quiz was, "Define a bolt and nut and explain the difference, if any."

The girl wrote:

"A bolt is a thing like a stick of hard metal such as iron with a square bunch on one end and a lot of scratching wound around the other end. A nut is similar to the bolt only just the opposite being a hole in a little chunk of iron sawed off short, with wrinkles around the inside of the hole."

The startled professor marked that one with a large "A".

A man called at a pastry shop and asked for a cake, to be made in the shape of the letter S. The pastry cook said it would take three days to make. The customer did not mind; he would call back in three days. He did. He saw the cake but did not like it. It was not the right kind of S. He wanted a script S.

The pastry cook said he would make another, but it would take three days. The customer said he would call in that time. He did. He liked the cake.

"Where shall I deliver it?" asked the pastry cook.

"Don't deliver it," replied the customer. "I'll eat it here."

"Have you any complaints to make?" asked the prison governor.

"Yes," replied the prisoner, "the prison walls are not built to scale."
